Health Service Takes Steps For Prevention Of Poliomyelitis

B. U. Assists In Preventing Infantile Paralysis From Reaching Lewisburg

RUSHING DUE TO BE DEFERRED 30 DAYS

Because of the growing epidemic of infantile paralysis in Pennsylvania centered mainly about York county, the Student Health Service is bending every effort to forestall the advance of this disease on campus.

The Freshman Week committee cancelled parties, dances, and other functions where droplet infection is most dangerous. Droplet infection is the principal method of contagion of poliomyelitis.

All fraternities, sororities, and eating places were asked by Dr. John W. Rice and Dr. Lester P. Fowle, of the Health Service, to aid in eliminating the chances of epidemic at Bucknell. Several weeks before they arrived for orientation exercises, Dr. Rice sent freshmen letters asking each one "to impose a personal observation quarantine upon himself for two weeks prior to leaving home for college". This step is in harmony with a suggestion from the state health department.

Rushing Curb Urged

Postponement of rushing until October 15 or until the end of warm weather was urged of fraternities and sororities. Doctor Fowle also requested them not to schedule dances and to discontinue large group activities where there is close personal contact.

The health committee wrote the following in letters addressed to eating establishments:

"All glasses, spoons, etc., which you use to serve drinks, ices, etc., to your patrons must be thoroughly washed and sterilized by boiling hot water rinses, or by chlorine solution if you will provide your customers with an absolute guarantee against the transmission of the virus of infantile paralysis by unsterilized glassware and eating utensils".

Nearest cases of poliomyelitis arose in a death at Watertown and a serious case at Sunbury. Throughout the state about four hundred cases are charted; there have been approximately 40 deaths.

Bison Gridders Prepare For Opener

Al Humphreys Drills Squad Twice Daily For Lebanon Valley Opening Tilt

Two weeks from today Bucknell's Thundering Herd rings up the curtain on its 1941 football season, and viewed from the intensity with which the 82 Bison football candidates have been practicing twice daily since September 5, it is quite evident that nobody is more aware of this fact than Coach Al Humphreys and the boys themselves.

With but nine lettermen returning from last year's grid squad, six of whom were members of the first eleven, Al Humphreys is faced with the task of developing at least four or five of his unusually large contingent of 17 sophomores into first string men.

Team Avoids Draft

Although this group of 17 second year men is the largest number that has turned out for a Bison team in many a year, this is undoubtedly the primary reason why the Herd has been comparatively fortunate in regard to the draft. Whereas almost every team throughout the country has suffered the loss of outstanding keymen, the Bisons have only had

Professor C. Bond Speaks At Meeting

Committee Makes Changes In Freshman Week Plans; Elects Co-Chairman

Dr. Charles Bond spoke at a meeting of the Freshman Week Committee Wednesday evening in regard to the details and changes in the Freshman Week curriculum.

Professor Bond emphasized the necessity of presenting the incoming students with a symbol or impression of the democratic way of life at Bucknell. To substantiate this point, Germaine Pepperman, '42, and Fred Schurer, '42, were unanimously elected co-chairmen of the committee to work with Dr. Bond in carrying through plans already made, and to aid him in planning activities, not yet definitely decided upon.

Due to the number of cases of infantile paralysis in Pennsylvania, the Board of Health thought it wise to curtail some of the group activities as a precaution.

The University Reception for the class of 1945, which was scheduled for Friday evening, is to be omitted. In its place, the Campus Theatre has reserved the entire front section of the house so that the freshmen might attend a free showing of the motion picture.

The parties to be held on Saturday night for the men, and on Sunday night outdoors, (around campus) will be held outdoors, (around campus) weather permitting.

The third activity to be changed is the social hour, following the Freshman Class Banquet, on Tuesday evening.

Dr. Bond appointed chairmen of sub-committees to aid the co-chairmen in their duties. Dwight Millman, '42, headed the Freshman Receiving Committee, which met all trains and buses arriving in Lewisburg, Milton, and Montandon, on Thursday. Jean Haynes, '43, is in charge of the dining hall arrangements during Freshman Week. Dan Richardson, '43, was placed in charge of taking attendance at meetings, ushering, and decorating, while Dan Mazarella, '42, heads the group assisting with tests and degree course conferences. The social and recreational program is in the hands of Don Scholl, '42, and Marilyn Eppley, '43.

The parties this evening are under the direction of the dormitory counselors, with Ward Gage, '38, at the head of the men's group and Anne Randle, '42, in charge of the women's party.

B.U. President To Speak At Service

President Marts to Address Freshmen at Student Church Sunday

Student Church will begin services tomorrow evening at 6:45 in the Baptist Church with the special freshman meeting at which President Arnaud C. Marts will speak on "Before or After".

The Student Church Council has worked out an almost complete schedule for speakers who will come to Bucknell during the year. "As was true of last year, persons engaged in many different fields of work and from distant and nearby places will address the Sunday meetings."

Next week Student Church will hear Mrs. Kenneth Herrell, Mr. Ward Gage, and Mr. Forrest Brown of the Christian Association.

A negro missionary from the United States, the Reverend I. W. Underhill will come on October 5 to relate his experiences in religious endeavor that he carried on in Africa.

LEWISBURG, PA., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1941.

Marts Addresses Freshmen

Albert Spalding, Violinist, And Ruth Draper, Monologist, To Be Guests of B. U. Artist Course

Albert Spalding, world-known violinist, and Ruth Draper, internationally famous monologist, will give this semester under sponsorship of the Artist Course.

As presently planned, Albert Spalding will appear October 27, and Ruth Draper on January 14. The Artist Course committee will bring another renowned entertainer to Bucknell this year, but no definite selection has yet been made for the third guest artist.

Spalding Fame Worldwide

Denoted the most popular violinist with college audiences, Albert Spalding, who currently plays on a weekly program Sunday night on the CBS network, has performed in all principal cities and countries of Europe, West Indies, and in North Africa, in the United States, and in New York.

Ruth Draper is familiar to all theater-goers as the foremost monologist, unrivaled for more than 20 years. She never fails to draw capacity crowds at theaters from coast to coast with impersonations and characterizations, the form of entertainment of which she is hailed as the originator.

2 New Professors Added To Faculty

Appointees To Serve In The Psychology and Chemical Engineering Department

Two professors and three instructors have been added to the faculty this year, while two professors and two instructors have left the campus. Appointees who will teach here include the following: Dr. Halley M. MacPhee, assistant professor of psychology; Dr. Henry B. Smith, assistant professor of chemical engineering; Mrs. Evelyn Reesman, assistant in economics and commerce and finance; Miss Helen M. Dodd, assistant in physical education for women, and Howard W. Runkel, graduate assistant in speech.

Dr. MacPhee, who has been assistant professor of business psychology at the University of North Carolina, succeeds Dr. Charles M. Goddard, who left Bucknell in order to become head of the Philosophy Department at James Milliken University, Decatur, Ill. He took undergraduate work and was instructor in psychology at St. Lawrence before pursuing graduate study at North Carolina where he later became a professor.

Former Cincinnati Prof.

Filling the vacancy left by Dr. Joseph D. Stetkewicz, who has entered private industry, Dr. Smith was instructor in chemical engineering at the University of Cincinnati since 1930.

Mrs. Reesman, who will assist in Bucknell's training in commercial endeavor that he carried on in Africa.

President Marts Greet Record Size Freshman Class

Three More Houses For Frosh Women

Four New Dorm Hostesses; Women's College Active As 170 Women Enter

With three new women's residences on campus the office of the Dean of Women has the housing situation well in hand as the number of freshman women students show an increase over any previous year.

The three houses have not as yet been named, but will merely be designated "Freshman House on St. George Street, 25th Street, and on Walker Street", for the time being.

Because two of the residences are not completely redecorated, the girls in the St. George Street house are living in Harris Hall, and the girls in the Walker Street house are living in Hunt Hall until the end of the week. Decorating plans include re-furnishing, painting, and redecorating with appropriate draperies, rugs and maple furniture.

New Housemothers

There are four new housemothers, all college graduates. Three of the number have their Masters degrees and the three others are working to that end. Miss Mary Whittlesy supervises the St. George Street house. Mrs. Grace P. Keck the 6th Street house; Miss Helen Thornton the Walker Street house; Miss Helen Derr and Miss Gell an assistant in the Physical Education department.

Special Features

During Freshman Week, all competing freshman women will live in the second floor Hunt under the counsel of Jean Dyer, '42. As a special feature, one day will be set aside in Women's College for transfer students. During this time they will be given a chance to further orient themselves and to get acquainted with their class. Ruth Draper, '42, heads the committee in charge of this activity.

At three-thirty on Friday Dean Dyer spoke in Hunt Hall at a conference with all the Freshman women students. Later in the year, President Marts will have his annual meeting with the women of Bucknell in a similar conference.

Late Wednesday afternoon the presidents of the six campus sororities met in a special emergency meeting to discuss the situation in regard to deferred rushing. Several solutions were offered and the group will meet later and in conjunction with Pan-Hellenic will decide what steps must be taken. The action is necessary because of the social activity curb, due to the Poli epidemic.

Band Makes Initial Appearance Soon

The Bucknell Marching Band will make its first appearance of the season on Sept. 27th. This is the third year a special opportunity is offered the new men as several upperclass members have been called into military service and their places are open in addition to the usual Freshman places.

During football season, the band plays at all home games and pep rallies. The two out-of-town trips each year highlight the season for members.

With the arrival of winter, the Marching Band is turned into a concert organization in preparation for the Spring Festival and Twilight Concerts. Last year, girls were admitted to membership in the Concert Band and proved such capable musicians that the plan will be used again this year.

Since the first appearance of the Marching Band is scheduled to early in the season, it will be necessary for all freshmen interested in joining the band to act at once. Also, because

Five Frosh Receive B. U. Scholarship

Winners of the three freshman competitive scholarships, granting $250 for four years, are Norma Rogers of Kingston, Pa.; George E. Burns of New York City, and Wayne F. Frying of Sunbury, Pa.

The two scholarships of $100 for four years are awarded to Alfred Ziegler of Chambersburg, Pa., and Helen Anne Wythes of Haddonfield, N. J.

Competitive examinations for these scholarships were held on the Bucknell campus last April when all candidates were guests of the University. All five of the recipients will follow courses in the liberal arts.

Among the members of the Class of 1944 the winners of the $1000 scholarship awards included Leo Verroy McQuillen of Williamsport, Pa.; Betty Ann Baul of Philadelphia, and Helen Esther Clinkey of Lansdowne, Pa.

Four Hundred Sixteen Proves Largest Enrollment in University History

DEAN EMPHASIZES QUALITY OF STUDENTS

President Arnaud C. Marts welcomed the largest freshman class ever to enter Bucknell at the assembly of the Class of 1945 Thursday night in the Lit auditorium, where, with Dean Romeny H. Rivenburg presiding, the program included words of reception by Professor Charles M. Band, Dean Marts, and singing of the national anthem by the choir.

Emphasizing that the incoming freshmen are a select group and a favored one, Dean Rivenburg announced that, while the class is large, there were 786 applicants, of whom 416 or a little more than half were accepted.

Called Green Wave

President Marts opened his welcoming talk by quoting Professor Band's statement calling the freshmen "the great green wave of '45".

He extended a warm welcome from the whole Bucknell family, consisting of faculty, administration, upperclassmen, trustees, alumni, and from himself as a friend and companion.

Said President Marts, "This Bucknell family of ours is bound together by affection. We are drawn together by a spirit that makes us feel the brotherhood, the underlying tradition, that each freshman enjoys tonight, for he is able to live at Bucknell for the four years which most probably will be the happiest in his life. Doctor Marts declared this to be true of his college days.

"You are coming to college," he continued, "at a time when you will see the fundamental Christian issues of civilization settled. You will witness the greatest chapter so far in the history of mankind. Here at Bucknell may you learn to interpret the significance of this era of Christian struggle. Your position is enviable."

Asks Co-operation

Dr. John W. Rice, head of the Department of Biology and leader of the Student Health Service, spoke to warn of the epidemic of infantile paralysis at present in Pennsylvania. It is necessary to take precaution against spread of the disease among students. He asked that everyone in the university co-operate in combating any advance of the disease by guarding against contagion from droplet infection. It is our inviolable but common enemy, Doctor Rice stated.

In conclusion, the class sang the Alma Mater and returned to the dormitories for informal get-togethers on each floor arranged by the dorm counselors.

Greetings, Etcetera

When this comes to you from the press, Freshman Week will be almost over. During these last four days the class of 1945 will have been welcomed, praised, dined and entertained. College life will appear completely glamorous to all but the most homesick yearling. The greetings of the entire staff of The Bucknellian appear on the streamer headline on the front page, our word of caution is embodied in the "et cetera" toting this editorial.

For just about now the imitigated fun ends and responsibility begins. The men of this class have hard days to face, college to finish in three years, if possible, so they may get their degree before becoming eligible for the draft. This means that the path of their college life will be to be well integrated, with all frivolous corners sheared off. Good times and recreation will not be lacking, but classes and studies are going to come first, second and third.

The women have an equally difficult world today we mean just that. For trained women have a place in our world today and opportunities never before afforded them. Bucknell wants to teach the women of '45 just where these opportunities lie.

So, class of 1945, we welcome you to Bucknell, not as the younger generation of America, but as adults in the American scene. Grown up action will be expected of you along with the enthusiasm and driving force of your youth. Too much advice has already been offered to you so all we can say as regards its use is "Sort it over and then make up your own mind, sanely, seriously and with an eye to your own future."

The pessimism implied in this guarded heading, "Greetings, Etcetera" is unintentional, for the staff of the paper believes in optimism, not in the cheery, slap-on-the-back variety, but in a militant determined attitude of hopefulness. We trust that the incoming class will adopt the latter philosophy too.

Little has been said in this editorial about down to earth matters, or practical solutions to Freshman problems; how shall I budget my time, do I like this or that fraternity, can I study and manage a job, should I sign up for such and such activity? We think that as grown-ups the class of '45 should be able to handle such problems individually, for themselves. Coddling is necessary for the first few days of college—hence Freshman Week—but now you are on your own, and we salute you!

Deferred Rushing?

Now is the time of the year when King Rushing reigns supreme with all the fraternity men of Bucknell, and with the return tomorrow of the full bulk of the members of the various Greek organizations there will begin such a tug of war as hasn't been seen since the last Olympics.

Too late will some of the fraternities realize their lack of personality—plus members on the Freshman Week Committee, supposedly here to meet and greet the incoming class of '45. But our source of trouble is not with the meeters and greeters, it is with a small group of men, who perhaps, have been caught napping in their fraternal self advertisement, and will resort to any tactics to gain new and desirable members.

The men of the freshman class are to be pitied in the ensuing weeks as they are entered to, and granted every attention. Then, after undergoing hectic social tortures they will either be pledged or dropped. There is nothing that can be done about this process, winnowing out is always going on in life, and if it seems a little more obvious on campus, it can't be helped.

What concerns us at the present is the dirty rushing problem that is bound to arise. Fraternity men are prone to admit that it exists, and are even more pessimistic about the situation with the deferred rushing period due to be installed. Ironically enough, the social activity curb (a device set up to prevent misfortune of one kind) is liable to produce nasty results of another kind.

Unscrupulous Greeks, although the species are not supposed to exist, will be quick to seize the opportunities offered by a postponed period of rushing. There is liable to be gossip and innuendoes and out and out lines spread among the freshman men about this or that fraternity. We hope that if the deferred rushing period does go through for the men, the fraternities will conduct themselves in a manner that is above board and honest. In a letter elsewhere on this page a warning is issued to the Class of '45 by the Interfraternity Council. We wish to back up that warning and appeal to all Bucknellian fraternities men to act in their organizations. By complying with Council rulings they can show to the freshman and to the campus whether or not these National standards mean anything.

We Pledge

The editorial staff of the BUCKNELLIAN for the present school year pledges to follow the principles set forth in the following paragraphs.

1. We believe that the primary purpose of any college journalism is to serve the students and the college community.

2. We believe that in order to have a competent analysis of the news, the editorial board must interpret with an unbiased, unprejudiced mind, and must be allowed to write the facts as the staff sees them.

3. We believe in clear factual news stories and editorials, as opposed to sensational and emotional writing.

The editorial policy adopted by the BUCKNELLIAN has been formulated by the entire staff.

Letters

Dear Freshmen:

We, the Inter-Fraternity Council, representatives of the eleven social fraternities on the Bucknell campus wish to take this opportunity to explain to you that our "Rushing Week" although it has been postponed, will soon be upon us. The purpose of this week is to enable fraternities men and incoming freshmen to meet and become acquainted, with the idea in mind that, if we find our interests in common, you will see fit to become a pledge member of one of our organizations.

To accomplish this we shall invite you to dinners at our houses and to smokers and informal gatherings which we hold. In this manner we hope to show you what we believe are the advantages of fraternity life and to turn select those among you whom we would like to have as members of our groups.

In order that this program may be carried out in a spirit of friendly rivalry among fraternities, and that you may be given an opportunity to evaluate each fraternity on the same basis, we have formulated a set of rules to govern rushing. You will find these in the Inter-Fraternity Handbook which you will receive next Tuesday evening at the Freshman Class banquet. We have limited these rules to the irreducible minimum necessary for fair rushing.

A Word of Warning
As any infraction of the rules usually leads to hard feelings between individuals and groups, we, as a whole, try to abide by the rules. However, there are always a few among us who in their enthusiasm forget some of the rules in the interest of their groups. Therefore, we ask your cooperation in abiding by the rules and seeing that, in our respective groups, live up to them also.

There is one other matter in connection with rushing that we would like to mention. That is the practice of accepting pledge pins, symbols of formal obligation to a fraternity, before the regularly scheduled day at the end of Rushing Week. We feel sure that it will be to your ultimate advantage if you fully appraise all fraternities during the week and do not make a final choice until the week end. The contacts you make in all fraternities may be of value to you in your college life. Therefore, do not miss them by setting yourself off as a member of one group before the end of our own rushing period to accept the hospitality of one house after you have established yourself with another group. Therefore, we ask your cooperation in not accepting pledge pins, either openly or in secret, before the end of Rushing week. You will find that only in this manner can our true Bucknell spirit of friendliness and trustworthiness be upheld.

Sincerely,
The Inter-Fraternity Council.

REPAIRING AND ENGRAVING

Many New Changes
Noticed On Campus

When upperclassmen return next week they will find the looks of the campus altered.

Besides the lamp-posts on College Hill, which the Class of '40 dedicated and the university installed shortly before vacation, other improvements enhance the beauty of these 300 acres.

Everyone is glad to see that the boulevard roadway to Davis Gym and the stadium is paved. The State Highway Department recently bought the road from Bucknell for purposes of connecting it with route 15, formerly 404. However, the university bore the cost of repairing and resurfacing the road, without succeeding thus far in securing state money or WPA funds for the job.

Where frost heaves during the winter damaged the road down the hill from the Literature Building, patches now cover up the jagged holes.

One of the biggest improvements is repairing of the street from the Sigma Chi house to the Honor House. Here rugged bumps had rendered the street nearly unusable.

Much needed curbs line the road from the library to West College atop the Hill, while another span still under construction makes the roadside near the Chemistry Building more neat. Constant rush of rain water had dug such a deep rut in that spot that automobiles passing near the shoulder of the road ran risk of tipping.

Surely all collegians thank the Maintenance Department for augmenting the attractiveness of Bucknell grounds.

Amidst the ringing of bells in classrooms and hallways lowchattered freshmen stumbled along to catch a glimpse of their future home for four years. The bell-ringing was for testing, a part of the repairs.

Sitarsky To Call
Frosh To First
Grid Session

Meet Penn State Yearlings Away on Oct. 11: No
Squad Cuts Planned

One coach who grabs a new lease on life—and a fresh batch of head-sweat in this year's "Football Illustrated," outstanding national football weekly. He was the only coach to be placed on the All-American check list. Other members of the Herd who received favorable mention in this publication were "Buck" Benet, the other Bison coach, Mel Knapp, and Walt Wenrick.

Although the Frosh football schedule only includes four games, all are tough and three of them are away from school. The first contest is slated for October 11 when the Baby Bisons play the Penn State Frosh in the morning. The Varsity plays at State that afternoon. The next game for the Bisonsites is the Army Poles at West Point. Then there is a home game with Dickinson Junior College, and then the wind-up with Temple Frosh at Philly. Last year's frosh squad turned in a surprise win over the Temple first year men, and maybe the class of '45 will make it two in a row.

With no favored veterans of past campaigns to influence the selection of a team, every one of the eleven posts on the Frosh first team is wide open to competition. Any freshman, experienced or not, who wants to don a football uniform and become a member of Bucknell's Freshman Football team is welcome to do so, and Coach Sitarsky does not "cutting."

Although, strangely enough, there isn't a single lefty on the grid squad this year, the three men representing the Bison coaching staff, Head Coach Al Humphreys, Line Coach Bus Blum, and Frosh Coach Johnny Sitarsky, are all Southpaws.

Incidentally, if you care to get a preview of this year's team take yourself out to the stadium this Monday afternoon where you'll be able to see Al Humphreys running his boys through a special scrimmage.

The biggest man on Bucknell's football squad this year is also the youngest. Tom Rodgers, who very daintily tips the beams at 225-lbs., has just turned his eighteenth birthday.

Lebanon Valley, the Bisons' opening contest this year, has been met nine times previous to this year by Orange and Blue grid machines. The first game of their rivalry dates way back to 1903. Of the nine contests Bucknell has dropped but one.

Grid Notes

by Morty Silberman

Ed Glass, rangy 6' 4" Bison end, is still a bit wobbly from his recent appendectomy, and it'll be about another month yet before Big Ed will be back in top shape again.

Fred Gore, co-captain of this year's Herd, who plays a mean piece of end up with a few good halfbacks, Bucknell should have one of its finest soccer teams in many a year. Practice sessions begin this Tuesday on North Field.

The opening engagement for the Bison boosters is slated for October 10, when the Orange and Blue taken on the Gettysburg Kickers here at Lewisburg. This gives Merle almost a whole month to work on his boys and the results of his work should be enough to assure a well-prepared welcome for the G-burg boys.

This year's team will play one more game than last year's schedule called for. Outstanding lifts on this year's card call for engagements with Penn State, West Point, Temple, and Syracuse, whom they defeated 1-0 last year.

Although freshman players are eligible for varsity competition, yearling soccer aspirants will be more than welcome at practice sessions; besides, there is the intramural competition which offers more than enough activity for first year men.

Because Americans have become "convention conscious," more courses in parliamentary procedure should be offered in schools and colleges, Joseph F. O'Brien, associate professor of speech at Pennsylvania State, believes.

Incidentally, if you care to get a preview of this year's team take yourself out to the stadium this Monday afternoon where you'll be able to see Al Humphreys running his boys through a special scrimmage.

The biggest man on Bucknell's football squad this year is also the youngest. Tom Rodgers, who very daintily tips the beams at 225-lbs.,

U. Power Plant Helps Frosh Study

Mid-Night Oil Burners
Owe All To Five Local Stokers

by Robert Kitz

You freshmen who may have gazed down the side of College Hill toward the river probably wondered at the dingy building nestled snugly on one side against the Hill. If you did not happen to look in that direction, then you must have noticed a fine shower of soot that occasionally flies on the wind over the quad.

This is the university power plant, which will enable you to burn the midnight oil beneath your study lamps.

Its soot sometimes wafted toward the Men's Quadrangle, the square brick smokestack, following nineteenth century design, that towers beyond the brow of College Hill, marks out the university heating and lighting plant, which, while quite unnoticed by most collegians, constantly supplies electricity for all of Bucknell and steam for all the campus buildings.

Here the fiery glow that flashes from the hungry frobox in its boiler dances on the sooty walls of the boiler room, revealing a maze of pipes, gauges, and chimneys that intertwine and climb up to the high rafters ceiling. Five freshmen and a helper kept busy every five minutes shoveling coal heaped high on heavily laden coal buggies and heaving it into the blazing firebricks that swallow up 27 tons daily.

Piped Thru Campus
One underground steam line carrying 100 pounds pressure furnishes heat to every building except the stadium, boys' gym, and the Van Gundy, Martin, and co-operative houses.

By the way, frosh, you certainly observed the queer puff of steam coming from the ground in front of the Chemistry Building. This is one of the underground lines of steam.

The plant produces electric energy for each building, the aforementioned included, and steam for making hot water for all other college structures. Because of their special need, the engineering building, infirmary, chemistry laboratories, and East College basement receive direct current besides the regular A. C. power.

Freshmen about to begin engineering courses will be interested to learn a few more technical details of the plant.

Early years ago, before the plant generated electricity, there were five small boilers now replaced by four large Keeler boilers made in nearby Williamsport. Two enormous 180-lb. pressure furnaces operate together to accommodate the ordinary load, but an emergency battery of two 125-lb. boilers supplement them during severe winters hardly ever for more than two months.

Cheaper Fuel Used
Until the last decade the use of natural draft permitted the plant to burn exclusively the more costly coal of buckeye size. However, installation of forced draft brought with it the economy of using rice size anthracite. Huge bins alongside the plant can store about 300 tons at one time.

Although this amount can be stored it is not sufficient, for coal is delivered each day by truck to maintain the powerhouse and the service it renders in developing heat, light, and power.

Now do you not better appreciate the electricity and heat sent to your rooms, freshmen?

Sorority Presidents Hold Meetings

Greek Women Schedule
Emergency Sessions
On Rushing Rules

A second emergency meeting was held yesterday afternoon at three-thirty as the six sorority presidents met to determine what could be done about the Fall rushing.

At the suggestion of the Student Health Committee all social activities must be curbed, and since this comes under the ban, alternate plans must be substituted.

Mildred Mellor, president of Pan-Hellenic, presided at the meeting and although the suggestions of the present group can not be officially followed until all the members of Pan-Hellenic return to school, it is believed that women rushing will be postponed until around the fifteenth of October.

Several Changes Planned
Among the changes that have been suggested, but not passed, are the following five items:

1. No silence period.
2. Social program cut.
3. Elimination of open houses.
4. Parties as usual.
5. No wearing of pins or emblems or sorority discussion with Freshman.

Music Professor Obtains
Ph. D. Degree in Music at Rochester Univ.

Professor Melvin LeMon returns to the Bucknell faculty in the Department of Music again after an absence of a year during which he studied for his Ph. D. degree in music at the Eastman School of Music in the University of Rochester.

He will again give lessons on the piano organ and direct the Variety and Freshman Glee Clubs. As has been customary for a number of years, the Variety Glee Club will make its annual trip, when it usually delivers national radio programs, to sing at Philadelphia, New York, and other points near these cities. Professor LeMon will accompany the gleemen.

While Professor LeMon was gone, Professor Harold Cook, who has left to earn his doctor's degree this year at Western Reserve in Cleveland, assumed direction of the glee clubs.

Committee Arranges Sport Activities for Class
of 1945

The co-chairmen of the Recreation Committee have had one of the major problems of Freshman Week on their hands. It has been necessary to curtail the usual dancing and group meetings in order to cooperate with the Student Board of Health.

Last evening a scavenger hunt was formed before the class of '45 attended the Campus Theatre as guests of the management. Don Scholl, Co-Chairman of the committee divided the class into groups according to their dormitory floors. The group that won comprised fourth floor West Wing and third floor Larison Hall.

The committee has arranged sports activities for the afternoons of the remainder of freshman week. Ruth Ryder, '43, and George Jenkins, '43, are in charge of golf; Robert Shaffer, '42 and Eleanor Greene, '43, in charge of baseball; Margaret Straus, '43, and

The regimentation of tradition will fall upon the male members of the Class of 1945 tomorrow morning at 6 a. m., when this year's freshman rules go into effect and the frosh don black ties, socks of the same hue, and dinks to "cap" the climax.

The following list of rules pertaining to the dress and conduct of freshmen men will go into effect Friday, September 20, and will (except for several noted exceptions) last until the Frosh-Soph Scrap on Father's Day, November 2. Bear in mind that these rules regard the men only.

1. All freshmen men are to wear dinks, black ties, and black socks. This rule goes out of effect every Saturday night at 6:00 p. m. and does not become effective again until the following Monday morning at 6:00 a. m.
2. Freshmen men are expected to know all three verses of the Alma Mater and to be prepared to sing it upon request.
3. Freshmen men are never to cut campus, but are supposed to use only regular college paths.
4. No freshmen will walk on the Senior Path. This is the path that starts at Taylor Hall and extends to the Literature Building.
5. Freshmen must not take to any variety contest, but must sit as one compact body to serve as the nucleus for the cheering class.
6. Freshmen are to wear card board signs on their backs with their names and college addresses written in large legible letters on them every day from 9:00 a. m. in the morning until 5 o'clock in the evening, starting tomorrow and lasting till Tuesday, October 7. Freshmen must also wear their name badges, given them on the first day of Freshman Week, up to the Penn State game on October 11.
9. All preceding rules will be enforced by the Senior Tribunal in any way that it may see fit. This body will meet every Monday night. All Freshmen men are to be in their rooms at 9:00 p. m. every Monday night and are not to leave their respective dormitories until the following morning. This rule pertains to those living in town as well as in the dormitories.

Mortar Board, whose predecessors here was E. E. was instituted on campus last February as the seventy-fourth of the seventy-five national chapters in the nation. Selection for membership is determined on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership. With seven members, Mortar Board is on the threshold of its first complete year of existence on this campus.

Its aim is to support the administration and be of ultimate service to students, for it is a service organization.

Mrs. Katherine Coleman of Omaha, national president for 11 years, was replaced at the convention by Mrs. H. J. Stevens, of Pasadena, California, who had formerly been treasurer. An outline of Mortar Board's activities was also presented. Recreation at the meeting included sports, games, parties, and conferences.

Too, the society established an annual scholarship named for Mrs. Coleman, for an outstanding member who intends to follow graduate studies.

At Bucknell, tapping ceremonies will take place at "moving-up day" for the women in the spring. The primary meeting of the year is scheduled for Monday.

Three hundred forty-two interviews for students were arranged during the past year. This number does not include those interviews held away from the campus and arranged by the bureau, nor those individual interviews with the director of the bureau. Fourteen companies and two employment services sent representatives to the campus; many students took advantage of the opportunity to meet these people personally. As far as can be ascertained, all the persons registered with the bureau have found positions.

The group will gather in front of Larison Hall at five o'clock to walk to the home of the secretary of the Christian Association. After the meal, Mr. Brown will give an informal talk.

On the following week the Supper Club will dine at Half-way Dam to hear Dean Dorothy Dyer speak on old Bucknell traditions that used to prevail back in the days when the present women's college was the Girl's Seminary and today's college on College Hill was known as the Academy at Lewisburg.

Not yet have enough boys taken up membership, but the full quota of girls has been reached. The cost is $2.50, which amount includes entertainment, meals, and transportation for every Wednesday for six weeks.

President Marts will be speaker at the final gathering to be held in the President's house.

A paper entitled "The Supersolubility of Some Alkali Halides" was "elivered" by Doctor Matsen at the Atlantic City meeting of the American Chemical Society as a contribution from the Chemistry Department of Bucknell.

It will be recalled that last May the Chemistry Department was honored by being accredited by the American Chemical Society. Only seven percent of all the colleges in the United States share this accreditation.

There will be an important general meeting for all freshmen and other students who are interested in writing for the Bucknellian, this Sunday afternoon at 4:15 at the office on Fifth Street. Members of the editorial and business staffs will be present to interview students who would like to work on the paper.

Al Humphreys Starts Fifth Season As Bison Grid Coach

Team Has Well-Balanced Line While Backfield Is Headed By Knupp

Al Humphreys opens his fifth season as Evengali of the Bucknell gridiron fortunes under the smiling eyes of Dame Fortune and local Board No. 458; for the Bison mentor has nine returning lettermen on his squad of

The tackle problem, a Bison bugaboo for several seasons, may be solved this year when the Thundering Herd comes up with several capable replacements for the starting men. Seniors Fred Kern and Charley Nagel have the inside track; while they will be spelled by rugged Walt Szot, Tom Rodgers, and Clair Thomas. This gives the Bisons more strength here than for the past several seasons.

Along with Knupp, the starting backs will be chosen from Walt Wenrick, who has the signal-calling berth clinched, Fred Fahringer, Chet Podd, Al Kazary, Jim Reichert, Frank DeAngelis, Al McGagna, Tom Kiernan and Ed McGowan. Of these, only Podd, Wenrick, Fahringer, and Knapp have seen varsity experience.

The punting chores will be in the capable hands—and feet!—of Melvin Knupp, who under the substitution rules will be able to re-enter the game for kicking duties more frequently than last year. The passing

Since rules permit only two guards on a football team, either Walter "Buck" Bennett, Bill Anderson, or sophomore "Bucket" Speer will see the opening kick-off from the bench, but all three are sure to see lots of action as many quarters are played. The battle for the pivot post is a three-cornered affair between Paul Burke, Steve Sokol, and Porky Reichert. Both Burke and Sokol have a little varsity experience; while Reichert backed up the frosh line last year in great fashion.

President Marts Gives Annual All-College Address

Marts Urges Students To Keep Faith "In This Hour of Peril"

ADDRESS TITLED
"FIFTEEN-FIFTEEN"

Declaring that "the strength of a nation lies not in its material, but in the character, unselfishness, and devotion of its people," President Marts opened his annual all-college address this morning in chapel as he urged students to keep faith in high standards of intellectual effort and moral conduct "in this hour of peril, the greatest our nation has ever known."

"The world after this war will surely need a generation of young people with high ideals and with utter devotion to the principles of 'Christian civilization,'" warned Dr. Marts, who is also serving as executive director of the Pennsylvania Council of Defense.

Fifteen-Fifteen His Topic

Studies made by the Council to discover the recreational habits of men in uniform while on leave indicate that about 15 percent are interested only in the very best types of recreation, according to Dr. Marts. "But in each camp there is another 15 percent whose tastes in recreation and conduct are exactly the opposite," he continued. "They are the men whose fraternalism are coarse and unrefined. And those in between the great 70 percent are undecided, mobile, ready to go in the direction of the strongest attraction of the moment."

"During the days of 1916 and 1917 the lower 15 percent took over the leadership of the moral and social conduct of our nation," he said, "and were merry for tomorrow we die was their text, and with that text they led America into an era of unprecedented lowering of ideals and deterioration of moral standards," he said.

"The 1929 collapse wasn't just a financial collapse," he told the students. "It was something deeper than that—it was the final failure of the national selfishness which had been initiated back in 1916. Since 1929, all America, indeed all the world, has been paying the price of our previous folly. During the 1930's sick America nursed the headache of the morning after at a time when America, of all the nations in the world, should have been strong enough to preserve the peace of the world."

"During the past few months I have observed a letting down of standards and a deterioration of ideals exactly similar to the patterns of 1916, and I for one am not willing to see America led again down this same pathway to our national destruction," declared Dr. Marts. "It's the turn this time of the upper 15 percent, instead of the lower 15 percent, to keep American ideals and standards high through the dangerous crises that lie before us."

Fraternity Council Formulates Rules

New Regulations Made To Prevent Illegal Rushing;
Men Rush October 1

With Men's Rushing due to begin in October first the Interfraternity Council is seeking, through a new series of rules, to set up curbs against any dirty rushing which might be brought about by the deferred date. All upperclassmen are expected to conform to these rules and the men of the class of '45 have been warned to be on the lookout for underhanded tactics. There follows a complete list of the newly revised rules:

1. It is the opinion of the Interfraternity Council that rushing should be conducted in a spirit of friendly rivalry. Consequently, the members of each fraternity should assiduously refrain from speaking disparagingly of any other fraternity.
2. The rushing period shall begin at 7:00 a. m., Wednesday, October 1, and shall close at 9:30 p. m., Tuesday, October 7.
3. Sunday, October 5, shall be a day of silence, during which time no freshman may have any contact whatsoever with fraternities or fraternity men.
4. With the exception of Friday and Saturday, rushing shall end each day at 10:00 p. m.
5. There shall be no rushing outside the borough limits of Lewisburg.
6. Each freshman shall list his meal dates on the "Fraternity Date Schedule" in the Interfraternity Council furnished him, and no freshman shall make more than two meal dates with any one fraternity.
7. With the exception of regularly scheduled meals, the fraternities shall hold no social functions during rushing week.
8. No freshman shall enter a fraternity house before Wednesday, October 1.
9. No fraternity man shall enter a freshman's room for the purpose of making a social visit, or of talking of fraternity affairs, before October 1.
10. No restrictions shall be placed upon the attire and jewelry worn by freshmen men before and during rushing week.
11. On Wednesday, October 3, each freshman who desires to become a pledge member of a fraternity shall prepare a list of the fraternities to which he desires to pledge in the space provided in this handbook. On this list he shall indicate the fraternities in the order of his preference. This list shall be turned in to Dean Page's office not later than 11:00 a. m., Wednesday, October 8. Bids will be distributed in Bucknell Hall at 5:00 p. m., Wednesday. After receiving his bid, the pledge shall go directly to the fraternity to which he has been invited to pledge, for a pledge dinner.

Bucknell Professor Heads
Livings Cost Comm.;
26 Attend Meeting

At a meeting of the Consumers' Advisory Committee in Lewisburg, Saturday, September 20, Professor Edward G. Cornelius, Bucknell economics instructor was elected temporary chairman. This committee was formulated to curb unjustified increases in living costs by the State Council of Defense, of which President Marts is director.

It consists of 26 members representing consumer groups, farm bureau, business corporations, and educators. Professor Harry F. Weber, a professor at Lock Haven State Teachers' College, was elected secretary.

From the Consumers' Advisory Committee was chosen a steering committee to plan a general program. This committee consisting of officers and three members, will meet Friday and will be followed by a dinner for the entire advisory committee. Dr. Harriet Elliott, chief of the Consumers' Division at Washington, will be present.

Dean Page To Take Up Licensing Of Student Autos

Bucknellians Will Be Fined
25 Dollars for Use of Unauthorized Cars

LICENSES MUST NOT BE ABUSED

The licensing of automobiles for use on campus will soon take place. Dean Page in a letter to all parents of Bucknell students stated that "The use of unauthorized automobiles by students is prohibited at Bucknell. This regulation is the result of considerable experience in this connection."

The requirements which must be met are also stated in the letter and are as follows: "First, a student is expected to have a legitimate reason for having an automobile in Lewisburg; second, the student's parents or guardian must request the issuance of a student permit third, the car in question must be covered by liability and property damage insurance; finally a license of this nature must not be abused."

Heavy Fine for Violations

It is also brought to the attention of the student body that "No financial assistance of any sort will be granted to or continued to any student maintaining an unlicensed car. Any student not receiving financial aid from the University who maintains an unlicensed automobile will be subject to a fine of not less than $25 for violating the automobile regulation."

Any student refusing to comply with the requirements about student car will place his standing with the University in jeopardy, and may be requested to withdraw from college. It was further announced.

The student must apply for a new license each year. The president of the Student Body, Dr. E. G. Cornelius, and Dean Page have all signed this ruling.

Cap And Dagger Selects First Play

With the recommendation of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity, Cap and Dagger, at their meeting on Monday, chose "Accent On Youth" as their first play to be given on Father's Day.

Trevor Poling '43 will direct the play. Production, while "Accent On Youth" will be production manager. Committee heads were also announced at this time.

The play will be presented on both nights of the Father's Day weekend, October 31 and November 1, in cooperation with the Father's Day Committee.

Choose Experimental Play

Also accepted at last Monday's meeting of the campus dramatic society was the play "Lullum" by Ferenc Molnar as Cap and Dagger's Experimental Play. This play is to be presented on December 10 and 11.

Dr. George A. Irland, head of Bucknell's engineering department, who has charge of the special evening courses, announces that no college credit will be given for these courses, but a certificate will be presented to each student finishing them satisfactorily.

Courses to be offered include engineering, drawing, materials, inspection and testing, production engineering, foundations of engineering, and industrial electricity. The course in engineering drawing will continue for ten weeks while the remaining courses will take a minimum of 16 weeks for completion.

WILLIAMSPORT BANS LOCAL GATHERINGS

Consider the location of poliomyelitis in this vicinity; one can visualize a circle of cases about to close in on Lewisburg. Although the ring does not yet completely surround this community, the Health Service solicits "all out" aid in helping to stave off the march of paralysis toward College Hill.

Epidemic in Williamsport?

Williamsport, a city of 30,000, has just closed its schools; it prohibits children under 18 years to appear at night on the streets, to go to theaters and churches, or to assemble in large crowds. These precautions follow the death by poliomyelitis of a high school boy there, in addition to several other confirmed and possible cases.

While the Student Health Service, conducted by Dr. John W. Rice and Dr. Loren P. Fowle, exerts the full measure of its authority in warning Bucknellians and in reducing risks on and near campus by striving to enforce sanitary handling of food, dishes, glasses, and in safeguarding general health conditions, its entire efforts are worthless when students disobey its admonition. To go outside the jurisdiction of the university, which advises against large gatherings, in order to congregate in big groups with close personal contact is both a violation and an inestimable risk of health.

Allege Violations

Themselves heeding the request of the Health Service to discontinue dancing in their establishments, a few local merchants running eating places complained this week that the Bucknell students go beyond the limits of town to an unnamed restaurant on route 15 to play record machines and dance there.

Retaliated pleas to co-operate by placing a voluntary self-restriction on such actions is earnestly voiced by the Health Service. Continuing

Eisman Announces Staff Appointments for Year;
Easley Is Adviser

Students who are interested in working on the yearbook are invited to visit the L'Agenda office in the basement of Roberts Hall on Monday, September 23, from 1:30 to 5:00 p. m.

Bud Eisman, '43, editor-in-chief of the L'Agenda, has announced the following staff appointments:

Assistant Editors: Norene Bond, Sidney Grabowski, '43; Photography Editor, Harry McCauley, '42; Art Editor, Don Sholl, '42; Copy Editor, Sidney Grabowski, '43; Athletic Editor, Richard Eldridge, '43; Fraternity and Men's Honoraries Editor, Marcia Hart, '42; Feature Editor, Norene Bond, '43; Activities Editor, Robert Scherman, '42; Classes Editor, Anne Randle, '42; Faculty and Administration Editor, Doris Green, '42; and Printing Editor, Isabelle Kent, '43.

At a meeting of the Board of Publications last Monday, Paul Winters, '43, has been named Business Manager, and Miss Tremaine Easley has been selected Faculty Adviser for the 1942 edition of L'Agenda.

Members To Discuss Organization
At First Meeting of Year
On Monday, Sept. 29

The Radio Workshop will begin the new year under the direction of Bill Roos with an open meeting Monday night at seven o'clock in the basement studios of Bucknell Hall to discuss organization.

Added variety and occasional surprises are in the offing for the broadcast every Sunday afternoon, over station WKOK in Sunbury. Weekly plays will no longer be the rule; rather, other kinds of entertainment will be featured. Since the exact nature of the entertainment will be a board of examiners who will pose the questions. A prize will go to the winner.

14 Students Enlist
For C.P.T. Course

Training in piloting an airplane is extended to students by the Civil Aviation Authority. Only 14 have applied for admission; Dean Page urges whoever wishes to take the course to sign up as soon as possible.

While 20 persons were in the class last year, merely ten will have the same opportunity this year. Students will not apply to compose the desired twenty. Washington authorities state that the enrollment of classes must be in figures of tens.

by Pete Tras

Two Second Editorial:

No matter how small the role of Bucknell University in the national defense effort may seem to some people, it is of no little importance when one considers that it is a part of a widespread university movement to aid the government. Bucknell is represented by its president, Arnold C. Marts, who is State Defense Coordinator for Pennsylvania, on the State Defense Council. The engineering department through its defense course is training men to step into vital industries and Prof. Cornelius new heads another important defense job. The Civilian Pilot Training course also is turning out men with a fundamental knowledge of flying for possible duty in the aerial forces of the country. Certainly it's important work, but probably what is more important in the minds of Bucknell's men and women is how the Bison football team will make out against such teams as Penn State, Boston University and Temple to mention three of the toughest on the schedule.

Society News On And Off The Campus

CONNIE COLLEGE WEARS . . .

Gone are the days of the too, full, too cumbersome pocketbook. In keeping with the modern fashion trend toward an "elegant efficiency," the 1941 wallet has taken over the work of the antiquated purse. Incidentally B. U. co-eds, particularly upperclassmen NEVER carry purses.

Little Johnny doesn't have a chance these days. Sister Sue has completely evacuated his dresser drawers, leaving him with only a few ties and threadbare shirts to his name. It's a tom-boy season, with mannish jackets, sweaters, and even casual broadcloth shirts being worn with particularly becoming effects by all campus co-eds.

That most publicized and presumptuous letter of the alphabet, the V-necked sweater, has been adopted to the whim of fashion, and V-necked sweaters may be spotted near and aft on campus. Rights to remove: its casual, mannish lines, and promise of sheer comfort.

A direct steal from Old World ladies, the serviceable hand scarf has proven one of the greatest boons to the B. U. co-ed in many a fashion room. One in gay floral prints, this one keeps the rain and wind out, and serves to keep pre-dinner curriers content.

NOTE: Nearly all the items in this shopping column may be bought in local Lewisburg stores.

WSGA Holds First Meeting In Hunt Hall

The Women's Student Government Association held its first meeting in Hunt Hall on Monday afternoon. Two girls from each dormitory floor were nominated for the House of Representatives. One will be elected to represent each floor in the near future.

A compulsory meeting for all women students was called Wednesday evening. Dormitory rules for the coming year were presented by Betty Grim, president.

Work, Travel Claim Students During Vacation Months

Far from our "three hundred acres set apart," Bucknellians worked and played this past summer in various atmospheres. One could have found Bucknell Bionics vacationing in lovely Maine, or sunny California, or handling work that ranged from play ground duty to work on an oil tanker.

Bob Puff, Jim Whyte, and Phil Roy, Sigma Chi's, attended a fraternity convention at Detroit, Michigan.

Pete Tras, '43, spent his entire summer working at Eagles Mere Inn, Eagles Mere, Pa., during which time he served as editor of the resort's newspaper.

Delta Zeta Ruth Smith visited in Montreal, Quebec and New Hampshire during the summer vacation.

Dennis Don Scholl and Alfred Ashman worked for the U. S. Department of Agriculture during the past summer. Don was stationed in Chicago working on the Japanese beetle quarantine, while Al was with the Dutch Elm Disease Control.

Dan Manarola, Alpha Chi Mu, spent two weeks with other college students from the eastern part of the country interviewing some three hundred negro families in Williamsport, Pa., for a survey conducted by the State Department of Labor and Industry. For the remainder of the summer he was a baker in a boys camp of 400 in Maine.

Sigma Alpha Ma Burton Borden traveled 12,000 miles during the course of his summer vacation. Phi Mu Ely Tully vacationed at Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Ginny McCabe, Alpha Chi, had her appendix removed at Monmouth Memorial Hospital, Long Branch, N. J. K. D. R. Paul Mennig was employed as a clerk for the Austin Company in Hartford, Connecticut.

K. D.'s Mildred Miller, Bunny Horowitz, Jane Shouder, Anne Hough, Ruth Chamberlain, Jane Griffith, Marian Hack, Martha Lynde, and Betty Fisher attended the twenty-fifth annual convention of Kappa Delta sorority at Swampscott, Mass.

William Ramage, Phi Gamma Delta, toured via automobile through the northeastern states and California.

Miss Elaine Schatz, '42, Delta Zeta, attended the pledging of Beta Phi Alpha chapter at Adelphi College in Garden City, N. Y. The chapter was initiated and installed by Mrs. H. M. Landy, of Bloomington, Indiana, grand president of Delta Zeta. This is but one of similar ceremonies being conducted throughout the country.

The local chapter of Delta Zeta will not undergo any drastic changes as a result of the merger, since a chapter of the former Beta Phi Alpha sorority does not exist on campus.

Miss Helen Kibough, '42, is the president of Beta Theta chapter of Delta Zeta on campus.

Active and alumnae groups throughout the country are affected by the merger. Collegiate chapters of Beta Phi Alpha are being installed as Delta Zeta chapters, and individual alumnae members are being initiated.

Delta Zeta Julie Van Why spent part of her summer vacation visiting Catty, bunk in Cape Cod.

Bob Snyder, Sigma Chi, worked on an oil tanker.

K. D. Marie Froumth toured the western National Parks with her family.

K. D. R. Jack King was clerk and assistant manager in an A. and P. store at Lake Mohawk, N. J.

Marilyn Eppley, Phi Mu, spent a week vacationing at Capon State Park in West Virginia.

Dennis Bernard Fisher was connected with the Cine-Kodak Processing Department of the Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, N. Y.

Lambda Chi Paul Schmitt represented the local chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha at the national convention, which was held at Excelsior Springs, Missouri. He spent two additional weeks touring the midwest.

Bob Keegan, Sigma Chi, pitched for a semi-pro ball team in Rochester, N. Y.

Jack Shulman, S. A. M., attended the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, this past summer. Delta Zeta Fay Myers was a counselor at camp Algonquin in York, Pa., during the summer.

LeAnne Boyle, Alpha Chi, visited Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, Atlantic City, N. J., and Ashbury Park, N. J., during the summer.

It seems many a fortnight since your columnist was last typing copy for the weekly edition of "The Bucknellian," yet three crowded summer months have flown by, landing us right back on the B. U. campus again. It's hello to a new college year, and to the class of '45. Already social activities on campus are coming to the fore.

Delta Sigma alumni returning for the first week end of the school year included Alfred Jacobs, '23, Charles Lindig, '24, Harvard Griffith, '40, Kermit Bower, '40, and James Duchine, '40. John Zell, '41, left last Sunday for Philadelphia, where he plans to continue his studies in law at the University of Pennsylvania.

Professor and Mrs. James Gathings were the guests of the Sigma Alpha Mu house for dinner last Thursday evening.

New active wearers of S. A. E. pins are Steve Sokol, '43, Tom Kinnear, '44, and Robert Ward, '44. They were initiated into the chapter last Sunday. Walt Wenrick, '42, and Bob Walker, '43, were visited by their parents over the weekend.

With mannish clothes riding in the saddle all the way this season, Bucknell co-eds have adopted the fast to the left. Long torso mannish jackets and rough tweeds have been stolen by the girls from their male contemporaries, to say nothing of the V-neck sweater matched directly from the kid brother's back.

K. D. Molly Carothers, ex-'42, will attend Maryland College for Women at Lutherville, Maryland. Second degree was held in the suite on Monday night for Catherine Bunnett, Betty Fischer, and Margaret Gemmill.

K. D. R. Harry Powell, William Huff, and Robert Kolbe, all of the class of '44, were taken into the active membership of Kappa Delta Rho Friday night. James Holt, '43, spent the weekend at his home at Lykens, Pa. Harry Powell entertained several friends from Tamaqua, Pa., on Sunday.

Alpha Chi's Mary Gebhardt, Alice Watts, Carol Laurin, and Margaret Osborne were new employees in New York City. Joy Snyder is attending Marjorie Webster's secretarial school in Washington.

Of Chablis again we might mention those smooth Argyle sweaters being sported by several residents of the "sem." Copied, once again, after men's attire, this time a take-off on the well-dressed woman's socks, it's one of the most attractive additions to the sweater family in some '44's.

"Mom" Knapp, who has been the Lambda Chi house mother for the past seven years, has accepted the position of hostess of the Indianapolis Golf Infirmary. Joe Krimm, ex-'43, visited the house Friday. J. C. Fischer, ex-Grand High Alpha of national Lambda Chi Alpha, spent two days at the chapter house.

During the last week, alumni who paid the Fijis a visit were William Halley, '41, Dick Bruce, '38, Virgil Turner, '40, Robert Will, '46, George Cohen, '38, William Beck, '38, and Pete Wood, '39.

Phi Mu Nellie Dean, '42, entertained Willmar Griffith, '40, this past weekend. Bob Hopp was a guest of Betty Jane Keim, '43, over the weekend.

Meo Osterle, Pi Phi, was visited by Charles Carpenter, a former graduate student in chemistry, over the weekend.

The Tri Delta are starting the school year with a redecorated and refurbished suite room.

Bad Emmert, ex-'42, from Camp Lee, Virginia, was the guest of Ann Randle over the weekend. Gene McEntee and Al Beck visited the latter's uncle in Williamsport. Dave Kornhauser, '41, returned to the campus for the weekend.

Delta Zeta Merges With Beta Phi Alpha. Totals 72 Chapters

The merger of Delta Zeta and Beta Phi Alpha, national sororities, will result in a total membership in Delta Zeta of more than 13,000 members and a roster of 72 active chapters. The merger was first announced June 25, 1940 at the Delta Zeta convention at Lakewood, Ohio. Delta Zeta is represented on campus by the Beta Theta chapter.

Active and alumnae groups throughout the country are affected by the merger. Collegiate chapters of Beta Phi Alpha are being installed as Delta Zeta chapters, and individual alumnae members are being initiated.

Miss Elaine Schatz, '42, Delta Zeta, attended the pledging of Beta Phi Alpha chapter at Adelphi College in Garden City, N. Y. The chapter was initiated and installed by Mrs. H. M. Landy, of Bloomington, Indiana, grand president of Delta Zeta. This is but one of similar ceremonies being conducted throughout the country.

The local chapter of Delta Zeta will not undergo any drastic changes as a result of the merger, since a chapter of the former Beta Phi Alpha sorority does not exist on campus.

Miss Helen Kibough, '42, is the president of Beta Theta chapter of Delta Zeta on campus.

Women students at Finland College follow extensive ROTC training and wear military uniforms.

Polio Scare Forces Panhellenic To Re-state Rushing Regulations; Rushing Deferred Until October 20

It has been necessary to defer annual rushing for a definite period of time due to the polio scare which invaded the campus shortly before the formal opening of the semester when rushing formerly occurred, the Pan-Hellenic council has revised the rushing rules in effect in previous years. There follows a list of the rules pertaining to 1941 rushing. Freshmen and upperclassmen are urged to study this list carefully.

A period of free association will be in effect from September 22 until October 20.

1. Upper classmen and freshmen may associate with each other, but may not confer on sorority matters.

a. Upper classmen may associate with new girls off campus provided at least two different sorority girls are present.

2. No male dates for new girls may be arranged by upperclass girls, and no double-dating of upperclass girls with new girls is permissible.

3. Freshman girls may not enter upperclass dormitories, and upperclass girls may not enter freshman dorms, except in Larson living room and Hunt playroom.

4. Pins may be worn starting Monday, September 22, but no other sorority emblems are to be displayed at any time on campus, or in the rooms during the free association period.

5. Alumnae may return to campus up until the time of formal rushing on October 21.

6. Transfers must wear name tags the first and fourth week preceding rushing, and only the small name cards provided in freshman week during the two weeks that intervene.

A. For deliberate violation of these rules, or deliberate dirty rushing, two parties may be taken away from the offending party.

The accuser must make her charge in writing to her sorority president 24 hours within the time that the offense has been committed. That sorority president will in turn present the case to the Pan-Hellenic president, and the case will be brought before the council with no names mentioned.

Conductors: A. Counselors may wear pins, but may not display any other sorority emblem. B. Counselors may not sign bids to parties. Transfers (Please note): A. Transfers must conform to the freshman rules.

The following are the rushing rules for 1941, revised for deferred rushing.

1. Traditional. 2. No distinguishing fraternity features other than sorority pins are permitted.

3. On October 20 the Pan-Hellenic Tea will be held from 4 to 8 in Hunt Living Room. The rotating open houses will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 on October 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, and 31.

All invitations to be sent on form notes, must be in a specified box in Larson Office by 8:00 a. m. All replies should be at the same time in Larson Office by 12:30 of the same day. Commuters will receive their bids in their own homes.

After completing a summer course at Bucknell in Stagercamp and Sweeney Design, Don Hopkins accepted an offer to execute the scenery design for Eaglesmere Players at Eaglesmere, Pa.

K. D. Ruth Maier was in charge of the children's playground at Bridgeport, N. J., this summer.

Phi Mu Betty Jane Keim spent a few days in West Virginia, visiting the Blind Association of Harrisburg during the summer.

Delta Zeta Elaine Schatz traveled to the Grand Canyon and Yellowstone National Park.

Tri Delta "Jinks" Greening worked as representative of Bucknell in the Campus Shop of Hahne and Company in Newark. Doris Latta worked for the Blind Association of Harrisburg during the summer.

Sorority Rushing Begins Oct. 20

Sophomore Gives Advice on Clothes Types for Rushing Parties

October 20th is the date, you rush. Better start thinking about the clothes angle, because those watch-lords may be watching you!

A word to the wise—look like you. Never mind that Mlle. Josephine College look and line if it doesn't suit you. If your clothes become you, not only will you look like yourself, but you'll feel like yourself. And when you're up for observation, that's what really counts. Don't try the debutante airs. Remember—s-u-i-t yourself!

There's almost no end to what you can wear; just be sure you're wearing the right thing to the right affair. Dressing for any occasion is fun, especially when one is striving for that campus casual appearance. But don't mistake sloppiness for casualness. The difference is far too great to do.

This "casual" air caught so well by many of our upperclassmen, it's too illusive to put one's finger on. It consists mostly of planning ahead so that there's no need for the rush and hustle of pressing and sewing. Take time enough when dressing to end all worry about trifles. Make sure you are well-groomed, and you can be sure of a good impression. It counts!

Colors that keep good company are, of course, a must when you're deciding the "what to wear" question. With all the new shades about, you're sure to find a couple that really give you "that certain something" that sets you off. Then find these colors and give them their chance!

On campus the skirt and sweater habit is still holding forth. Why not give them that 1941 look with a sporty jacket or mannish shirt? You'd better watch your type, though. If you can wear a plaid, then go Scotch. Plain colors are always good and easily matched or mixed. Be wary of plaid lines—if you're not feeling that way!

Rush parties will demand you to look your very best—what ever the rig! Make them real dressy for the dress-up occasions, but be oh, so casual most of the time—and more power to you!

Tryouts for a place in the band were held last Saturday and Monday night found the "Bucknellians" concentrating on their first rehearsal of the season.

This year, the leader of the band will very probably be Howard Whitcomb. Al Beck will be playing one of the trumpets. Ronnie Herpet will be at the piano, and Bob Shaffer will be taking care of the drums. Bob Kimmel will probably be playing sax, and Johnnie Treacart will be at work on his trombone. At present, the other members of the band are not certain.

The near future will find the Bucknellians presenting music both sweet and sour to Bucknell's girls and boys of rhythm.

A recital will be held in the early fall by Treva Poling, soprano, and Philip Roy, tenor. They are now working on a program specializing in duets from light opera such as "Sweethearts" and other Victor Herbert melodies.

Richard Krebs, former Glee Club soloist, now connected with the Sunbury Broadcasting Station, will give a recital sometime in November.

Laurel Hermann, soprano, will give a recital during the second semester and Peggy Faust will give a costume recital of folk songs.

Student recitals will be held on alternating Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 p. m. in the music school. Different students from each department will be selected by the teacher to perform.

The Mixed Chorus, made up of 150 students, will, according to Dr. Paul Stutz, study the creation of chorus and then Handle's "Messiah," which will be presented the last Sunday preceding the Christmas holidays.

They will also study Goring Thomas' "Swan and Skylark" (to be given at the close of the first semester), Brahms' "Requiem," planned for the Easter holiday and Cesar Franck's "Bede" for the oratorio on Commencement Sunday.

Delta Zeta Elaine Schatz traveled to the Grand Canyon and Yellowstone National Park.

Tri Delta "Jinks" Greening worked as representative of Bucknell in the Campus Shop of Hahne and Company in Newark. Doris Latta worked for the Blind Association of Harrisburg during the summer.

Hikes, Bridge, And Ping Pong Flourish As Poliomyelitis Curtails Dancing On Campus

by Betty Miles

While local eating shop proprietors test their hair at the front end of the guile of poliomyelitis, which necessitated the curtailing of dancing until the end of the present infantile paralysis scare, Bucknell co-eds and their dates have taken over the much trod campus paths and have converted them into air-conditioned "Meddowbrooks," "Glen Island Casinos," and what have you.

In other words, dancing seems to be so highly favored at Bucknell that the students are more than willing to wear out old leather tripping the light fantastic on local sidewalks—keeping in mind, of course, the "three-foot ban." In view of the limits, this can definitely place on ways and means of dancing, the polio and the conga should be quite the rage on campus.

Not only has dancing been curtailed, but fraternity and sorority rushing, freshman week activities, the freshman supper club, and various other local organizations have felt the pressure of the infantile paralysis scare, and these various activities seem to have come to a tentative standstill, pending the lifting of the limited activities ban.

Hedday for Bridge Fans The ensuing weeks lead left to provide for the students on vacant ping-pong tables in the Rec Room. The ping-pong table in Larson sun porch has also been in constant use.

Freshman men and women have proven themselves very adept at discovering means of diversion since the dancing ditch, and hikes, movie dates, and long strolls surveying the campus have been adopted by many.

Bucknellians Start Forty Men Register For Frosh Chorus

Medleys of school songs and Handel's "Messiah" is the program for the new Freshman Glee Club. This year there are 40 men in the group. They rehearse at least twice a week, once as a unit, once with the mixed chorus. There will probably be two other oratorios later.

In addition to last year's men approximately 60 new men tried out for the Varsity Glee Club. This means, in the opinion of Professor LeMon, that there will be a large vanguard club, perhaps of at least 70 men.

The plan for the annual trip is undecided as yet. There are two alternatives, either a trip to the west centering around Pittsburgh or the usual trip to Philadelphia and New York City.

Varsity May Visit Rochester The Varsity Glee Club has been invited to sing with the Rochester City Orchestra in a concert to be given in the Eastman Theatre, if it can accept the offer. The concert will be held on the 10th of October.

The new material consists of American in two fields, folk songs of Pennsylvania Anthracite coal miners and modern songs of the Gay Nineties.

Due to deferred rushing arrangements, a new seating plan for week-end meals in the women's sem has been evolved. According to the plans laid by W. S. G. A., headed by President Betty Grim, upper-class and freshman women will sit together at assigned seats during the week, reverting on Friday evening to the usual seating plan.

Following rushing the entire women's college will be seated according to Sorority and Campus Club affiliations.

Tuesday of each week will see the enactment of the "Bucknell Shift," thus enabling the upper-class and freshman women to become better acquainted. The "Bucknell Shift" works as follows:

Seat No. 2—Move 2 tables up. Seat No. 3—Move 3 tables up. Seat No. 4—Move back 1 table. Seat No. 5—Move back 2 tables. Seat No. 6—Move back 3 tables.

Following rushing the entire women's college will be seated according to Sorority and Campus Club affiliations.

Then, of course, there were the individual cutes which each counselor had for her group—refreshments, get acquainted games, etc. And "hall sessions" practically all the time which proves that the class of 1941 really has adopted the "Bucknell Way of Life."

On October 4, several groups in Larson and several groups from the men's dormitories plan to go out to Cowan and have a taffy pull. The candy will be sent to "our boys" in camp.

Transfer Social Held In Hunt Hall

Dr. Gould Wickey

Hunt Hall living room was the scene of a social held for the transfer men and women students Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock by a joint committee of the C. A. and Student Faculty Congress. The aim of the social was to make the transfers better acquainted, and to introduce them to the members of the faculty. A group of about 70 was present, of whom approximately 50 were transfers.

Punch and cookies served as refreshments. Spencer Roberts played several selections on the piano, and Dwight Milleman led the group in singing Bucknell songs, accompanied by Mr. Roberts.

The affair was under the direction of Jane Shouder, head of the C. A. committee on transfers, and Eleanor Parry, who is working under her on this committee, and who served as chairman of the committee for the reception.

The committee was also composed of Ruth Braden, Frank Garro, Leo Laseter, John Kingsbury

What Kind of Classmates Are We?

Within the past year nearly two hundred Bucknell graduates and undergraduates men have been called into the service of their country. Hardly any of them left their homes and their friends completely willingly, for all felt regret that life and their particular pleasant existence could not continue. But most of them left secure in the knowledge that they would be remembered by family and classmates. Now this large group of Bucknellians, for terming them ex-Bucknellians is more or less an unfriendly term, is scattered all over the country. Some are in Hawaii, some are in Alaska, some in Florida, Texas, and the lowlands of the Carolinas.

All of them are anxious to keep strong the bonds that tie them to their interests at home and at college. This is known, for in letters to their parents they ask, "Is Joe back in school?" "How is the football team this year?" "What is my gang at school doing?"

Camp life is routine, sometimes deadly, monotonous, heart-rending routine. Army-made friends are transferred. The welcome letter a week from home is read and re-read. STUDENTS AT BUCKNELL, YOUR FELLOW CLASSMATES IN THE SERVICE WANT TO HEAR FROM YOU!

Perhaps it's too much of an effort to ask Bucknellians to write to their friends in the army, navy and air corps. Perhaps, and we hope this is the real reason, the student body doesn't understand the plan being set into motion so that Bucknell men in the service may receive their college newspaper. The Service Council of the C. A. and the editorial staff of "The Bucknellian" think that the most efficient way to keep in touch with these men is to have them sent, each and every week in the school year, the regular edition of the school paper.

As the plan becomes more complete we intend to devote a special section of one of our pages entirely to news of men in the services. This will contain new addresses for those who care to write personal letters, pictures and a general exchange of news. Material for this page can be left at the "Bucknellian" office or in room 107 East Wing of Old Main.

The only thing that is specifically asked of our readers is that they clip the coupon printed on Page Three, to fill it in and leave it at the East Wing address. THERE WILL BE NO CHARGE FOR SENDING THE PAPER TO THE MEN IN CAMPS. IT IS A FREE SERVICE.

We have definite knowledge that there are about two hundred men from Bucknell with the armed forces of the nation. So far we have a corrected mailing list of about fifty men. WON'T YOU DO YOUR PART BY ADDING TO THAT LIST? WON'T YOU SHOW WHAT KIND OF CLASSMATES YOU REALLY ARE!

Why Invite Death?

At the opening of school, health authorities took the greatest precautions to explain to students the importance of observing all the rules set up to aid in checking the dreaded scourge of infantile paralysis from reaching this campus. That was in Freshman Week, and in spite of their supposedly youthful approach to life problems, due to their inexperience in campus ways, these students of the class of 1945 took the warnings to heart and obeyed them.

With the return to the University of the upper classmen a new problem arose. In spite of specific regulations, letters posted in public places and printed appeals in the newspapers, the sophomore, junior and senior classes refused to act or believe that the threatened epidemic was anything more than a bogeyman created by the Administration to spoil the collective fun of students. In short, no one believed that poliomyelitis was anything to be afraid of.

DO WE HAVE TO HAVE A STUDENT DEATH TO PROVE THE DANGER OF THE SITUATION? In towns

BY BUSH

COMING UP: A GOOD YEAR.

It looks like a good year ahead. Strange words?—considering that the world is in a terrible turmoil and that the turmoil may soon be felt more than ever right here on the Three Hundred Acres?

Nevertheless, we are inclined to be optimistic—it never hurt anybody. It looks like a great year for school spirit. Coach Al Humphreys and his recent football machines have made the Bison mean something in the eastern football fields and there is no denying that a winning football team is a moving factor in active school spirit.

This year, every time those Thundering Herdmen appear on the field 1400 students and faculty members will be as one, we are convinced.

It also looks like a good year for making friends. Somehow, when world conditions are not exactly rosy and you're not so sure what is coming up, you like to talk to the fellow next to you, as it were, because you realize that you are not the only collegian in the universe. The common problem now facing all the people cannot help but draw them together.

It should be a good year for learning. You can't help but learn something when history is being made right in front of your nose, figuratively speaking—literally, if you read the papers. And somehow, when you feel you have a stake in what tomorrow brings you take quite a great interest in what it is. There are so many people who are realizing for the first time that they may not have forever to complete their education.

If these be gloomy days, let's make the most of them.

—H—B—

RUSHING—IN REVERSE (?)

Perhaps the freshmen will never realize the rushing season was postponed for three appears to be an air of mystery crowding the campus atmosphere of late.

Of course the rules simply state that there's to be no rushing. The Inter-Fraternity council has ordered rushing banned until Oct. 1 while the Pan-Hellenic council has shoved their starting day into the latter part of the same month.

But there seems to be no denial of the fact that "rushing" is creeping in—here and there. It can't be helped and such a reasonable excuse withholds this type of action from the classification of subversive activity.

Yet the rules state—until October. When that month rolls around the friendly attitude now displayed by most of all the campus students will be jacked up a bit and everything will be "on the house." Dinners (there will be no Saturday night smokers or cut-of-town rushing by the Greeks) and entertainment will be pushed to the foreground and the freshmen will have stepped into a new realm of college life.

To the initiates it's quite a thrill. But the freshman class of this year is composed of students apart from characteristic initiates. They will have observed a great deal when they circle the 30th day of September.

What's more, if there have been murmurs (you know the kind), the frosh will nevertheless have ample time and opportunity to make the all-important decision.

Perhaps the delayed rushing season has its merits. At least the newcomers will be orientated and ready to accept the offerings of their hosts and hostesses without distressing thoughts of remembering classroom numbers, letters-home, etc., bounding "midst their thinking apparatus."

So it seems, rushing too has become streamlined. The highlight of early semester activity has taken an easy chair and may wait until the students themselves make up their minds.

—H—B—

ODDS—AND SOME ENDS.

"Into every life a little rain must fall." And so it did this week with the beginning of real school and its tribulations. It seems practically everyone worked this summer and is either bulging with greenbacks or is sporting new ward-robies. Members of the football team are willing to give odds that Tom Kierman's hair has stopped growing. Wait! Freddyburger is talking the "McFarland Twins" for the Soph hop in November.

An enterprising cat college junior (it's hinted he's interested in national defense) has just purchased a blinker and plans to "blackout" the campus some night. Ted CROVELL (the BUCKNELLIAN's speedy circulation manager) spent the summer as a chef in a Pocahontas Mountain hotel. Nearby, Gus Cadwallader had charge of receiving the resort's many summer visitors and tourists.

A female representative has been assigned to handle the subscriptions of a morning sheet circulated on the campus and "Sy" Richards contends business is on the upgrade. Our popular "cock-spot", Pardon's, received some special recognition in "Esquire" during the past summer when the widely-known magazine featured a poll of the popular recordings as selected by collegiate patrons of the St. George street gathering spot.

In the cinema world, LeAnne Doyle emerged as a potential screen star when psychologists assembled for a convention in a mid-western city to witness a psychological film made by Dr. P. L. Harriman, Bucknell's psychology professor, and starring the titan-haired LeAnne. Fay Billings, who was forced to leave the Bison basketball early last season because of illness, twined excellent ball this summer, winning 12 contests and registering one no-hitter.

Back on the campus after a long trek to Cuba during July and August is Ned Warner (SPE). We're interested in learning the name of the state from which Bob Lessiak intends to select his date for the next big campus social (if you remember, Bob's girl came from Florida by airplane on the occasion of the Senior Ball). It seems strange that the freshmen are embarking on the most adventurous journey in life at a time when the nation's most popular song hit is, "I Don't Want to Set the World on Fire."

Two Bucknell alumni, Al Wacker and Bob England, stationed at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga., represented their camp at a recent debate in which units from every section of the east were represented—and the lady won, "walking off with the cake" which was the prize contributed by the housewives of Macon.

The Diffenderfer brothers can't see eye to eye these days and it's all because the frosh representative of the family enrolled in a C. & F. course after brother Jim, (an upperclassman), succeeded in gaining recognition as one of Bucknell's top engineers. When "Ding" Clark held open house at her home many, many months ago, one of the celebrated guests was the now famous Harry Troup who composed "Daddy"—and when Troup was called upon for a selection he played a number entitled "Daisy Mae" (P. S.—Later it was changed to "Daddy" and you know the rest).

How's this for the brother act, or are we seeing doubles. On the third floor of East College the lineup of brothers includes the Racers from Carney Point, N. J.; the Galbreaths from Bloomburg; and the Richardson duo from South Orange, N. J. Speaking of brothers, Bucknell will have a stellar representative to take the place of Tom Burns (Phi Psi) in none other than brother Frank, a freshman, who also plays baseball.

The four highest students in training at the Jacksonville (Fla.) Naval Air Corps are Art Kleindienst, Jim Shaw, Jay Allison, and Wilson Woodcock. You should, because they're all former Bucknellians (It's good to pass along). Out of all these distinguished signers not one emerged in the colors of red, white, and blue (tch, tch).—Cap and Dagger's first three productions, in order of presentation, are: "Accent on Youth", "Lullum" and "Production X", the latter a musical comedy written by George Egan with musical portions of the show in charge of Eugene Nicolai. All ought to be good too.

by Wrangler Kierce, '40

His name was So Long Dump Hee. When he worked in the laundry place. He washed and ironed clothes all day. With a smile on his rotund face.

But one bright and sunny morning As he scrubbed a collar clean, Into the shop strode a husky man In the garb of a Marine.

He pointed a straight, tanned finger At the laundryman so fat. And said in accents strong as steel, "Uncle Sam wants you for that."

The chubby cheeks of Dump Hee Glistened in a mile-wide grin. Struck by his patriotic bent, So Long Dump Hee said "So long!" And down the street he went.

He waddled into the recruiting station With his whole two hundred pounds. And waited patiently for the officer To complete his reviewing rounds.

He passed the physical and mental tests. (Rated high in the scoring of both.) And it wasn't long 'til his arm was raised As he took the sacred oath.

Soon he was at his station Bending over a galvanized tub. And he sang in sing-song fashion As he soaped a shirt with a rub.

Now he's much happier than ever. Even though he eats pork and beans. For he's Sergeant Major Dump Hee In the laundry of the Marines!

A story in verse by Hal Kierce, '40, former Managing Editor of the Bucknellian, and now police reporter for the Jersey City Journal.

Prof. G. Gregory Contributes Text

Bucknell Prof. Collaborates on Book, 'Fundamentals of College Composition'

Perhaps there are among the ranks of English Composition students a few observing scholars who have noticed that Bucknell can proudly claim ownership to the author of the text being used this year, "Fundamentals of College Composition", written by Prof. George Gregory in collaboration with Prof. Archibald Jordan. Duke, though published only recently, has already found favor among both students and faculty of many colleges in several sections of the country. The text, said by those who are using it to be a very vital and thorough book, is based on tabulation of error as gathered from over 30,000 themes and placement exam papers. Its authors gathered material for it over a period of 11 years. One year and nine months were spent in its writing.

The illustrative material, serving a double purpose, consists of facts taken from English literature. Grammatical errors and corrections are expounded in sentences which at the same time give literary information. Professor Gregory has been commended upon his endeavors to bring forth a book which presents a conservative stand rather than the too liberal attitude that has been creeping into recent English teaching. The authors' adherence to scholarly and accepted rules have made their book especially popular at the outset.

In writing this book, Prof. Gregory is putting into practice the teaching of the fundamentals of English through a scientific approach.

By the time the Bucknellian is distributed this week we should know whether the Cards or Dodgers will play the mighty Yankees from the Bronx. (P. S. Two to one on the Dodgers.)

C. A. TO HOLD MONTHLY MEETINGS IN LIT. AUD.

Association Invites All Students to Participate in Discussions and Broad Program

Instituted as a regular feature of the Bucknell Christian Association this year will be monthly membership meetings, the first of which will take place next Monday at 6:45 p. m. in the Literature Building Auditorium.

Invited to the meetings are members of the Association and any other Bucknell student who is interested in taking any part in the broad program of the C. A. Each member of the executive committee of the C. A. will present his program for the month of October.

The speakers will lay particular stress on the part which every member of the organization may play in carrying the program to a successful conclusion.

President Jane Colterhahn, who will be in charge of the meeting, stated that an attempt will be made at the meeting to place students in the division of C. A. in which they are most interested during the month.

This practice will be continued at each succeeding monthly meeting. Any student present will be free to participate in the discussions. The meetings will be held on the last Monday of each month.

Library Purchases Fr. Encyclopedia

The Carnegie Library has purchased a French encyclopedia which is considered one of the best buys of the year. The set was published in 1934, and was edited by Diderot and D'Alembert.

The full title of the set is "Encyclopedie ou Dictionnaire Raisonne des Sciences des Arts et des Metiers par une Societe de Gens de Lettres". This encyclopedia should prove of great interest to all French students.

The library has also supplemented the periodical room with volumes of Blackwood's magazine, and has ordered a new Jewish encyclopedia which is expected to arrive soon this fall.

As yet no further plans have been made for new books and films.

Town Holds Third Freedom Forum

Dr. Harris and Attorney Lynn Deliver Addresses at Local Court House

The third of a series of Freedom Forum Meetings was held Monday evening in the local court house. The objective of the Freedom Forum is to discuss pertinent questions of the day. At this meeting the topic discussed was "What are the best ways to defeat Hitler and Hitlerism?"

After singing the first verse of "America," the forum got under way with two short introductory addresses. The first was given by Dr. Mary Harris, daughter of the late President Harris of Bucknell University. Attorney Merrill Lynn of Lewisburg delivered the second introductory address.

Dr. Harris entitled her talk "The Background Subject—American Moral." Dr. Harris maintained that we face Hitlerism and that we must combat it otherwise we will face mutilation as did the continent of Europe.

As his topic Attorney Lynn discussed "Why is the defeat of Hitler a vital concern of America?" Mr. Lynn stated that the doctrine of Hitler is "Mien Kampf" or the doctrine of a "loosened nation" and that we could not live happily under them.

It is not the physical invasion of Hitler that we fear at the present, but the economic and social invasion. Hitler will not stop with the domination of Europe, but if successful in Europe, he will have a corner on the source of our foreign trade.

Our South American trade will be taken over by Hitler. Without foreign trade America will not be able to exchange ideas. As a result our present standard of living will decline greatly.

Open Meeting Held
Upon the completion of Mr. Lynn's introductory topic the open forum was started. The majority of the open discussion was centered about Mr. Lynn's statement of entering a fighting war against Hitler. The question of moral was also discussed quite freely.

The first week of any school year is a time of confusion, of getting settled, of many new personal and business contacts. We are not well enough acquainted to feel at ease in each other's company and the confidence that longer association will bring is still in the formative stage.

The College Inn has fresh problems every year, new employees, new equipment, new customers, all more or less in the awkward stage of new beginnings. We offer our apologies for any poor service, for any lack of courtesy or any seeming neglect to our new friends and patrons.

Greeks Bombard 250 Freshmen As Rushing Starts

Doctors Withdraw Objections to Group Meetings and Out of Town Trips

L. F. C. MAKES NO NEW RULE CHANGES

by Jean Shale
Seven o'clock yesterday morning marked the official opening of Men's Rushing, as the Greeks descended upon 250 freshmen. The hectic activities of the week will draw to a close next Wednesday night at nine o'clock.

In accordance with the request of Dr. Fowle and Dr. Rice at the beginning of the school year that group meetings and out of town trips be eliminated, the Interfraternity Council passed a rule prohibiting these activities during rushing. The I. F. C. stated that there should be no rushing outside of the borough of Lewisburg. Technically speaking this prevents the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity from rushing at their chapter house, as College Hill is not included in the Borough of Lewisburg, but of course the Phi Psi's will be allowed to participate.

Dr. Rice and Dr. Fowle sent a letter to the fraternities yesterday stating that the ban on group meetings had been lifted because of the effects of the late cold spell on polyomelitis germs. The I. F. C., however, has not yet held a meeting to change the regulation, and they are still in force. Violations will be punished.

Rules Still the Same
Under the present rushing rules and regulations, the fraternities will have to entertain the rushes with small discussion groups, movies, dinners, and fraternity singing.

Sunday afternoon a "tripe session" under the direction of Paul Hightower, faculty adviser of the Interfraternity Council, will be held by the presidents of the fraternities and the fraternity representatives to the I. F. C. At this meeting, the fraternities air their grievances against each other in regard to any illegal or indiscreet rushing.

Next week a semi-complete list of the number of pledges will be published.

This year's directory will include the name of each student, the course in which he is enrolled, his home address, and his Bucknell address. Other features in it will be the names of all faculty members with their title, home address, telephone number and office. Names of all societies, fraternities, honorary organizations and Bucknell Trustees and assistants in administration will be included.

The previous price of 25 cents for the directory cannot be assured. Mr. Holter pointed out the rising cost of materials used in the printing of it, as the cause of the possible rise in price.

Health Board Lifts Social Activity Ban

There is no longer a ban on dancing and social gatherings because of an influenza epidemic, the Student Health Service announced.

Its directors, Dr. John W. Rice and Dr. Lester P. Fowle, feel that the university may safely resume normal activities since there are no reported or suspected cases near Lewisburg.

Play Scheduled For Fathers' Day Weekend; Egan and Naumann Head Cast

The cast, headed by Egan and Naumann in the roles of Stephen and Linda respectively, includes Lee Anne Boyle as Genevieve, Dorothy Benham as Miss Darling, Robert Fowle as Dick, John F. O'Malley as Mr. Gallows and Bob Schramm as the butler.

"Billie" Poling announced that the play was selected as particularly appropriate for the occasion of Father's Day inasmuch as the setting is around an older man. The plot involves the age-old question of whether or not years really matter when love is concerned. The concluding theme is that age itself is not important.

Large Production Staff Planned
The production staff comprises Eugene Nicolait, assistant director; Stan Marshall, production manager; Stewart Whitman, assistant production manager; Virginia McCabe, make-up; Helen Oak, publicity; Anne Randick, scenery; Florence Dietrich, prompter; Laverne Fries, costumes; Bill Knox, special effects.

Future plans of Cap and Dagger schedule "Lullaby" by Melnar as an experimental play for presentation in early December. Plans are also being made for an original musical in March with George Egan as author and director and Eugene Nicolait as lyric writer.

Professor Rice Requests Students To Aid U. S. O. Drive; President Marts Commends Programme

by Roy Good
The drive for the U. S. O. program will start on the Bucknell campus October 6, and continue until the 11th. Professor Rice, chairman of the Bucknell drive says, "There is nothing finer for the people at home to do than to get behind the drive and show the boys in the Service that we are behind them and think of their interests."

The U. S. Government will provide the buildings. The U. S. O. must turn to you and your fellow citizens for aid in operating the program. The agencies are in complete harmony as to how to spend the money. Of the amount raised, $500,000 is for the Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy for in-camp entertainment.

Marts Commends Program
President Marts made a comment on the program as follows: "A few days ago my official duties took me to Camp Indiantown Gap where 17,000 young men are being taught the duties and techniques of military life. Many of them were civilians a few months ago and these new ways and surroundings are strange to them. Of course, they like to rush out to nearby communities when they leave to get a glimpse of their familiar world."

"Some of our great camps are located in sections of the nation completely removed from towns or cities. In one state in the South there is a camp of 40,000 boys where the only adjacent community is a village of 200 people."

The money raised is not to be spent on the draftees alone, but will also be spent in sections of the nation completely removed from towns or cities. In one state in the South there is a camp of 40,000 boys where the only adjacent community is a village of 200 people.

NEW DEFENSE COURSES BEGIN MONDAY, OCT. 6

Engineering Department Head Announces Three Evening Defense Courses

The newest group of defense training courses will begin Monday, October 6, it was announced today by Dr. George A. Irland, head of Bucknell's engineering department.

Authorization of three courses, engineering drawing, production engineering, and materials inspection, has been received from the U. S. Office of Education at Washington, D. C., while final word from that office is expected this week to start two additional courses, foundations of engineering and industrial electricity.

Applications for all the courses are now being received by the engineering group at Bucknell in cooperation with the defense training committee in this section. Persons desiring to enroll in the courses, which are offered free, should secure applications either from the Lewisburg Post Office, or from Dr. Irland at Bucknell.

All the courses except engineering drawing will continue for 15 weeks. This training course will continue for 10 weeks. All courses will be held on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings with classes meeting for three hours each session. They start October 6.

High School graduates who have completed the regular academic course will be eligible for the course in foundations of engineering. The course in engineering drawing is intended especially for students who have completed either the evening defense course in engineering drawing or the full-time day course given last summer in fundamentals of engineering. Dr. Hunsaker has stated that others who have had equivalent training or experience in drafting will be admitted to this course.

C. A. A. REGISTRATION DEADLINE OCTOBER 4

Dean Pige has announced that the deadline for registration in the C. A. A., student living course, will be Saturday, October 4. All sophomores, juniors and seniors are strongly urged to consider the opportunity offered in this government training. Special consideration may be given to drafted men who have taken the course and it has been pointed out that signing for the C. P. T. does not bind you to join the air corps.

Seven registrants passed the physical examination.

Dr. Keller, Swiss Citizen, Speaks At Chapel Today

Albert Spalding To Play At Bucknell

Artist Course to Feature Well Known Violinist on October 27

Albert Spalding, one of America's great violinists, will come to the university on October 27 to open the Bucknell Artist Course season with a concert in Davis Gymnasium; it was announced. Tickets will be available for the general public as well as for the university's students.

Mr. Spalding will play at Bucknell in the midst of a six-out tour of more than 50 concerts, with additional appearances scheduled with most of the leading orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic Symphony, Boston Symphony, and Philadelphia Symphony.

The conflict is between leadership, good and bad. Dr. Keller announced, and went on to add, "We have to regain the heavenly lights of God." He likened Christian humanity to travelers in a little boat in a sea of blood.

Awards Made Following Speech
Just before the close of Chapel the annual scholarship cups were given out to the various fraternity and sorority groups. A large ovation took place when the famous Rush Kress Cup for all-around service to the school was presented to the Sigma Chi fraternity.

In addition three other awards were made. The Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity received the Father's Association cup for scholarship, and the Phi Mu's were awarded the Pan-Hellenic Plaque cup. The Pan-Hellenic scholarship cup for activities was presented to Phi Beta Phi.

BAND RECEIVES COLORS AND AMERICAN FLAG

Riverbank Presents School Colors, Redesigned by Bucknell Senior

Dean Riverbank presented the Bucknell University colors to the colorguard of the band last Saturday afternoon at the half of the football game with Lebanon Valley. The American flag was presented at the same time by Major Ralph Koser of the U. S. Army Reserves.

Don Scholl, class of '42, redesigned the Bucknell seal for the flag because of the great amount of detail which was impossible to incorporate in a flag. The banner is double-faced instead of the usual single-faced.

The flag, the only one of its kind, was custom-made by the Beckmoulin Bros. of Greenville, Ill.

S.C.C. Membership Goal Set At 300

Campus Club Sponsors Football Dance, Open House, and Float

A membership goal of 300 for the 1941-42 school year was set at the Student Campus Club meeting last Tuesday night. An intense membership drive among upperclassmen is now under way. Nina Oswick and Bill Williams are heading the women's and men's drives, respectively.

Plans for a year packed full of various athletic and social events was presented by the president, Les Ehringer to the large group of upperclassmen. These plans include organization of a soccer and cross-country teams for the men, and hockey teams for the women. Ken Strickmatter and Carol Goodwin are managing the sports program of the club.

The big brother policy will be initiated this year for the freshmen boys while the girls will continue their big sister plan.

Three Social Events Planned
Three main social events are scheduled for October. The first is a combined football dance and open house in Tustin Gym on October 17. For the first time in a number of years Student Campus Club will enter a float in the competition on Homecoming Day. An informal party to introduce freshmen men and women to the organization will end the activities for the present month.

International Relations Club
The International Relations Club will meet in the future every Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock, in Room 203 of the Literature Building. Tuesday, October 7, is the date set for the next meeting. This change of time and place has been necessary because of conflicts occurring in the schedules of both the students and the faculty.

The Circus Has Nothing On Us

"STEP RIGHT UP FELLOW STUDENTS TO SEE THE GREATEST SHOW ON EARTH!" Liven fraternity rushing to a sideshow? Yes, that's what we're doing, because the ridiculous spectacle afforded by usually sane upperclassmen beats anything we've seen at Bucknell these last three years. We refer to grown men sneaking out back doors to race each other up the hill at two A. M. for the dubious honor of being the first to sign up a poor bewildered Freshman. (Or maybe the Freshman isn't confused at the sight of a B club senior fawning over him; maybe he thinks that after all he's really showing the college a thing or two.) We leave that to you.

What a sorry state fraternity life must be when neither group can trust the other and spend their time, or are forced to spend it, trying to cut each other's throats. The vista of the men's quadrangle must have been a pretty one in the early hours of Wednesday morning as the cream of the Greek crop descended upon it laden with mattresses, portable radios, milk bottles, pillows, and in a few cases, textbooks. At first this type of behavior might seem amusing if one disregarded the other more depressing angles.

The serious side of the picture deserves consideration as every fraternity man no matter what his rushing tactics will concede. Nearly all of them deplore the inability of the various groups to work together during such a crucial time as rushing. Not only is this destructive to individual fraternities but it endangers the prestige of fraternity life in general. This is especially true of dirty rushing, a matter which deserves an editorial by itself, but which must be shelved in favor of the more important question of disruptive procedure.

There is really no reason why every fraternity and every freshman should not at least have an opportunity to become acquainted. The antiquated system of signing up prospective pledges for meal dates is as outdated as the gold plated toothpick. The person who wisely thinks he can get to know another person over a plateful of soup, plus a little fraternity singing, is bound for disillusion. And there is also no reason to suppose that because a freshman is a leader on campus now that later he will naturally become Phi Beta Kappa or the equivalent.

The big problem is how to conduct rushing in a more efficient manner and as a solution it has been suggested unofficially to members of the Interfraternity Council that a new system be devised whereby simultaneous open houses be held for two nights by the Greek chapters. Each dormitory counselor would be responsible for getting his freshman to each fraternity in the system could be set up similar to the open houses given by Pan-Hellenic and the sororities.

Let's have some opinions expressed upon the matter, for now is the time to make plans for next year when the follies of the present arrangements are only too evident.

cal examinations but three have withdrawn recently. There must be a group of ten men before the course can be given this fall. If more students apply, Dean Page will get an extension on the deadline for classes which were scheduled to begin Wednesday, October 1. There is a possibility that the training will be offered in the spring if present plans fall.

ABOUT FRESHMAN DATES

Somebody the other day posed the problem of what freshmen do on dates.

Here on the "three-hundred acres" there are just as many things to do as there are anywhere else—and just as many places. And a lot more people to do them.

After breakfast if you're still in a dating mood, you can choose up some nice young lady and go to Sunday School and Church. If you're a glutton for punishment and are optimistic about how little girls eat, you can take her or someone else to Sunday dinner.

Then Sunday afternoon, you can go on a picnic with or without food, hiking, or play a little ping-pong. They're all good. Hiking is not recommended, however, for people who intend to gain weight.

Ah, yes, Sunday night! You can go to Student Church services, various young people's organization meetings, and looking for other things to do. When you find them, you're on your own.

Monday morning: A time for sneaking late. The upperclassmen do it. You can turn over and swear you won't get up, but you'll get up in the end. It's hard to disregard entirely the classes you came to college to take. You'll be proud later that you didn't cut more than once a week.

—If you don't get drafted. If you get drafted, early rising will be a nice habit to have acquired.

You can have a coke or tea date at any time of the day. Just don't take too long for an answer. Half the time it's her saying that count. Monday night is always a good night to study. If you fail to study, you start the week wrong and may never study—which is a lot of fun, but which is also apt to bring you to the dean's office quicker than you can think.

Tuesday morning and afternoon: Classes and labs. Tuesday night isn't usually so good for going to the show. You'll be lucky to glimpse a top-flight cinema thriller on Tuesday or Wednesday. This night is good for bowling, walking, visiting friends, or meeting and knowing the fellows on your floor. You can find out why they're here, what they're doing, and a million other things you didn't know.

Nearly all the days are alike—it's just a matter of how much longer some of them are. And some of the people you meet. Wednesday night is the call the girl you were supposed to call the day after you talked to her in registration line. Or the girl you used to sit in the swing in the home-town. Or a girl.

You can study and find out all manner of things. Thursday you should get some muscular recreation. Play some basketball or touch football. Climb one of those giant trees on the hill and complete that long-delayed task of erecting the aerial apparatus that goes with your other machine.

Thursday night is a good night to see a show. Call the blonde in your math class and ask her to get in date with you.

Friday is a good day to have the folks write and enclose all the old scared coins around the house. Friday night you're to go out and make merry.

Saturday morning you have trouble getting out of bed but (maybe) you finally make it. You cut at least one class. Saturday afternoon you either get to or talk about the football game. Saturday evening you drop in at Brough's for a check-up of the maline grid performance, ask "Red" or "Sid" for some last-minute comment, and then amble about in the metropolitan atmosphere which pervades this typical American community near the closing hours of the week.

Late Saturday night you can do anything—and there will be plenty of people to help you.

You spend Sunday forgetting or trying to remember what happened Saturday night.

HERE WE GO.....

Bucknell's disciple of "yogiism" (those exercises which are the magnification of the St. Vitus dance) is Guy Atkins of 2nd floor, East College. "Moose" France's purchase of a College Omnibus netted a generous supply of letters from a mother to her red-headed daughter who evidently thought the train to retrieve the correspondence train she had traded the bound journal — East College's contribution to scholarship honors is Charles Blattacker (valedictorian of Stonebrook H. S. last year—shh!)

Heavenly beings, the engineers are going to have a dance and they've planned to install an "omph-meter" for the pleasure of the fun-loving coeds and their swains. Mark Slingsine, reversing the ordinary practice of students embarking on a college career, came to Bucknell direct from Uncle Sam's Army Air Corps where he experienced several months of practice with observation and bombing squadrons. You can expect a bit of sales-talk from the CAA students now that "Red" Cole, Danville airport chieftain, has offered a free hour of flying (value—$6.00) for every embryo flyer obtained by the BU aviators. "Jesse" Blair, last season's sophomore end on the BU grid team, watched his teammates battle the "Flying Dutchman" on Saturday. The boys in West College did their bit to make every second of Ralph Campbell's stay at the Geisinger Hospital as pleasant as possible (visits, flowers, magazines, and candy) were forwarded while Ralph recovered from an appendectomy.

George Burns and Al Hock, co-inhabitants of 2nd floor, West College, are inclined a bit on the musical side, so fellow collegians report—Burns doing his rehearsing with opera—Hock beating it out via the ping-pong—ball and paddle. Dave Broudy picks BU over Muhlenberg by a lone touchdown margin. Peggy Naumann is the choice for the lead in the Cap and Dagger's first and foremost, "Accent on Youth", playing the role of "Linda". Incidentally, the thespian work of one Chris O'Malley has attracted considerable attention and he's also due for a main role. The Radio Workshop takes to the ether waver Sunday afternoon.

A number of male collegians celebrated the Bucknell conquest last weekend by listening to Fats' rhythm via the jukebox after the contest. Bob Draher handled the freshman election with the ease and dispatch of a veteran at the polls. All the information concerning colors, emblems, for the BU Homecoming fete with Boston U. can be obtained from Lee Ehringer, Betty Thomas, and Bill Schure.

The Rev. Mr. Alfred B. Haas '33 is now an instructor in church music at Drew University, Madison, N. J. H. Dean Gulnae '40 is in the army now. He is with the 50th Material Squadron, 37th Air Base Group, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

"Flying With the C. A. A.", the new book written by Dr. Lewis E. Theiss '02 has recently been published by the W. A. Wilde Company of Boston. The author has taken a great deal of interest in the instruction courses of the Civil Aeronautics Authority and is very well informed on this subject.

Plans Made For Homecoming Day

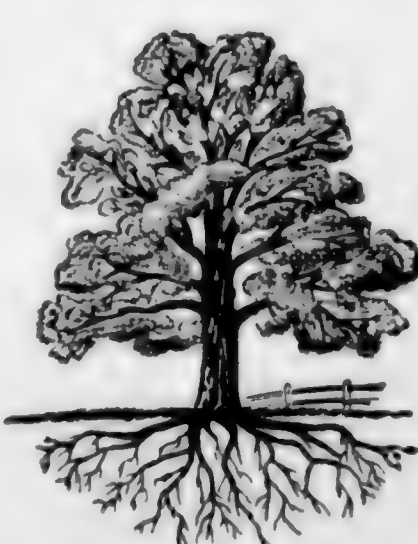

Bucknell University's annual Homecoming on Saturday, October 18, will feature an alumni dinner, alumni dance, and Homecoming parade. In addition to the main attraction, the football clash with Boston University, L. Francis Lybarger, alumni secretary, announced today.

A breakfast for members of the Bison Club, alumni organization of sports fans, will open the day's activities, to be followed by the annual Homecoming parade, with fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations entering floats in the prize competition, will conclude the morning program.

After the football game in Memorial Stadium, alumni will attend their annual banquet in the college dining hall and will climax the day's celebration by dancing in Davis Gymnasium Saturday evening to the music of Chuck Gordon's orchestra.

C. A. HOLDS FIRST MASS MEETING

Dick Stember '45, was appointed editor of the C. A. News at the monthly membership meeting of the Christian Association held Monday night in the auditorium of the Literature Building.

All members of the C. A. Council presented their reports. Those members who were interested in a particular phase of C. A. work for the month of October stated in what division of the program they wished to participate.

Knitting Program Started

Anne Randie '42, will head a knitting program under the Service Council for men in the service. Dan Reinhardson '45, chairman of community service ask for help to begin a toy library for Lewisburg children.

Don Sholl '42, chairman of the Recreation Council requested the aid of 20 men and 20 women upperclassmen to act as co-hosts of freshmen to visit the homes of faculty members. He also asked for a delegation of students to assist in building an outdoor altar at Cowan.

Eighty men and women of the school will travel to Cowan this Saturday to pull taffy and judge for Bucknell students in the army.

Foreign Student Council

During the weekend of October 25-26, a foreign student conference will be held on the Bucknell campus. Twenty students from various eastern colleges and universities are expected to be present. The next membership meeting of the Christian Association will be held in the latter part of October.

CIRCULATION DEPT.

The Bucknellian circulation department will be on hand Thursday afternoon at the Fifth Street office if you desire to send the paper to your parents. The price is $1.50 per year.

Foibles Of The Fraternity Front

The Freshmen are about to be wooed by the various Bucknell fraternities. It will not be a subtle leap year proposal, but a forced draft affair akin to our modern labor union. For fraternity life is ordained of the gods at Bucknell, and the social and financial status of the fraternities and their well-heeled national officers cannot be maintained unless until ye old pledge pin is properly placed.

Fortunately, this year's Freshman class has not been swept off its feet by an early blitzkrieg of fraternity rushing. You have had a chance to observe many fraternity men in their natural habitat before they have assumed their customary front, more or less in the garb of flashy fly-bait.

Freshmen of 1945, you are on your own now, and your present choice will affect your life for better or for worse in the long future ahead. You can be a sucker, you can classify yourself as a common carp, or you can choose to associate with those who have the degree of clean fellowship. Bucknell fraternities will offer you many varieties of campus life, and you won't go wrong with most of them. But keep on nibbling until you find the right one for yourself. The finest ones are not all national, and the best ones do not necessarily occupy the best houses.

The right fraternity is as important as the right wife, and it behooves you all to observe long and carefully before you leap.

Forced draft proposals of all kinds are usually sugar-coated, but they end up at home with a sour stomach. Bucknellians, pick the right fraternity for you. But only YOU can judge your best associate.

A CHALLENGE

In rushing a prospective pledge, we in the Delta Chapter of the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity believe that the very first thing to do is expel all false impressions the rushee may have concerning fraternities, transplanting a truthful conviction of what our Chapter and Fraternity means—stands for—attempts to do.

The rushee must be immediately convinced that ours is not a hazing institution; a group of men who revert to juvenile acting and thinking under the privilege of the word "fraternity." Rather—to state a definition as simple and basic as possible—we are a group of spirited, moral, active men, fraternally enjoying the privileges of the one formal institution at Bucknell which offers a shelter wherein we may grow in mind and body and experience.

We of the Delta Chapter will always believe that the very best fraternity man that is ever pledged will have to be approached in the following manner. Full of truth and insight, we but hope it gives you a sense of the strength and courage which dominates our ideals—hopes—our glorious present and future.

"Right now—if you pledge our fraternity—you are accepting a share of responsibility greater, we dare say, than any you have ever had before. There will be penalties for your mistakes. There will be little reward from others for the conscientious attendance to duty. You must never expect to be fêted because you did your job.

If you pledge you are voluntarily accepting that period of trial by which we may become better acquainted. That is all. We must adjust ourselves to you, and you must do the same. We must live in harmony and understanding or you will not be permitted to share our fraternal experiences. That—you realize—is only fair and just. We will meet you half way, no further. If you want us to do more, then we do not want you in our fraternity.

When you are initiated into our Brotherhood it becomes your duty to uphold our ideals. In so doing the fraternity will make strict demands upon your personal attitudes; it will be rigid in curbing any excesses you may have which are not advantageous to the whole of our fraternity; it will expect you to be willing, cheerful, obedient, logical, unselfish, loyal—a thoroughly mature man, regardless of what your age may be.

We ask no more, but just exactly as much, as the world will expect when you graduate from Bucknell.

In return you will find the perfect environment in which to prepare yourself for the struggle of living. You will learn to develop your mind, to train it for the performance of whatever tasks you may be called upon to do in later life. It will give you the opportunity to be a leader and a gentleman. It will give you the realization of what effectively organized group life is: a realization of, and experience in, contending with, the exacting nature of the world; it will give you friends — TRUE — HONEST — PRICELESS — FRIENDS. What does all that mean? It means the happiest and most valuable years of your life.

We do not say that if you join a fraternity you have assured your future as successful, but we do say that if you join our fraternity you will have every equal opportunity, every equal chance to insure FOR YOURSELF that YOUR future will be successful. The rest is up to you.

Freshmen Elect Blessing President

Mitchell, Diffenderfer, and Ireland Elected; Women Cast Most Votes

Monday afternoon Wayne Blessing was elected to the presidency of the class of '45 by an overwhelming landslide. He was one of five candidates, the others being William Harper, Frank Burns, John Mascoe, and Robert Whitlock. Other successful candidates were Ann Mitchell, vice president; Nancy Ireland, secretary; and George Diffenderfer, treasurer.

Nominations were last Friday afternoon, and voting was by ballot at Larison for girls and Roberts Hall for boys Monday.

An outstanding feature of the election was the fact that more women voted this time than ever before in the history of the Freshman elections. Out of the 180 freshman women, 141 voted; whereas only 139 of the 250 men students voted.

I. R. C. Discusses News Propaganda

Propaganda in the newspapers of America will be the topic of discussion at the meeting of the International Relations Club Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in room 200 of the Larison Building.

With Dr. Ernest Meyer as adviser, the I. R. C. has assigned five members to bring five New York newspapers and select from each two headlines which they believe are propagandistic in nature. The papers are P. M. Daily News, World Telegram, Herald-Tribune, and the Times. Before citing examples of propaganda, Professor Meyer will deliver a short talk on the subject.

The I. R. C. will send several representatives to the general conference of International Relations Clubs that will convene sometime in November at Lehigh University. Of the 1219 separate clubs throughout the world 1945 are located in the United States.

Professor Brown Dies Suddenly

Prof. David Brown, of the English faculty at Bucknell Junior College in Wilkes-Barre, died suddenly Monday morning at his home in Kingston. His death came as a surprise, for he had been in apparent good health.

Writing many articles on literature which appeared in current publications, Dr. Brown was engaged in writing on the Shakespearean era before his brief illness. He earned his Ph. D. at Yale in 1933 and had taught there and at Williams University.

Many Local Acknowledgments. Dr. Theiss acknowledges in the foreword the aid and cooperation given him by Dean Ralph Page, Professors Gregory and Garman, and in particular Mr. William Reber, Jr., one of the instructors in the C. A. A. course here.

The publication of "Flying with the C. A. A." marks a total of over 30 books which Dr. Theiss has written for American youth on various subjects, the more recent ones dealing with flying. He is a great lover of the out-of-doors, interested in numerous forms of athletics, and, as a farm owner, in plant experimentation and horticulture. For many years he was president of a Boy Scout council and head of a county Red Cross chapter. Obviously, Dr. Theiss is quite capable of describing to youth many different fields of human activity.

A word of sympathy must go out to Larry MacPhail, the man who bought the players who won the pennant for Brooklyn. He spent the month of September sadly returning thousands of dollars to people who merely want to purchase seats in Ebbets Field. He can do it. It may have broken his heart, but he and the Flatbush Faithful came first, and those gold-plated seats went to the loyalists from Greenpoint to Canarsie to Bensonhurst to Bay Ridge to Coney Island.

Dr. Smith Gives Chapel Speech; U.S.O. Appeal Made By Student

Today Is Birthday of Bucknell's President Arund C. Marts

LUTHER SMITH TALKS OF YOUTH ON MARCH

Dr. Luther W. Smith spoke this morning in chapel on the topic "Youth On the March for Christ," as the university assembled for the regular weekly meeting. This time held at 11 o'clock in the Methodist Church, following the invocation by President Marts, who this morning is celebrating his birthday, the organ played "Asperges Me" was played by Melvin LeMon. After the first hymn, Treva Poling and Phil Roy sang the

The third annual Homecoming Parade sponsored by Trench and Sordell, Bucknell honor society, will sound off the start of the celebration next weekend when Bucknell plays host to over 5000 guests and returning alumni.

On the night before the festivities begin, there will be a pep rally; the game comes off in the afternoon, followed by the alumni banquet sponsored by the Alumni Association in the Sem dining hall, and then the dances in Men's Gymnasium with the music of Chuck Gordon.

The parade, which will begin at 11:00 o'clock Saturday morning, will include floats entered by fraternities and town merchants, as well as a number of bands and drum and bugle corps.

The marshals for the parade will be selected from among town officials. Six cups will be awarded this year, to the best fraternity float, the best decorated fraternity house, the best decorated town window, the best decorated band, and the best drum and bugle corps.

Both budget card and coupon must be presented for admission to the parade at the Memorial Stadium on Homecoming.

Flying Bison Routers Lose Way Home; Land On Island And Spend Night In Haystack

By Jeanne Rockwell

This is a saga, not of Jenny, but of two erstwhile Bucknell flyers, who decided last Saturday to fly to the Muhlenberg-Bucknell football game in Allentown.

It seems that Cy Treantrix, private pilot-graduate of the Spring season of the C. P. T., and Ted Roselle, a fellow Kappa Sig, were interested in getting to and from the game in a hurry, so they consulted Red Cole, manager of the Riverside Airport in Danville. Red listened to their plans, and agreed to rent the boys one of his Piper Cubs.

At noon the flyers took off, warned by Red to leave Allentown no later than 1:30, since the lack of sufficient field lights made night landings at Danville difficult.

The flight down to the game was uneventful, the fall scenery interesting, and the weather fair.

Extra careful piloting got Cy and Ted into Muhlenberg in about an hour and five minutes. Which, as Red later revealed, must have been because they went by way of Philadelphia. That, Cy assures us, is beside the point, the real trouble developing later.

The game turned out to be an exciting one, and since Ted and Cy were too interested to leave during the last quarter, they didn't take off for the return trip until about 5 p. m. after re-fueling the plane.

By that time it was growing dark, and the mountain near Shamans Island were surrounded by heavy clouds. From there on things began to look mightily bad. First the boys missed one of their check points, then another, and finally they had to fly by compass alone.

Then suddenly beneath them they saw a river—Danville, next stop, thought Cy, but a look at the map told him his error. They had missed the West Branch of the Susquehanna and were somewhere on the main river, anywhere between Harrisburg and Sunbury.

Cy flew north for a while and saw no recognizable landmarks. By the time Ted pointed out the moon coming in from the war window of the plane, it was high time to get down to the good earth. Without further ado he swooped low over the river and made a three point landing. The yellow cub rolled to a stop and in the stillness of dusk the two adventurers climbed out.

There in the distance the boys saw a welcome sight—a farmhouse. After much explaining, they secured permission from the reluctant farmer to use his telephone. With instructions from a very worried Red to "stake the plane down and sleep under it," the boys obeyed, staking the plane and sleeping in the farmer's hay-stack. After an uneasy night, they arose in the morning and returned to Danville prepared for the laughter and sleeping on the floor they had spent the night on Hovey's Island, a mere 20 miles from the airport.

At 4:00 P. M. the conference will be divided into interest groups which will discuss education. A meeting of the Susquehanna Valley Secondary Principals' Association will be held at Bucknell Hall with President Harold L. Schaeffer acting as chairman. The Consumer Education Round Table will be held in the auditorium of the high school, and E. G. Correll, assistant professor of economics at Bucknell, will be the chairman.

To Form Discussions. Other groups will gather together to discuss arithmetic, art, commercial education, English, foreign languages, extra-curricular activities, guidance, health and physical education, home economics, junior and senior high school mathematics, music, practical arts and vocational education, reading, science, and social studies.

At 6:00 P. M. there will be a banquet at the River Memorial Methodist Church, R. H. Eisenburg, Dean of Bucknell University will serve as toastmaster, and C. William Duncan, of the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger will make an address on "Clonings of Famous Americans."

At 8:00 P. M. another general session will meet at the high school auditorium. The Bucknell Men's Glee Club will offer several selections. E. C. Davis, director of physical education, University of Pittsburgh, will discuss "The Place of Health in our National Economy," and Dr. Vaughan will speak on "Old American Ideals for New American Problems."

The Social Committee consists of Mrs. Dyck, Chairman, Ralph Page, Donald Sullivan, financial adviser, Jean Dyer, representative of W. S. G. A., Jean Weber, Pan Hollen, John Britton, B. Club, Ed Glass, Interfraternity Council, Harry Orr, and Leola Ehrhmer, Student Campus Club.

To Appear Sub-Committee. Bernice Henry advised that a sub-committee of Social Chairmen should be appointed, composed of all social chairmen of the sororities, fraternities, S. C. C. Senate, and the B. Club. The Student Chairman, William Carson, D. S. '42, is retiring and Harry Mansel, S. A. E. '48, has been appointed to fill his place.

Numbered among those foreign delegates to attend the party are students from China, Japan, Africa, Egypt, and the Philippines. Several of these delegates will remain at Bucknell to attend the evening session of Student Church.

Education Meeting To Be At Bucknell

Education for the Future Is Theme for Convention, Friday, October 17

"Education Today for Tomorrow" has been selected as the theme of the Bucknell Conference on Education to take place here on Friday, October 17. The Pennsylvania State Association for Adult Education and the Pennsylvania Consumer Education Round Table are taking an active part in the conference.

The first General Session will be held at 2:00 P. M. in the auditorium of the Lewisburg High School. J. O. Keller, president of the Pennsylvania State Association for Adult Education will be the chairman of the session.

At the first session, Herbert C. Hunsaker, Dean of Cleveland College, Western Reserve University, will speak on "Adult Education in the Reconstruction Period." Then Harriet Elliott, associate administrator, U. S. Office of Price Administration, and Chief of Consumer Division, will make an address on "The Need for Consumer Education in the Defense Program." Lastly, David D. Vaughan, Professor of Social Ethics at Boston University, will discuss "Youth in a New Age."

At 4:00 P. M. the conference will be divided into interest groups which will discuss education. A meeting of the Susquehanna Valley Secondary Principals' Association will be held at Bucknell Hall with President Harold L. Schaeffer acting as chairman. Prospective Women Rushees Number 200

CLIFF COLLEGE WEARS

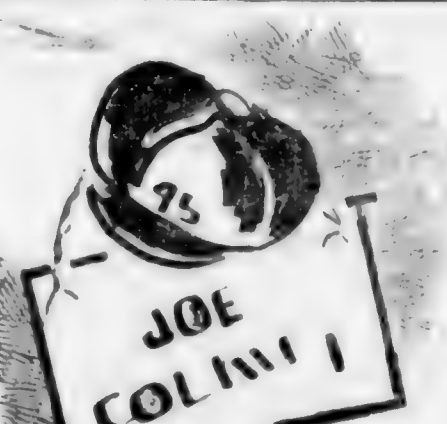

And now it's Cliff College who steps up to bat, looking the "smooth apple" in this season's colorful male attire. Argyle socks, worn of late as sweaters by the fairer sex, are still a part of Cliff's foot attire, whose gay colors and attractive plaids compete admirably with the coeds' equally gay pull-overs.

Then there's the tan corduroy shooting jacket, with shoulder pads of brown suede. A two-timer, it wears Cliff as a sport jacket when making that last minute dash to his eight o'clock, and reverts to type when acting as a wind-breaker while he takes a few practice shots at both ends, cans and what-have-you.

The freshman dink is a symbol of one virtue that seems to live on and on. In fact, it is reasonably safe to forecast its popularity for the next fifty years. Quite the thing on campus at present, dinks are being worn by every freshman man—or else!

Rope soles put the finishing touches to brown suede oxfords and we have "Rope-soles." Wear them with your argyle socks, your loud stripes, or your old-reliable solid colors. (P. S. They're tops in comfort, too).

NOTE. Nearly all the items in this shopping column may be bought in local Lewisburg stores.

Delta Alpha Phi Meets At Frantz Home; Makes Plans For Coming Year

Prof. Adolf Frantz was host to Delta Phi Alpha, honorary German fraternity last Monday night at its first meeting of the present school year. Before the glowing fireplace the fraternities sang German songs and made plans for the coming year.

Pledging of new members will take place in October and an initiation banquet will follow in November. The members also discussed plans for an informal Christmas meeting to consist of German folk dances and songs appropriate for the season.

University of North Carolina, which opened its doors in January, 1793, is the oldest state university in point of operation.

Campus Activities Boost Coeds' Career Stock

With one eye on her textbooks, and the other on extra-curricular activity, many a college woman has acquired a reasonable portion of experience in fields pertaining to her career that has served as a foundation for acquiring a position in after college years. Nationally known magazines have pointed out openings for women in the fields of publicity, advertising, magazine, radio, social service, personnel work and others. These openings exist not only in private enterprise, but are constantly cropping up in connection with defense work. Concrete experience along certain lines while in college can serve to take the place, at least in some measure, of previous actual experience in and serve as a viable wedge into that field.

For the uncertain A. B., swamped in culture, yet devoid of definite practical experience, the various extra-curricular activities on campus serve as excellent "plugs," in which one can gain practical work with natural ability and see if the resulting formula can stand inspection. They give a student an opportunity to put her supposed ability to the test, to bring her career dream closer down to earth to see if they can stand routine wear and tear. They also develop natural ability, and supply one with that invaluable trade mark—experience.

Various college groups offer opportunity for such experience. Theatre groups, publications, radio groups, and C. A. activities on a college campus supply ample sporting grounds for would-be careerists. The student has a chance to see the development of an activity as a whole, and to appreciate the various factors contributing to its growth. Frequently these groups actually act as work shops for various curricular courses, blending the practical with the theoretical.

Specialization in one particular field seems at first advisable, even though it results in the forfeiture of one's college career. A great many modern girls want their sheepskins, yet also want to eat their three squares per day after graduation. Yet specialization is often too narrow and lacking in alternate job possibilities. Frequently extra-curricular activities serve to bridge the gap between the two, and to give the first line of defense for post college job hunting.

Two Bucknellians Reveal Engagements; Wedding Dates Tentative

On the heels of last week's engagement items comes news of another Bucknell engagement. Miss Doris Wiley '41, an Alpha Chi, announced her engagement to Mr. John Bower '41, an A. X. M. last summer. The couple are planning to wed next June.

Mr. Bower is at present located in Connecticut and attending the New York School of Business and Banking in New York City.

The engagement of Edith Bodquist '40, a K. D., to William Kohl was announced in September. Mr. Kohl graduated from Lafayette in the class of '41.

Richard Krebs, a music student at the University, sang several selections during the pouring of coffee in the living room immediately following Sunday dinner. "My Friend," by Albert Hay Malotte, "The Hills of Home," by Oscar J. Fox, and "Vagabond Song," by Ruth Vandenberg, were rendered by Mr. Krebs. He was accompanied at the piano by Catherine Birchard, a former student at the University.

After dinner coffee has long been a Sunday Sem feature, but the musical innovation was only instituted this year. The plan is to have the selections not presented in concert manner, but rather interspersed throughout the period.

In the first ten months of 1940, gifts to the University of California for endowments totaled $454,366.

The Bucknell boys are doing their best for defense; you do yours with the U. S. O.

Kappa Delta Rho's Jack King '42, Kenneth Maust '43, and Bill Griffiths '43, attended the Bucknell-Muhlenberg game Saturday. Professors Bruce Miller and Rust Meyer were dinner guests at the chapter house on Tuesday night. Robert Koole '44, and James Holt '43, visited their homes at Shamokin and Lykens last weekend.

On Sunday afternoon, the Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Eta Sigma held a picnic at Cowan. Dean of Women, Mrs. Dorothy T. Dyer, adviser to the women's honorary, and Prof. Bruce Miller, adviser to the men, were among the group. Everyone enjoyed themselves in the beautiful outdoors provided at Cowan. Plans for the successful affair were made by Louise Terrett and Art Adamson, presidents of the two freshman honorary groups.

The Alpha Chi's held a patroness tea in their suite on Friday afternoon from 4:30 until 6. June Ireland '44, spent the weekend at her home in Ventnor, New Jersey. Ruth Cooper, Mary Gebhardt, Eleanor Greene, and Ruth Kistler were initiated on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Dorothy Derr '41, returned for initiation and spent the weekend visiting friends on campus. A copy was held in the suite Saturday night in honor of the new initiates.

A representative from Elizabeth Aden's success school will be on campus in the near future, to give Bucknell coeds the latest information on the latest fashion and grooming tips. The demonstration, which will be given in one of the large auditoriums in the vicinity, is being sponsored by Pan-Hellenic.

Lambda Chi's Bill Starnett '41, and Dudley James '41, visited the house over the weekend. Bill Thomas Waltz '41, and Will Runk, all '42, attended the Muhlenberg game last Saturday. While in Allentown, they visited the Muhlenberg Chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The Phi Phi's now have a mascot for the inter-society hockey season. Clothed in wine and silver blue, sorority coeds, as appeared at the first game of the season last Wednesday. Peggy Pi Phi, as she is known, was made from a broom and materials collected by the sorority members.

Delta Zeta Ruth Bolton '44, visited her parents at Valley View over the weekend. Ruth Maguire '42, spent the weekend in Sunbury visiting friends. On Sunday, Helen Cebanah '42, Julie Van Why '42, and Elsie Jaegle '42, visited Betty Stauffer ex-'42, in Williamsport.

Fraternity men are now breathing a sigh of relief as the rushing period officially closes. The freshmen, too, will now settle down to a less hectic existence. Of course, they still can look forward to pledge dates and "Hell Week."

Phi Beta Phi Mary Foley entertained Jack Joralemon of Lehigh over the weekend. Frankie Rice, Mickey Morgan, Dory Green, and Emory Lou Craig visited their homes over the weekend. Isabelle Harris and Marcella Wingert were visited by their parents. On Saturday the Phi Phi's gave Betty Sourber and Annabelle Shepler a surprise birthday party.

Recently, the Tri-Delta held an auction at which old suit furnishings were sold to members of the sorority. Individual girls also had properties auctioned off. All the money collected was put into the sorority treasury.

Delta Sigma entertained some of the town alumni and honorary members on Sunday. The guests were: Dennis Dr. M. L. Drum '02, Dr. F. G. Davis '11, Mr. Charles Ludwig '24, and honorary members, Dr. C. Willard and Dr. W. B. Sarvain. Kermit Bower '40, Ray Campbell '41, Edmund Fetter ex-'42, and Clint Hegeman ex-'43, returned to the campus for the weekend. Bill Hawk '43, and Girard Rudolph '44, visited their homes over the weekend.

The Bucknell Bisons rolled over their second opponent last Saturday at Muhlenberg, and all B. U. is rooting for them to do the same this weekend at Penn State. Let the lions roar! The thundering herd is ready, willing, and able for the encounter.

Delta Delta Delta Anne Dunkelberger '41, returned to the campus to spend the weekend. Jeanne Greeng, Mary Louise Tripp, and Billie Poling visited their homes. Margie Hupwood went to Long Island for the weekend, and Betsy Lauer visited in Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Midge Mellor, K. D. '42, spent the weekend visiting at Quakertown, Pa. Alice Leutner '43, entertained her parents last weekend.

Mr. Willard Smith, president of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Boston was entertained, together with a group of Bucknell faculty members and friends by Mr. John T. Shirley of Pittsburgh at the Kappa Sigma house last Saturday evening. This was Mr. Smith's first visit to the Bucknell campus. Kappa Sigma also entertained Charles Gwynne '36, Bob Gundaker '39, John Decker '37, and Tommy Richards '37. Tommy Richards was recently named alumni adviser for the house. Cy Treacraft '42, and Ted Boswell '44, flew by plane from the Danville Airport to Allentown, where they witnessed Bucknell's victory over Muhlenberg.

Phi Mu Marilyn Eppley represented Bucknell at the Regional Council of the Middle Atlantic Region of the Student Christian Movement at Camp Bailey near Harrisburg. Betty Simmons '44, visited Mary Jane Gleckner of Williamsport. Betty Jayne Keim and Joan Koenig were visited by their parents. Jane Rhodes and Mimi Puschel visited Coppersburg, Pa. and also attended the Muhlenberg game.

Dr. Henry W. McLean of Chicago, a national officer of Sigma Chi headquarters, together with his wife, visited the chapter house over the weekend. Gene McEntee '41 and Bill Byrnes '41, drove to the Bucknell-Muhlenberg game last Saturday. John Hustler '41, visited the campus over the weekend.

S. A. M. Marty Rosenbaum '42 and Jack Schechter '43, returned to their homes in New York for the weekend. Sanford Sanger '44, is taking the C. A. A. flying course.

Only 108 Women Can Pledge; New Sorority Not Advisable; Big Year Planned by S.C.C.

A recent count of prospective rushees has revealed that there are at least 192 women eligible for rushing. This list includes the 178 newly enrolled freshman women, the five women who entered Bucknell last January and are listed as freshmen, raising the total to 178, and the 16 transfer students. Also, allowance must be made for the upperclass women who intend to go through rushing. All told, a total of over 200 women may be viewed as prospective rushees.

Since each of the six sororities cannot exceed its quota of a pledge group of 18, the number of girls who can possibly become sorority women cannot exceed 108. This number may even possibly be lessened by the fact that the Tri Delta has a chapter quota of 55 women. These facts show that at least 88 women are automatically eliminated. Since the women's enrollment at Bucknell has been constantly increasing, and the sorority quota has remained static, because too large groups are not desirable, this problem has arisen, which this year reaches its highest level to date.

S. C. C. Plans Extensive The establishment of another national sorority on campus, or of local sororities, does not seem advisable, since the girls' enrollment will be decreased after the national emergency is passed, and college men may no longer be called from their studies to the army. A step of this sort would possibly lead in the future to an excess of sororities, since the number of girls would have declined. S. C. C. offers group life to non-sorority students, this year planning an even more extensive program. Since the number of girls who will be discharged from Selective Service for the Convenience of the Government to re-enlist in the Regular Army, so that is the job I have at present.

I volunteered for service last November so I'll soon have completed a year's service. I received my basic training at Fort Meade, Md., during my first three months and was then transferred here to New Cumberland to open our reception center. We moved here on Feb. 15, and had quite a time at the buildings were not completed or any roads built, but we managed to whip things into shape and opened officially on the 16th of March. The camp is quite beautiful now as we have grass growing and some flowers planted, and last but not least our roads are all completed. Since we have been here they have even had a new section to our camp which is even larger than the original camp, so we are expanding nicely.

The camp is situated on the old Susquehanna just across the river from Harrisburg and sits high on a hill as if we have a beautiful view both up and down the river for miles and miles. Any time anyone gets down this way we would be pleased to have the opportunity of showing them around the camp much as you are pleased to escort visitors around the campus. We have a lovely new Chapel, a Post Exchange, a theatre, a recreation hall, and of course the barracks and mess halls. There are also more pleasant buildings such as a guardhouse or jail and our infirmary.

If you will drop a line to a former Drum Major from Bucknell, Pvt. Walter Biddle, 32nd Inf. Training Bn., Camp Croft, S. C., whom I ran across down there the other day when I took a group of men down, I think he can give you a list of quite a few boys from Bucknell who are there with him. He mentioned that they had enough of them that they started a Bucknell Club all their own.

Perhaps I'd better close now before you become exhausted from reading if you haven't already done so. Give my best regards to everyone and tell Forrest Brown Hello and to keep up the good idea he has, we appreciate it and thank you. Let me hear from you again soon.

Sincerely,
Bob Seers.

New Of Men In The Service

Headquarters 1301st Service Unit, United States Army Reception Center, New Cumberland, Penna., October 2, 1941.

It was a real pleasure to hear from you in behalf of Bucknell, and I was delighted at receiving a list of the boys in my line of work in the Army.

I was also surprised and pleased to receive the Bucknellian and can think of nothing the boys will probably appreciate any more than keeping time with just what goes on at the Alma Mater, especially those who have not been fortunate enough to be able to finish before serving their country.

My work here at the reception center is practically all office work of one type or another. Just now I am working in the Records and Assignment Section and am Discharge Clerk. Men who have been drafted discover after they arrive here that they would rather enlist for 3 years and choose their line of service. Then they must be discharged from Selective Service for the Convenience of the Government to re-enlist in the Regular Army, so that is the job I have at present.

I volunteered for service last November so I'll soon have completed a year's service. CLASS OF '45 TO GIVE INFORMAL DANCE, FRIDAY

Hop Will Be Tomorrow Evening In Tustin Gym at 8 P. M.; Blessing Is Chairman

An informal dance, exclusively for freshmen, is being held tomorrow evening at Tustin Gymnasium from eight to ten-thirty. Wayne Blessing, chairman of the dance, has announced that some form of freshman identification would be the only admission charge.

The university is lending the school amplifying system so that the records of the music can be heard throughout the gym. Dating to the dance will not be allowed, since its purpose is to further acquaintance within the class.

Professor and Mrs. Halline and Professor and Mrs. Stillman have been asked to chaperone the dance. The committee for the dance, headed by Muriel Nason, consists of Marjorie Gill, Jane Gallien, Jean Smith, Eva Muller, and Doris Jean Sievering. All active members of the Sons of the American Revolution will don waiter's jackets as they enter Tustin, and pledge members of the organization will wear aprons.

The dance will be open to every Bucknell student. Dancing will be recorded music and refreshments will be served. A hilarious time is promised for all who attend.

Twenty-six men are eligible to become pledge members of Sigma Alpha Kappa fraternity at the pledging ceremonies to be held in the Lounge of the Men's Dining Room at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

They are: George Clark '44, Charles Fittman '42, Fredson Meyer '44, John Plesano '42, Robert Templeton '43, Robert Kimmel '44, Edwin Valey '42, Stanley Williams '43, Robert Baxton '44, James Brady '44, David Douglas '45, Theodore Grosvener '44, Bernard Heiber '44, Robert Hill '44, Elmo Pascale '44, Nelson Roberts '44, Jesse Byrne '44, George Thomas '45, Herman Entenkin '45, David Wolfe '44, Edgar Smith '43, James Ham '44, Cyrus Hart '43, Roger Fraser '44, Warren Smith '44, and William Galt '42.

The first eight men named will become active members at an initiation meeting to be held October 15. The remaining will be inducted into the group next Spring. Those men going active next week will go through the "hell week" of the organization beginning today.

Field '43, announced that a short business meeting will be held after the pledging ceremony tonight.

Experiments by Dr. Basil J. Layet and M. C. Hartung of St. Louis University indicate the vinegar cell can be kept in a frozen state of suspended animation indefinitely.

Rushing In Retrospect

The dinners are over, the pledges are listed, rushing is finished for the year and nothing remains except an unwary odor that reeks of fraternity quarrels, lead pipe sessions and in a few cases, bad feelings.

It is unfortunate that this state of affairs has to exist and we wonder if the situation is going to continue on and on, year after year, until fraternity rushing at Bucknell becomes the concern of the various National Headquarters.

It would appear evident that the 'grouch sessions' held by the Interfraternity Council accomplished NOTHING in the matter of remedying the more acute aspects of dirty rushing.

Every fraternity 'had' something on every other fraternity and all knew if the most 'spilled the beans' it would get them nowhere.

The most regrettable side of the affair is the effect on the Freshman. From the wild stories of low morality to the high costs of fraternal living they have been subjected to every type of misrepresentation concerning fraternities. We maintain, and will continue to maintain, that this will eventually lower the prestige of the Greeks on campus. This is already shown by the fact that of the two-hundred and fifty men who COULD have pledged, only a few over one hundred and thirty DID SO.

What is going to be done about this situation? That is up to the Interfraternity Council.

Yes, This Is An Editorial On Homecoming

Perhaps it looks a little out of place to see an editorial on Homecoming two weeks ahead of the big event but there's a good sound reason for our rushing the date. "The Bucknellian" would like to take this occasion to further publicize the fact that the entire student body of Bucknell hope as many of the alumni and graduates can come back as possible. This year, more than ever, when national strife and widespread world upheaval are so evident, it is a privilege and a pleasure to have the sons and daughters of Bucknell return to their alma mater.

So, you men and women of the classes from 1846 to 1941, we want you to consider this editorial in lieu of an engraved invitation to be with us on October 17th, 18th, and 19th. Many things have been planned for you and we'll be looking for you at the game, the banquet and the dance.

worthy of the best in life and death," said Dr. Smith, and added, "Live then for the things worth dying for, for only the things worth dying for are worth living for."Editor Makes Appeal
After the address of the principle speaker, Jeanne Rockwell, Editor of The Bucknellian spoke briefly on the topic of "Our Comrades in the Service."

An outline of the U. S. O. plan was made, to acquaint the audience with the efforts the university was making to help raise the Lewisburg quota.

Reports on the progress of the U. S. O. have been reaching the office of the Bucknellian regularly and these were read to the students.

LOST

Silver tooth brace on steps to Post Office in Robert's Hall. If found, return to W. Kerschner, 228 West College. REWARD.

More Emory University students come from Florida than any other state outside Georgia.

QUAD ANGLES.

The second pep rally of the year will be held tomorrow night. These cheer sessions mean a great deal to the yell leaders, the football team, and a good many students. The spirit at tomorrow night's rally will be indicative of the kind of support the Bisons can expect when they meet the Nittany Lions at State College on Saturday afternoon. If the students are fighting for the Herd, the Herd seems to fight harder for the student body. The initial rally of the 1941 campaign found the freshman class represented nearly 100%. Like the remainder of the student body, the Frosh have demonstrated that they are proud of the Bisons. Let's make the Bisons be proud of the student body.

Cap and Daggerettes have selected "Arms and the Man" as the Mother's Day stage presentation and "Post Road" for Commencement. Incidentally, the thespians are considering the organization of a road company to tour through environs of Lewisburg.

A number of the Sigma Chi fraternity lads may be called upon to assist with the lighting effects in productions of the Cap and Dagger group in the future. Several of the boys have demonstrated an unusual talent in handling the spotlight, it is reported.

Have you noticed the campus fashions this year? Here is a brief resume. Shirts are still going up—coats are coming down—shoes are getting heavier—and so many girls have blaring red jackets that any three coats standing together look like a volunteer fire department.

Have you seen the kind of pin-ball machine that shouts "Cheater!" when tilted? What the local "coke" spots could do with a couple of those.

Elsa Larsen has a clever knack of naming home-owns of dancers by watching the terpsichorean presentations of students. She seldom misses, friends say, and if she fails to hit the town correctly she can usually spot the State and particular section in an unerring fashion.

When the boys on the second and third floors of West College held their outing last Saturday they unselfishly invited the girls from Larson to accompany the members of the collegiate picnic group. Coeds and collegians all had a grand time. Now the girls have decided to return the treat. The lucky boys!

A checkup reveals that "knitting" is the most popular hobby among the Bucknell coeds. Next comes "bridge" and since the ban has been lifted on dancing that pastime has moved to number three position on the "I prefer" parade.

A patriotic bunch this Bucknell varsity squad. On that away trek to Allentown last weekend the gridmen remained overnight at the American Hotel and on the return trip dined at the American Hotel in Hamburg.

And speaking of that trip back—we never knew so much musical talent could be gleaned from a group of rugged athletes. Yes sir! Paul DeBenedictis is another Bob Eberly while Gene Matthews and Tom Kierman can sub delightfully in the background on such T. D. arrangements as "Marie," "My Blue Heaven," etc.

If a song leader is one of your guests for the next fraternity or sorority get-together, don't hesitate to draft Walt Wenick or "Whitey" Fahringer. They directed the choral rendition of all fraternity numbers and several others, including the ever-popular, "I Don't Wanna..." (that's right—you guessed it).

Now that the girls in the Walker House have completely mastered the Bucknell Alma Mater, tomorrow night's pep rally should not be without a portion of musical entertainment.

A local eatery advertises "knockout" milkshakes of the 10c, 15c, and 25c variety. Must be a few comic punches in the quarter specie. Stan Hildner claims he has tested them all and avers there really is a difference in the trio of liquid treats.

You can hand it to him—he's not afraid of his hands. Both literally and colloquially, this is true of Albert Spaulding, America's ace violinist, who inaugurates the Bucknell Artist Program here on Monday evening, October 27. As you know, if you've ever had anything to do with other violinists, they are forever in the jitters about their hands. Spaulding is indifferent to this bogey. He insures his rare Guarnerius for $50,000 with never a penny for his hands. "There will always be violinists," he says, "but there's only one violin like this one. Years after I've left this stage for the next, there will, I hope, be some violinist to draw music from the soul of this beautiful instrument." There's modesty for you!

Several of the coeds on second floor of Morris Hall will certainly be in the running for the title "poet laureate" of the campus this semester, if their rhymings over the telephone exchange are offered to the judges.

The boys are complaining and truthfully we must admit Uncle Sam is at the bottom of it all. It's about the "sen" girls who identify their Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday night escorts with the "boy-friend" who is now in the khaki ranks. The collegian writes, "From what I've heard since my first date in September, I think Bucknell is on the tip of every soldier from Camp Ord, California to Fort Jackson, South Carolina. One freshman girl said I danced just like her sweetheart (and got this—I'm paying the bill) who is now in Fort Dix. I don't mind doing my bit for National Defense, but you just have to draw the line somewhere." (By the way, are you keeping in touch with your local Draft Board?)

No need for mistaken identity on the campus these days. If you see double just remember these names—Jean and Jane Salisbury and Louis and Dick Haug. They're our only twins now.

Slide rules will be abandoned very soon if reports that the engineers are organizing a rifle squad and howling team in the very near future are anything but rumors.

The lone comment on the Dodgers' loss of the World Series comes from Artie Posner who opines, "The Bums could win too if they had four outs!"

Student salesmen at Muhlenberg whipped up a novel yell to publicize the programs for the Bucknell-Mule contest last weekend. At each gate the collegians belted, "Help the good-neighbor policy, buy a program."

We know Ernie Querno, Bucknell end, came to the campus from DuMont, N. J., and after last Saturday's goodbye to a female admirer who watched him in action against Muhlenberg, our opinion is that Ernie is Hollywood-bound. Yes, Gable, Taylor, Tones—they're all second-raters compared to Querno and 39 Bucknell gridmen will confirm this statement.

In these critical times, communications play a vital part in defense. Here is how the Bell System is attempting to meet its great responsibility.

Rifle clubs, which are becoming increasingly popular, have been started throughout the country and Prof. Miller feels that now is the time to organize such a club at Bucknell.

In a day or two Billin blanks will be available for all students, who may obtain these blanks from Harry McCulley, 206 West Wing; Dean Page, or from Prof. Miller. When these applications have been filled in they should be returned to any of the above mentioned persons.

Bell Telephone Laboratories carries on scientific research and development for the system.

Highly trained through many years of working together, these Bell System companies provide a nation-wide, unified service. Never have the benefits of this system been so clear as today when the country is under pressure.

Miss Dodd Begins
Career At B.U.Univ. of Richmond Grad. To Assist in Women's Phys.
Ed. Department

Miss Helen Marie Dodd of Richmond, Virginia, is beginning her teaching career as an assistant in the physical education department at Bucknell.

Miss Dodd, who graduated last year from West Hampton College of the University of Richmond, was an outstanding athlete on the campus. She received many awards given by the W. A. A. for track, hockey, and basketball. As a freshman she was honored with a "blazer", a white flannel coat presented to a girl who has won varsity letters for three different sports. A very unusual accomplishment for a freshman, Miss Dodd was the second first year student to win this award. During her junior year, she was presented with the highest W. A. A. recognition. Qualifications included leadership, spirit, cooperation, and activity in sports.

Last spring Miss Dodd was a member of her college's archery team while participated in the national "B" archery contest, the Annual collegiate tournament.

Was Head Counselor

For the past three summers Bucknell's youngest faculty member was head counselor at Camp Fawcett in Vermont. With the exception of her camping days, this fall is the first that Miss Dodd has spent any length of time in the North.

Basketball is her favorite sport and although she excels in tennis, Miss Dodd cares for it least.

The new gym teacher voiced her opinion of Bucknell as "a typical college with an extremely friendly atmosphere."

LeMon Will Speak
In Williamsport

Dr. Melvin LeMon, assistant professor of Music, will deliver the principal address at the Convention of the Pennsylvania Federation of Music Clubs in Williamsport this afternoon. Delegates from more than 60 Music Clubs of Northeastern Pennsylvania will attend.

The subject of Mr. LeMon's address will be "Folk Music of Pennsylvania." He has been collecting records of this type of music since 1935.

After a sabbatical leave of absence, Dr. LeMon returned this fall to Bucknell from Rochester, N. Y., where he received his Ph. D. degree in musicology from the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester. The degree climaxed attendance at six summer school sessions and one full year's residence at the Eastman School of Music. Dr. LeMon was organist of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, East Ave., Rochester, N. Y., during his leave of absence.

The portion of Dr. LeMon's thesis which contains the edited songs will be published this winter and will be made available for public use for the first time a large field of pure American folk music.

Prof. J. B. Miller

With the purpose of organizing a rifle club at Bucknell, Prof. John Miller is attempting to complete a census of student opinion in regard to the organization of such an activity.

New House On The Hill

Demies Initiate Marts Into Kibitzer Klub

To celebrate and publicize the construction of their new house on the hill, the Delta Sigma Mu have initiated President Marts into the Honorary Kibitzers Klub, modeled after the Sidewalk Supervisor's Club in New York City.

Honorary membership cards have been given to many of the prominent faculty members, among these Dean Kibitzer, Dean Page, and Miss Hilseney. The members have special permission to watch the construction of the new Demie house at any time. Kard contains sketch of house. The black and red side of the card contains the name of the member and the purpose of the club. On the other side of the card is an artist's sketch of the house. Every letter on the card beginning with C is spelled with a K. The full title is "Kibitzers Klub to Watch Construction of the Demie House on College Hill."

Conforming in design with the Literature Building with architecture and kind of brick, the structure will have four two-story columns flanking the front side. Glass brick will be an attraction of one of the rooms. Across the entire length of the front will stretch the living room.

Women's Glee Club
Begins New SeasonMusic Dept. Announces Glee Club and Mixed Chorus
Plans Under Way

Well under way are the organizational preparations for the women's singing societies and Mixed Chorus, the Music Department announces.

The Women's Glee Club has been organized and begins the new season with 130 girls, for the Freshman Women's Glee Club consists of 55 girls and the Varsity Women's Glee Club numbers 75. The officers this year are Mary Whitten, manager of the Mixed Chorus and Women's Glee Club. Francis Rice, assistant manager, Bettie Sonn, publicity manager, Sarah Fry, assistant publicity manager, and Frances Clarn, accompanist of the Women's Glee Club.

There are 160 women in the Mixed Chorus. A special group of girls has been selected from the Women's Glee Club and will constitute the chapel choir every Thursday and in the Baptist Church one Sunday a month. This group is known as the Sacred Chorus.

The rehearsal schedule is as follows: Monday night, Sacred Chorus; Tuesday night, Freshman Women's Glee Club; Wednesday night and Sunday afternoon, Mixed Chorus; Thursday night, Varsity Women's Glee Club.

The Mixed Chorus is preparing Handel's "Messiah" which it will sing the Sunday night before Christmas Vacation.

structor Howard Runkel, coaching deaters, says there will be at least 15 on the varsity team this year. Tentatively on our schedule are State College and Lehigh. Exhibition deaters will be given at the Lewisburg Penitentiary.

Dr. Oliver presided over the panel discussion at the general session Friday evening, "The Place of Speech in the School System" was discussed by delegates from some of the best school systems in the state.

It was concluded that there is a great need for remedial speech courses in the elementary and secondary schools, and that there is a scarcity of specially trained teachers for the work. President Rohrbach pointed out that one speech course is now being required in the teachers colleges and many students are taking waivers in speech to meet the great demand in this field.

Reflections and Reactions

The most distasteful week in fraternity life has come to a close. To present arguments for membership in our fraternity that is as applicable to all fraternities has that well-known odor so peculiar to all forms of selfishness and even the most successful fraternity politicians give a sigh of relief when it is all over.

One or two net gains for numerous fraternity members is that for once in their lives they have seen a real sunset outside of the movies. Seiden have realized that the old world is up and doing business long before their peaceful slumbers are disturbed. But since we are somewhat of a night owl ourselves we cannot consistently say over much on this subject lest our women folks get funny ideas about our own early rising.

Another net gain is that competition among fraternities is just as valuable as competition in business. It brings out all the best in fraternity life, and the boozers for once a year find they are not among the assets.

The old mortgages magnified to New Deal proportions have been dragged out again as propaganda against keen competition from rival fraternities and the old loving cups forgotten and dusty must of the time have their annual house cleaning for the benefit of gullible Freshmen.

The most wonderful fellows in the world have shown their stuff to the unsophisticated Freshmen. If their constancy is questioned in the future, like our old friend, "Wendell Wilkie", they can explain everything. It was just a little campaign prattle not to be taken too seriously.

Now that it is all over and we have put on a good drama for the benefit of our side, let us forget all the bitterness of the struggle. Lawyers who put on a great show as compensation for their clients' money, soon get together again in congenial groups once their paymasters have passed out of the picture.

Likewise let us suggest to all of you that in the College Inn we are primarily Bucknellians first, last and all the time. Let the slight differences be forgotten in this place of good-will to Fraternity men worthy of the "Bucknell Way of Life."

Bison Gridders To Invade Nittany Lion Den On Saturday

Knupp And Reichert Shine As Herd Trims Muhlenberg 12-0

Second-Half Drive Earns Humphreys Second Win of Season

FAHRINGER AND KERN SUFFER BAD INJURIES

Displaying a powerful running attack sparked by Co-captain Mel Knupp and sophomore Jim Reichert, Bucknell's Thundering Herd pushed across two touchdowns in the second half of its game against Muhlenberg last Saturday to register its second win of the season. The score of the game was 12-0.

After a scoreless first half which saw both teams threaten once, the Bison really started to roll in the second half. Jim Reichert kicked off to the Mules to open the second half, but after two plays failed to gain the Allen town kicked to the Bisons and from that point on it was all Bucknell.

Reichert and Knupp Pace Attack With big Jim Reichert and Mel Knupp reeling off yard after yard the Herd moved the ball all the way to the Mule 4-yard stripe only to lose the ball on a fumble. But the Bisons weren't to be denied so easily. After recovering the fumble, Muhlenberg kicked to its own 39-yard line. A five-yard penalty and a 7-yard charge by Reichert gave Bucknell a first down on the Mule 27-yard line. Then after three plays failed to gain anything, a pass from Knupp to Len Miller was good for 15 yards and a first down. The 16-yard passer, After DeAngelis was stopped for a 2-yard loss, Reichert tore through failed to do much except cause a lot more fatigue to 22 young fellows who were already pretty well tired out.

Two of the Herd suffered injuries during the game and it is doubtful if they will see service against State this weekend. Fred Fahringer suffered a badly sprained ankle, and tackled Fred Kern received a wrenched knee on a vicious block.

Undoubtedly the greatest defensive man on the field last Saturday was the Bisons' great quarterback, Walt Wenrick, who seemed to be in on almost every tackle of the game.

Equally commendable was the Herd's other line backer-up, center Steve Sokol, who looked particularly good on pass defense.

Chet Podd and Jim Reichert, the two Bison fullbacks, both looked great against the Mules. Podd's kicking was particularly outstanding, while Reichert's bone-crushing running was largely responsible for both of the Herd's touchdown marches.

Knupp Scores Again After that there was no stopping this inspired Bucknell eleven. After Muhlenberg resisted Reichert's kick-off, three plays gained but 2 yards and they kicked to the Bucknell 25-yard stripe where the ball was taken by DeAngelis and returned 20 yards to his own 45-yard line. From here the Bisons started another drive that saw them cover 55 yards in but 11 plays. Podd, Reichert and Knupp did all the ball-carrying with Knupp finally going over for the score on a charge from the 3-yard line.

Following this score the Mules threw caution to the winds and opened up an all-out aerial attack which

Baby Bisons Set For Season Opener Against Lion Cubs

Sitarsky Names Tentative Lineup; 37 Candidates Vying for Positions

By Sy Berger

This Saturday at State College, the den of the Nittany Lions, Johnny Sitarsky will unveil the 1941 edition of the Baby Bisons, by throwing them into combat with a highly-touted, powerful State freshman outfit.

The Lion Cubs will play the role of the cautious host starting at 10 a. m. when the Bison Yearlings will take the field before State's Alumni Homecoming. To date, Johnny has found it difficult to select eleven freshmen starters superior to their teammates. The squad will react in a regular game, but the defense is expected to be the team's greatest asset. Although the veteran line is back the offensive ability of the eleven is noticeably weak.

At Egby, letterman from last year, and Soph Bill Sams have shown up as towers of strength at their respective fullback positions. The fight for halfback positions is not so great for the Bisons as it is for the reserves. Bob Snyder, Herb Heaney, and John Yost will in all probability be the starting backs, but Gil Unruh, Frank Strickland, Joel Shorin, Tom Burns, and Dave Farquhar are all hotly contesting the reserve positions.

Captain "Bud" Lewis has recovered from a bad cold and is once more directing play from his center forward slot. At both left and right wing the Bisons are especially well fortified in the persons of Al Shaffer, senior letterman, and Bill Heim from Lewisburg. "Scotty" Whyte, "Chick" Eldridge, Ralph Little, and Herb Schulman have been dividing up the work at the inside positions.

Honeymooning morning will be the first chance that Bucknell's soccer enthusiasts will have to view the team in action. That is the date set for Penn State's invasion of State which has begun to look invincible, not having suffered a loss in the past seven years. Notwithstanding this fact the team is definitely pinning for this contest in hopes of gaining some revenge for the numerous defeats of the past few years.

Captain of State Team

Len Krouse, right halfback of Penn State's football team, also holds the captaincy of the Nittany outfit. He is one of the quartet of the all-veteran State backfield.

By Willard Rank

Like an FHA housing project, BUCKNELL CHANCES for a victory over Penn State this Saturday have been going up and down like a stream-lined elevator. First the Bisons looked ragged more than somewhat against the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley in their opener, only to renounce that bean bag performance to snap back and trim a strong Muhlenberg aggregation to the tune of 12-0.

However, in grinding out those two T. D.'s, a couple of guys named Fred got stepped on. Fred Fahringer was sidelined with a sprained foot, while Fred Kern, one of the better of a sparse tackle crop, was sent out nursing strained knee ligaments. Dr. Lester Fowle, Bucknell's physician, no pun intended, and custodian of the Ziegler repair shop, released the two Tuesday, but neither is counted upon to see action at State, although a recovery to fair form is not out of the question.

Five Sophomores to Start For Herd Against State's Veteran Backfield

MANY B. U. SUPPORTERS TO ACCOMPANY TEAM

By John Bush

Newcomers will occupy first-string assignments this weekend when the Bucknell Bisons face their rivals of long standing, Penn State, at Beaver Field, State College.

Kick-off time for the Herd-Lion fray is slated for Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Coach Humphreys' warriors will run through a short workout tomorrow afternoon at Memorial Stadium which will conclude a five-day series of intensive drills in preparation for the contest with the Penn Staters.

Hundreds of Lewisburg residents are expected to join with Bucknell students who plan to attend the game. The entire Bison squad, coaches, trainers, and team managers will leave Lewisburg Saturday morning for the scene of the battle.

In addition, the Orange and Blue squad, which was decided by a triple threat man (kook, spicer, and dark guard), there have been innumerable occasions when Joe Pan has been able to write his Congressman to investigate the situation in the Nittany Lion's backfield.

Saturday's tilt will mark the 31st meeting of the two rivals, Bucknell and Penn State. The Lions have been victorious in 19 of the meetings, winning last year by a score of 9-0 after the Bisons had demonstrated a surprising style of play through most of the game.

Bucknell, victorious in early season games with Lebanon Valley and Muhlenberg, will face a veteran Lion aggregation, amassing from a 6-0 setback at the hands of Colgate last weekend at Buffalo.

Penn State will outweigh the B. U. Lions in both the line and backfield, but the Herd is possessed with a grand team spirit and a willingness on the part of the players to turn the tide against the Lions.

Coach Al Humphreys has warned his men that the Penn Staters have been handicapped by the late rushing of Freshmen this year, and it will take them all at least a game or two to successfully work them into their style of play. But it looks like an up-hill intramural season coming up!

Kappa Delta, Pi Phi State Game...

Delta Delta Delta and Student Campus Club Lose Initial Tilt

By Emmy Lou Craig

Pi Phi Phi, winner of the 1941 inter-society hockey championship, won the season's opener last week in a bitterly waged contest with Delta Delta Delta. The score was 2-0.

With both teams struggling desperately to get a goal, the half ended 0-0. Several times it looked as if each would charge through its opponents at the goal, but the excellent defensive play repulsed these attacks. Once in the first half Pi Phi forward line to regain the ball.

The second half had barely begun when Pi Phi scored. The goal was made by Helen Ludwig, hard-hitting sophomore back. The goal inspired new strength and spirit and several minutes later Betty Souther carried the ball over for the second goal.

Peggy Pi Phi, the scorers' mascot was among the throng of rosters on the sideline. It is rumored that between halves the team looked over at Peggy, who was dressed in wine and blue, and was looking very dejected. The team members said to each other that they just had to win after Peggy had gone to so much trouble in order to be there.

When the game ended, it was a 2-0 victory for the Bisons.

The Dodgers Won! What, They Lost? They Wus Robbed!

By Hilda Lubliner

There are two ways to defeat the Yankees: have luck on your side and DON'T make a single error. The latter is the easier of the two.

The Dodgers pitching was all Wyatt and Fitzsimmons, with very excellent pitching by Casey until he got his third out in the ninth inning.

The Dodgers had little chance against the mechanized solidity of the Bombers. Brooklyn had the reputation to win the Yankees had the ability.

In a series fought by two slugging teams, it was remarkable to notice that games were being won and lost solely on pitching strength. And it was because of this that those few Dodger calamities figured so prominently.

Waddell fouled into a double play at the outset of a rally and Buffing took the first game. Wyatt then tossed it up. Russo hit Fitzsimmons on the knee, Casey failed to cover first, and the Yanks had the third contest. Henrich struck out on a wild pitch to end the fourth game, and Murphy received credit for the win.

No breaks were needed in the last game. Sunday's horror deflated the Dodgers. They couldn't win after that. It would have taken an Olympic squad to recover from that setback.

The pitching was marvelous. The 2-1 duel between Fitz and Russo, scoreless for seven innings, contained some of the best World Series ball ever seen. Neither team would crack until Rusty personally cracked Pat Fretty on the kneecap.

Nothing interesting happened in this Series but nothing could possibly outline the error given Mickey (Fim) Owen when the skies opened in Kings County. It could have happened to any catcher, but it had to happen to Brooklyn at what became the turning point of the Series. The Dodgers had that game. For the minutest part of a second, between the instant Henrich missed the ball and the instant it skidded out of the catcher's glove, the game had been over and the Dodgers had tied the Series.

Too much stress has been placed on the error. The game had been over and the Dodgers had tied the Series. Too much stress has been placed on the error. The game had been over and the Dodgers had tied the Series.

RESEARCH INC.

HOW a heavy English bulldog and a round Irish washerwoman substantiated the findings of years of research in described with an order for fifty miles of Formex wire recently received by General Electric.

The customer was considering the use of Formex wire as a substitute for wire whose insulation had rotted after two or three years of use, exposing the bare copper.

The railroad's signal engineer was "from Missouri" and wanted to see for himself whether Formex wire insulation could "take it."

Two 50-foot lengths were strung up. One was equipped with a metal ring, to which a bulldog was attached on a leash.

The other became a washerwoman's chandlery. Several weeks later, after the bulldog had nudged against the chandlery of the washerwoman had pinched her wire with clothingpins from end to end, the insulation of both lengths was still in perfect condition.

When Dame Nature goes to work on a television antenna with rain, sleet, and snow, she can cause no end of transmission trouble.

G-E television engineers, however, circumvent weather changes by housing the antenna within an electrically heated box. This prevents seeping moisture from freezing on the antenna during cold weather and interfering with the normal path of high-frequency current flow.

The antenna, at the top of a 128-foot transmitting tower in the heart of Schenectady, relays the picture waves to G.E.'s main transmitting station in the Hudson River hills 12 miles away. On top of the box relaying the accompanying FM sound is another antenna which also acts as a lightning rod to protect the tower and relay equipment.

Hail, All Hail Bucknell

Alumni of the classes dating before the Spanish-American war through to the classes that have graduated during the present day conflict, returning to Bucknell this weekend will find Bucknell's "three-hundred acres set apart" a true haven in a confused, overwrought world. Their minds will be freed from the propagandist demands of the isolationist, pleas of the interventionist, and the blaring from Marconi's ingenious invention. Once more our Alumni can feel the security, which today and in the past, has always been a part of the Bucknell way of life. They become one with the unsophisticated, carefree life that is peculiar to the college campus. Pleasant memories of days gone by come back as the thundering herd engages a new opponent. Excitement runs high with the pageantry of the Orange and Blue marching band, the frolicsome antics of the freshmen, and the favorite pastime of all Bucknellians, the age-old "bull-sessions" with classmates.

Just as the fraternity, sorority, honorary organizations, and townspeople contribute to making this weekend a highlight in the year's activity of each alumnus; so the alumni, individually and collectively, do a great deal on this day toward making Bucknell a success. No other day in the school calendar is marked with so much excitement and enthusiasm as is Homecoming.

The Grads show the students that the love for one's Alma Mater is everlasting, that the spirit and interest in her activities never dies, and that school spirit, is an all-important concept. The alumni come back after years, decades, even half a century to cheer the Bison team down the field, whether they be the victors, or the defeated. During this weekend the student should see how important college friendships are in later life and how lasting good companionship can be.

Tomorrow as the alumni begin to drift into Lewisburg, Bucknellians old and young should be united and uplifted that they have, and had the opportunity of attending this, our Alma Mater.

A.A.U.P. Meets Here Tonight

The local chapter of the American Association of University Professors will convene informally for their 16th anniversary meeting next Thursday evening, October 16, at 6:30 p. m. at the Lewisburg Inn.

Dr. Leo L. Rockwell will speak on the "College Plan", a system of education which has been receiving broad attention in colleges and universities, and which had its beginning on our own campus. This plan of education has been instituted at Colgate and has met with a great deal of success. All members of the Bucknell faculty have been invited to attend.

FROSH REPORT!!

All Freshman caught by the Tribunal report in their regalia at the Memorial Stadium at 10:45 for the Homecoming Parade.

Bucknell students, Marilyn Epley and Tom Walker, are in charge of the conference. Other committee members are, Bill Bowen, in charge of registration; Ralph Mavrogordatos, hospitality; and Jeanne Lever and Curt Roser, Recreation.

BUCKNELL ON THE AIR

When Miss Trennie E. Easley, who directs Bucknell's Publicity and News Bureau, got drift of Fred Waring's campus program, now aired each Friday evening, she decided to do something about pushing B. U. to the front on this particular show.

She secured several arrangements of Bucknell songs, shuffled them off to Waring and attached an explanatory note to the effect that Homecoming is on the B. U. calendar this weekend.

Yesterday the following telegram was received here:

TRENNIE E. EISLEY, DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY, LEWISBURG

WE HOPE TO BE ABLE TO PLAY THE BUCKNELL SONG FRIDAY DEPENDING ON OUR RECEIVING PERMISSION FROM ASCAP. THE INDICATIONS NOW ARE THAT WE CAN USE THE SONG. CORDIALLY.

FRED WARING.

Where! You can hear Fred Waring's Chesterfield program over WEAF tomorrow night from 7 to 7:15 o'clock.

Incidentally, pianist and arranger for the Waring musical organization is Frankie Howar, Bucknell graduate, class of 1931.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

We predicted a few weeks ago that better days were in store and without a doubt our prediction has reached the realm of truth. If you seem a bit vague on the matter, you are kindly asked to consult the freshmen this year. They proved real troopers and jitters about the Class of '46 hop last Friday night in Tutin Gym. There certainly was a grand showing of freshmen students at the dance, and they displayed a real Bucknell spirit.

Here's one just to make the freshmen boys feel good. It seems that back many years ago, "hazing" was the moderns call it, lasted all year, Tribunal did too. Sometime in May all the classes "stepped up" and the occasion called for a celebration. All the freshmen burned their dinks and wore very old clothes which they took off to put on the huge bonfire. Just how far something like that went, we couldn't say, but maybe those grads of more than a dozen years back who will return to the campus this weekend will have the answer.

Incidentally, the freshman-sophomore scrap, usually the highlight of Homecoming, will be held next month—on Dad's day. It should be explained that this annual event is usually held in November, and since Homecoming falls a little earlier on the calendar this year, the weekend on which honor is bestowed upon Dad will find the Bucknell sons engaged in bitter battle for the coveted position atop the greased pole.

As positive proof that summer jobs can be interesting, East College offers, from its fourth floor tenants, George Gibson of Flushing, L. I., who spent the summer months shifting oyster beds. Acting as the entire crew on the Z. Platt, 65-foot, flagstaff of the Greenette Company, George arose at six-thirty to empty the oyster-filled dredges which had been thrown over the sides. George explains that his only helpers were the engineer and the skipper. His summertime adventure proved very successful and in recognition of his achievement, George's collegiate boy-friends have named him "oyster-farmer."

Dr. Walter H. Sauvain is happy that no students happened to be in the vicinity one day this summer when he was besieged by a group of Indians while touring through the west. The Redskins didn't harm Bucknell's education professor, you can bet on that. They approached Dr. Sauvain in a mid-western city restaurant, one of the Indian group presented him with a nickel and then pointed to the "ric" machine a few feet away. Then all the Indians chorused, "Make it hot!"

Almost as dangerous as any Indian, hilltop males tell us, is a lad named William Galbreath, who possesses what our informer describes as "instruments of death". One weapon, a "machete", is described as a huge knife and is more commonplace in cutting down bunches of bananas many, many miles south of the Bucknell campus. His "crossbar" (long minute particles which causes no end of surprise to the unsuspecting individuals. (P. E.—Mr. Galbreath is not on the tribunal.)

He once sang sweet ditties on "Uncle Don's" program and if the Tribunal is alive to execute their wishes, Stanley Bernstein, diminutive frosh classman, will render several vocal selections tomorrow night at Pardon's. The time—from 8 o'clock on.

"Hank" Puff will don female attire for Homecoming Day, thanks to the wishes of the tribunal. Male dressmakers are now at work designing "Hank's" ensemble which promises to be the highlight of his debut before hundreds of alumni and students in Memorial Stadium on Saturday.

STUDENTS—DON'T BE SUCKERS!

One of those campus gals hailed us aside the other day and offered a suggestion which we pass on to the sexes of 1944 for the hint falls right in their laps. Seems though it's a practice before Homecoming for the sophomores to give vent to their feelings via the paint brush. The British have tried it, using the "V" insignia and they appear to be getting some results. Unfortunately, we cannot promise anything but disaster for the sophomores if they attempt the "dabbling procedure" this weekend. Several years ago, the second-year class painted (well, nearly so) the water-tower near the stadium and the expense of restoring the original gleaming enamel buttressed the class treasury and as a result there was no Sophomore Cotillion that year. There promises to be plenty of excitement this weekend, and if "a word to the wise of sufficient," the event will be celebrated—without the paint brushes.

We read of the triple threat men of the gridiron and in musical terms, Chuck Gordon, who brings his musical aggregation to Davis Gymnasium for the Homecoming dance Saturday evening, is just that and more. He plays trombone and trumpet equally well, handles the vocals and arranges for the orchestra. Chuck calls himself a trumpeter but if the occasion demands, he can play any instrument in the band.

Record Crowd Predicted As The College Welcomes The Alumni

With Homecoming beginning tomorrow, the entire campus is organized to give the graduates and undergraduates a taste of one of the biggest weekends in the school year. More than a half dozen efficiently functioning groups are preparing to welcome what may well be the largest crowd in the history of Homecoming.

On this page "The Bucknellian" presents a few of the people who will be on hand to make the next few days memorable for both alumni, students, and faculty.

Although for the first time in many years the famous Frosh-Soph scrap has been postponed until Dad's Day, the weekend will not be lacking in the usual campus local color. The festivities will start off on Friday evening when a giant Pep Rally will be held on North Field at 7 o'clock. For the benefit of returning alumnus the exuberant class of '45 has promised a momentous affair with the biggest fire yet built! This has been confirmed also by Tribunal.

The climax of the two-day celebrations will be reached with the huge Alumni Banquet and dance Saturday night.

Herd To Oppose Undefeated Boston U.

At 2:30 P. M. this Saturday afternoon, as one of the crowning features of this year's annual homecoming celebration, the gridiron forces of Bucknell University will take on a strong Boston University football team. Following last week's loss to Penn State the Herd's record now stands at two wins and one defeat for this season, while the New England school in its two opening contests has failed to taste defeat.

The alumni will have the opportunity to arrange for tickets to the various weekend activities when they register Friday afternoon at the desks for that purpose in Old Main. Undergraduates may get their Homecoming tickets before that time up in the Alumni Office. Students have been urged by both Alumni Office and Student Committees to obtain their football tickets on the hill, in the cashiers cage, before Saturday noon.

As a convenience to the alumni, Mr. Lybarger has arranged for the returning grads to obtain a free copy of this, the Homecoming Edition of "The Bucknellian" at a special desk in Roberts Hall. There will be subscription blanks available for those who wish to subscribe to the paper for the ensuing year. Ted Grosvener, Circulation Manager, and Al Sponagle, Advertising Manager, will be present to answer any inquiries.

Student Committee Plans Gala Weekend

Dan Wise, Ruth Braden and faculty adviser Dr. George Gregory are seen above as they conferred over the various committee reports for Homecoming. Just now one of their chief worries is the threat of inclement weather for this weekend.

Les Ehringer and John Britton are in charge of the most important committee taking care of floats and window displays. Assisting the co-chairmen on the committee are Betty Thomas, Jean Shake, and Bill Schure.

John Kingsbury and Philip Roy are co-chairmen of the committee making arrangements for visiting bands. Fred Schnure is in charge of Traffic and Officers, and Charles Bond in charge of Prizes and Judges.

Richard Gray is in charge of publicity. George Jenkins is in charge of game tickets and ushers; Dan Mazarella in charge of house decorations; Bud Vanderbilt in charge of judges stands and bleachers, and Janet Bold in charge of correspondence.

State Game...

Bison tallback, but he evaded their grasp, and with his arm cocked sent the ball soaring into the waiting arms of Al Mazzagna on the five, who denied the pay dirt unmolested and standing up for the Hunzshreyman's first score. With Wenrick holding, Knupp booted the ball square between the uprights to make it 7-0.

The Bison barely gave the Nittany Lions a chance to get their hands on the pigskin, before they tallied their second and last touchdown. State was penalized on the kickoff, and Knupp kicked off again from the 45. It was a low end over end boot gathered in by Krouse on the 20, and run back to the 25. The Bison line yielded three yards on an off-tackle play, Krouse then carried for six to the 28, but as he was brought down by Big Walt Scott, the ball slipped out of his arms, and the sophomore tackle swarmed over it to give the Bison possession.

and James Gill. Judging window displays will be Mrs. Charles Bond, Mrs. John Fehderman, and Prof. C. Willard Smith; and fraternity house judges will be Miss Melicent McRae, Mrs. John Plant, and the Rev. E. Elmer Wilson.

B. V. Fives B. U. in Stadium
Bucknell will meet Boston University in the Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon at 2:15. The hands competing in the Homecoming Parade as well as the Orange and Blue Band, will play at the game. Students must take their budget tickets to the cashiers cage on the hill and present both reserved tickets and budget tickets at the gate.

The Alumni banquet, sponsored by the Alumni Association, will be held in the Sem Dining Hall, Saturday night. Speeches by members of the Alumni Association and a concert by the Varsity Men's Glee Club will provide entertainment for the dinner.

The Alumni dance, featuring Chuck Gordon and his orchestra, will start at 8:30 in the Davis Gymnasium and last until midnight. Tickets for the dance are being sold at the Alumni office for $1.65.

The Rev. William Gemme, of the class of 1931, will speak in Student Church on the subject "An Alumnus Returns" Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Hunt Hall Living Room; the talk will formally close the Homecoming weekend program.

Grace Elliot...

lentine, Kitty Stevenson, Helen Ludwig, Fern Sambrook, Mary Shreve, Mary Stevens, Kitty Windsor, and Robert Kriz.

Dr. Grace Loucks Elliott, today's chapel speaker, will conduct a discussion seminar tonight at 8 o'clock in the Literature Auditorium, to which everyone is invited.

With no predetermined topic, the theme will drift along whatever train of thought that those present choose, be it personality study, politics, or recreation. Since this will be an all-college affair, dating is not only permitted but also suggested as a way to enliven the gathering and help motivate the discussion.

is generally conceded, for, together with the two other robbed houses, they declare the front door had been customarily open all night.

Almost the same clues pertain to the robbery at the Phi Gam home. Here till Unruh lost $25 that he had had in a wallet lying open in his room. The boys believe the thug broke in after 9:30, after all lights were out. Although he is not sure, the janitor attests to having heard the rear door open and close softly during the night.

Since the last fellows to bed had repaired to the sleeping room at 1:30, the S. A. E's do not know at what time the thief sneaked in. They assume he used the rear door because the front porch light had remained burning all night. Reaching second floor rooms, the rafter evidently started ransacking on one end of the floor, but he failed to do a thorough job after coming to the far end, perhaps owing to a threat of discovery. It is interesting to note that, while the blackguard ransacked indiscriminately through drawers, he did take pains to put back in place trousers that in some rooms were hanging from top drawers where the cuffs had been tucked in. From one fellow $26 was stolen.

No clues in any three series of the raids remained for local police to work on. The Interfraternity Council met last night to discuss the break-ins and the problem of how to cope with them.

Publications To Lodge Protests On Budget Slash

Bucknellian and L'Agenda Face Rapidly Rising Costs; Larger Circulation

DEFICIT LOOMS IF PLEA FAILS

In a special meeting called yesterday afternoon in Roberts Hall the Board of Publications met to discuss the L'Agenda contracts and prepare a protest to the Budget Committee on their action in cutting the funds of both The Bucknellian and L'Agenda.

The Board's action to protest the budget was motivated by a ruling which permits the Student Faculty Congress to change an appropriation if a member group presents a plea for a review of their requisition and the Congress finds this plea justified.

The main objection to the cutting of funds as stated by the editors of L'Agenda and The Bucknellian, was the unfairness of permitting the budget paring when each publication supplies this year a larger number of students with the annual and the newspaper in the face of rapidly rising costs.

Advisers Buck Request
Miss Treonie Poley as Secretary to the Board, Prof. L. E. Theiss as chairman, Dean Page and Registrar Holter, all agreed that the Budget Committee and the Congress must be informed of the acute situation which arises if the budget continues unchanged.

In former years The Bucknellian cost was $40 a year per student and the L'Agenda $23. This year, due to Committee action, students are getting a newspaper and yearbook which costs them $46 and $50.75 respectively a year. It was further pointed out that in spite of the reduced appropriation, the quality of both publications has remained the same, and has in fact, improved over a period of years. This is only possible through strenuous pressure on the part of the two business staffs to secure advertising.

Charlie Jones, Business Manager of The Bucknellian, stated that with decreasing advertising revenue and the rising cost of paper the college newspaper could not get to the end of the year without going in debt. He has collaborated in this statement by Paul Winters, business head of L'Agenda. Both men were backed in their statement by the Board and it was agreed that while the reserves of both groups would cover the losses, the debilitating effects of the appropriation cuts would cripple the publications within a year.

Engraving and printing contracts for L'Agenda were awarded to the Williamsport Grit, after a consideration and discussion of several other bids.

Two Second Editorial:
When a group of staunch Republicans begin backing the president's foreign policy to the limit, and even endorsing said policy by openly advocating complete repeal of the Neutrality Act, we may well surmise the danger which faces the United States from abroad. Wendell Willkie's hand in the decision was clearly seen by observers in Washington. All the above is an indication that finally party lines are being hacked down in the interests of national defense and these die-hard who continue to block everything not sponsored by their particular party will find themselves in the proverbial dog house.

Since 1936, Edwin Espy has been Youth Secretary of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches, and of the Provisional Committee of the World Council of Churches operating from headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland. During the year since his return from Europe in October, 1939, Mr. Espy has traveled over 40,000 miles in the United States and Canada speaking and leading groups on the World Mission of Christianity and related subjects.

Edwin Espy proved to be one of the most interesting speakers heard at chapel services this year.

1941 Rushing Whirl Begins After Lengthy Deferment

by Peter Waide

It certainly was good to see so many alumni back on campus for the week-end. Here's hoping they return soon again to their alma mater and to their friends!

Among the large group of Signs returning to the campus for Homecoming were O. V. W. Hawkins, Ruth H. Kress, E. A. Snyder, and Dr. Ed. Pangburn. The class of '41 was well represented by Dick Mathison, Bob Teller, Hal Kewster, Jack Kress, Paul Clark, Ozzie Hoffman, and Jim Shipman. Bud Emmert and Jess Monroe, both '40, also were on hand for the annual celebration. In addition to the aforementioned alumni, the parents of Richard Moore, Jim Donaldson, and Jack Huse had dinner on Sunday at the house.

Phi Phi's who were back to visit their alma mater included Jean Ayton, Ruth Tilton, Harriet Meyers, Jane Gundy Simpson, Jean Snyder, Bert McCredy, Margaret Symington, Merck McCormick, Fran Gilson, Wagner, Tatie Reed, Caroline Wallen, Peg Anderson, and Marje Hiley. Mary Jennings of Overbrook Pa., visited Doran Smith. Mary Foley and Fran Rice went to Lehigh Housewives. Inella Harris spent the weekend in Cleveland and Alice Zient went to Harrisburg. The Phi Phi's gave a tea for the returning alumnae in Hunt Hall living room.

Phi Gamma Delta was visited by the largest congregation of alumni ever to return for Homecoming weekend. This list included Robert Morrison '41, Warren Parker '41, George Good '41, Tom Tish '41, Richard Brannagan '41, Rose Jackson '41, Jack Lawrence '41, William Hulley '41, Jack Kessler '40, Bob Will '40, George Cohen '40, George McCall '40, Dick Bruce '39, Dick Reider '39, Bill Peebles '38, Chet Dennis '38, Sandy Bolton '37, Joe Rickards '37, Bill Roberts '37, Tom Wood '37, '37, Bill Jones '36, Bob Bruce '36, John Don '36, James Wood '32, Leo Dent '30, Commodore McCormick '17, John Conway '16, Tom Wood, Sr., '06, F. Herman Fritz '09, Mr. Siegel and William Beck. Richard Bowen '45, Joe Culbertson '43, Roy Good '44, Dave Good '44 and Herman Fritz '43, were gathered by their families. With the exception of Robert Nolan, who is stationed at Augusta, Georgia in the air corps, the class of '41 had full representation for their reunion.

The Alpha Chi's entertained Mary Louise Mayhew, Peggy Davis, Peggy Davis, and Kay Webb of the class of '40, Bettie West ex-'43, Peggy Messer ex-'42, Margaret Osborne ex-'42 and her sister, Mrs. Evert '39, Dottie Derr, Ina McNabb, Lois Hayward, Mary Gebhardt, and Peg Farrell of the class of '41, and Mrs. Kenneth Butler, former alumnae adviser, over the Homecoming weekend. A tea was held in the suite on Saturday afternoon from 4:30 until 6:00 at which the returning alumnae were entertained. Dottie Lee Grounds spent the weekend at her home in Roaring Springs.

The Tri Delta alumnae were entertained at a tea in the new suite after the football game on Saturday afternoon. Those who returned for the weekend were: Jean Menner ex-'43, Barbara Bailey, ex-'42, Maxie Brumbaugh, ex-'42, Lil Cohen, ex-'42, Lil Bullock '41, Anne Dunkelberger '41, Ginny Engle '41, Eloise Garber '41, Lois Knorr '41, Kay Jones '41, Lyle Long '41, Harriet Hamilton '40, Jarylous Johnson '40, Dorothy Oakley McKee, Helen Le Grande '40, Chris Vandy '40, Dottie White '40, Mildred Helfrich '39, Barbara Lidstone '39, Marian Stone Wright '39, Bessie Lape '38, Mae Weinek Foltz '38, Kitty Graham Showalter '33, Louise Rinick Voelker '30, Winnie Dickson Hardacre '10, Helen Cliber Stone '09, and Margaret Pangburn. Catharine Schaefer '40, and Margaret Lehigh for Housewives. Dorothy Benham and Mickey McDowell went home for the weekend.

Phi Mu alumnae who returned for Homecoming were Helen Speet '39, Gladys Stillman '40, Rae Caringer '41, Alma Jacotia '41, Maybelle Hall '39, Janet Roy '41, Carolyn Gennell '41, Dolly Abbotts '40, Nancy Bennett '39, Evert Murray '39, Millie Naxon '41 and Dottie Guttman '41. Betty Jayne Keim '43 visited her home in Shomokersville. Hope Vohn '44 visited the home of Betty Baldwin '44 in Downingtown. Ruth Howell '43 visited her home in Steubenville. The annual Phi Mu Homecoming tea was held in the suite after the game on Saturday. Fran Clark '42 was visited by her family, and Kay Marshall's parents were also here.

Many alumni, parents, and friends visited the chapter house of Lambda Chi Alpha over the weekend. The class of '39 was the best represented class. Traveling Secretary for the national fraternity, Cyril Flad, visited the chapter over the weekend and attended Saturday's football game. Clair Thomas '41 spent the weekend at his home in York. Edward Brown '45 spent the weekend in Washington, D. C.

Delta Sigma held an open house on Friday evening before Homecoming. Dr. and Mrs. George Gregory were the chaperones. Alumni returning for the weekend numbered approximately 45. Donald Martin '45 was pledged to the fraternity during the past week. Sunday dinner guests were Barbara Fickus, Jean Elmore, Nancy Elder, Spill Blanchard, Helen Cherry and Mabel Glorius Hamilton.

Delta Zeta's May Gegenheimer, Margery Heberer, Jean Smith, Connie Quinn, Marie Gessert, Mary Ruth Egelhof, Verna Barr, and Ennice Weidner of the Alpha Zeta chapter at Adelphi College visited the local chapter over the weekend. Among the alumnae who returned for Homecoming were Inez Croust '39, Florence Hohbaum '39 and Dorothy Robinson '39. Lois Scanlon '42 and Rita Shinnick '43 went home for the weekend. Ruth Smith '44 was visited by her parents and Christine Reeves of Wilson over the weekend.

Kappa Sigma was host to approximately 50 returning alumni and friends over the past weekend. Among those present were John T. Shirley, a trustee of Bucknell, and also Messrs. Dicker and Johnson, two of the five founders of Alpha Phi. Returning members of the class of '41 were Ray Amior, Dick Biddle, John Davis, Bill Eitel, and John Fox.

Kappa Delta Rho Gilbert Holt '42 traveled to North Carolina for the weekend. Fifteen K. D. R. alumni returned to the chapter house for the Homecoming weekend. President Martin and Professors Lowery, Stillman, and Peterson were house dinner guests last Sunday night.

KD's Marge Kraackovich '41, Edie Bodquist '40, Edith Bolde '38, Mary Belle McKee '38, Annabelle O'Neil '40, Janet Cook '41, Virginia Danby Stauffer '40, 'Mes' Divine ex-'42, Bonnie Shoemaker '39, Jean Shoemaker '39, Helen Madison '41, and Frankie Reeder '43 returned for Homecoming weekend. Mr. and Mrs. F. Walter Magill announce the birth of a son, F. Walter Magill on October 16. Mrs. Magill was formerly Betty Towner '40. Marian Hack '43 visited her home in Shamokin, Pa. this weekend. Bernie Brown '44 spent the weekend at her home. Arlene Braun '44 entertained her family this past weekend. Alice Leuter '45 visited her home in Williamsport, Pa.

X. M. Dick Pettigrew '41 recently visited the chapter house. David Wolfe '41 visited in Shamokin over the weekend. Elsie Koup of Kingston was the weekend guest of Ken Kersten '42. Alpha Chi Mu alumni who returned for Homecoming were James Orloske '35, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bauer ex-'38, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Robertson '38, Mr. (Continued on page 3)

S.A.K.'s To Crown "Kitchen Queen" At Dance Saturday

The election of a "Kitchen Queen", musical entertainment, and a succession of novelty dances and original entertainment twirls will highlight the Sigma Alpha Kappa "Kitchen Brawl" in Tustin Gym this Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock. This dance will mark the first of the year to be sponsored by the Sons of the American Revolution. All students are invited to attend the dance, which is admission free.

Entertainment will be presented in two short periods. One program will occur at 9:30 o'clock, and another at 10:15 o'clock. Bucknellians will dance to recordings played over the public address system, with novelty dances featured.

Harry Reynolds '42 will be the master of ceremonies throughout the evening. A band made up of student employees in the women's and men's dining hall, a barber shop quartette, a solo by Gert Jones '42 and harmonica solo by Bob Shaffer '42, will mark the first program. An amateur hour with only student kitchen help participating will constitute the second entertainment period. After the first program, a "Queen of the Kitchen" will be selected. Charles Schreiber '42, Harry Reynolds '42, and Sandy McPherson '42 are in charge of the entertainment.

Decorations will be worked around the theme of the kitchen. Signs of various food companies, and kitchen utensils, such as knives and forks will play carry out the motif. Jack Galt '42, chairman, Bill Carson '42, Fritz Walling '43, Cy Hart '43, Bob Templeton '43, and Fred Kottmacker '43 are in charge of the decorations. A few card tables will be set up for those who desire to play bridge during the evening. John Pisano '42 is in charge of the table committee, Jim Moore '45 is managing the lamp committee, and Frank Garo '42 will head the platform committee.

Grand Dragon Walt Held '43 and Tom Clay are in charge of the refreshments which will be served during the evening. Miss Margaret Barnhart, the men's dietitian, has donated the refreshments. President Martin, Paul Hightower, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayden will be the chaperones. The three men are honorary members of the S. A. K.

Sig Ep's Hosts Friday At Spaghetti Dinner; Open House Follows

The Sig Ep's were hosts at a spaghetti dinner at the chapter house to visiting alumni and informal chaps following the dinner rounded out the evening's festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reish, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Johnson acted as chaperones. Mr. Reish and Mr. Johnson are Sig Ep alumni. Lionel Steurman '43, chairman, Robert Borchers '44, Edwin Winkler '45, and William Goshorn '44 served as the committee.

Greeks Favor Fashion Show, Hayride; S. C. C. Plans Preferential In Tustin Gym

Hushing in the 1941 fashion proved an exception to the former Bucknell standards of varied and original parties. The feminine Greeks on campus have put their heads together in their respective groups, with the result that this year's rushers are being treated to a bigger and better rushing whirl.

A fashion show, with individual corsages as favors, was the motif of the Alpha Chi open house. The first Alpha Chi party had a Mexican motif, with gay colored Mexican dolls as favors. "Kindergarten Kapers", a kiddie party, followed on Wednesday, with gum drop and marshmallow favors. A farmhouse frolic was the theme of Thursday's party, and samplers embroidered with AXO became the property of the rushers.

Macaroni bead necklaces in pink and green, the sorority colors, were the favors presented at the Delta Zeta open house. Letter openers were the favors at the "County Fair", Tuesday's party. A hay ride followed on Wednesday, and the rushers danced the farmers' hats which were the favors. An "Equine Party" was Thursday's fare, and the rushers became the possessors of personality matches and pin trays.

A "Fort Nix" party started KD's rushing season this year. Toy bugs were the favors, in keeping with the military theme. An old-fashioned hayride with farmers' hats as favors followed on Wednesday. "Mademoiselle KD", a fashion show, was the order of the day on Thursday, with the latest issue of "Mademoiselle" magazine being presented to the rushers. Address books served as favors at the KD open house.

Rose and white, the sorority colors, constituted the color scheme of the smelter backs presented at the Phi Mu open house. A fashion show, with lipstick tissues as favors, followed on

All-College Theme Highlights S. C. C. Frolic In Tustin

An all-college theme served as an attractive backdrop for an all-college turnout at Tustin Gym Friday night, when S. C. C. sponsored its first open house of the current season. Large Bucknell banners and orange and blue streamers were placed at vantage points on the basketball backboards, carrying through the mood created by the pep rally previous to the open house. Glenn Miller, Jimmy Dorsey, Tommy Dorsey, and various other swing kingpins presented their renditions of the latest favorites via the juke box medium.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Parker, Mary Orso '43, and Miss Jean Keady, Pi Phi, Barbara McDermott; Tri Delta, Betty Thomas, and S. C. C. Mary Orso.

News Of Men In The Service

Hqs. Det. 31st. Inf. Bn. Camp Croft, South Carolina, October 14, 1941.

I was not only very glad but pleasantly surprised to receive a copy of this week's Bucknellian.

I have often wondered what had happened to my classmates when I know are in the army. Since receiving your paper I have heard from several of them and am planning to write to the ones that I have known.

Also very glad to hear that Prof. LeMon is back at Bucknell. If you see him you might send him my regards and tell him that I will be writing to him in the near future.

I did have a little difficulty receiving my paper as my address is:

Sgt. Walter C. Biddle, Camp Croft, South Carolina, Hqs. Det. 31st. Inf. Bn.

Again I wish to thank you for the paper.

Sincerely, Walter Biddle.

99th School Squadron, ACPAS, Victoria, Texas.

October 6, 1941.

Special to the Bucknellian: Dear Council Chairman:

Perhaps this is a rather formal looking letter at the beginning, but I don't want to be that in the body. I was very happy to receive your letter and the list of Bucknell men now in the service.

If you are interested in a little of my story, I'll try to make it as interesting as possible considering that the army isn't quite as exciting, educational, etc. as they seem to picture it on bulletins in front of the post office. It was inducted into the service at New Cumberland, Pa., on the 24th of July and after "hazing" around there for five days, some 270 of us were notified to pack our equipment for a trip to Randolph Field, Texas.

That sure sounded quite exciting to say the least, because we had only been in the army five days and now they were sending us to the famed "West Point of the Air" which was popularized in the movie "I Wanted Wings".

We spent 53 hours on a special train of eleven cars and very tired, slightly homesick, and very dirty, we pulled into Randolph Field on the evening of July 31st. The next four weeks were spent in recruit training which consisted of one hour calisthenics and five hours of drill plus an hour of recreation in the afternoon.

During this period we were living in tents and some of us in hangars. We were not allowed to wander around the post during our leisure time, because we were supposed to be in quarantine. About the last five days of our stay there we were given our "freedom" and we visited the Alamo and other places of interest in San Antonio. Much time was spent at the U. S. centers where dancing, ping-pong, pool, reading, etc. is enjoyed by the service men. One evening 40 of us were invited to a formal dance at the St. Mark's Episcopal Church in San Antonio, and I can actually say that that was the most enjoyable evening I have spent since I've been in the service.

Upon arriving here at Victoria Air Base on the 4th of September, we were all surprised because of the contrast between this, our new home, and Randolph Field, the home we had just left. Our trip had been made by truck caravan which took about four and a half hours.

Today I had a letter from John Jones '41, who is now at Camp Lee, Va. One other Bucknellian that is not on the list is Pvt. Henry Streitz, 16th Field Artillery, in Germany. Undoubtedly there are some professors who deny the presence of skunks as the reason for the vile odor near this building. Instead, they believe the miserable stench written by students are to be held responsible for the stench in this area of the 300 acres.

"Chief", night watchman on the 16th Field, said that this summer he shot four times at a skunk that he had encountered by surprise but the result that all four missiles went wild.

Watch for Black & White Cat. From the Hudson Bay to Texas and Eastward this most abused of all animals attempts to find a dwelling, the Bucknell campus being no exception. If by chance you happen to stumble upon some insignificant holes in Mother Earth on your daily ramblings to and fro, the advisable warning is, "Beware Within". For if you should be a little too forward in your approaches, you may suddenly find yourself confronted by a large white and black cat. However, this is no ordinary cat and if you should arouse his feelings by your intrusion, he might possibly propel in your direction a yellow liquid which will not be champagne.

Harold W. Hayden, librarian of the Bucknell Library, was elected recently to be vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Library Association for 1942, which office he will assume next year, at the meeting of the Association at the Hotel Bethlehem in Bethlehem, Pa. Serving as secretary for the past year for the college-university library section was Miss Evans of the library staff.

The Carnegie Library has got several new books recently. The Encyclopedia of Educational Research will be of much use to those students taking an education course. It is a compilation of various studies in the interpretation of reported studies in the field of education. It is arranged alphabetically by topics with cross references. Walter S. Monroe is the editor.

Another recent addition to the library is the Cambridge Bibliography of English Literature. It contains particulars of every writer and every book worthy of inclusion in a record of English literature from earliest times to the beginning of this century. It is arranged chronologically and is edited by F. W. Bateson.

The library is purchasing volumes of the Universal Jewish Encyclopedia. So far four of the ten volumes are on the shelves of Bucknell's library. It seems that the crisis between the first and second World Wars were particularly hard on the Jewish people, and most of the progress which the race had made through the centuries was stopped. In an attempt to preserve Jewish ideals these encyclopedias were written.

200 Present at Ceremony; Chapter House to Cost 50,000 Dollars

Highlight of the Homecoming weekend for the returning alumni of Delta Sigma fraternity, was the cornerstone laying ceremony of the new 550,000 house on College Hill.

Two hundred alumni, faculty members, and friends gathered at the site after lunch on Saturday to watch President Martz, Founder L. A. De Witt '60, Demotestean Club Member, Rush Kress, Fraternity Alumni President, Paul Weaver, and Fraternity President, Don Shoff, spread the cement on a substitute stone.

Following the Alma Mater, Rev. Howard Griffith '07, gave the invocation. First on the program of speaking was President Martz. Speaking for the university, he acknowledged the "first fraternity of Bucknell's campus" and expressed the hope that the future occupants of the new house would remain "poor in spirit" and continue in their efforts to live up to the highest ideals of the university and of the fraternity. President Don Shoff spoke for the active chapter, and was followed by Founder L. A. De Witt, speaking for the alumni.

Kenneth W. Siffer '28 conducted the ceremony from a specially constructed platform at the southwest corner of the building.

The cornerstone will be re-laid by contractor John McKinnay after the cement foundation has been poured. Contained within the block will be a copper coin in which will be placed such significant objects as a current issue of the Bucknellian, a current issue of the Lewisburg Saturday News, a pledge pin, an active pin, a Kibitz-Kard, a list of members (active and alumni), a pledge manual, and a handful of pebbles in honor of Old Man (Demotestean).

The confusion, later, everyone expressed his enthusiasm about the show and laid plans to return on Father's Day, included Dean Hibernburg, Dayton L. Bank, and Rush Kress.

60 Show Interest In New Rifle Club

Under the direction of Prof. J. B. Miller, the Rifle Club is rapidly organizing. Approximately 60 people, about 25 of whom are college students, have expressed a desire to have such a club formed. Of the remainder, about 15 are co-sponsors and the balance high school students. The club is tentatively called The Lewisburg Rifle and Revolver Club.

According to Prof. Miller, the club expects to rent the basement of the Lewisburg Club and transform it into a regulation 50-foot range. The small dues, which will cover the rent and operating costs, will be determined by the number of members.

If enough students come out, a rifle team will be formed and matches arranged with clubs of other colleges.

Further plans will be made at a meeting to be held in the near future. Members will be notified of the date by mail. Applications for membership are still being accepted and can be obtained from Prof. Miller, Ivan Page, or Harry McCully.

THE SPIANS ENTERTAIN ORGANIZATION ALUMNI Betty Fenton, Dorothy Thomas, Joseph Donnelly, Elizabeth Dinmore, Norman Simpson, John Fahringer, and past presidents C. Van and Dan, over Richard Brown and Myron Eisen, returned over the weekend for Homecoming.

All were guests of honor at a tea given by Prof. and Mrs. C. Williams Smith at their home in College Park on Saturday afternoon.

The entire group was present at the rehearsal of "Accent On Youth" in Bucknell Hall several times over the weekend and succeeded in injecting into the play their individual touch of direction, besides the cheer of Official Director "Bill" Poling, who tried to restore order in the riotous confusion. Later, everyone expressed his enthusiasm about the show and laid plans to return on Father's Day, included Dean Hibernburg, Dayton L. Bank, and Rush Kress.

When Is a Bargain Not a Bargain?

Every year when the annual student budget is released there is great interest in the appropriations. This year, due to linotyping difficulties, the figures won't be ready until next week, but when these figures are published the student body may well expect a surprise.

The staff of "The Bucknellian" thinks that the campus will be especially interested to know that the university weekly has been asked to publish 32 issues a year on a student budget appropriation of $100.

To make the picture more exact we will admit that we hope to equal that amount in advertising, but it is ridiculous to expect that a GOOD paper can be published on 200 dollars less than last year.

We feel that the students have a right to know where their money goes, so we will explain that, optimistically speaking, with an income of less than 300 dollars, and a printing bill of 200 dollars, you don't have to be an economics major and a Dr. Schacht to see that a crushing deficit will result, especially since a newspaper cannot be run sans typewriters, copy paper, lights, cuts, photography, etc.

Speaking seriously, the time has come to reach an understanding concerning the budgetary situation of this major campus publication. A story on Page One cites details of a meeting in which this problem was outlined. The rest of the affair is up to the Student-Faculty Congress.

We think that the students don't have to be reminded of the terrific importance of the student newspaper in times like this. Cutting our budget means curtailing our scope of activities, means fewer pictures, more inferior and skimpy four page papers. We feel that your paper doesn't deserve treatment like that, and we hope the Congress will feel that way too.

The "Bucknellian" used to get an appropriation of $140 per student, but even in the darkest depression days when there were only 850 some-odd students did the appropriation reach $1 per capita. Now, as you can see from the Page One story, the campus will be getting a paper costing $1.50 (our regular circulation rate) for 84 cents. THE DIFFERENCE IN PRICE WILL BE KECKED OUT FROM THE LABORS OF THE STAFF AND AN INFERIOR, LOW GRADE QUALITY OF "BUCKNELLIAN". We don't want this to happen, and we're bringing the problem to light in the trust that you, the student body, will agree with us.

Dean Dyer To Give Annual Tea

Dean Dorothy T. Dyer's annual tea, talent among the men and women of freshmen students will take place in the freshman class. All freshmen in Hunt Hall living room, Sunday, are cordially invited to attend. Jane Shunder is chairman of the committee. The tea, which is a luncheon held on the Sunday of "Silence" in charge. Other members are during sorority rushing week, will for J. Season Tickets To Be Given Students

For the first time Cap and Dagger is offering season tickets to its patrons. The tickets consist of four reserved seats which may be used for any play; that is, they may all be applied on one play or they may be used one at a time.

This new arrangement, which was planned after the federal tax was put into effect, enables the students to save approximately 44 cents. It also enables them to be certain of a seat in case of a sell-out.

Tickets may be obtained from sorority and fraternity representatives or from Keeler's Book Store or the Student Book Store for $2.20. The sale of tickets closes November 1st when the first play is to be presented.

Dr. Mills To Speak At Student Church

Responsibility of Youth to Be Theme of the Weekend; Dr. Fong Also to Talk

Following a weekend of discussions and talks held at Cowan, the members of the foreign student conference will return to campus to lead student church Sunday evening at 6:45 o'clock in Hunt Hall living room. The theme of the weekend is "Youth's Responsibility in the New World Order."

SAMUEL C. MILLS

Mr. Samuel Mills, general secretary of the committee on friendly relations among foreign students, will be the main speaker of the evening. Mr. Mills was born of missionary parents in China, where he has done much in the educational field. He has taught in Shantung Christian University and at the University of Nanking in China. In the United States Mr. Mills became the secretary of the Preparatory School Section of the Student Division of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. T. Y. Fong, now a student at Crozer Seminary, will share the speaking assignment. Mr. Fong was born in the Cheking Provinces, China. His education has come from Protestant Mission Schools and the University of Shanghai. Mr. Fong was very instrumental in carrying relief to the war-torn parts of China. He escaped from China only through the help of friends.

Marilyn Eppley, chairman of the conference, will be the student leader and special inspirational music will set the atmosphere for the service.

will be held at 12:30 at Cowan followed by the first general session at 2:30. Dr. Meyer will speak on the subject, "The Basic Issues of the Present World Crisis," after which there will be a discussion.

The second general session at 8 p. m. will hear another address by Dr. Meyer entitled, "The Causes of the present war." A panel of youth from different nations will then discuss the topic, "Youth looks at conflicting national goals."

Dr. Meyer will also speak at the third general session at 9 a. m. Sunday on the subject, "How can youth be constructed on a Christian basis?" A religious service under the direction of a guest-delegate will come at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Mills will lead the final discussion at 12:30 when he will speak on "America's Responsibility in the World Family." Adjournment will follow at 2 p. m.

The University of Pennsylvania will send four delegates: Union Seminary, one; Lincoln University, four; Crozer Seminary, four; Drew University, three; Penn State, seven; International House, one; and Wilson College, four.

Countries represented at the conference will be India, Germany, Peru, Colombia, China, France, Egypt, Denmark, West Africa, Mexico, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Haxal, and Canada.

Marilyn Eppley '43, and Tom Walker '44, are co-chairman of the conference. Bill Bowen '43, heads the registration committee. Other committee chairmen are, Ralph Madrogova '43, hospitality; Alex. Robbins '43, and Janet Leach '44, house committee; Herman Fritz '43, transportation; Cort Rorer '42, and Jean Lever '44, recreation.

The winner of the prize for the best commercial float was Dietrich and Gambrell; and the prize for the best stage decoration went to Daubert's. The two winning bands were the Sun, High School and Jersey Shore bands.

The parade judges were Dr. Melvin LeMon, Claire Grover, Elmer Wag-

Police Fail To Apprehend Thief

Chief of Police Campbell Announces Suspect; No Clues at Present

Both the local police force and fraternity sleuths seem to have reached a dead-end in their efforts to track down the thief who ransacked three fraternity houses last week and got away with $180 in cash. There seems to be little hope that the culprit will be brought to justice.

In spite of the fact that there is nothing much to work on, Chief of Police Campbell, collaborating with East Page, announced that he had a suspect, but that he did not wish to disclose his name. Outside of this there are no clues or leads.

Chief Campbell believes that the robbery was committed by a person who was familiar with the lay-out of the fraternity houses which were robbed. This belief leads to the assumption that the guilty person is either a resident of Lewisburg or a member of the student body. Campbell also expressed his appreciation for the enthusiastic cooperation given him by the fraternity presidents.

Radio Workshop Enacts One Act of Cap and Dagger Play on Sunday

A preview of "Cap and Dagger's" Father's Day play, "Accent on Youth" will be presented over the air this Sunday on the Bucknell University Radio Workshop, when the entire cast will participate in an excerpt of S. A. M. Rappaport's delightful comedy dealing with the love of mid-allege for youth.

Robert Scharrman, director of the Radio Workshop, has prepared the program wherein one scene of the play will be enacted, thereby giving an indication of what is to take place when the play is actually presented in the Lewisburg High School auditorium next Thursday and Saturday evening.

With scenery practically completed by the presentation of "Accent on Youth" on October 30 and November 1, production manager Stanley Marshall and assistant Stewart Whitman have consolidated all fifteen production departments into a capable working unit. Committee heads under the production manager are: Anne Randle, scenery; John Fanchini, special effects; Ruth Zimmerman, set design; Clara Yable, stage crew; Carol Goodwin, properties; Virginia McCabe, make-up; LeVonne Fries, costumes; Paul Godley, lights; William Itoos, sound; Volney Frankel, house manager; Jean Kwoley, usher; Dorothy Wolfe, program; Don Hopkins, publicity; and Florence Dietrich, prompter.

Herd Departs For Philly To Engage Powerful Temple Owls

Bisons Triumph In Homecoming Thriller 6-0

Knupp's Second Half Tally Supplies Winning Margin Over Boston Gridders

SZOT AND ANDERSON SHINE ON LINE PLAY

By Joe Herer

Straight and fundamental football earned the Thundering Herd her third victory of the season at the expense of Boston University, before a Homecoming throng of 5,000 faithful fans, who braved a slight first-half drizzle to witness the Bison's 6-0 win.

The line today of the day was chalked up early in the third quarter, when the Humphreysmen, backed by yard-gaining thrusts on the part of Chet Podd and Mel Knupp and a fine run by Frank DeAngelis, nabbed 41 yards down the rain-soaked gridiron, pushing the Terrier forward wall back until Mel Knupp clinched the drive with a slash through the right tackle into paydirt.

Herd Drives 41 Yards

Six minutes had elapsed in the third quarter, when the Bisons pushed the ball across to chalk those 41 points. Boston didn't do much with the ball after taking it on the 20 when Bucher's kickoff sailed into the end zone. LaManna spun through the center, but the Orange and Blue midway crew only yielded a yard. Then, Williams drove off tackle to the 25 after taking the pigskin on a reverse from LaManna. On third down, Williams went back and boomed a 57-yard spiral down the field, where Knupp took it on the 28, and eluded the New England tacklers for 15 yards. With the ball on their own 30, the Bisons started a 61-yard sustained drive for the score.

Knupp started the drive with a 6-yard plunge off tackle, and then took a splinter from the 30 to the mid-field stripe for a first down. On the next play, the ball went back to Wenrick who handed it to Podd on a crash at the center into Red and White territory. With the ball on the 48, the Herd resorted to a tricky lateral play, Wenrick to Mel Knupp, which netted them a yard and a first down on the 39. The home team was beginning to crack through that here-to-fort light Boston line. Knupp then took out the would-be tacklers, as DeAngelis charged to the 36 on a splinter from Wenrick. On second down, Podd crossed through the guard and found a hole for 7 yards before being brought down after picking up Bucknell's third consecutive first down on the 28. The Bisons were deep in Boston territory, and amid the "touchdown-crowd" cheering of the fane, Knupp carried the pigskin on a faked reverse from Wenrick, around the right end for 12 yards to the 16. Once again, Knupp carried the pigskin, picking up 4 yards. From here, DeAngelis sped through the Terrier defense to the 6 where he was brought down viciously. As he fell, the big fullback leaving the goal unprotected, dive for the free ball, Knupp came up with the prize, still on the 6-yard stripe. In the shadow of the goal posts, Wenrick handed the pigskin to Podd who cracked into a stone wall for no gain. The Beantown line was tight and drawn, but Podd split it wide open with a bone-jarring plunge, finally being stopped on the one. For the third time Podd tried the line, this time missing the goal line by inches. Fourth down and inches to go. With a now or never thrust, Knupp slashed across the line as the raving fans stood up to cheer the great climax of the outstated downfield march. Knupp's attempt for the extra point was wide, and the Bisons led 6-0, which proved to be the margin of victory.

Defensive First Half

The first half was a fine display of defensive playing by both clubs, but neither team showed too much in the way of spectacular offensive power. The Bison did threaten in the first period, but a fourth down line play, which failed to net them the necessary yard, ended the threat. With the ball on the 28, Al Maganza, took the ball on a reverse from Podd and a well-timed hipped his way past midfield. It looked as if Al was free, but the Terrier end Howie Mitchell brought him down from behind on the Boston 44, after the shifty wingback tore over the turf for 31 yards. Podd then drove for 5 yards in two plays, and

Bison Back Gains Against Homecoming Foe

Lion Soccermen Tounce B.U. 7-1

Shaffer Scores On Corner Kick; Megral Accounts For Six State Goals

Penn State's powerful soccer team, led by center-forward Don Megral, slightly marred Bucknell's homecoming celebration by stretching its unbeaten string of wins to 12 at the expense of the Bison brothers last Saturday morning on North Field. The final score was 7-1.

Not one State player could rightly be called the individual star of the game. Although center-forward Megral denied the net six times, it was only through the perfect setup from his wings and inside men. Time after time the entire Penn State team worked together as a perfectly coordinated machine. Excellent timing, passing, and smart playing were the outstanding factors in their latest addition to the prolonged victory streak.

A bitterly-fought first period found State leading only by a single goal. After the first few minutes of play, the Orange and Blue attacked the Lion's goal several times but failed to score. Shortly after the second quarter started the Bucknell defense fell to pieces and a barrage of goals followed. Spectators at the game were treated to an eye-biting race of soccer playing as they probably will ever witness in collegiate circles.

New Procedure for Scoring

The procedure for most of the State goals was somewhat on this fashion: a goal kick was passed (not kicked) steadily to one of the linemen, who in turn angled it out to the wing. After several short passes the wing would succeed in drawing out, and then with a perfect pass the wingman would aim the ball at Megral. In the shadow of the goal posts, Wenrick handed the pigskin to Podd who cracked into a stone wall for no gain. The Beantown line was tight and drawn, but Podd split it wide open with a bone-jarring plunge, finally being stopped on the one. For the third time Podd tried the line, this time missing the goal line by inches. Fourth down and inches to go. With a now or never thrust, Knupp slashed across the line as the raving fans stood up to cheer the great climax of the outstated downfield march. Knupp's attempt for the extra point was wide, and the Bisons led 6-0, which proved to be the margin of victory.

Although defeated, the Bucknell soccermen were by no means discouraged—in fact they were enthused that they had scored on State. Five minutes before the end of the game, Al Shaffer let drive with an excellent cross-shot that landed exactly in the corner of the State goal for a score. This in itself is no mean feat considering that Bucknell hadn't scored a goal on State in the last five or six years.

The Bisons played "heads-up" ball in coveting a well-earned victory against Boston University's Terriers. But, there were certain Orange and Blue gridders who were super playing just them in the spotlight throughout the game. These outstanding stalwarts have been awarded the following prizes for their great play in the mentioned department:

Mel Knupp—First to score in the annual Homecoming Game, awarded by the Third Street Service Station.

Chet Podd—Outstanding offensive player, given by Bechtel's.

Walt Szot—Outstanding defensive player, donated by W. G. Buser.

Walt Wenrick—Player showing the most life and spirit, contributed by Stever's Bowling Alley.

Fred Gore—Linedman doing the best blocking.

Frank DeAngelis—Back doing the best blocking.

The last two gifts were awarded by "Hank" Peters.

Injured Gridders Are Decided Underdogs For Fray Tomorrow Night; Foes Are Undefeated

Bison And Owls To Meet For 15th Time

Philly School Holds 6-3 Edge in Series; Five Ties Feature Rivalry

Tomorrow night when Bucknell's football team meets the powerful grid squad of Temple University it will mark the fifteenth annual meeting of these two schools, in an unbroken series dating back to 1927.

In the 14 games waged between these two schools the Owls have a decided edge in wins of six of the contests, while the Bisons have won but three. Not more than five of the contests have been in deadlocks, four of the 14.

It is interesting to note that prior to the last 14 years, neither school had been able to win two consecutive games, but 1928 the Owls ran up their highest score of the series to date beating the Herd, 26-0. Last year's game was Bucknell's Homecoming game, and it proved to be a real thriller. Up to the last minute of the game, the Orange and Blue squad had valiantly held the wanted Philadelphia school to a 7-7 tie, but with 47 seconds to go a 23-yard field goal sent the Bisons down to defeat. So at the present time the Owls hold a string of three straight wins over Bucknell, and are very heavy favorites to win tomorrow night's game.

B. U. Ties Temple in 1936

However, in 1936 Temple had an undefeated and untied team up until the Bucknell game. The Owls that year, headed by Dave Musker, were also very heavy favorites, but a spirited, hard-fighting eleven upset all the odds by holding the Owls to a 6-0 tie. Maybe if the Herd can bottle up Andy Andy Tomasic tomorrow night, history might possibly repeat itself, anyhow the game isn't won until the final whistle.

KS 5-AAM 0

Although this game proved to be a one-sided affair, credit must be given to the A. X. M.'s for the threats they made in the third period which lacked only the necessary scoring punch. The Kappa Sig line showed good offensive playing throughout the tilt.

KS 2-SKC 1

The Phi's broke their two game losing streak to win an easy victory over the Sigma Kappa. The game was played by halfbacks Gil Urush and Dick Bowen set up many chances about the net.

SAV 3-PKS 0

This proved to be one of the best contests so far this season. Both teams fought hard with the play being dominated by the SAE's, until late in the third quarter, when the Phi's threatened and continued to hold an edge until the final whistle.

This game was undoubtedly one of the hardest-fought contests of the year. The Sig's George Clark and Will Runk for the losers played outstanding ball. This game wasn't decided until late in an extra period, when the Sig managed to punch over the winning goal.

SAM 2-DS 9

The Sammies played good soccer all the game. Bert Bordow and Mary Gerla played good ball for the Sammies, while the Demies outstanding player was Drew Machamer.

Bill Anderson—guard

William Anderson, 193-lb., Bucknell junior from Paterson, N. J., is a member of the Bison forward wall which is entrusted with the responsibility of halting the strong Temple offensive machine at Temple Stadium, Philadelphia, Friday night.

Anderson, who won recognition as a line-watcher last season, handles the right guard post on the Bucknell line.

Humphreysmen Must Stop Tomasic; Owl Line Has 20 lb. Weight Edge

TEAM TO PRACTICE UNDER ARCS TONIGHT

by John Bush

Bucknell's varsity football squad, that once the team managers and trainers left the campus shortly before noon today for Montandon where the entire caravan will entrain for Philadelphia, the scene of tomorrow night's tussle between the Bison and Temple's powerful football machine.

The game will be played under the lights at Temple Stadium with the kickoff listed for 8:30 p. m. Coach Al Humphreys called a halt to practice sessions at Memorial Stadium yesterday afternoon and indicated this morning that he plans to arrange a short practice drill for tonight in Temple Stadium in order to accustom the Bison gridders to the lamps.

The Bison will arrive in Philadelphia this afternoon at 4 o'clock and will establish headquarters at the Hotel Walton, that city.

Bucknell's invasion of Temple tomorrow night will be the toughest battle of the current campaign for the Thundering Herd. Coach Humphreys has warned his boys that Temple has the best offensive team the Bisons will meet this year.

Temple rules an unquestionable pre-game favorite. The Owls will unleash a wealth of material and a storehouse of power against the Herd tomorrow night. Four contests which the Morrison-men copped this season against Kansas U., V. M. I., Georgetown, and Penn State outweigh the three wins and one loss registered by the Orange and Blue this campaign, the lone defeat coming at the hands of Penn State two weeks ago.

Temple's night's battle will be the 15th Bucknell-Temple series clash and a couple of fellows named Andy Tomasic and George Spang are expected to have their own little reception in store for the Herd.

It's "Andy Andy's" last year with the Owls and should be his best. Experts who have been selecting the pre-season All-American teams have tentatively placed the Hokenadaw-Hurricane in the first team backfield.

In addition to Tomasic, the backfield quartet will be composed of George Stutz, bullet-like driving fullback; Andy Spangara, who runs like lightning on wheels on reverse plays, and Al Druis, capable and eager signal caller.

That Temple Line—

Temple type, packing weight, speed, and fight, Frank Mosier and Bill Seaver will flank the end while a couple of big 260-lb. bruisers, Hank Zakowski and Bucko Kilroy will take care of the tackle duties.

Larry Brahm, converted center, and Andy Korba will line up in the guard slots with Larry Brahm, 215-pound senior in the center spot.

Injuries May Handicap Bisons—

While the extent of their injuries is not set at a minimum, Walter Wenrick, Al Maganza, Frank DeAngelis, and Chet Podd have been "taking it easy" in practice drills at Memorial Stadium this week. The quartet received hurts in the Boston U. tilt on Saturday and are needed if the Herd hopes to do anything against the tough Temple machine tomorrow night.

Wenrick, laboring with a sore back, is listed as a likely starter at the signal-barking half, with Podd, suffering from an injured hand, destined for the fullback assignment. With these lads in the Bucknell line-up tomorrow night, there promises to be plenty of steam raised against the Owls. Podd's punting has improved considerably in recent weeks and his educated toe may prove important in thwarting the Templars and keeping the Bison with their backs to the wall.

Master-minding at quarterback has been responsible for much of the Bison's victory drives in the current campaign and thus rests the responsibility with Mr. Wenrick. Captain Mel Knupp will be at left halfback to try to match the running.

THE PROSPECT of a dishing in a drenching rain for over two hours merely to see 22 mud-spattered college huskies knocking each other down, I don't think would particularly appeal to most sane and normal persons. It seems to me that the prospect of this sort of an afternoon entertainment would be perfectly sufficient grounds to warrant a person's sitting home in a nice warm easy chair and getting all the entertainment he wanted in the way of football by simply tuning his radio in on the top-notch grid games being waged throughout the nation every Saturday. This is probably what the sane and normal person would do, but we must remember that the Bucknell Homecoming crowd do not fall in this category.

WHETHER A BUCKNELL alumnus returns to the campus from New York, or Philadelphia, or even nearby Sunbury, a little thing like a rain storm would hardly be enough to keep him away from seeing a Bison eleven in action. After all what is the main attraction that lures the alumni back to the campus? It is undoubtedly the football game. Everything else, the dances, the banquets, and the parties are merely added attractions to the big Homecoming football game.

AND SO IT WAS at about 2:30 last Saturday afternoon that approximately 5,000 Bison supporters gathered in Memorial Stadium to witness the game. The crowd was high hopes of cheering the Herd on to a win over its Homecoming opponent, Boston U. Though they were wearing umbrellas instead of pennants, and they didn't get a chance to show off their new Fall fashions, when it came to letting loose with a Bucknell cheer the old-timers were right there.

THE FIRST HALF of the contest failed to produce a score though both teams did threaten at least once. Considering the extremely unfavorable playing conditions, the half-houring and kicking by both teams was really superb. There was only one fumble by each squad. The Boston fumble, however, came near to developing into a score for the Humphreysmen in the second quarter.

Walt Szot, a very promising sophomore tackle, fell on a Boston fumble on the Boston 35-yard stripe. Chet Podd, who was undoubtedly the Bison's outstanding offensive man of the day, then picked up a few yards and Frank DeAngelis moved the ball to the 28. At this point of the game, the very shifty Fred Fahringer was inserted into the Bison backfield. He received a grand ovation, and I imagine it must have made "Whitney" feel pretty good, for seated in the stands was his father, a Bucknell alumnus, who had journeyed all the way from Louisiana to see his son perform. On the very first play that he carried with ball, Freddy swivel-kicked himself nine yards to the Boston 16-yard marker. But here a fumble by the Herd on a reverse play lost about 15 yards for them, and put an end to this drive.

THE SECOND HALF saw the B. U. Bisons resort to just some plain old-fashioned straight power football, which after about three minutes of play produced the game's only score.

After Big Jim Reichert had kicked off into the end zone, a thing which is getting to be quite a habit with him these days, Boston took the ball on their own 20. After two running plays failed to gain anything they kicked to the Bucknell 28-yard line where the ball was taken by Mel Knupp and returned to his own 30. Here the Herd started their 13-yard winning drive which in just 13 minutes covered 61 yards for a score. This sequence of plays saw Co-Captain Mel Knupp pick up 33 yards, fullback Podd make 17 yards, and right half DeAngelis gain 14. The score came on a buck by Knupp from the six-inch line, after the Boston team had valiantly held the Herd for three downs.

Line in this drive was the great blocking of Bill Anderson, "Buck" Bennett and Steve Sokol, all three succeeding in opening some gaping holes in the center of the Terrier line. Also particularly instrumental in this drive was the fine way in which Walt Wenrick quarterbacked the team, mixing quick quarter-backing with the more carefully detecting whatever weaknesses that did exist in the opponents line.

FOLLOWING THAT SCORE Al Humphreys' boys were quite content to sit back and protect their lead. Though the New England school proceeded to open up with an all-out aerial attack, they seriously threat-

Soph Tackle

Walter Szot, 193-lb. tackle, is playing his first year of varsity football for the Bisons this season. The rugged soph has developed the very line quality of recovering opponents' fumbles at very opportune moments, and he is expected to be a starter on the Herd's forward wall against Temple tomorrow night.

Maganza picked up 4 on a reverse. Knupp then tried to push the ball across the 35 when he tried left guard, but a combination of Michaels and McCarthy stopped him dead, and Boston took the ball. The Terriers then started to roll. On three plays against our forward wall, Sullivan and LaManna picked up two first downs, but the Orange and Blue halfback then took the pigskin to the 45. After a penalty pushing them to the 48, Morris, who sparked the Terriers with his fine line-crashes and punting, pitched a 30-yard drive to the 28. The Terriers then took the ball on the 28 and put the ball on our 39. LaManna went 9 yards on a fake reverse, but failed to pierce the Bison wall as did Morris, who took the pigskin to the 31 and put the ball on our 39. Not Recovering Fumble

The New England boys did not get their most serious bid for victory homes at the beginning of the second quarter. Morris' 7-yard punt and LaManna's 11-yard kick were the only plays that put the ball on our 39. LaManna went 9 yards on a fake reverse, but failed to pierce the Bison wall as did Morris, who took the pigskin to the 31 and put the ball on our 39.

EDITOR PICKS UP ON OTHER TWO SELECTORS

Silberman's .620 Average Still Trails Ronk's and Bush's .640

Well now we're convinced that anything can happen. If Sports Editor Morty Silberman could come out on top of John Bush and Will Ronk in last Saturday's selections, well then the age of miracles has not yet passed. While the Boss was picking seven right out of the ten games chosen, Ronk went right on only six, while Bush, who up to last week was leading the trio of selectors with a .724 average, only picked half of the ten games right, and thereby dropped into a tie for first place with Will Ronk, both sporting .667 averages. While the other two pickers both lost considerable ground, Silberman raised himself 20 points to a .640 average.

The editor made his big gain as a result of his picking both the Harvard-Dartmouth and Alabama-Tennessee upsets, while the other two went wrong on these. The three games he missed up on were the Michigan-Northwestern, Columbia-Georgia, and Rice-L. S. U. contests. Bush also missed these three, while Ronk was right on the L. S. U. win.

Followers are the trio's selections for this Saturday, and in all probability even Ripley won't believe the results:

Only Two Future Foes Score Wins

Temple and Gettysburg In Win Column; G.W., W.M., and Albright Downed

by Joe Herer

While the Herd was chalking up its third victory of the season, two of its five future opponents were also winning their tilts. Temple kept its undefeated record clear and Gettysburg opened its season with a victory. Western Maryland, George Washington, and Albright went down to defeat the past weekend.

In a bruising battle, Temple University's fast moving football machine hauled over Penn State 14 to 6. The Owls' two touchdowns were the result of steady marches down the field. Stutz and Tomasic each crossed the field stripe. The Lions held Tomasic pretty well, only allowing him to net 50 yards in 19 attempts. Stutz was the top ground sainer for the Cherry and White with 61 yards.

Again the Japanese are soft peddling their problems with the American government, mostly because they realize the folly of picking an out and out fight with us along with their party in China. And then again Russia is at Japan's back door and along the Manchurian border, which would mean a fight from all angles of the compass.

Religious Life Associates Plan Inaugural Meeting Tonight

New Organization Formed
On Campus To Be Headed By Marts

40 PROMINENT ALUMNI
SPONSOR ASSOCIATION

Formation of an important new group of alumni and friends of the University interested in the religious program of the college will take place this evening, when more than 40 men and women will dine at the Lewisburg Inn and complete the organization of the Bucknell Religious Life Associates.

With Dr. Arnold C. Marts, Bucknell president, acting as principal sponsor for the group, the Religious Life Associates will contribute to the University's religious program the benefits of their experience in the business and social world following graduation, and will attempt to interpret Bucknell's religious program to the alumni in their respective areas.

Dr. Charles M. Bond, professor of religion, is serving as chairman of the sponsoring committee, which includes Forrest D. Brown, secretary of Bucknell's Christian Association; the Rev. James B. Osterger, pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist Church; Dayton L. Black, Bucknell treasurer; C. H. Richardson, professor of mathematics; and Harry E. Stein, local insurance broker, and numerous other prominent alumni.

Mr. Gummo has been granted a leave of absence by the University for the rest of the college term in order that he may accept this important fellowship. Robert Larter, formerly of the faculty of Washburn College, will teach Mr. Gummo's art classes during his absence.

Hudson Tells Youth To Serve World

"Beautiful Castles In Spain"
Is Theme of Alumnus
At Student Chapel

Characterizing the personal and social hopes and aspirations of youth as goals for which they must strive and not merely accept as "ivory towers of escape," Rev. Roland G. Hudson speaking at weekly chapel exercises this morning in the Methodist Church, urged students to "serve the world with these goals before you to avoid cynicism."

Rev. Hudson, a Bucknell alumnus, is minister of the First Baptist Church, Jamestown, N. Y. While a student at the University, Rev. Hudson's ministerial charge consisted of a circuit of five churches in communities outside of Lewisburg. He was graduated from Rochester Seminary in 1927.

With his theme, "Beautiful Castles In Spain," Rev. Hudson selected as his text the chapter from the Romans 15: 24-25, "Wherever I take my journey into Spain, I will come to you. But now I go unto Jerusalem to minister unto the Saints."

Rev. Hudson told the students "to go to Jerusalem, to Rome as Paul did, reaching Spain by the hard way as did Paul in order to achieve the goals which are so precious to youth today."

Workshop Presents Quiz Program

The radio workshop will present this Sunday "Information Please." The tables will be turned on eight Bucknell professors who will be answering questions instead of asking them. This half hour program will be given over station WKOK at three o'clock.

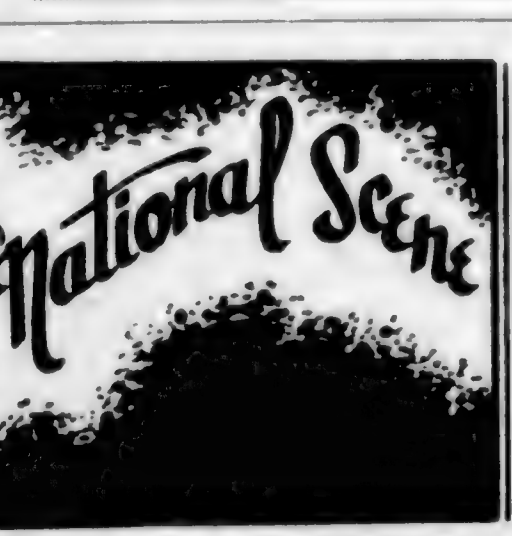

The students of Bucknell are offered the opportunity of quizzing the professors. Any questions they wish to add to this social I. Q. test may be submitted by putting the questions before noon Saturday in boxes provided for that purpose in Roberts or Larson Hall.

The professors to be featured in this not intellectual but informal "oral quiz" are Professors Matsen, Richardson, Lowery, Gold, Gregory, McCrossen, McRae, and Parker. Bill Ross will announce.

THANKSGIVING VACATION

Bucknell will observe Thanksgiving on November 29th as presented in the catalogue. The rumors stating that the date would be changed to the 27th are without grounds. Thanksgiving recess will begin Wednesday, November 19, at 12:00 o'clock noon and will end Monday, November 24, at 12:00 o'clock noon.

"Accent On Youth"

C and D Play Compares Love and Age

From all previous of Cap and Dug, a close most amusing comedy of moods and manners that is written with dexterity. Written around the life of a theatrical producer and playwright, "Accent on Youth" reveals that age itself is not important in matters where love is concerned.

In the role of Stephen Gage, theatrical producer, George Egan '42, will assume a characterization which he has never taken before on the Bucknell stage. Interested only in his plays, and the actresses who portray the leading roles in his plays, Egan's development of his character of middle-aged love for a girl who is young enough to be his daughter, will be interesting to watch. Playing the part of the young secretary, Linda Brown, with whom Stephen Gage falls in love, is Penny Naumann '44, a new union of youth and middle age brings to the Bucknell footlights.

Directed by Tressa Poling '43, with Stanley Marshall '43 as production manager, "Accent on Youth" by Samson Raphaelson, is particularly suited to a Father's Day audience as the play is a comedy of youth and middle age brings to the Bucknell footlights.

McEntee Escapes
Injury In Crash

C. A. A. Student Blameless; Street Intersection Is Scene of Wreck

Gene McEntee '42 is a firm believer in the luck of the Irish. The car which he was driving was hit and overturned by another driven by Mrs. John R. Lazar, at the intersection of Fifth and St. Louis street, Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock. McEntee emerged unscathed and wondering how he managed to get out without a scratch.

The left side of the car body was badly dented and the ignition key was snapped in two. In addition, the gas tank sprang a leak and the left rear wheel was demolished. There is no question but that the right side of the car was damaged also since that is the side on which it finally came to rest.

Witnesses of the accident said that Gene was entirely blameless. The car was the property of the Danville Airport. Gene was on his way home from Danville when the mishap occurred, and he was not hurt.

McEntee was not at fault. The car was the property of the Danville Airport. Gene was on his way home from Danville when the mishap occurred, and he was not hurt.

Sororities Conduct A Wide Variety Of Unique Parties

Campus Sees Close Of Rushing Period. Waits Final Choice

The curtain rang down on rushing yesterday, when both the rushees and the sororities handed in their final choice. After an evening of open houses Monday, October 29, the rush parties took over, following each other in rapid succession on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Bids to the preferential party were issued on Friday, and the girls answers were returned on Saturday. A weekend of rushing inactivity was followed by the preferential last Tuesday evening.

Yesterday the rushees named their choice of sororities in order of preference, and the sororities made an answer to the girls in order of preference. The papers bearing these decisions were given, unopened, into the hands of lawyer Charles W. Kalp, who will reveal the final choice of both the sororities and the girls.

Delta Zeta Celebrates Founding With Supper In Suite Friday Night

Delta Zeta celebrated the thirty-ninth anniversary of its founding on Friday, October 24th with each member of the society wearing the Kappa lanyard during the day. A supper was held in the suite in honor of the occasion.

Delta Zeta was founded at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio and was incorporated October 24, 1902. The colors of Delta Zeta are red and white, and the official sorority magazine is "The Lamp of Delta Zeta" which is published three times a year. In 1912 the Delta Zeta song book was published for the first time.

Delta Zeta's social service project is the community center at Vestia, Kentucky. The center was started by equipping a small school and paying for its maintenance.

Father's Day, a most gala event at Bucknell's calendar, is to be celebrated this weekend. Bucknellians are looking forward eagerly to seeing their families again and showing them a nice time while they are on the campus. There are lots of interesting events planned, and everyone should enjoy themselves very much. So, here's hoping Dad has a good time! He deserves it!

Delta Zeta recently pledged Kay Lauer '43, LaVone Fries '43, and Ethel Jaggle '42, went to the Temple game, and spent the weekend at Betty's home. Ruth Maguire '42, and Betty Kuhlman '43, also went to the game and spent the weekend at Betty's home in Steelton. Arlene Downs '43, went to Philadelphia to visit the home of Corinne MacDowd. Elaine Scher '42, went to her home in Mineola, N. Y., over the weekend. Doty Naugle's parents visited her on Sunday. Zoe McFadden, Delta Zeta province director, spent several days at the Temple game. Ruth Bolton was visited by her parents on Saturday.

About twenty-five Kappa Sigmas went to the Temple game last weekend. Charlie Cook and Hal Brown went to the homecoming of their prep school alma mater—Randolph Macon Academy. John Britton, Bud Vanderhill, Fred Nicol, and Tom and Joe Burke traveled to New York City. Jim Clark ex-'42 visited the chapter over the weekend. Ralph Keenan '44 was initiated into Alpha Phi Tuesday night.

Roger Fraser and Merle Smith, both members of the class of '45, were officially pledged to Alpha Chi Mu. A. X. M. Al Hana '43, who is on the faculty at Drew University, visited the fraternity over the weekend. He and two students from Drew were guests at the Foreign Student Conference at Cowan. Charles Selzer, Warren Snyder, Ted Hammer, Dan Mazzarella, George Dickinson, Art Ellis, Dave Wolfe, Howard Keller, and Frank Neumeier, all of Alpha Chi Mu, journeyed to Philadelphia to see the Temple-Bucknell game. During the past week the Alpha Chi Mu Corporation took definite action toward changing its location. The sale of the present property will be followed by a move toward the vicinity of the campus. A. X. M. Herb Hinebaugh '39, of Philadelphia, visited the fraternity house over the weekend.

Kappa Delta Ruth Maier '44, visited her home in Bridgeport, N. J., last weekend. Margie Gemill '44, entertained George Nall of York, Pa., on Saturday. Marcia Herrgesell '43 and Jane Griffith '43 were guests of Marie Fromuth '43 after the Temple game. Frankie Olsen '44 visited Betty Hauch '44. Bethie Chamberlin '43 visited Ding Clark '43 at her home in Chester, Pa. Midge Melor '42 and Betty Miles '44 also attended the Temple game. Kitty Stevenson '44 visited her home in Lansford the past weekend.

Florence Simmons '43 spent the weekend visiting Midshipman Philip Wienick at Annapolis, where she attended the Annapolis Formal. Peg Rodgers '43 spent the weekend at Cornell visiting Joe Peck.

Twenty Phi Psi's journeyed to Philadelphia to witness the Temple-Bucknell game. Bob Conover, Ralph Downes, Russ Owens, Ed Dudson, Al Hoopes, Bill Turner, Charles Brogan, John Wilkins, Dick Lank, Jim Simms, Herb Schubert, Frank Burns, Herb Harper, and Bill Thompson visited their homes. Glen Jones visited with Carolyn Wallen '40. Pledge Jack Freeman is recovering from an appendectomy operation performed

Hallowe'en Gaiety Rules At Sem Tonight With Costume Party Planned

Fun and frolic will take over at the Sem this evening when the annual Hallowe'en Party gets under way. Costuming is essential at the party, which will be held in the women's dining room. No students will be admitted who are not in Hallowe'en garb.

Dinner will be preceded by fruit cocktails in Larion living room. Following the dinner the students will assemble in the living room where the judges will award the prizes to the winners of the various divisions. There will be a prize given for the costume which is the most original, for the most humorous, for the most attractive, a group prize, and a prize for the faculty.

Miss Sylvia Derr will preside as master of ceremonies. The judges of the costumes will be Misses Derr, Eleanor Gile, Margaret Wright, Anne Brande, Marilyn Eppley, and Ruth Smith. Miss Jean Dyer headed the committee in charge of the program.

Dean Dyer Holds Tea For Freshmen

Dean Dorothy Dyer's tea for freshman men and women was held Sunday from 3 to 5 o'clock in Hunt living room. This tea is given annually by Mrs. Dyer on the Sunday of silence during sorority rushing. Dean Dyer and Jane Shouder, head of Freshman Council of the C. A., were in the receiving line.

Entertainment was furnished by freshman girls. Patsy Renter and Mary Jane Dilts sang, and Miss Dilts also gave a monologue. Doris Bunkle and Louise Laude played the piano.

Jane Shouder headed a committee of 12 who were in charge of the affair.

Interview With The Queen Shows Marriage Her Goal Reporter Reveals

by Marie Fromuth

Bucknell's first queen of the year has been chosen. Her name is Mal Lewis and her title is Queen of the Kitchen. The judging and crowning of the queen took place last Saturday night at the S. A. K. Kitchen Dance.

In a private interview with Queen Mal the following morning, she confessed to us in spite of her title she is not a master cook. "I can do ordinary cooking but nothing fancy," she said. However, she was selected on the basis of beauty and poise, so we guess it doesn't matter if she can make a mince pie or not.

The queen is five feet, five and a half inches tall, weighs one hundred and thirteen pounds, has blue eyes, fair skin, and a beautiful crop of light brown, wavy hair.

She dresses swimming, hair-ribbons, college life, and New York. Her one violent dislike is squash. When we asked Mal what her ambition was she immediately replied, "To get married." On second thought, however, she said she would also like to be a psychologist.

Pennsylvania claims the newly crowned queen as one of her daughters. Mal, whose real name is Mary Lewis, was born in Pittsburgh and raised in York. She chose Bucknell as her Alma Mater because her father had attended this university.

K. D. Commemorates 44th Anniversary Of Its Founding

On Thursday, October 23, Kappa Delta sorority observed the forty-fourth anniversary of its founding at Virginia State Normal, Farmville, Va., in 1897. The members of Phi Tau were white roses to commemorate the occasion, and Mildred Mellor, president of the sorority, conducted a service in the suite.

Informal in its beginnings, the group soon grew into an influential society on the campus (the teachers' college, and within a year had adopted its name, its badge, and a simple form of organization. The original Kappa Delta badge was diamond shaped with a fluted silver edge, of olive green enamel bearing the silver letters.

In 1912, Kappa Delta was admitted to the National Pan-Hellenic Congress on its first petition. Its total roll of 49 chapters and a membership of approximately 19,000 places it in fifth place according to size. The local chapter was established in 1915, and is comprised of 37 active members.

The Hospital Fund was established in 1921. Virginia was chosen as the center of Kappa Delta's philanthropic project because it is the state of the sorority's founding. Today, Kappa Delta supports five beds in the Crippled Children's Hospital at Richmond, Virginia.

News Of Men In The Service

Lt. Robert D. Will, U. S. Marine Corps, Quantico, Va.

October 23.

Dear Bucknellians: I want to take this chance to thank the Service Council and the Christian Association for the thoughtfulness in sending the Bucknellian to me and the other fellows in the service, because I know each and every one of us appreciate it more than you know. Believe me it certainly is good to receive the paper each week, and read of the things happening at school. It certainly brings back fond memories of days spent at B. U.

At present, I am attending the Base Defense Weapons Class, Field Artillery Section, which has taken me closer to the engineering field than I ever dreamed of getting. However, thus far, it has proven to be very interesting and lots of fun. Especially, since we are required to attend Equitation classes, and you might picture how I would look on a horse. We receive more ribbing about it, as people call us "the horse Marines" since they can see no immediate need for a horse aboard a ship and we do have to know how to ride in case we get ashore.

Thanks again for the Bucknellian and his address of other fellows in the service. There are several stationed close by that I plan to look up in the near future.

See you in the Bucknellian! Sincerely, Robert D. Will, Base Defense Weapons Class, Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va.

Special to the Service Council: I wish to send a word of thanks to you of the Service Council for all that you are doing to keep your fellow Bucknellians in the Service in touch with the things on the campus. I certainly appreciate receiving the Bucknellian every week and assure you that I read it from cover to cover including the ads.

At present I am working in an Evacuation Hospital which is now on maneuvers near Chester, South Carolina. We will be here until the first of December and will then go north to Fort Devens (30 miles from Boston), where I will then be stationed. We live a rough life, but enjoy the southern exposure which at present is still in its summer season.

I hope to visit Bucknell again before the new year. I only wish that I was stationed closer to that part of the country, for I envy anyone who can live in such a genial and uplifting atmosphere.

Sincerely, Ed Fetter.

California Has Greatest Foreign Enrollment
More foreign students are enrolled at the University of California than in any other college or university in the United States.

This fact is shown in the twenty-first annual report of Dr. Stephen Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education.

According to the report there are 550 foreign students enrolled at California; Columbia Univ. is second with 493; others are: Michigan 301, Massachusetts Institute of Technology 233, Harvard 241, Chicago 210.

There are 6,699 foreign students enrolled at colleges and universities in the United States, according to the report.

ing the salary of one teacher. The curriculum has now been extended to give all grade work and four years of high school. The services of the Delta Zeta chapter in the home visits are perhaps the most valuable being given at this time.

The Beta Theta chapter was initiated at Bucknell in 1930, making it the youngest sorority chapter on campus. Helen Coughlin is president of the chapter. Ruth Bolton and Fay Mayers helped plan the celebration of Founder's Day.

Needless to say, the cleanup committee had no large job in store for them. By one a. m. every decoration adorned the walls of some one's room.

Another feature of the "Kitchen Brawl" was the map dance introduced by the pledges of S. A. K. who had their maps to the fellows they cut in on.

Special to the Service Council: At last I am acknowledging the arrival of your letter and the very welcome arrival of the Bucknellian each week. My thanks to you and to all who are responsible for what the Service Council is doing.

This next week will complete my preliminary training as an Army cadet. The training is interesting and interesting. We do no fooling around here. There is a possibility that I will stay on here as a non-commissioned officer to help in the training of new recruits. I am a combat engineer unit.

Thanks again for all you folks are doing, and my best wishes to the Executive Committee of the C. A.

Sincerely, Chubb Condit.

Cap and Dagger Regrets . . .

Another good reason for having a Bucknell Little Theatre Playhouse is brought sharply by this week as Cap and Dagger finds itself without a stage on which to give a performance this Friday night.

Due to a conflict in dates between the dramatic organization and the Lewisburg High School, the Father's Day play will be given on Thursday night and Saturday night, instead of the usual Friday and Saturday.

Unfortunately the tickets and the programs for both nights were already printed, but despite the monetary loss the situation has another angle. It only proves what everyone on campus has known for a long time, that auditorium facilities for a university of the size and prestige of Bucknell are entirely lacking. The High School has to accommodate two major theatre groups, service club plays, and the artist and lecture courses, in addition to the regular high school affairs. The stage is small and the acoustics under par. Difficulties between the college groups and the school are bound to arise, and no solution is, as yet, in sight.

It is only too clear that a University Theatre is a must on the buildings list, not only for plays, but for chapel, guest speakers and similar programs. Let's hope that the construction of such a building isn't in the too distant future.

Campus Society...

Last weekend, Fred Capman '39 and "Gracie" Allen '39 returned to the Chapter House. The Phi Phi's held a joint open house with the Phi Gamma's Saturday evening at the Phi Phi House. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher were chaperones.

Kappa Delta Rho James Helt '43 spent the weekend at his home at Lykens, Pa. Alan Vitray '45 traveled to Philadelphia for the weekend.

Delta Sigma initiated Ronald MacPherson '44 into the active chapter last Saturday night. Formal pledging ceremonies were held on Tuesday night for Fred Kettner '43 and Robert Ungard '44. Denies who attended the Temple game in Philadelphia were Harvey Pettit '42, William Bowen '43, Curt Clump, Bob Frantz, and George Liles, all '44, and Hal Kircher '45. Alumni who returned for the weekend included Harvard Griffith '40, Kermit Bower '40, and Dick Kauffman '41. Sunday dinner guests were: Penny Wood, Janet Bold, and Jeanne Haynes, all '43, and Nellie Dean '42.

Lambda Chi's who attended the Temple game last weekend were: Fred Griffin '43, George Haines '43, Lindsay Stevens '43, Bill Thomas '43, Al Alexander '43, Clifford Zeff '44, Miriam Porter '44, Charles Rehkamp '45, DeWitt Nester '45, and Tom Somnichson '44. George Rehkamp '43, Herb Jordan '43, Walt Noll '44, George Dittenderfer '45, and Dan Brimmer '45 also attended the game and spent the weekend in Philadelphia. Clair Thomas '44 visited in Pittsburgh over the weekend. Bob Snyder '45 and Charles Haffey '45 spent the weekend at their homes. George Haines '43 entertained Miss Nancy Griffin of New Cumberland, Pa., on Sunday.

Last Saturday night, Sigma Alpha Kappa sponsored a dance in Tus-tin Gym, and the affair was definitely a success. The boys of that organization certainly put on a bang-up performance, and showed plenty of talent along various lines.

Phi Phi Marion McConnell entertained Frank McCormick over the weekend. Sharlie Griffin went home to be a bride's maid at her brother's wedding. Doris Rank '43 went to the Temple game on Friday evening.

Fran Walters spent the weekend at her home in Philadelphia. Polly Phillips entertained Eleanor Nicely, Alpha Chi, at her home in Haddon Heights, N. J., after attending the Temple game.

Sorority rushing is over now, and all that remains is for the rushers to be pledged, and then to settle down to the regular activities of college life. Now that the strain is over, the activities of Bucknell women will resume normality.

BY BUSH

LOST: ONE COPY OF 'ESQUIRE'

Somewhere on the campus this weekend there will appear a collegian in new garb and bright array, to coin a cliché. His coat will V from shoulders to waist. His pants will have lost the familiar bag at the knees. His shoe laces will have been pressed and they will hold together the latest in fall footwear.

When he makes his appearance, women will make a rush for him. They will not be fast enough. Other male students will get to him first. They will rend him and shred him, and otherwise mar his appearance.

He will be the "Dapper Dan" who early this week removed from one of the rooms in Old Main the one copy of the latest Esquire which per-haps has the largest circulation of any single copy in the world since it reaches every Bucknell man in that dormitory.

Old Main isn't what it used to be. The atmosphere is not inviting. The conversation isn't what is used to be and there are no more midnight snacks.

Esqy is gone. Gone likewise are Petty and Varga and Phil Shack. But mostly Petty and Varga.

In the interest of a more sunny and compatible group of men students in Old Main, we ask that the culprit return the magazine so that it can be circulated freely once again. No questions will be asked, so long as none of the pages have been removed.

ONE WAY OF PUTTING IT...

And the story of the sudden demise of the lone copy of 'Esquire' reminds us that there's another popular publication (of the picture variety) which has its readers in Old Main.

Not too long ago a photo of a beautiful young lady attracted the attention of several BU lads as they glanced through the pages of "Click". This particular print commanded more than the usual time and respect and before a single color-picture of a bathing queen had been clipped from inside, the boys had flashed a request to the editor of the "mag" for the name of the "certain one."

The answer was in the mails three days later. When the boys read the reply they were completely surprised. "We don't have her name," the communication stated in part, "and if we did, it's 'Click's' policy not to release such information."

Then scribbled in ink below the typewritten copy was this notation: "I don't know why you boys are anxious to learn the name of this model when there are at least three girls on each floor in Hunt, Harris, and Larson Halls, who can match her charm."

The boys were bewildered by this supplement. The signature solved the perplexity, as Miss Virginia L. Stone, a Bucknell alumna, had taken the time to pin this bit of constructive criticism.

(P. S.—Miss Stone is employed by the publishers of 'Click' and evidently knows her campus.)

CASSOFF IS 'IN THE DOUGH'

A columnist on the South Bergen EVENING RECORD devoted several lines of pater to the past week to Dick Cassoff, varsity basketball manager last season, who did a little pounding on the typewriter for this sheet. Dick will be remembered by many upper-classmen and for that reason we pass along the following item:

"Dick Cassoff of Tenack used to trot in here and state: 'I want a job with dough—REAL dough attached to it.' When he left Bucknell University, we tried to place him with a couple of Broadway firms. He trotted into the office a few aye-ye's garbed in a uniform. 'Yeh, his new job has dough attached to it. He's working for a baking concern!'"

BEG YOUR PARDON!

It was all in the interest of defense, we'll assure you. Ever since this space was occupied partially in the last issue by a note on "bare legs" we've been hit on all sides by criticism.

"Patriotic coeds who want leg appeal without cheapening themselves" by going bare-legged should wear brightly-colored cotton stockings during the defense-made silk hosiery shortage, was the opinion advanced in one communication.

Several of the Bucknell coeds were questioned for their ideas on the subject. The suggestion of cotton hose struck only a lukewarm response with a pretty blonde undergraduate, who piped: "I wouldn't be found dead in them. My patriotism doesn't go that far!"

"We listened to favorable comments too. A freshman 'cottage' said: 'I'd be for this idea. Besides, the gay colors might help some girls to have attention directed to their legs.'"

Declaring that red, white, and blue cotton stockings are the "rage" in the eastern collegiate set, a dormitory counselor believes it would be "wonderful" if college women all over America adopted them.

Now that we have attempted to square ourselves, let the winds blow. Furthermore, we guarantee—not another word about "bare legs" in times of war or peace.

ADDENDA...

Sunday afternoon have your dial turned to the Bucknell Workshop—it will be a Dr. Quiz program with the BU pros facing a tirade of questions from collegians. Fourth floor, east college is searching for another track man to complete a relay team since three members of the quarter skirt the 100-yard stretch in record time. Bob Shaw is the top-flight comedian in the freshman class.

It will be harmony in the ranks of the engineers before long as all four branches plan to combine into one organization. A "tea shop" (tch, tch) has been established on the third floor of west college by an enterprising Bucknell male—coza is also served on request. "Ghosts" are haunting the fourth floor of Old Main and that's no propaganda, according to several lads who suffered attacks by the white-sheeted specimens in the wee hours of the morning. Over on the fourth floor of east college, BU lads report no end of envy over a certain collegian's possession of a "refrigerator."

Bob Burns takes the honor as the "most consistent dater" in the ranks of the engineers, co-workers report. Plaudits to Ruth Zimmerman for her attractive set-designs for Cap and Dagger's "Accent on Youth." Frank Zachary's interest in grape-juice is limited to research only. Frank Burns' rifle prowess elevates him to the top position among fresh marksmen.

Alpha Chi's Jean Walton, Lee Biegner, June Ireland, Carol Gebhardt, Ginny McCabe, Mirae Corwin, Dottie Lee Grounds, Ginny Thompson, Margie Swigart, Dottie Parmelee, and Estelle and Ruth Howley attended the Temple game and spent the weekend in Philadelphia and neighboring communities. Eleanor Goodrich visited friends in Shamokin last weekend. Janet Howe spent the weekend at her home in Glen Rock, N. J.

Spalding The Musician

Prof. Stickney Praises Violinist

by Charles F. Stickney
It was with some trepidation that the writer awaited the opening work of the program. The reason for this feeling was two-fold: first, the program was one of solid musical content with no tendency whatever to ward the lighter vein of works which artists frequently insert when appearing on college camp; second, no instrumental soloist had used the Men's Gymnasium as a concert hall to date. True, last year the Gladys Swarthout concert was held without trouble with acoustics, but the acoustical properties of a strong mezzo-soprano voice differ from those of a violin. However, to those who heard Mr. Spalding it was obvious that the fears of the writer were entirely unfounded.

The opening work on the program, the Chaconne, written by the 19th century Cretaceous instrumentalist Tommaso Vitali, is a composition used frequently by students of music for its pedagogical value. Occasionally it does appear on concert programs as was the case in this instance. The arrangement used by Mr. Spalding was not the customary one, being an organ transcription of the work made by Respighi, and, in the writer's opinion, was less interesting, especially in the accompaniment, than the Charles David, of Amer arrangements.

The Beethoven Sonata, Op. 24, more commonly known as the "Spring Sonata" was undoubtedly the highlight of the program. The second movement or Adagio was superbly played; the pianissimo were mere breaths of tone, yet they filled the hall and lost none of their character. While the conventional interpretation of the work was not observed throughout the sonata, the result was, nevertheless, most enjoyable and a demonstration of fine playing. Since this work is a "sounding piece" for both violin and piano, one must not fail to mention the excellent work of Mr. Benoit, accompanist for Mr. Spalding for many years. Much of the praise for the outstanding performance of this Beethoven Sonata is due to his fine reading.

The second sonata on the program, the G minor of Debussy is the only work in this form which the 19th century French composer wrote for this combination. Again Mr. Spalding and Mr. Benoit share equally in praise due for their performance. The composer draws upon the technical ability of both players as well as their musicianship to an astounding degree and, in this case, found both musicians entirely capable of meeting all requirements.

The Kreisler work for violin alone was a demonstration of the flawless technique possessed by Mr. Spalding. Only those artists possessing a fine tone and clear-cut technique attempt to present compositions from the field of "violin alone." The presentation of this Kreisler composition and the performance of the Bach earlier in the program both proved Mr. Spalding a stellar artist.

University of Michigan first undertook inspection of high schools in the state in 1870.

Bison Squad Set For Dad's Day Game With W. Maryland

Owl Touchdown
Barrage Swamps
Bisons 41-14

Fahringer Scores on Buck and 56-Yard Pass Play;
Tomato Temple Ace

SZOT, DeANGELIS DISPLAY TALENTS

by Sy Berger

Temple's powerful grid machine took the thunder out of the Herd, with a superb display of might and deception by imposing an overwhelming 41-14 drubbing on the Bisons before 20,000 fans who witnessed the game under the stars of the night. Although the Bison squad was outplayed by the Owl team, the game was a real battle, with the Bison's defense putting up a valiant fight. The Owl's offense was the key to the victory, with the team's running game and passing attack being the main factors in the win.

Despite the 41 point lead victor by the Owls, the Bison fought back desperately to decrease the victory margin. It wasn't until late in the final quarter, that the Humphreys brought the Bison back to the game with some brilliant running and passing that was clinched by two trips into pay dirt. Swirl-winded Fred Fahringer combined with Frank DeAngelis, Al Magagna, and Big Ed Glass to bring forth the cheer from the glum Bucknell rooters. The 150-lb. scab-tailed bulldog of the Bison's 40-pointers, and also helped the pigskin in scoring position.

Fahringer Tries Twice
With three minutes of playing time remaining, the Herd suddenly came to life and looked like a team deserving of a place on the same field with the "Bowl-Bound" Cherry and White. Taking the ball on their own 20, the Bison let loose with their vaunted aerial attack, which had proved very ineffective against the Temple pass defense to this point in the game.

On first down, Fahringer gripped the pigskin and faked back to the 15 to spot his receivers. Although the Owl forward wall was virtually swarming all over him, Fred heaved a perfect spiral high in the air toward Ed Glass. The 6' 4" giant, though covered by Snaraga and Diome leaped in the air and plucked the ball from the waiting hands of the Temple interceptors on the 44. Two passes by Fahringer had failed to hit their target and on third down, the Bison reversed their tactics, combining a pass interception by the Pies which matured into a score. The entire first quarter was a series of back and forth plays, with the Bison's defense being the main factor in the game. The Owl's offense was the key to the victory, with the team's running game and passing attack being the main factors in the win.

Greek Speedsters
Run Trials Today
The trials are being run in the gymnasium and measured events this afternoon. Competition is being held in the 100-yard dash, the 120-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the quarter-mile, the half-mile, the mile, and the two-mile runs. The field events include the running broad jump, the high jump, the pole vault, the shotput, the discus throw, and the tossing of the spear-point javelin. The only event in which there are no trials is the mile relay, which will be run on Saturday. The field events trials will narrow the competition down to six participants, who will fight it out on Saturday. The mile relay will be cut to four runners for the sprint finals. But, there is a possibility that the 100-yard dash group will not be cut down this far.

Greeks to Meet on Monday
or Tuesday; Finals Are Best Two Out of Three

At 4:30 this afternoon, another of Bucknell's annual intramural track and field meets got under way, with 11 fraternities and a number of independent campus organizations entering teams, with an eye on bringing home the coveted trophy for the mantle. The boys are running their trials on the stadium track, and the Greek muscle men are hurrying the weights around on the football field. With every snap of the tape and with every hurdle of a weight, another aspirant falls by the wayside, while others advance another step toward the finals on Saturday at 10 a. m., which is part of the big Dad's Day celebration.

Despite the heavy odds, the gridsters played some fine ball. Sophomore Walt Sait was a human slaughterer with his vicious tackles until he was removed from the game with a leg injury. Wenrick and Mel Knupp played their usual head-up game and were also the victims of injuries. Bill Anderson and Chet Podd may also be called for their play and were in the fighting throughout. Undoubtedly, Temple's offense was (Continued on Page 7)

George Haines First As Sigma Chi Cops Cross-Country Cup; Snyder, A X M, Places Second

George Haines, who is better known to most Bucknell sports enthusiasts for his capering on the Bison basketball court, this past Monday proved that he also possesses other athletic capacities when he led a field of 40 runners across the finish line of the annual intramural cross-country run in the time of 23.4 minutes, compared to last year's winning time of 21:38 compiled by Charlie Schmitt. A slight breeze hampered the runners considerably throughout the race.

The winner of the trophy for the winning of the lowest number of points was the Sigma Chi fraternity of which Haines is a member. The Sigma Chi had a total of 52 points, while the other teams were: Alpha Chi Omega, 54; Gamma Delta, 55; and in third place the Sigma Chi have won the cross-country cup, though last year duplicate scores counted toward the winning of the trophy for the Sigma Chi were Jim Han, who placed fifth, Art Baid, who came in seventh, and Bud Waldner, who traced across the line twenty-seventh.

This marks the second successive year that Haines has finished in the first five of this event. This also is the second successive year that the Sigma Chi have won the cross-country cup, though last year duplicate scores counted toward the winning of the trophy for the Sigma Chi were Jim Han, who placed fifth, Art Baid, who came in seventh, and Bud Waldner, who traced across the line twenty-seventh.

Following Haines across the finish line by about 50 yards was King Snyder, who placed second.

West Pointers Stave Off
Scoring Threat in Last Period; Garber Stars

The Baby Bisons dropped a hard-fought battle to the Army Plebes, 13-0, in the final quarter of the game. Although the Bucknell Plebes led 16 first downs to the Service Men's 4, they did not have the necessary scoring punch to win the game. The West Pointers scored their first touchdown on a pass interception and their second as a result of a 40-yard aerial which brought the ball well into Bucknell territory.

The entire first quarter was featured by long marches by the Baby Bisons. Twice the plebes strengthened and held our boys inside the 20-yard line. Joe Garber's fine line crashing charged up a goodly number of first downs during this period. Army's exceptional kicking kept them out of danger several times. Two fumbles of Army punts put the Frosh in tough spots, but their strong defense averted any scores.

Piekes Intercept Pass
The second quarter was featured by a pass interception by the Plebes which matured into a score. The entire first quarter was a series of back and forth plays, with the Bison's defense being the main factor in the game. The Owl's offense was the key to the victory, with the team's running game and passing attack being the main factors in the win.

Greek Speedsters
Run Trials Today

The trials are being run in the gymnasium and measured events this afternoon. Competition is being held in the 100-yard dash, the 120-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the quarter-mile, the half-mile, the mile, and the two-mile runs. The field events include the running broad jump, the high jump, the pole vault, the shotput, the discus throw, and the tossing of the spear-point javelin. The only event in which there are no trials is the mile relay, which will be run on Saturday. The field events trials will narrow the competition down to six participants, who will fight it out on Saturday. The mile relay will be cut to four runners for the sprint finals. But, there is a possibility that the 100-yard dash group will not be cut down this far.

Greeks to Meet on Monday
or Tuesday; Finals Are
Best Two Out of Three

At 4:30 this afternoon, another of Bucknell's annual intramural track and field meets got under way, with 11 fraternities and a number of independent campus organizations entering teams, with an eye on bringing home the coveted trophy for the mantle. The boys are running their trials on the stadium track, and the Greek muscle men are hurrying the weights around on the football field. With every snap of the tape and with every hurdle of a weight, another aspirant falls by the wayside, while others advance another step toward the finals on Saturday at 10 a. m., which is part of the big Dad's Day celebration.

Despite the heavy odds, the gridsters played some fine ball. Sophomore Walt Sait was a human slaughterer with his vicious tackles until he was removed from the game with a leg injury. Wenrick and Mel Knupp played their usual head-up game and were also the victims of injuries. Bill Anderson and Chet Podd may also be called for their play and were in the fighting throughout. Despite Many Injuries Herd Hopes To Avenge Last Year's Tie With 'Green Terrors'; Team Sharpens Pass Defense

IN BOWING TO Temple University's football team last Friday night in Philadelphia, the Green Terrors undoubtedly went down before one of the most powerful grid machines in the East.

BUCKNELL'S TEAM that night in Philly was as good as it has ever been this season, but, with all due credit to them, Al Humphreys' squad did not start and seemed to be all over the Owls. This year's Temple squad is truly terrific, and right now I don't see how they can possibly miss getting a bid for one of the Bowl games on New Year's Day.

THE OUTCOME of the contest, which was a 2-0 victory for the Green Terrors, was never in doubt. The Herd threatened but once in the first half of the contest, when they marched down to the 20-yard line only to have their bid for a score fizzle out when the usually dependable Fred Gore dropped a perfect pass thrown by Chet Podd. The end zone, though this unfortunate incident could hardly have meant the difference in the final outcome, the Owls won this year's game by a point which was set in 1938 when the Herd lost a 2-0 game to the Owls.

Al Humphreys' grid charges will be quite heavily favored this Saturday afternoon to mark up their sixth win against Western Maryland in a series begun back in 1924. In this seven-year series the Bisons have won five and lost three games to the "Green Terrors", with one game, last year's, ending in a tie.

tator as "Hitler" without prefixing the usual "Mr." before his name, which gave an indication of the gravity of the Chief Executive's address. He revealed that the government had in its possession a map of Central and South America which contained a "detailed plan" for the transforming of independent nations into five vassal Nazi states.

So with these and various other statements Mr. Roosevelt made even more evident to the American people and to the rest of the world that the United States is fighting Hitlerism to the end. We are no longer drifting toward war. We're rushing into it head first and there doesn't seem an alternative in sight! In fact, the mood of the American public seems to indicate that it would welcome a chance to get all the way into the scrap.

The America First Committee is still pounding away, but its words fall on an unresponsive audience and our guess is that in a short time the committee will be silenced by its own ineffectiveness. One of our own Bucknell professors stated that he was of the belief that some of the non-interventionists were simply building up for the post-war period which would see a reaction against war. Then they would cash in on their actions and words of the pre-war period and ride the crest of another anti-war wave.

And John L. Lewis is sticking his neck out for the chopping block. His "Bill of Rights" for coal miners to "strike" will turn public opinion against him more than ever before. The cur-tailing of essential steel production will be the result of the action. Lewis hates Roosevelt almost as much as Wheeler of Montana does, and there's very little that he would not do to hurt the president's program.

does not make you a resident of the state. This license must also be worn at all times while you are hunting. On opening day no hunting is allowed until 10 o'clock but on all following days the hours are from 7 to 5. A hunter must not carry a loaded gun or firearm in his car and if hunting for small game not more than 5 can be in any one party. When hunting, this group must also take a party roster. These rules are strictly enforced and large fines are the punishment for the offenders.

For deer hunting, this immediate vicinity is not too prosperous. The northern counties of Center, Lycoming, Clinton, Sullivan and Chenango are very suitable for deer hunting. These counties, plus Potter and McKean are good bear country.

And so with the coming of another fall, Bucknellians once again will set out to the hills for weekends and sometimes weeks of hunting. If there is any doubt about the laws mentioned it is advisable to see Prof. Miller or some game official first.

"En Bataun" by Debussy, played as an encore at the conclusion of the second group, was well received by the audience. The final group of five short pieces was rendered in typical Spalding style, two being original compositions of the performing artist and one, La Campanella by the eminent 19th century violin virtuoso Paganini, was Mr. Spalding's arrangement of the piece.

At the conclusion of the concert proper a generous number of encores were played; the Wilhelm arrangement of Schubert's Ave Maria, the Heiligt transcription of Hora Staccato, by Dittus and the A Major Waltz of Brahms.

The committee responsible for arranging Mr. Spalding's appearance on the Bucknell campus is to be congratulated. Very seldom is a concert of this calibre made available to colleges.

Frosh To Battle Sophs Saturday

by Hilda Lubliner

The sixth annual Frosh-Soph scrap will be held in North Field at 11:30 a. m. this Saturday morning. The score now stands at three to two, in favor of the freshmen, as regards the pole climbing contest. The sophomores, however, always get wet in the tug of war.

As usual, the odds will favor the freshmen. They have the greater number, more apparent class spirit, and are entitled to use the freshmen football team. Football members of the sophomore class belong to the varsity, and are declared ineligible for the scrap in hopes of using them in the Father's Day game that afternoon.

The pole climbing contest is the major event, with frosh determination to shed their dinks spurring them on the greased pole in their attempt to reach the soph colors pinned on top. General manhandling is permitted and all such inventive tricks as black pepper, mud, brass knuckles, etc., is frowned upon by the judges. Asking that we do not divulge the various extra-legal devices formerly employed, Prof. Gathings, in charge of the scrap, called them "the most ingenious things you could imagine."

The most publicized stunt, employed by both freshmen and sophomores alike, is the attempted kidnapping of key men of either class. Most such kidnappings have been fruitless, due to lack of imagination on the part of the kidnappers. Prof. Gathings suggested that potential ringleaders ask him for invariable hideouts if any are planned this year. There is one, he insists, from which a kidnapper will never return in time to wreak vengeance.

Following the custom of former years the Fire Department will be called in to supervise the water used in the tug-of-war. It has often been commended for its knowledge of just how much water is necessary to the dunking process.

The famous pole itself is an ancient telephone pole whose top has been cut off to make way for the soph colors; but be informed now, freshmen: those devices employed by telephone repair men for scaling poles will earn you a reprimanding finger from Prof. Parker, who has absolute authority on the final decision.

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

19 Bucknellians Elected To College 'Who's Who'

Students Receive Recognition for Outstanding Ability; One Junior Chosen

UNIVERSITY DEANS ENDORSE BOOK

Through an impartial selection by a sub-committee of the Bucknell Student-Faculty Congress, 19 Bucknellians were elected to have their names and college biographies in the 1941-42 edition of the book, Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Most Recognized

The first edition of Who's Who Among Students was published in 1934. Void of all fees and dues, the book recognized outstanding students throughout the country. Many college and university deans have endorsed this book along with national honor societies.

The foremost purpose of this Who's Who is to act "as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers—as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done—at a standard of measurement for students comparable to such agencies as Phi Beta Kappa and the Rhodes Scholarship Award—and as a recommendation to the business world."

Selected because of their qualifications of character, leadership, scholarship, and potentialities, these 19 students have to fill out a list of over 30 questions, covering every phase of college and domestic life. When the applications have been returned, these 19 names will be added to approximately 5,000 other college names representing more than 1,000 colleges and universities in the United States.

Referred to by personnel directors and managers, this collegiate Who's Who has been endorsed by such large organizations as the Procter and Gamble Co., the B. F. Goodrich Co., General Motors Corp., and the Vicks School of Applied Merchandising.

Phi Alpha Theta Initiates Fourteen National Secretary-Treasurer Presides Over Honorary History Ceremony

Fourteen students were initiated on Monday night into the Alpha Gamma chapter of the national history honor society, Phi Alpha Theta, which was installed at Bucknell last April. The initiation was held in the Literature Building lounge. They were presented with engraved certificates, each receiving also a red rose tied with the fraternity colors, red and blue.

Mr. Donald Hoffman, national secretary-treasurer, officiated at the ceremonies and gave an informal talk, after which refreshments were served.

The initiates who qualified by having an 85 average in history, an 80 average in two-thirds of their other subjects, and having completed twelve semester hours in history, are as follows: Mary Brislain, David Evans, Ruth Guarnaccia, Ruth Lynn, Richard Gray, Mary Brislain, Ruth Braden, Elaine Schatz, Margaret Faust, Betty Jackson, Sidney Applebaum, John Britton, Marion Waters, and Elva Ahrensfield.

Ogden Nash Speaks Here November 27

Bucknell Lecture Course Presents Well Known Humorous Poet

Ogden Nash, known to everyone for his humorous verse which has appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies Home Journal, Cosmopolitan, American Magazine, and many other periodicals, will speak on campus on November 27 under sponsorship of the Lecture Course.

OGDEN NASH

Supporting himself and his family of three with free-lance writing, Nash turns out poems whose subtle humor tickles the funny bone of even the most staid school-teacher. He can discuss the tragic times of the present with such capturing wit that his readers and hearers find each other laughing himself hoarse at his own catastrophes!

Less than 40 years of age, Nash has carved himself a celebrated niche in the writing and editing business. The sparkling humor of his verse caught the attention of The New Yorker, which magazine quickly became the managing editor. By 1934 Nash found that his poems alone netted him such lucrative returns that he forsook editing to become free-lance. Entering book-writing, he produced seven works hailed for their hilarity.

Popular opinion has it that just reading Ogden Nash wins one over, but only by also hearing and seeing him can he be known at his fondest. Members of the Lecture Course, committee age Dr. Theodore Parker, Jean Dyer, and John Anderson.

Alumni Receive Army Promotions

Ralph Bush and Geo. Good Obtain Commissions As Lieutenants

Two former Bucknellians recently received commissions in the United States Army. Ralph A. Bush '40 received his commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps, while George L. Good '41 received a second lieutenant's commission in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Ralph Bush was among 88 cadets from 25 states who received his wings during graduation ceremonies at Earlfield Field, Louisiana. Lieutenant Bush was appointed aviation instructor.

20 Collegians Will Be Guests Of B.U.

Playing host to 20 students from Morgan and Howard Colleges, the same number of Bucknellians will escort their guests to the Gettysburg game, Cowan, and discussion meetings, as part of exchange visits arranged to foster better inter-racial relations.

On Saturday at 7 p. m., the visiting students will be escorted to the football game, and from there the group will go to Cowan for dinner. Following this an informal discussion (Continued on page 8.)

Women Hazing Frosh Coeds Parade As Indian Squaws

Trudging around the hill and the Sem, arrayed as Indian squaws, with purple sashes, sneakers, unmatching socks, and an orange feather with head-band on their head, about 200 freshmen girls this week are undergoing the rigors of Hail Week.

At the request of any sophomore, the frosh girls must sing the Alma Mater. More embarrassing than this is the required precautionary measures against air-raids, for when a sophomore yells "Air-Raid!", each frosh must crouch to the ground until the "all-clear" is sounded, which sometimes is slow in coming.

Although this form of subordination to upperclassmen continues until Friday, they must wear the feathers and headband, which are all but flattering, until Thanksgiving.

One Rule Disobeyed

Resulting in the election of 18 coeds as the most comely in the Class of '42, the beauty pool among seniors which lasted two and a half weeks ended yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock with a neck-and-neck race for eleventh place on the line-up of Bucknell belles of whom six will be chosen to have their pictures in the 1942 L'Agenda.

Bid Ehlmann '42, editor-in-chief of L'Agenda, which conducted the balloting, in which 57 percent voted, declared that the name of a nationally known beauty expert who will select the six most lovely demiselles will be made public in the L'Agenda.

Conducted as a forum, the conference dealt with "The American Woman and her Responsibilities." Its purpose is the clarification of the responsibilities of women in a democracy, and the seeking of a program for giving effective direction to their role as the primary force in shaping a nation.

Owen D. Young, honorary chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, is honorary chairman of the advisory committee, W. W. Chapman, Director of Educational Relations at Ohio State University, is the chairman of the committee. LeAnne Boyce, Ruth Braden, Anne Devesa, Jean Dyer, Phyllis Fuller, Betty Grim, Bunny Herrmann, Maurine Hobbs, Lois Johnson, Jean Koebele, Mildred Mellor, Gerry Papperman, Anne Randle, Dorothy Shaw, and Betty Thomas.

Williams To Play At Soph Cotillion

Hieber Picks Committee; Tickets Cost Two-Fifty for Dance Nov. 28

With the signing of Buddy Williams and his orchestra for the Sophomore Cotillion, arrangements by the class committee are nearing completion. The dance will be held in the Davis Gymnasium on November 28, from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m.

Pi Delta Epsilon Elects President

William Runk '42 was elected president of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honor society of publications, this week. At the meeting, fall issues of The Epiphany, the organization's magazine, were distributed to members, and invitations to the national convention at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, were extended.

Bucknell's chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon now has just five seniors, the number having been diminished by the draft which also took Dan Richardson out of the presidency last year.

Tapping ceremonies will be held soon in chapel, and initiation of new members on the committee.

Pres. Marts Urges Students To Aid In Defense Program

Dr. Aubrey Speaks At Today's Chapel

'Courage in Uncertainty' Is Topic of Theological Prof; Religion Emphasized

The Chapel speaker this morning was Dr. Edwin E. Aubrey, who, since 1929 has been professor of Christian Theology and Ethics at the University of Chicago. His topic, "Courage in Uncertainty," dealt with the importance of religion in combating uncertainty of our times. Included in his talk was the scripture reading, Daniel 3: 7-18.

As a countrywide Civil Defense plan swing into action for a week's observance of National Defense Week, Marts calls on all Bucknellians to do their part in aiding the program.

In a special message that he gave to The Bucknellian last night, Pres. Marts stated, "It is highly important for the students of Bucknell to find out this week what it means to be on the alert and to take part in the programs and activities."

He added that now was the time to evaluate and to make plans to preserve these liberties which we hold dear.

First item on the local Civil Defense Week schedule is the American Legion banquet at 6:30 in the Legion room. Mr. Frank Boyer, superintendent of Union County Schools will deliver an address.

Hand and Glee Club Perform

To celebrate Armistice Day, the Bucknell Hand will march Tuesday morning in the parade leaving the high school and reaching the steps of the Federal Building at Market and 2nd streets at 10:30, where the Glee Club will sing a specially arranged Swedish hymn at ceremonies in which the Rev. Edward L. Junkin of the First Presbyterian Church, Michael Wolfe, commander of American Legion Post No. 182, and Mr. Frank Heller of the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary will deliver brief speeches.

In accordance with a suggestion from Governor Arthur James asking that next week be dedicated as Civilian Defense Week, the American Legion, with the Reverend Junkin as chairman, has organized this local observance. Churches in this locality have been asked to emphasize next Sunday the patriotic significance of Civilian Defense Week and the Armistice Day program.

To Convene on Hill

Speaking Tuesday night in Literature Auditorium at 7:30 will be the three speakers of the morning ritual at the Federal Building. It is in connection with the Union County Council of Defense and the Freedom Front and Bucknell International Bachelors Club, both affiliated with the Freedom Forum, which meets monthly in the Court House, that the speaker program and parade are carried out. The Pennsylvania State Council of Defense, of which Pres. Armand Marts is executive director, has organized this state 522 council of defense, the nationwide total being 2000 or more.

As Governor James declared, the purpose of Civilian Defense Week is to encourage unity through mental and religious tolerance.

This year Dr. Aubrey is president of the University of Chicago settlement and a member of the Committee for Social Research.

Served in World War I

Edwin Aubrey served in the U. S. Ambulance Service from 1917 to 1919, and saw duty in Italy and France. Since then he has made several trips through Europe.

He is the author of "Religion and the Next Generation" and "Present Theological Tendencies" which have appeared in Harper's and "Living the Christian Faith" and "Man's Search for Himself" which was published in 1940.

This year Dr. Aubrey is president of the University of Chicago settlement and a member of the Committee for Social Research.

DR. EDWIN AUBREY

In addition to his duties as a professor, he is also chairman of the Theological field at the university and a member of the American Theological Society, the American Society of Church History, and the Society for Social Research.

S.F.C. ELECTS DEFENSE COUNCIL COMMITTEE

Six Students and Six Faculty Members Will Comprise Defense Group

The Student-Faculty Congress yesterday afternoon elected a committee to choose members to be on the defense council here at Bucknell. This action is a result of the letters sent out by Bucknell University President Armand C. Marts to colleges over the country.

The defense council on our campus will consist of 12 members, six students and six faculty members. The four officers of the Student-Faculty Congress will be representatives on the council, with two other students to be selected.

It was recommended by the Congress that the Budget Committee review the cases of L'Agenda and the Bucknellian who asked that the Congress reconsider their financial budgets for the coming year.

After a report by Dr. Parker on the result of the Frosh-Soph Scrap, the meeting, which was held at the President's house, was adjourned.

Phi Sigma Pledges Thirteen Students

Phi Sigma, honorary biology society, pledged 13 students after a supper at Cowan last Thursday to which all biology students were invited. Walter Freyburger, president of Bucknell's chapter, Alpha Iota, of the state 522 council of defense, presided at the ceremony.

The pledges must finish by April original research projects and will then be initiated into the society. To be eligible for Phi Sigma the prospective members have maintained a B average.

Faculty members present at the supper-initiation were Dr. Rice, Dr. Stewart, Dr. Eyster, Mr. Harold, and Prof. Peitner.

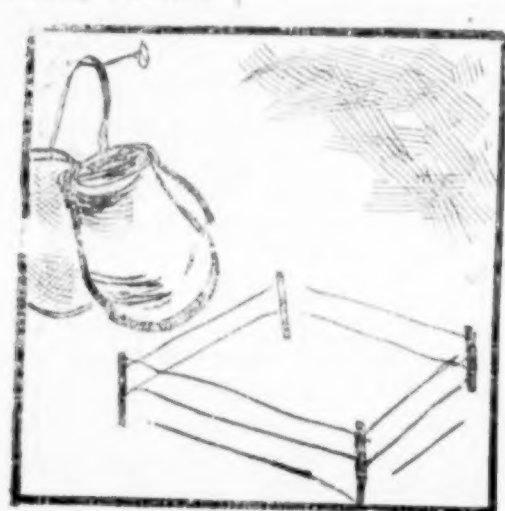

Close Of Rushing Week Sees 94 Women Pledge To Greekdom

CONNIE COLLEGE WEARS . . .

We're convinced there's positively nothing under the sun to give a coat a personality all its own like a lapel pin. Take, for instance, the essence of cheer, etc., etc. Animals of all sorts, available in wood and leather, are one of the season's latest contributions to the lapel pin world.

The general trend of late has been "up", and its "up" for last season's "boxing gloves", elevated from their former status to feminine attire of the lapel pin variety. Also for the sports conscious miss are the clever "goalies" pins, the pride of every hockey devotee.

Greetings from the vegetable world! Vegetables, fruits and winter corsages are now sprouting gaily from the lapel of Miss Coed. Endowed with a personality all their own, they add that certain flavor to the all-purpose winter coat you picked with such care.

Native metal sandals dangling from your lapel are bound to start your winter wardrobe off on the right foot. Coeds always on the look-out for that new and different something will adopt them into the family of tried and true accessories.

Holiday Spirit Rules At A. X. M. Halloween Party

Cornstalks, pumpkins, black cats, and skull and crossbones were evident at the Alpha Chi Mu house last Friday night, when the Halloween supper party got under way. Approximately 40 people were present, participating in the variety of Halloween games and square dances that followed the supper. Together with the autumnal touches, decorations included the decking out of the dining room in club style.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Herold acted as chaperones. Art Ellis '43, A. X. M. social chairman, was in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Leonard Terrone, one of the world's greatest fenceurs three decades ago, is in his thirty-eighth season as coach of the University of Pennsylvania fencing team.

Two Sororities, Three Fraternities Hold Pledge Dances

Pledges from three fraternities and two sororities will be introduced in various pledge dances over this coming weekend.

Alpha Chi Omega will present its pledges in a military dance to be held in Larison living room on Saturday night. The color scheme will be patriotic red, white, and blue. The chaperones will include Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, and Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Sprague.

The Tri Deltas, also presenting their dance on Saturday night, will have a "box" theme, and the setting, and a circus theme. Music will be provided by Art Wendell's orchestra, and the chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Showalter and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher.

Another dance of the weekend will be the S. A. E. pledge dance, to be held on Saturday night. The dance which features a football theme, is in charge of Henry Mansell, social chairman and John Parachini.

Phi Gamma Delta will present their pledges for two nights. On Friday there will be an informal open house. On Saturday they will hold a Masquerade Ball with Al Allen and his orchestra playing. Prof. and Mrs. J. M. Mon, chaperones of the dance, will award prizes for the best men's and women's costumes.

Phi Kappa Psi is also having a two-night party. Friday will be the scene of an open house, while a semi-formal dance marks Saturday's proceedings. The house will be decorated with caricatures of all the Phi Psi pledges. The chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. Gathings, Prof. and Mrs. Biscoe, and Dean and Mrs. Page.

S.C.C. Upperclass Women Give Squaw Party In Hunt Hall For Freshman

The upperclass women of Student Campus Club entertained non-sorority freshmen at a Squaw Party in Hunt Hall grounds last Tuesday evening. Totem poles and Indian designs along the walls carried out the theme of the party. Headbands in a variety of colors were presented as favors, and the invitations were wigwams. An Indian war dance, including singing and games constituted the program for the evening.

Janet Leech was chairman of the party committee, assisted by Jean Bell who handled the invitations, and Mary Jane Gleckner who was responsible for the decorations.

And At The Sem...

Miss Bernice Henry, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Mathias, dean of girls at Lewisburg High will travel to Harrisburg tomorrow to attend the Pennsylvania State Dean's Conference. Miss Henry is now eligible for associate membership. Dr. Shimer is leading one of the discussion groups at the conference.

Mrs. Grace Keck, hostess at the 8th Street House, and her group of freshman girls sponsored an open house for the fathers following the Father's Day game last Saturday afternoon.

The second of a series of freshman open houses was held last night in Larison living room from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock. The freshman men and women counselors have instituted the affair with Janet Bold '43, William Bowen '43, and the freshman class officers in charge. Plans are also being completed for future open houses which are to follow every Wednesday at the same time.

Design For Living Cites College Garb

The college girl and her sweater-skirt ensemble is fast becoming as traditionally American as the cowboy, his boots and saddles. DESIGN FOR LIVING'S C. B. I. (campus bureau of investigation) agents reported today. College women spend 75 percent of their waking hours in a sweater-skirt outfit. Cardigan or slipover, long or short sleeves, "V" or crew necklines, one rule is steadfast—sweaters must be plain.

Querying coeds the country wide, C. B. I. agents discovered that Miss Average College Girl spends $20.33 a year on clothes. Texas beauties, however, have the fattest pocketbooks.

Now that fraternity and sorority rushing is over, Bucknell's social life will begin to assume a more natural course. Of course, pledge dances will highlight events of the next few weeks, as the Greeks really begin their social activities.

Alpha Chi Omega's Jean Smith and Ben Dobbs attended the Penn-Navy game and Junior Prom at the University of Pennsylvania. Betty Doughty attended a dance at Villanova. Penny Wood visited the home of A. K. Bowers of Berwick, Pa., to attend the wedding of a friend. Dotie Heller, Jean Pierce, Carol Gebhardt, Janet Bold, Allegra Willis, Sally Bayles, and Frances Wilsher entertained their parents over Father's Day weekend. Dottie Lee Grounds and Ginny McCabe entertained Dottie's Parents, Dr. and Mrs. Grounds, and Mrs. J. P. Conley of Washington. Marion Shaeffer and Sally Gould were visited by their mothers. Jean Krummel entertained her parents, her brother, and her cousin over the weekend. Jeanne Williams was visited by her parents and her sister, June. A ceremony was held in the suite on Friday afternoon during which the Alpha Chi pledges received their ribbons.

Delta Sigma is planning a bay-ride tomorrow evening, with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Herold as chaperones. Delta Sigs visited by relatives and parents over the Father's Day weekend were: Donald and Calvin Shol, Curtis Clump, William Bowen, Alfred Ashman, Robert Fredrickson, John Mills, William Carson, Robert and George Thomas, Robert Clark, John Hibish, Robert Hitchens, and Robert Ungard. Formal pledging was held last week for Donald Martin and Raymond Smith, both '45. Donnie Clit Hegeman, ex-'43, returned for the weekend.

Phi Beta Phi Dory Green visited in New York over the weekend. Isabella Harris visited her home in Scranton, and Manny McConnell returned to her home in Pittsburgh. June Chapman spent the weekend at her home in New York. The Phi Phi's held a "Smoker" for their dads last Saturday afternoon in the suite. On Friday, a short ribbon ceremony was held for the pledges. Formal pledging took place Tuesday afternoon, after which the actives and new pledges went to the Homestead Inn for the pledge banquet.

Pennsylvania Zeta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon was host to 25 mothers and fathers over the weekend. Jack Bullock '43 and Forrest Clifton '43 visited their homes. Thomas Kinkade '44 returned home to be a member of his sister's bridal party. Private John P. Jones '43 visited the chapter house this past weekend. Ralph Tyson '41 was also a guest at the house. The S. A. E.'s have organized a five man ping pong team and challenge any other fraternity or organization to a match.

Approximately 30 relatives and friends visited Beta Kappa chapter of Phi Mu over the weekend. Formal pledging was held Tuesday evening in the suite. The pledge banquet was held Thursday night at the Orange and Blue Room of the Hotel Lewisburg.

Lambda Chi Alpha held an enjoyable Halloween open house last Friday. Prof. and Mrs. Theis were chaperones. Parents who visited over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Rehkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Sonnichsen, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Finkenager, Mr. and Mrs. Cowell, Mr. Burns, Mr. Alexander, Mr. Jordan, Mr. Halter, Mr. Harty, and Mr. Hott. George Haines '43 spent the weekend at his home in Somerset.

Delta Delta Delta Betty Truelson spent the weekend at her home in Floral Park, N. Y. Lois Johnson went to New York for the weekend. Norene Bond visited in Metuchen, N. J. Marge Hopwood entertained Danny Richardson over the weekend. Tri Deltas who were visited by their parents were Lucy Hoffman, Millie Darlington, Maggie Gill, Mary Louise Tripp, Jane Weber, Doris Lutz, Billie Poling, Mickey McDowell, Ruthie Braden, and Muriel Hansen.

Kappa Delta Rho is holding an open house tomorrow night. K. D. R.'s who entertained their parents over the Father's Day weekend were Jack King '42, Paul Nansen '42, Bill Griffiths '41, Harry Powell '44, Bud Wertman '43, Rick Huff '44, Robert Kohle '44, and Phil Saunders '45.

Alpha Chi Mu attended chapel in a body on October 30th, to hear Reverend Roland O. Hudson '24, one of the fraternity founders. Rev. Hudson and Rev. Albert Sheekels '27, another A. X. M. alumni were entertained at the fraternity house for the duration of the Bucknell Religious Life Conference. Father's Day weekend guests at A. X. M. were Mr. Fraser, Virginia Fraser, and Camille Carlson of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Snyder of Elmira; and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dickinson, and Norma Dickinson of Wilkes-Barre. A. X. M. Dan Mazzarella '42, entertained guests from Brooklyn last Saturday. John Bowser '41, recently visited the fraternity house.

A brief ribbon ceremony was held on the Kappa Delta suite on Friday afternoon for the pledges. On Friday night after dinner, the K. D.'s entertained the new pledges at a cozy held in the suite. Formal pledging took place on Tuesday evening. Most of the chapter entertained their parents over the weekend.

Delta Zeta Hope Weeks ex-'43, visited Arlene Downs '43, over the weekend. Helen Cobough '42, Ebel Jaeger '42, Ruth Bolton '44, LaVerne Fries '43, Doris Bulwinkle '45, Betty Delaney '45, Pat Reynolds, Kay Lauer '43, and Lois Scanlon '42 were visited by their parents. B. J. Walters '45 went to the Army-Notre Dame game. Ruth Lynn '43 visited at the University of Pennsylvania over the weekend. Ruth Maguire '42 visited her parents.

Many fathers and mothers were the guests of Kappa Sigma over Father's Day weekend. Also visiting the house were "Bird" Peters '40, Doug Fish '40, Mary Louise Mayhew '40, and Gordon Black, ex-'40.

Dinner guests at the house on Sunday were the fathers of Buzzie Smeltzer, Bud Lewis, George Jenkins, Les Leneck, Frank Cannon, Bud Crouse, Walt Tice, George Clark, Jack Huse, Bob Baker, Dave Titus, and the mothers of "Giddy" Getman, Buzzie Smeltzer and Bud Lewis. Moose Craner and Bud Emmert, ex-'42, spent the weekend on campus.

In spite of the rainy weather, Phi Psi was host to the following parents: Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Thornell, Miss Wylie, and Mr. Forster Richards; Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Allen; and Mrs. C. C. Brogan; Mr. and Mrs. (Continued on page 3)

Students, Faculty Don Halloween Garb For Party In Sem Thursday

The spirit of Halloween '41 was prevalent in the sem last Thursday eve, when coeds, faculty, waiters and waitresses came forth in their best Halloween bib and tucker for the annual Halloween party. Jean Dyer, chairman of the committee in charge of the affair presented prizes to the groups and individuals who were judged the winners in their respective divisions.

The prize for originality was snapped up by Ann Randle and her freshmen counselors, who ran rampant at the past two years. In gym suits, with their faces bearing synthetic traces of the well groomed, polio germs, complete with cardboard noses, powder patches, and antennae of tobacco.

Honor House, representing the Bucknell football team after the Bucknell-Temple game, won honorable mention in the originality division, together with Donna Perry, Estelle Howley, Louise Terrett, Ginny Thompson, Margie Thompson, and Jeanne Lever, who portrayed respectively the characters in the "Peter Rabbit" story.

Evelyn Gorkaus '45 walked off with the honors for beauty, attired in a pink tulle ballet dancer's costume. The Spirits of Bucknell, three Pi Phi upperclassmen, were chosen as the most humorous, completely encased in skeleton suits, masks, and shower caps.

Jack Gell walked off with the waiters' honors, attired as the coed about to call it a night in hair curlers, house coat and face cream.

Mother Garrison, house mother at Hunt Hall, won in the faculty division. Representing the Old Woman Who Lived in the Shoe, she wore a black costume, and was completely encased in a large cardboard shoe.

KENT STATERS EJECTED

Two Kent State 'Ohio' University men were ejected from their rooming house by an irate housemother one night recently. Unable to contact the dean of men or dean of women, they phoned President K. C. Leeburk of the university as a last resort. They spent the night as guests of the president.

News Of Men In The Service

The Service Council
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Pa.
Dear Friends:

I believe it was just one year ago today that we all registered for this service. Looking back, it seems much longer. First came the registration, then the drawing, and not too long after that classification as 1-D by the local board. From then on there was always the feeling of waiting, and after the deferment was ended, the uncertainty from day to day was so disconcerting that the actual call to report came almost as a relief. Induction day for me was August 12th, but even that day now seems lost in the fading past. Before then I belonged to another world, which soldiers call "the outside"; now I belong to the Army.

There is a lot of fine material in Uncle Sam's Army, and especially (I think) here in the Armored Force. To believe that we have a really powerful army at present, however, is probably about like picking the Army from football team to beat the Minnesota varsity. It will take a lot of training to mould an army out of even the best material, and training takes time. I understand the First Division of the Armored Force made a fine showing in Louisiana.

Our company was out on the range for the first time today, and we fired ten rounds each. On the whole, the scores were amazingly good, and if we get some more practice the results should be most satisfying. Tomorrow we go on the machine gun range, so you can see that we are making up for lost time.

The food and quarters are as good as can be expected, and we are not getting hungry between meals and at night.

It is very good when the going is rough and the weather wet, to know that we are not forgotten by our friends "on the outside".

Sincerely yours,
Pvt. Arthur Slade.

Fort Dix, N. J.

Captain George E. Danker, Post Property Officer, announced today that the quarterly order of cleaning materials for this Post included 135,000 cakes of laundry soap, 13,200 pounds of soap grit, used to clean pots and windows, and 6,000 brooms. Twenty-five thousand cakes of face soap were ordered, which will be used to supply each newly inducted soldier with a free bar.

Camp Davis, N. C.
More than 100 recruits are being required to transport the 394,200 pounds of potatoes used in a month at Camp Davis. The soldiers eat 180,000 pounds of bread in a month, about a third of a loaf per man each day.

Many of the regiments at Camp Davis have formed their own glee clubs, orchestras, and dance bands. Competition is exceedingly keen as these various organizations vie for honors on the local radio stations.

C. A. Holds Second Monthly Meeting

The Bucknell Christian Association will hold its second membership meeting of the year next Sunday at 4 p. m. in Bucknell Hall.

A student-faculty panel discussing "What You Want To Come Out of This War" will be held at the meeting. Officers of the C. A. will also evaluate the business of October, and assignments for the month of November will be given out. Jane Colterhahn '42, president of the Christian Association, will be in charge.

This meeting is in line with the new policy of the Christian Association to hold monthly membership meetings so that more members of the organization may play a bigger part in its operation.

Victorious Sophs

Sophomores Battle Frosh To A Standstill

On a dismal, dingy, rainy morning, neither side using any dirty tactics, last Saturday at 11:30, about 200 freshmen marched down upon a small group of freshmen who were to act as a flanking movement were defending their sacred ground only half way down when the shot pole tradition. In the ensuing minutes the small but courageous band of sophs halted the freshmen striking with full force and so being able to avert the sophomores clear of the pole-bash in the battle. In the tug-of-war, however, the freshmen were victorious. The rope broke in the middle of the fray and they received their victory by the West College clock, which they clanged 45 times, ringing it six more times just to rub in the fact that they were clever and bold enough to reach the bell. The Class of '45 admits in whispered tones that it must pay for the door they bashed in while entering the bell chamber.

Flanking Drive Fails
The contest, if you like to call it that, was a fair and clean one with

Clang Bell 45 Times
To prestage the exuberant spirit of their class and to commend the sophomores beforehand that the odds were against them for victory, a band of frosh rioted around the Men's Quad Friday night, chasing sophomores, crashing into their rooms, and in every way possible, attempting to round up as many of them as they could to kidnap them, thereby keeping their adversaries from fighting in the scrap the next morning. They succeeded in snaring two '44 men, whom they stood in front of the library doors and forced to sing the Alma Mater.

Despite the great spirit of the Class of '45 it is results that count and it was the sophomores who got the results. By winning the pole fight the sophomores force the freshmen to continue to wear their dinks until Thanksgiving. This also meant that the Senior Tribunal would continue to function.

Dr. J. M. Steadman, Jr., professor of English at Emory University, has just an eight o'clock class every morning for 17 years.

Religious Collegians Cost Cornell Money
Collegians are becoming religious-minded to the extent that it is costing Cornell University money.

So well attended are Sunday services and activities of the Cornell United Religious Work program that the board of trustees has approved plans for enlarging of Sage Chapel. The chapel was built in 1874 by Henry W. Sage and later enlarged. Now the trustees have authorized an extension to accommodate an additional 200 persons.

Thespians Discuss 'Accent On Youth'

Dr. Smith Praises Make-Up and Elaborate Properties; Egan's Acting Lauded

Praising the production immensely, the members of the open forum discussion on "Accent on Youth" met on Monday evening in Bucknell Hall and voiced their opinions and criticisms of the Cap and Dagger presentation.

Members of the panel discussion included Dr. C. Willard Smith, Cap and Dagger adviser; Mrs. Lois Kalp, Miss Mildred Martin, Prof. Donald Stillman, Miss Gladys Caldwell, and Mr. Robert Larter, art instructor.

Leaders of the discussion were Dr. Smith and Mrs. Kalp. Admiring the definite accent on youth, "the eternal youth of mental vigor," Mrs. Kalp also lauded the charm, dominant throughout the play, the delicate touches, and the acting in general.

Dr. Smith praised the make-up and the elaborate properties as vast improvements over previous production technicalities. In criticism of the sound and of the program, Dr. Smith declared that the music should have been selected with more care while the details of the programs should have been as finished as the production itself.

George Egan's performance as Steven Gaye was splendid. In the opinion of Prof. Stillman while the portrayal of the roles of Linda, Dickie, and Flugel by Penny Naumann, Robert Posner and Robert Sharrman, respectively, particularly appealed to Miss Martin. Mr. Robert Larter commented that some moments of the performance were "genius theater."

All in all the open forum concluded that the production was indeed a success and a true credit to Cap and Dagger.

Women's Glee Club Features New Chorus

A new feature of the Women's Glee Club this year will be the Sacred Chorus, composed of 30 girls selected from the larger group. This group will take the place of the regular Baptist Church Choir one Sunday every month. It will also present a program of sacred music in churches of surrounding communities.

First appearance will be November 8 in the Baptist Church under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins.

Gridders At Full Strength For Strong Gettysburg Eleven

Herd Scoring Spree Trenches W. Maryland

Glass, Podd, Knupp, and Reichert Cross Goal Line in 26-7 Win

MAGNUS KICKS BOTH EXTRA POINTS

by Willard Rank

Forcing the Green Trenches of Western Maryland into the role of a muddy stodge, the Bucknell Bison ran rampant for two periods of their annual Fathers' Day game to send their dampened duds home happy. In grinding out their fourth victory in six trips to the pickin' post, the Thundering Herd was "out-talented" by the Western Maryland eleven, but still managed to let the final gun 19 points in the van at 26-7.

Early in the first period Co-captain Mel Knupp swept around left end for 14 yards and a first down on the Terror 12, from where he angled the muddy ball to big Ed Glass for a touchdown. Al Magagna, sophomore wingback, widened the margin when he booted the ball through the up-rights and put Bucknell out in front, 7 to 0.

Podd's Punting Features
Chet Podd's fine punting forced the Terror back to their own two-yard stripe late in the opening stanza from where Bricker kicked out only to the 31. On the first play from scrimmage, Podd cut back over left tackle, shook off several tacklers, and scampered the whole distance for another B. U. tally. Magagna once more converted. Score: Bucknell 14, Western Maryland 0.

Two more scoring thrusts in the final period after the Maryland team passed for a tally in the second stanza set up the final totals. The third score resulted from Mel Knupp's 55-yard run down the right sideline after Knupp and Podd put together short gains to move the ball from the 23 to the 45.

Final Score in Final Period
The final Bucknell touchdown was pushed over in the final period when Jim Reichert and Fred Fahringer collaborated in sparking a 50-yard touchdown drive. Reichert contributed a brilliant 21-yard plunge to set up the score; while Fahringer connected with Ed Glass for an 11-yard clutch gain. Reichert scored the final kick pointer by storming over the field.

The two passes completed by Bucknell were both halted by Ed Glass, towering terminal play.

The punting, erratic earlier in the season, has been steady and good in the past games. The Temple defeat seemed not to trouble the team moral any—those commenting on the lack of "ginger" on the club didn't consider the weather.

Bucknell's pass defense was not lax on the tosses of Manny Kaplan. It was just that they were perfect heaves and good catches, too.

Pass Snatcher

Ed Glass, rangy Senior End, who is also known to Bucknell students for his exploits on the basketball court, caught the Bison's first two completed passes last week, one going for a touchdown.

Sigma Alpha Mu Booters Nip SAE 1-0; Kappa Sig Scores 2-1 Over SX In Semi-Finals

by Bob Edmunds

Taking advantage of every opportunity and constantly pressing the foe, the Sammies and Kappa Sigmas fought their way into the intramural soccer finals, which started yesterday. Marv Gerla's successful penalty kick provided the Sammies margin of victory over S. A. E., while Kappa Sigma nipped Sigma Chi 2-1 in the other semi-final battle.

The Sammies came through again to defeat the SAE booters in a nip and tuck fray, 1-0, the former's passing attack proving a little too much for the opposition.

In the opening period both teams played cautiously, trying to force each other out. The Seigel to Borgdahl passing combination kept the SAE's on their guard and led the attack. A powerful penalty boot by Marv Gerla was good for a score, which proved to be the lone and winning scoring kick of the game.

Superb Goal Tending
Neither squad dominated the play in the second quarter, the ball changing hands with each downfield thrust. Both teams stormed the net quite often, but superb goal tending on the part of Morty Silberman and Armstrong thwarted all the scoring efforts.

The SAE club started the second half with lots more life and continuously threatened, but still failed to pass Silberman at the net. Their drive was sparked by Nick Iarocci, who for some unknown reason had been riding the bench throughout the first half. His rough and ready offensive play was quite outstanding.

The Sammies stuck to their guns in the final period and stemmed the hard-fighting SAE attack, which was desperately trying to even the score. As darkness slowly set over the field, 7 to 0.

Two more scoring thrusts in the final period after the Maryland team passed for a tally in the second stanza set up the final totals. The third score resulted from Mel Knupp's 55-yard run down the right sideline after Knupp and Podd put together short gains to move the ball from the 23 to the 45.

Booters Second Win Chalked Up Against Elizabethtown, 4-0

'Bud' Lewis Tallies Twice; Eldridge and Yost Also Dent the Net

SQUAD TRAVELS TO SYRACUSE SATURDAY

A driving rain and a muddy field failed to stop Bucknell's booters last Friday afternoon as the Orange and Blue kickers primed themselves for Saturday's clash with Syracuse in another week Elizabethtown squad 4-0.

Despite the poor playing conditions the booters managed to exhibit their best brand of soccer this season. From the starting whistle the outcome was never in doubt. "Buddy" Lewis started the scoring early as he drove one past the Elizabethtown goalie after three minutes of play.

Bill Hein, outside left, and "Scotty" Whyte, inside right, worked the ball into scoring position with a clear shot at the goal. Throughout the entire first half the action was concentrated in the Elizabethtown half of the field. Shortly before the end of the half Lewis again denied the net as he made good on a penalty shot.

The Bucknell team of '41 is slightly favored to make it victory number 21 for their school.

On Tuesday the team will travel to Lancaster to meet Franklin and Marshall in their sixth game of the year.

The award for the offensive man of the week goes to Walter Wenrick. Though he wasn't one of the scorers of the game Walt was very efficient in his signal-calling and play sequences. This prize was awarded by Bechtel.

Steve Sokol, the Herd's stalwart center won Buser's prize for the outstanding defensive man of the week. Bill Anderson played his final game of hall and was awarded Dean Fage's prize for the player making the most recoveries.

Tom Kierman, sophomore guard, played one of the best games he has shown to date, and was awarded two prizes this week. He received Stover's award for the player showing the most spirit, and Hank Peter's prize for the lineman doing the best blocking.

Ed McGowan, second string quarterback, for the third while that he was in the game proved himself valuable enough to win Hank's offer award for the back doing the best blocking.

Bisons And Bullets Meet For 29th Time

Blue and Orange Teams Hold Big Edge In Series Started in 1893

When Bucknell's grid forces tackle with the Gettysburg Bullets at Memorial Stadium this Saturday afternoon it will mark the 29th meeting of these two ancient rivals in a series dating way back to 1893.

The Bisons hold a tremendous edge over their rivals in the 28 games played to date. The records show the Herd with 20 victories over their foes and only six losses to them. Two of the games ended in deadlocks.

In th last six games played between these two schools, the G-burg boys have won but a single contest, this coming year before when a far-odder-Bison team went down to a 6-0 defeat in a sea of mud. Last year, the Herd was trailing 7-0 going into the final quarter, but Freddy Fahringer led the Humphreys to two tallies and a 20-7 win.

As far as total scores are concerned the B. U. teams are far out ahead having tallied 597 points to their foes' 124. The highest score rolled up in the series came in 1901 when the Bisons won 51-6. The contest before that they were victorious by a 50-0 count.

The Bucknell team of '41 is slightly favored to make it victory number 21 for their school.

Heavy Duty Fullback

Chet Podd, fullback from North Tonawanda High School, N. Y., the same school from whence Coach Al Humphreys came to the Bucknell campus, has this year proven to be one of the most valuable men on the B. U. squad. His particular forte is his long-distance punting and hard-driving line plunges.

Humphreys and Ass' Coaches Have High Praise For Gettysburg Attack

SEVEN SENIORS IN STARTING LINE-UP

by John Bush

The Gettysburg Bullets, seeking to avenge a 20-7 defeat by the Bisons last season and eager to return to the win column after a 17-7 loss—the first in six years—will face the Herd this weekend, train their guns at the Bucknell University grid stronghold Saturday.

Coach Hen Bream's grid crew, which presents a powerful ground outfit and an equally powerful team in the overhead game, is expected to give the Herd an extremely busy afternoon.

Coach Al Humphreys describes the Bullets' overhead attack as the "best of any team which Bucknell faces this year" and every precaution is being taken by the Herd coaching staff to thwart the aerial offensive of the Battlers.

Hope To Better 10 Record
The Bison eleven which has won four and lost two games thus far this season can better the win record of the 1940 Herd grid by downing the Bullets. Last year the Bisons ended their campaign with four wins, two losses and a tie.

Gettysburg, off to a late start this season because of a "polio" quarantine at the college, bowled over Wooster, 48 to 0, in the season inaugural and subdued Western Maryland, defeated last week by the Bisons, 19 to 0. Franklin and Marshall also fell victim to the Bullet bombardment, 22 to 0, two weeks ago.

The Bisons face one of their toughest foes of the 1941 grid in the strong Gettysburg team, according to Coach Humphreys who has scouted the Bullet team. Coach Humphreys saw the Bullets in action at F. and M. and returned with words of praise for Coach Bream's boys.

Bucknell's starting lineup against Gettysburg this weekend will likely find Co-captain Fred Gore and Len Miller, knife-like soph, at the wing posts. Veterans Fred Kern and Charlie Nagel will occupy the tackle bulwarks.

In the middle of the line will be left guard Walter Bennett, right guard Bill Anderson, and center will be handled by Steve Sokol.

Rounding out the Bison backfield will be Walter Wenrick at quarterback, Co-captain Mel Knupp and Freddie Fahringer at halfbacks, and Chet Podd at fullback.

Sherman Good Plunger
Hard-plunging Harold Sherman is the spearhead of the Gettysburg attack, working from the backfield slot so thoroughly outlay the Owls that the Philly school didn't even make a first down until late in the game.

by Morty Silberman

I'M CONVINCED that the Bucknell authorities made a big mistake by choosing last weekend to celebrate "Father's Day". It certainly would have been far more appropriate to have called it "Mudder's Day Week-End."

IT WAS THE same old story as of all other big weekends here, rain, rain, rain, and some more drizzle. I understand that the weathermen are saving themselves a lot of trouble by forecasting these days. They merely consult the Bucknell calendar of events for its special weekends, and with no fears of guessing wrong a forecast of rain is sure to follow. They haven't been let down this year yet.

DESPITE THE really miserable weather, however, last Saturday's game saw the Bisons looking considerably better than they have many times during the year. The field was slippery, but the Herd's blocking was far more effective than I've ever seen it. The pass defense, when compared to what it has been in some games this season, was also very good. It seems as though Al Humphreys' concentrated drill on aerial defenses last week, paid dividends against the Herd's Southern opponents. Best run of the game was Chet Podd's 32-yard broken-field dash, though Knupp's 55-yard touchdown run was the longest of the day. For the few minutes that Big Jim Reichert was in there, he really looked like a great plunger, but with Podd playing the brand of ball that he has been the past few weeks, the big sophomore has a tough job breaking into

FOOTBALL SELECTORS

Ronk Leads Prognosticators with A .695 Average;
Bush Trails Field

All three of the Bucknellian's football prognosticators felt the sting of the numerous upsets of last Saturday's grid contests. Top honors of the week went to Sports Editor Morty Silberman, who came through with seven right choices out of ten.

Will Ronk, who still leads the trio of selectors, went right on six games, while the best that John Bush could do was an even split. The three tiffs that Silberman fumbled were the Army-Notre Dame and Colgate-Holy Cross ties, and the Boston College trouncing of Temple. Silberman was the only one of the three however to pick the Navy win over Penn. Ronk provided the surprise of the week by calling the Holy Cross-Colgate tie. The standings now show Ronk out ahead with a .695 average, Silberman second with .644, and Bush trailing with a .610 mark.

This week to be different, we're going to include the choices of two guest selectors. Listed with the choices of the three regular predictors below are the predictions of Coach Al Humphreys and Assistant Coach Bus Blum. Now we'll see how the men who really know their football will fare against the Bucknellian's trio. We're betting on the two guests.

Iowa Seniors
Must Have Good
English To Graduate

Ames, Iowa—(ACP)—Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State College, has announced a plan under which seniors must show acceptable ability in English before they can be graduated.

The plan requires that the student must do more than merely submit grades obtained in English courses as evidence that his written and spoken use of the language measures up to a fair standard of clearness and accuracy. He must take an examination in English during the first quarter of his senior year.

Students who fail the examination will be given opportunity for remedial work in a writing clinic or in courses in English, and may take a later examination.

Dr. Guy S. Green, head of English and speech here, asserts that employers more and more are emphasizing the importance of good English.

Dr. Elmer K. Bolton '08, Chemical Director of DuPont, and a member of the Bucknell Board of Trustees, will be honored by the Chemical Industries tomorrow night at a dinner in New York at the Chemists Club.

Dr. Bolton is to be given a medal for his distinguished application of the science of chemistry to the use of industry. His work has centered around the study of Nylon. He also initiated research at the DuPont plants into the making of synthetic rubber.

When people of these nationalities became too powerful at the end of the century, the mine owners broke their power by importing Slavs who soon supplanted them.

This background was traced by Dr. LeMon in his thesis. However, he found his most difficult task to lie in finding an objective measurement for the rhythm of the songs, which constantly changes. As nothing has ever been done in this field except one study made by the University of North Carolina, Dr. LeMon's work will prove of great value as a basis for further research along these lines.

Dr. LeMon was on leave of absence from Bucknell last year in order to complete the requirements for his Ph. D. degree, on which he has been working since 1932.

STUDENTS TO VISIT CANADA

Thirty-six students from Macalester College are going to find out, first-hand, how things are done in Canada.

With their president, Charles J. Turck, and two faculty members they will leave about November 15 for Winnipeg, Man., where for four days they will be guests of the United College of Winnipeg.

Open forums with Canadian students will occupy the first two days, and the weekend will be given to social gatherings.

Canadian students expect to come to Macalester for a similar period next year.

Entrance is by stairway directly inside the main entrance of our cafeteria. Two young barbers, both members of the Bucknell family are at your service. They already have a combined service of twenty-five years behind them. In fact one of them had to use a step ladder to reach his first customer. In the case of the second, his parents substituted a barber chair for his first high chair and weaned him on bay Rum and Toilet Water. They are a handsome pair themselves and know all the tonorial secrets that make our Bucknell students so attractive to our fair coeds. Only our modesty and their embarrassment forbid us naming these distinguished artists, but one visit from any patron will convince them that our praise has been scant and somewhat Scotch. 'No Foreign War' College Students Reveal In Poll

100 PERCENT AGAINST A. E. F.

According to a foreign policy poll held by the Yale News and sent out to the editorial boards of the nation's college and prep schools, American students are not in favor of our entering the present war. The editorial board of the Bucknellian was invited to vote in the poll and was one of the 169 that answered.

Thirty-six percent of the boards voted "yes", and 64% voted "no" to the question "Weighing carefully the factors for and against intervention, do you think that the United States should enter the present European war?"

Fifty-two percent in favor of revision of the neutrality law which will permit American merchant ships to enter the war zone, while 48% were against it. Eighty-seven percent felt that such a revision would result in our entering the war.

100% Against A. E. F. Opinion was negative to the question "If the United States enters the war, do you believe that we should send an expeditionary force to Europe." Fifty-six editorial boards felt that we should, while 100 did not want to.

The colleges of the Southwest proved to be most strongly against entering the war and those of the north-central states the most neutral in their opinions. The northeastern college group in which Bucknell is included voted 39% for, and 61% against participation in the war.

Although these statistics are not the result of student polls, but represent the opinions of the college editorial boards, they undoubtedly reflect quite accurately the opinions of the American student bodies.

Two Second Editorials:

What with the heretofore notoriously glib American public swallowing with some considerable difficulty the hand-fed news morsels intended to illustrate the admirable spirit of our Bolshevik brothers-in-purpose, who were until recently referred to as big, bad bullies of the first water; thousands of energetic spooks presenting a ghastly program of warfare (the application of simple addition to figures supplied by European propaganda artists would reveal that there can't possibly be more than a mere handful of free, whole fighting men left on the continent, nor, by tonnage, anything afloat resembling a fleet); and benevolent Uncle Sammel giving the command for full steam ahead in production, but simultaneously dragging over the stern, in plain view, a bucket in the form of hesitancy to cope with labor demands; the contemporary scene is characterized by universal consistent inconsistency.

Great Britain's dynamic Churchill has announced with convincing determination that "the forces of democracy have not yet reached their peak and, subsequently, pointed a meaningful finger of intent at Japan in his proclamation that his nation would join the forces of these United States within the hour should our naval strength be challenged on the Pacific. —And, the Japanese are reported to be "very angry", but have

Sociology Students To Visit New York

Tour Through Police Station and Trip to Stock Market to Highlight Weekend

A police line-up, a tour through headquarters, a visit to the Ghetto, the Stock Exchange, and a settlement house are the highlights of the tour of New York City taken by the Sociology Club this weekend. The members of the club and the students of Sociology 107 will be accompanied by Prof. Parker.

Upon arrival in New York the group expects to have dinner at the Port Arthur Chinese restaurant, located on Mott Street, main thoroughfare of Chinatown, near the Bowery, followed by a walk through Chinatown and a visit to the famous Chinese Temple. Later they will see the Bowery and stop at the Bowery Mission, between Houston and Delancey on the Bowery.

A police line-up and a tour through police headquarters are the first big events planned for Saturday. The remainder of the morning will be spent visiting the Stock Exchange, the Ghetto section, Henry Street Settlement House, which is similar to Hall House in Chicago, and a municipal lodging house for destitute men.

May Go To 'Heaven' After lunch at the Balkan-Armenian Restaurant, there will be a trip through Harlem and a visit to the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porter's Union. Prof. Parker stated that he had planned to take the students to Father Divine's Mission in Harlem, but up to date he had not received word that it would be possible.

Guy Lombardo's broadcast at eight o'clock Saturday evening is next on their program. Mr. Lombardo has been requested to play a Bucknell song in honor of the occasion. After the broadcast they are planning a visit to Radio City Music Hall.

Sunday morning the group will attend services at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and later will hear Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick speak at the Riverside Church. After dinner at the International House they will return to Lewisburg.

not, at the time of this writing, demonstrated their ire.

Another Armistice Day has rolled east—and with it a very chilly, well-meant cooperative program on the Lewisburg Post Office steps—but with several noteworthy deviations from the prescribed routine. The '41 season boasts a predominance of khaki wardrobes among the younger males, the "war to end all wars" theme has been conveniently cached by smart newspapermen, and the marching this year is in earnest.

Of general interest to all those whose humorous disposition is ascertainable, and of particular significance to the residents of our largest and supposedly most progressive American city, should be the recent political name-calling battle enlivened by fiery Fiorello LaGuardia, his bombastic buddies, and his less talented political adversaries.

The U. S. Government has christened (Camp Upton, located at Long Island), and without the usual speech making frills, its first version of the Nazi-popularized concentration camp—potential "campers" are World War II aliens.

Defense mediators Philip Murray, C. I. O. chief, and Thomas Kennedy, U. M. W. A. secretary-treasurer, have caused a little more grease to drip from the transmission of national strength and unity by way of their resignation from the Board.

After this region ceased to be a frozen tundra, the Redskins seem to have taken over, for all sorts of Indian relics and remains are found. Also, the main camp of the Chillicothe tribe was discovered on the

Music Maestro Williams: You Choose It; He'll Play It

Arriving in the midst of Bucknell's gay social season, the annual Sophomore Cotillion is expected to attract hundreds of co-eds and their swains to Davis Gymnasium on Friday evening, November 28.

Committees in charge of the event have selected Buddy Williams to reign as maestro for the Cotillion. Williams' band is enjoying immense popularity in the Philadelphia area and his visit to Bucknell inaugurates a series of bookings for the winter months at other universities.

Featured in the band is Bob Spangler, formerly drummer with Glenn Miller and Jan Savitt, and who has recently left Vincent Lopez to join

FACULTY FIRESIDE PARTY INTRODUCED BY C. A.

Professor and Mrs. Halline Will Entertain 20 Freshmen Students Tuesday

The first of a series of C. A. Faculty Fireside Parties is scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Allan Halline. Janet Leach '44 and William Bowen '43 will be the student hostess and host. Twenty freshmen students will be entertained.

The Christian Association, in order to stimulate a wholesome relationship between students and faculty, is introducing a new plan, which is called the Faculty Fireside. Under this plan, groups of from 15 to 20 freshmen will be entertained at various times between now and Christmas for one evening in faculty homes under the guidance of upperclassmen hosts and hostesses.

Twenty student couples have been selected to act as hosts and hostesses and their duties will be based on close cooperation with the faculty families. More specifically, a boy and girl student will be assigned to each family. They will work with the faculty hosts in planning the entertainment, issuing invitations, purchasing refreshments, and in cleaning up after the party. Expenses for the evening will be borne by the freshman group being entertained. The charge will be ten cents for each guest.

Largest enrollment in the various colleges of the university is found in the A. B. course where 536 students are enrolled. The Commerce and Finance department tallies next with 258, while the engineering is close on its heels with 256. The Biology department numbers 163 of the total enrollment.

Union County Geology Lewisburg Once Submerged By Water

Summehanna between Lewisburg and Sunbury.

"This region offers one of the best locations in the East for the study of rock structure, and there is more to study than I ever dreamed before I came here," remarked the geology professor as he stated that the mountains themselves constitute an interesting subject of study inasmuch as they display evidence of several mountain building periods extending over a number of years.

To Restore Collection Mr. Peltier stated that he is building up a mineral collection in an attempt to replace the one of Dr. Davis which was destroyed when the university museum suffered demolition as a result of the burning of Old Main.

He remarked that he liked to attack the practical side of his courses so that the students obtain a practical application rather than a study of the technicalities of the subject.

In case anyone should have a yearning to know just what kind of fish and animals resided at Bucknell in prehistoric days, he may call on Mr. Peltier of the Geology Department.

GEORGE PETTY TO JUDGE CO-EDS FOR L'AGENDA

Celebrated Cartoonist For 'Esquire' Will Select Six Senior Students

George Petty, celebrated illustrator of cartoons and "Leg Art" in Esquire, will judge the 18 Bucknell co-eds, six of whom are to appear in the 1942 L'Agenda. It was announced by Bud Eisenman, Editor, last night.

Mr. Petty is well known for his "streamlining" of the American Girl, and has drawn a great deal of advertising for nationally known products. His choices will undoubtedly be based on excellence of figure and face, rather than facial beauty alone.

Last year the beauty section of the L'Agenda was entitled Powers Prefers, and the selections were made by John Robert Powers.

In the general staff meeting held Wednesday night in the basement of Roberts Hall, the make-up and procedure for editing this year's L'Agenda was explained.

Varsity Squad Meets Lehigh at Federal Penitentiary Tomorrow Night

Intramural and varsity debating both will have inaugurated the year's schedule by tomorrow night when the varsity debate team meets Lehigh at the Federal Penitentiary. Already having completed their initial debates, 14 fraternities and sororities vied Wednesday afternoon on the question, "Resolved: That the United States Should Send an Expeditionary Force Outside the Western Hemisphere for the Purpose of Combating Axis Forces."

When the two Lehigh debaters, on a tour of the state, encounter their Bison opponents tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, they will defend the affirmative on the argument, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Regulate by Law All Labor Unions in the United States." Cullen Shipman and Sidney Ayfebaum compose the Bucknell team.

Intramural and varsity debating both will have inaugurated the year's schedule by tomorrow night when the varsity debate team meets Lehigh at the Federal Penitentiary. Already having completed their initial debates, 14 fraternities and sororities vied Wednesday afternoon on the question, "Resolved: That the United States Should Send an Expeditionary Force Outside the Western Hemisphere for the Purpose of Combating Axis Forces."

When the two Lehigh debaters, on a tour of the state, encounter their Bison opponents tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, they will defend the affirmative on the argument, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Regulate by Law All Labor Unions in the United States." Cullen Shipman and Sidney Ayfebaum compose the Bucknell team.

'Inter-Faith Cooperation' Is Theme Of Today's Chapel

Representatives of Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish Faiths Urge Unity

Townpeople Meet For Defense Week

Last Meeting of Inter-Faith Program Is Tonight in Literature Building

As part of National Defense Week, students and townpeople will assemble in the Vaughan Literature Building tonight for the final chapter of the Inter-Faith program conducted here today under the sponsorship of the Lewisburg Council of Churches and the Bucknell Christian Association.

Three outstanding speakers will take part in a forum, discussing the topic, "Our Three Faiths in Community Life." After short talks, each speaker will accept questions from the audience and a round-table discussion will follow.

Chapel Speaker Participating President John W. Nason of Swarthmore College will represent the Protestant viewpoint. Dr. Frank McGuire of Harrisburg will speak for the Catholic faith, and Rabbi W. H. Fineshriber of Philadelphia will present the Jewish standpoint in community and worldly affairs.

GEORGE PETTY TO JUDGE CO-EDS FOR L'AGENDA

Celebrated Cartoonist For 'Esquire' Will Select Six Senior Students

George Petty, celebrated illustrator of cartoons and "Leg Art" in Esquire, will judge the 18 Bucknell co-eds, six of whom are to appear in the 1942 L'Agenda. It was announced by Bud Eisenman, Editor, last night.

Mr. Petty is well known for his "streamlining" of the American Girl, and has drawn a great deal of advertising for nationally known products. His choices will undoubtedly be based on excellence of figure and face, rather than facial beauty alone.

Last year the beauty section of the L'Agenda was entitled Powers Prefers, and the selections were made by John Robert Powers.

In the general staff meeting held Wednesday night in the basement of Roberts Hall, the make-up and procedure for editing this year's L'Agenda was explained.

Debating Programs Swing Into Action

Varsity Squad Meets Lehigh at Federal Penitentiary Tomorrow Night

Intramural and varsity debating both will have inaugurated the year's schedule by tomorrow night when the varsity debate team meets Lehigh at the Federal Penitentiary. Campus Anticipates Cotillion First Weekend After Vacation

Greeks To Climax Another Weekend With Pledge Dances

The Greeks on campus will take the lead again this weekend, with four fraternities and two sororities holding their pledge dances Saturday evening.

The Pi Phi's will introduce their pledges at a dance to be held in Tustin Gymnasium from 8:30 to 12:00 o'clock. Among a setting of Pi Phi colors, wine and silver blue, the coeds and their dates will dance to the music of Art Wendel's orchestra. The theme of the dance will represent each pledge as a star. The chairmen will be Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Savain, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Hayden, and Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Musser. Charlotte Griffin '43, is in charge of the committee.

Phi Mu Pledge Dance
The Phi Mu's will hold their pledge dance in Larison living room, with Enice Bell's orchestra supplying the music. The decorations will feature a color scheme of pink and blue. Frances Clark '42 is chairman of the committee for the dance. Chaperoning will be Prof. and Mrs. Harold Stillman and Prof. and Mrs. John S. Gold.

Farmers' Frolic at Kappa Sig
The Kappa Sig will turn their house into a barnyard with the presentation of a "Farmers' Frolic." Pictures of pledges heads topping the bodies of various farmyard animals will decorate the walls. Other sights typical of the farm will include corn-stalks, saddles, and any other rustic touches which may be gathered from the surrounding countryside.

The programs will be in the form of paddles. Ivan Faux and his orchestra will supply the music. Fred Nicol '42 heads the decorations committee, assisted by Joseph and Tom Burke '44, Charles Nagel '42, Frank Strickland '44, and Ted Roselle '44.

Nursery at Lambda Chi's
The Lambda Chi house will be converted into a pink and blue nursery for the annual pledge dance. The Bucknellians will play for the affair. Herb Jordan '43 is the chairman of the committee for the dance, assisted by George Bellman '43. The chairmen will be Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Matson, and Prof. and Mrs. H. A. Weedon.

Denise's "Bewildered Frosh"
"Bewildered Frosh" will be the theme of the Denise pledge dance to be held at the house, with Donlin's Pennsylvania playing. The fraternity colors, black and red, will be carried out in the decorations by the committee consisting of Curtis Clump and Bernard Heiber, both '44. The entertainment is in charge of Charles Bond '42, Dr. and Mrs. George Gregory, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Davis will chaperone.

S. P. E. Baby Party
Ducky Geese will play at the Sigma Phi Epsilon dance to be held at the S. P. E. house. The theme will be a baby party carried out by baby charts on the walls and programs in the form of cardinals and jokers. The chairmen will be Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reish and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Johnson. The committee for the dance includes Lionel Seaman, chairman, Edwin Winkle, John Eshman, Robert Borchers, and William Goshorn.

A.A.U.W. Presents Dr. Mary Harris At Formal Reception

The American Association of University Women held a formal reception Monday evening in Hunt Hall living room from 8 to 10 o'clock, in honor of Dr. Mary Harris, transfer member, who is going to make her home in Lewisburg. Approximately 100 members were present at the reception.

Dr. Harris received with the officers and directors. Dr. Harris spoke about her experiences and Mrs. Carl Schuch of Williamsport sang several selections. Mrs. V. A. McCrossen was chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. George Lawson was in charge of refreshments.

Dr. Harris, a graduate of Bucknell, has received honorary degrees from Bucknell and other universities. For many years Dr. Harris has been connected with women's federal institutions and reformatories. She has written two books, "I Knew Them in Prison" and "Kalidasa—Poet of Nature." Dr. Harris is a Pi Beta Phi and a trustee of Bucknell.

Style Note---

B. U. CO-EDS WILL WEAR the latest in hazing garb as shown above on a freshman who prefers to remain anonymous. Girls of the class of '45 yesterday sent a signed petition to the Deans Office complaining that the outfit "gave them a headache."

Delta Delta Delta To Observe Founding Friday, Nov. 27

On the evening of November 27, Tau chapter will celebrate the National Founder's Day of Delta Delta Delta. The place of celebration has not as yet been designated, but commemoration of the founders of Tri Delta, a speaker, and entertainment by the pledges will be incorporated in the program.

Delta Delta Delta members in all cities over the United States and Canada will join to commemorate the founding of their fraternity at Boston University on Thanksgiving eve, 1888. Founded with definite provisions in its first constitution for international expansion, it was the seventh women's college society established with similar aims.

Delta Delta Delta, one of the original six organizations to form the first National Pan-Hellenic Congress, has grown during the last half century and more until it now numbers 31,000 members, affiliated with 87 active collegiate chapters and 125 alumnae groups in the United States and Canada.

This year's celebration honors, as always, the four founders of Delta Delta Delta, who are Ida Shaw Martin, Eleanor Dorcas Pond, Florence Isabelle Stewart, and Isabel Morgan Bred.

Delta Delta Delta now has an enrollment of 31,000 members.

Freshmen Furnish Fun With Football Dance Saturday In Hunt Rec. Room

The verve and vivacity exhibited at the game with Gettysburg was carried over into the freshman football dance, which was held in Hunt Rec Room after the game Saturday afternoon. Fun for all was furnished via chess, checkers, card games and dancing in the first of an anticipated series.

Bob Shaffer '42, acted as adviser for the get-together, which was sponsored by the C. A. The committee, composed entirely of freshmen, included Anne Novotny, Jean Bush, Muriel Hansen, Lorraine Bank, Don Good, Merle Smith, and Jack Moscoe.

Dr. Harris received with the officers and directors. Dr. Harris spoke about her experiences and Mrs. Carl Schuch of Williamsport sang several selections. Mrs. V. A. McCrossen was chairman of the entertainment committee and Mrs. George Lawson was in charge of refreshments.

Dr. Harris, a graduate of Bucknell, has received honorary degrees from Bucknell and other universities. Dr. Harris is a Pi Beta Phi and a trustee of Bucknell.

by Poley Waide

It hardly seems possible that Thanksgiving vacation is so near at hand. Time certainly has slipped by, for it seems that only a few weeks ago we were greeting our friends after the summer's vacation, and beginning to prepare for another year at Bucknell. Now it is Thanksgiving time, time for vacation, with turkey dinners and all the trimmings. But, let us Bucknellians, in the midst of our fun, remember the true meaning of Thanksgiving, and carefully consider our advantages and gay fun-fests, as compared with the cold of other youth of our world and time.

Delta Zeta Ruth Bolton '44, visited her home over the weekend. Kay Lauer '43, "Hoe Jay" Walters '45, Rita Shinnock '44, and LaVerne Price '43, were visited by their parents. Betty Kohlman '43, entertained Jane Greenawald from Harrisburg over the weekend. The Delta Zeta Pledge Banquet was held in the Lewisburg Inn on Tuesday, November 4th. Formal pledging was held immediately after the banquet.

The highlight of the Phi Gamma Delta social calendar was the masquerade Pledge Dance held on Saturday night. Guests for the occasion were Elizabeth Culbertson, Virginia Dillike, Ann Ladigette, Lyle Long, Marjorie Mattem, Martha Templer, and Virginia Barr. The following alumni came back to enjoy the festivities: Sandy Bolton '37, Richard Braunagan '41, Thomas Toth '41, George McCall, ex-'40, Jack O'Connor '40, Joseph Hooper, ex-'41, James Wood, ex-'42, and Howard Loneragan, ex-'42. The dance was chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Melvin LeMon and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Linder. Prizes were awarded to Miss Maureen Hobbs '42, dressed as a "Little Moron" and Arthur Denney '42, who was attired as an old-fashioned bartender.

Kappa Sigma held an open house last Friday night. Prof. and Mrs. Meyer were the chaperones. Chapter guests over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. John Speer, Mr. and Mrs. Fish, Miss Dorothy Fish, Miss Ann Shaffer, Miss Dorothy Stephenson, Mr. Herbert Ned, Mr. Robert Klinger, and Messrs. Tom Blackwell, Mary Sead, Evan Savage, and Joe Prince.

Phi Mu Valorie Kendall '45, Marilyn Feidler '45, and Betty Baldwin '44, went to Penn State for Houseparty weekend. Eleanor Cresswell visited Ruth Howell '43. Corporal Don Craig '41, of Camp Davis, N. C., visited Eleanor Tully '42. Betty Simmons '44, entertained Bryce Edall of New York over the weekend. Mimi Puschel '43, visited her home in Coopersburg, on Sunday. Martha Murphy '44, was visited by her parents. Ruth White '44, also entertained her parents.

Kappa Delta Rho will serve a Thanksgiving dinner at the Chapter House Sunday noon. Bud Wertman '43, and Hank Huff '44, spent last weekend at their homes in Turberville.

The freshman girls are to be commended for their splendid spirit, shown at the Bucknell-Gettysburg game. Most of the girls carried out the assignments of "Tribunal" in fine fashion. Such an attitude is certainly appreciated by the upperclass-women and shows them that the girls in the Class of '45 have lots of what it takes.

Lambda Chi Alpha held initiation Saturday night and those initiated were George Shaw '44, Al Spangler '44, Clair Thomas '44, Gene Levitt '44, and Jay Wagner '43. Bert Waters visited Louise Ebert at Bryn Mawr, Pa., over the weekend. Al Alexander spent the weekend visiting in Harrisburg. Lerb Jordan entertained his parents over the weekend. Ed Grant and Bob Sawyer were visited by their fathers on Saturday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon's Russell Van Tyle and Wilbur Davis, both '39, spent the weekend at the chapter house. They will enter the Naval Air Force at the end of the month. Donald Weldon entertained his parents over the weekend. The pledges entertained the active members at a party on Open House on Friday, November 14th.

Kappa Delta's Marian Hack '43, Isabella Clark '43, and Alice Leutner '43, spent last weekend at Houseparties at State. Last Friday, Kappa Delta held an open house for the chapter. Helene Donnelly, national inspector, visited the chapter this week. Kappa Delta held a banquet in honor of the new pledges on Tuesday at the Hotel Lewisburg. Jean Acker '44, visited her home in Stroudsburg this weekend. Martha Lloyd '44, visited Mollie Carothers, ex-'42, at Maryland College for Women. Frankie Olsen '44, entertained her parents over the weekend. Florence Fitzcharles '44, visited her home in Washington, N. J. Midge Mellor '42, entertained her parents over the weekend.

Alpha Lambda Delta Initiates Six Women

Jean Boyer, Patricia Dawley, Ottilie Fredericks, Jean Greist, Kay Marshall, and Helen Wachtel, all sophomores, were initiated Tuesday afternoon into Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary women's fraternity. The initiates were eligible on the basis of their attainment of an average of 85 percent for their freshman year.

Louise Terrett, president of the fraternity, was in charge of the ceremony, which was held in the basement of Harris Hall.

Two Bucknell Coeds Announce Marriages; Third Wedding Pending

Following up the recent announcements of the engagements and weddings of Bucknellians, three more former students add their names to the fast growing roster.

Janet Roy, Phi Mu '41, will marry Robert Stone, S. A. E. '41, November 22 at her home in Verona, N. J. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mimi Puschel and Ruth Howell, both '43, will be bridesmaids and Mildred Watts will act as maid of honor. The bride will be garbed in the traditional white satin. The bridesmaids will wear aqua velvet gowns and carry baby chrysanthemums and the maid of honor will be dressed in coral. Raymond Stone, brother of the groom, will be best man.

Mensch-Gunther Nuptials
Miriam Mensch, Delta Zeta, ex-'41, was married October 17 to John Gunther of New York in the Dutch Reformed Church in Bronxville, New York, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. The bride wore a brown suit with green accessories and carried garlands and roses. The groom is a graduate of Columbia University. Mary Sommers of New York was the only attendant of the bride and Nicholas Gunther was best man.

Hughes-Royer Wedding
The marriage of Dorothy Hughes, Phi Phi '41, to Robert Royer '41, took place October 23 at the home of Virginia Cushing in Louville, Colorado. The bride was attired in white, with the only bridesmaid, Tri Delt '41, was the bride's maid. Mr. and Mrs. Royer are living in Kankakee, Illinois, where Mr. Royer is employed by the Dupont Company.

Samuels-Newburgh Engagement
Contrary to the statement made in a recent edition of the Bucknellian, Miss Elaine Newburgh is not married to Mr. Irving Samuels. Miss Newburgh is engaged to Mr. Samuels, and is attending Goucher College, in Maryland.

Annual Band Dance In Tustin Gym Is Closed Affair

The band conducted its annual football dance last night in Tustin Gymnasium from 7:30 to 10:00 o'clock. This is an annual affair, held at the close of the football season. The dance was closed this year, with only band members and their dates present.

Refreshments were served, with music furnished by recordings. The students serving on the committee for the affair were: Eleanor Nicely, Nelle Dean, Louise Terrett, Jane Ireland, Frances Olsen, "Bud" Northrup, Fred Griffin, Pete Tras, and Joe O'Brien. This event marks the close of the band's fall season.

Attractive Lighting To Complement Garb Of Miss Bucknell

'Tis Cotillion time again, and once more Miss Bucknell casts a critical eye over her long-living wardrobe, trying to salvage something from last year's score of gowns that have seen many a Bucknell formal—unless she is one of those lucky coeds, who returned to campus armed with a manful creation of ethereal ruffles, or of sleek sequins. Or—unless she is one of that very large tribe of freshman girls, who can produce a gown, don it the night of the big evening, and have everyone gasping in admiration of her very new formal.

Since the Cotillion is the first really big dance of the social season, formal attire is the general rule for the coed, but Miss Bucknell will undoubtedly give her perfect at home in a lovely gown that boasts a back and sleeves. Everything from frilly femininity to smooth sophistication will put in its appearance.

Attractive Background
And, to show the glamorous lady off to the very best advantage, the Cotillion committee plans to have a back backdrop behind the band, with the words "Sophomore Cotillion" forming a semi-circle at the top of the backdrop. In the center will be placed a caricature of Buddy Williams and his saxophone, with a staff of music and a large "44" rising from its bell.

Fraternity corners, with the usual banners and furniture, will be in evidence at the affair, and Miss Bucknell will be set off particularly well by the flood lights that will be placed at the corners of the band stand, with revolving colored disc shedding their soft glow on the Lady Beautiful.

Delta Phi Alpha Holds Initiation Banquet At Inn Monday; Adds 10 Members
Delta Phi Alpha, honorary German fraternity, held its initiation banquet at the Lewisburg Inn, Monday, November 10 at 6:30 o'clock. Robert Lessack '42, president of the fraternity, was in charge of the initiation. Dr. Ernest Meyer addressed the group on the importance of appreciating the spirit of the German language and people, in addition to the learning of the actual German words while studying German. German songs were sung, accompanied by Bob Lessack on the accordion, and the new members gave short speeches in German. The faculty advisers for the fraternity are Dr. Frantz and Dr. McCrossen.

The new members are Fay Myers, George Burns, Fae Marie Lepley, Louise Terrett, Dorothy Rorer, Sally Zech, Margaret Mastor, Walter Jack Zimmerman, Walter Freyburger, Jr., and Harold Glanzer.

The next meeting of the fraternity will be an informal Christmas meeting on December 15, at the home of Peggy Linaberry.

Copies of the purpose and aims of the Freshman Council of the C. A. were distributed at the meeting. Plans for Freshman activities were announced concerning publicity work, receptions, study of the Hazen books, and a possible trip to visit the Penn State group. Members are urged to participate actively in these subjects.

News Of Men In The Service

Co. C, 40 Tr. Bn., Br. 208
Inf. Replacement Training Center
Camp Croft, South Carolina
October 26, 1941.

Hi Bucknellians,
It sure is swell to be able to sit back in my bunk and read The Bucknellian, especially when Al's boys show their winning ways. I appreciate this service very much. Your letters and addresses are also very much appreciated. They bring back memories of those "300 acres set apart" that will never be forgotten.

I want to inform you that I am receiving The Bucknellian regularly, but not on time. You are addressing my mail to the 51st Battalion which is wrong. I was in the 31st, but I was transferred to the 40th Company "C". This battalion quarters the football squad. We have a football platoon.

As for our football team, it is (potentially) a great team. We have stars from many major colleges, such as Pitt, Fordham, Lafayette, Boston College, Georgetown, Dartmouth, and others. We have played four games so far and have a record of two wins, one defeat, and one tie. Last Friday night we played Presbyterian College on their homecoming. So, I still have that college atmosphere present at times. We are playing Texas Tech on December 6. Yes, it helps bring back memories of my years at "Dear Old B. U."

Since I've been in the army, I've run across a few Bucknellians. They are Al Slade, Harry Doenges, and Don Biddle. Harry and Walt are down here at Croft with me, while Al is at Fort Knox. I met Art at Fort Dix while I was there.

The color white is blowing, so I guess I'd better say thanks a million for your thoughtfulness.

Sincerely yours,
Morris Bessel

Cadet J. A. Dillin '40 reports from Maxwell Field, Alabama:

Our life is so busy that we hardly have time to write a post card. It was a pleasant surprise to find three other Bucknell boys here at Maxwell Field, too. They are John Tyson and Don Baird, both in my class (42-E) as pilots, and John Bachman, who is training here as a navigator. Believe me, here are four avid Bucknellians!

While I'm on the subject, I want to pass on to you the sincere thanks from the boys in the Service for the very thoughtful work the University has been doing for them. I guess that's enough information for a while so I'll say thanks again for everything from the C. A. and Bucknell.

John Espenshade.

Frosh Elect C. A. Council Committee

Elected Monday afternoon at the regular monthly meeting, the following persons are members of the Freshman Executive Committee of the C. A. Council: Barbara Bowers, Edith Griffiths, Barbara Wolfram, Jack Baker, Frank Burns, and Don Shields.

They arranged their class schedules so one could be with the baby at all times, but it happened that each alternate hours so the baby-to-class and class-to-baby run comes every hour from 8 a. m. to 2:40 p. m.

And, as had luck would have it, they found there was no house available near the campus to permit them time for the baby-to-class and class-to-baby sprints.

So they worked it out like this: Mr. Potts goes to his eight o'clock class, leaving Mrs. Potts with the baby. At 8:55 he hurries toward home. On the way he meets his wife, carrying the child in her arms. She hands him the baby and hurries on to school. He takes the little girl home again.

The exchange occurs from father to mother at 10 a. m. and so on throughout the day.

Of course, the baby gets plenty of stirring and when one or the other of her parents is a little late she changes hands with the mother and father almost on the run—(ACP).

Reporter Makes Tour Of New Freshman Women's Dorms; Finds Five Unique Features

by Marie Frothingham
Walker Street House, Sixth Street House, and St. George Street House are Bucknell's three new freshman dormitories for women. (We're hoping the names will be improved upon.) All three are characterized by an abundance of windows, new maple furniture in all of the bedrooms; kitchenettes; and pianos.

Walker Street House has its features too—one being the enormous closet in Alena Willis's and Jean Provantini's room. It's big enough to be a room in itself. A second feature is the abundance of food in the kitchenette. The frosh are lucky that way!

Recently the whole house went to the movies. In the near future they plan to have a hayride with President Marts as their guest. Betsy Dougherty is president of the house.

Each of the girls are inviting two of her professors to a housewarming tea. President Marts and Dean Dyer are to be guests of honor.

Bucknell Chapter to Present Exhibit at National Parley; Eppley Is Chairman

Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, will be the scene of a National Assembly of Student Christian Associations during the coming Christmas period.

This assembly will provide an unequalled opportunity for students from all over the United States to come together and rediscover, in this turmoil of uncertainty, the basic grounds of our Christian unity.

Thought will be centered around two considerations: A faith adequate to live by, and a social analysis which will enable us to put that faith into action.

C. A. Activities to Exhibit
Bucknell's C. A. has the honor of being one of the 12 typical Christian Associations, which are to prepare an exhibit of their activities at the assembly.

A pre-assembly get-together will be held at Cowen this Sunday for these Bucknellians who may be interested in discussing the National Assembly with students from nearby colleges. Marilyn Eppley '43, is chairman of the Bucknell committee for the National Assembly.

NEW RIFLE CLUB ELECTS PROF. MILLER PRESIDENT

Club Consists of Forty-Five Students and Town-Folk; Fee Is Four Dollars

An organizational meeting of the Lewisburg Rifle and Revolver Club was held Thursday evening and plans for the future activities were discussed. Highlight of the meeting was the election of officers when Prof. John B. Miller was named president.

Others chosen to fill offices included: Miss Harriet Lynn '43, vice president; Harry McCulley '43, secretary; Carson Middleworth, treasurer; and H. Michael Wolfe, executive officer.

The club, which is affiliated with the National Rifle Association, is composed of American citizens interested in the activities of the group. At present there are approximately 45 Bucknell students and Lewisburgers, and about 20 junior members enrolled.

It is hoped that a rifle range can be made at the Lewisburg Club building on Market Street. There are no satisfactory ranges in Lewisburg that could be used by the organization at the present time.

Membership rate is $4.00 per year for the senior privileges. Anyone interested in joining the group should contact Prof. Miller.

Political science students at the University of Vermont recently attended town meetings throughout the state to further their studies of government.

Thanks—Giving

Thanksgiving brings up once again the pleasant task of celebrating our oldest purely American holidays. Although it has been claimed that the day and its attendant festivities originated with the Indians, we have come to regard Thanksgiving as a holiday started by the Pilgrim Fathers. Once a religious festival, our present day feasts are primarily devoted to gala family reunions, church-going, and wholesome relaxation.

Despite an increasing amount of commercialization, Thanksgiving will always remain a day in which "We Gather Together to Ask The Lord's Blessing" in the true fashion of that traditional hymn. Perhaps this year we have more cause than ever to ponder over those sentiments, especially when the unpleasant spectre of world affairs is viewed, but whatever the problems that face us, and whatever the trouble we may have, it still stands as a benefit in itself that we have Thanksgiving to celebrate.

This year many Bucknell students are going to find that their family observance of the day falls on the following week, and although this is unfortunate, we shouldn't allow it to change our feelings to any extent. Last year students from New York and other states missed their family holidays, and turn about is only fair, whatever the cause in the mix up of dates. In afterthought we may be thankful that next year the nation has been duly assured by our President that Thanksgiving will be fixed at the accustomed and later date.

So it is the spirit of the holiday to come that the entire staff of "The Bucknellian", from editors to copy-readers, wish their fellow students a very pleasant Thanksgiving. The same sincere wish goes out to faculty and townspeople.

LOMBARDO BROADCAST

If you can spare several minutes from the whirl of Saturday night's social happenings, Guy Lombardo and his musical crew will have a surprise in store for all Bucknellians—particularly the many Bucknell sociology students who will be guests of the popular maestro at the Lombardo Band's broadcast over the Columbia network that evening.

The maestro who blends "The Sweetest Music This Side of Heaven"—has promised to play a Bucknell song in honor of his guests as well as all Bucknell students. Time of the broadcast is 8 o'clock Saturday night and you can catch it on WABC.

THE LUCKY DOG.

A fortnight ago several coeds turned piteously, "No more doggie", but their woe-filled proceedings were signed to joy several days later when the pitted canine had recuperated sufficiently enough to be crowned mascot of the Kappa Delta sorority.

It all started a spell after noon-time one day as the collegians commenced the trek up the hill for the afternoon sessions. A small, homeless canine, venturing across Walker street near the chemistry building was struck by an automobile, and the seemingly lifeless form of an animal was the result.

More than a dozen coeds turned from the scene—all but one, Martha Miller, driver of the car which accidentally bowled over the dog. Excitement reigned all around and it appeared that the canine had passed on. Suddenly, a whimpering sound was detected and Martha immediately whisked the dog off to a local veterinarian. There the announcement was made that hope for survival still remained.

Fortunately, the dog recovered sufficiently after nearly a week under the care of the veterinarian. Then the Kappa Delta sorority, of which Martha Miller is a member, accepted the canine as their mascot and tagged him "Kadie" (K.D.).

Not long ago, "Kadie" was showered with another bit of luck. He started life anew, so it seems, at Beaver Falls with the Miller family. There, Martha explains, he's the household watch-dog, and on the Bucknell campus he's the sorority pet.

RAKIN' THE 'ACRES'

Armistice Day brought many patriotic celebrations to the front hereabouts and hundreds of collegians witnessed the parade in town. In the line of march was the Bucknell Band, and it appeared that only half of the organization thought it necessary to get out of bed the morning of the event.

One of the musical units played "When Johnny Comes Marching Home", and the title was appropriate indeed, for back on that campus that day Johnny Jones, this time in civilian clothes, after serving a hitch with Uncle Sam's khaki-clad lads in Camp Lee, Virginia. Johnny's tales of army life are many but the time he directed a convoy of Army trucks several miles off the planned route, appears to be the crowning achievement which melted only loud words of criticism from his superior officers.

Lest we forget, Bob Lambert, now with the "reception" detail at Camp Dix, was another Armistice Day photographer on the hill. Wherever Bob is located, you can bet there's no lack of entertainment—not with a truckload of recording equipment, phonographs and radios.

It has been rumored that the freshman girls' plans for a complete upset of rules imposed by the sophomores fell by the wayside. When word was passed around that severe penalties (air-raid, etc.) had been devised by the second-year coeds, the newcomers got busy and decided to rebel. Evidently someone spilled cold water on the flame, since the frosh lassies took the "hazing" like good sports.

Interested in collecting old gold? See Hal Brown, Doug and Al Richardson, fourth floor, east college. The trio gathered five gold medals at the intramural track meet recently and exhibited no end of happiness over the achievement.

The portrayal of "Julie" in the love-scene near Hunt Hall yesterday afternoon is credited to Bob Shaw, freshman prospect for Cap and Dagger.

Which reminds us, the tribunal is really on the alert. In a surprise meeting Monday night the organization caught 20 first-year men for violation of the "statutes."

Bill McCloskey plans to settle all of his feuds this year via the fencing game. McCloskey, a Long Islander, is a footballer with ambitions to wear the Orange and Blue colors on the grid turf next season.

Spotted trotting around the "300 acres" near dusk—Herb Heaney and Ken Bayless—just "keeping in condition."

It's time to turn attention to Cap and Dagger's "Lilium". If you recall the experimental plays of recent years, and "Lilium" will be of that type, your love drama will probably remind you that plays of this variety have resulted in top-flight productions by Cap and Dagger. "Rope", "Night Must Fall", and "Idiot's Delight" were all experimental presentations and worthy of special praise by local playgoers. Spencer Roberts is cast in the title role of the forthcoming production and Jim Greening will play opposite him as Julie.

You might ask your next date to bring along her knitting—that is if you are patriotic-minded. Socks and sweaters will soon be needed at home and abroad with winter closing in on us, and coeds can lend a hand at any time. Incidentally, "mock" defense preparations may soon be a part of the campus life, since plans which are expected to be completed here shortly call for a Bucknell Division of the State Council of Defense, with students and faculty members joining in a university unit to provide protection in event of an emergency.

Steve Sokol is interested in those hundreds and hundreds of pennies which college students accumulate each college year. Not from a purely personal point of view, however. Steve would like to organize a fund (like the U. S. O.) and pass on some assistance to our many collegians in camp. Then there's a possibility of directing the coeds to a charitable cause, hospital, etc. It's good to pass along.

ABOUT THAT DANCE

We could hardly permit a party to pass by without a few additional notes on the Sophomore Cotillion. Plans for the event are moving ahead rapidly and the "energetic committee", headed by Bob Heiber, has learned that the dance maestro, Buddy Williams, is certain to provide a surprise for collegians who like good dance music. It's November 28th (Friday night) at Davis Gymnasium. Now's the time to drag that tux out of mothballs since the affair is only a few steps away.

Bucknell Radio Workshop
Lewisburg
Pennsylvania.

Dear-Bucknellians:
Yesterday's "Bucknell Radio Workshop" program was truly excellent. That is not only my personal opinion, but that of our manager and engineers. It was so vastly improved over last year's efforts, from an entertainment as well as a technical standpoint, that we felt constrained to send you our compliments.

The same holds true for your program of November 2nd, in which your board of experts, consisting of Bucknell professors, revealed a fine sense of collective humor, while your questions were well-chosen.

I trust that your future programs will prove equally interesting and should you need any assistance, that you will not hesitate to write or call us. Again—congratulations and good luck!

Cordially yours,

Reg Merrifield '37,

THE VOICE OF THE TRAMPLED

(Among Whom Are The Engineers)

O the crimes that are committed in the name of education!
O the punishment permitted in the college situation!

Tests, exams, and long reports
Put our mind-gears out of sorts;
And every day, a night's assignment
Sets our brains in false alignment.

Seven days and seven nights not an hour is our own—
Every minute must keep on rapping
what we have so nobly sown.
During years of preparation
In the high schools of the nation.

Even in the midst of frolic,
Hearts subside, grow melancholic
With the thought of what we've been thru,
And of all that we must still do.

Hustle-bustle all the day,
Turn the candle all the night—
"Time's too dear to waste in play!"
Say some men of narrow sight.

Days nerve-wracking—nerves near cracking,
Five-hour nights devoid of peace,
Always with the threat of Finals
(super-Sword of Damocles)
Hanging by a spider-thread!

O'er an M. E.'s tortured head!
—by Bill Conger '41.

DR. ETHAN COLTON TO SPEAK SUNDAY NIGHT

Student Church Talk Based on Findings of Travels in Forty-Four Lands

Dr. Ethan Colton, who has been an annual visitor to Europe since 1921 and is a mature observer of the events and trends in 44 countries and colonies, will speak this Sunday evening at Student Church in Hunt Hall living room on "Unusual Problems Which Require Spiritual Solution."

DR. ETHAN COLTON

Dr. Colton has worked on numerous international missions which have brought him into contact with leaders of diverse national, political, and religious faiths. He is known for his fairness and impartiality, and yet for his realistic interpretation of vital issues.

Dr. Colton, whose book "Forty Years With Russians" is well known in literary circles, will remain on the Bucknell campus to lecture on Monday.

Teresa Buxton Edis 'Design For Living' Received M. A. Here

Into the limelight of the modern magazine world has stepped Teresa Louise Buxton, editor of one of the latest additions to the world of fashion magazines, "Design for Living". Miss Buxton received her Master of Arts degree at Bucknell a few years ago under Dr. H. W. Robbins, Dr. L. E. Theiss, and Dr. W. H. Coleman.

Edited by young editors, "Design for Living" is a magazine catering exclusively to the high school and college girls of America, principally those interested in careers in business or in marriage. Through the medium of campus bureaus of investigation in high schools and colleges throughout the nation, it registers Miss America's response to situations on all points of the 1941 feminine frontier. This "Deb" Editor diagnet (Deb Meaning Debonair) Campus Contacts is composed of a staff of school reporters who study trends on their home grounds and report the vital statistics to headquarters, which forecasts the trend of the times for the American manufacturer. Foods, fashions, fads and feminine work fields are the topics featured in the magazine, treated in the language and mood of young America.

Duke University Has Classes In 'Theatre'

A non-credit course in "theater management" is now a part of Duke University's student training. The students gain practical experience at the university motion picture theater on the campus. Their training is supplemented by instruction by non-faculty lecturers. Graduates who formerly worked at the student-operated cinema hold annual "lumni" reunions and are guests of honor at a party given by the theater's current staff.

Lot Near S. A. E.'s Will Be Beautified

Lewisburg Civic Association To Work with S. A. E. in Landscaping

The barren and formerly weedy lot adjacent to the S. A. E. Fraternity House is at last to be beautified. The beautification has been arranged for by the Lewisburg Civic Association in conjunction with the S. A. E. fraternity.

It is hoped that the work will be completed before the winter weather sets in. If not it will probably be postponed until early spring. Some shrubbery, grass, and white birch trees are to be included in the landscaping. A small bridge will span the stream which separates the lot from the house and when completed the plot will resemble a small park.

Previously a false rumor circulated that the land was to be purchased by the college but this was disproved by a statement from Mr. Rank, the treasurer. However, the college has promised to contribute shrubs.

Men And Women Of S. C. C. Meet

The men and women of Student Campus Club held a combined meeting in the Literature Auditorium last Tuesday evening. Les Effington '42 announced that the membership drive will close on November 28. He also introduced Prof. Parker, the new adviser, to the members. Prof. Biscoe made a short speech on the part of the United States in peace for the future.

The club will sponsor its annual informal dance at Tustin Gymnasium on November 28th with Ivan Faux and his orchestra furnishing the music.

Musser To Speak Twice Next Week

Mal Musser, Bucknell's popular basketball coach is scheduled to make two speeches within the next week. On this Thursday, November 20th, the Bison court mentor will give an address at the graduation exercises of Nurses of Lewisburg Hospital. This will take place in the Presbyterian Church at 8:15 p. m.

Then on the following Tuesday, November 25, Mr. Musser will speak at a meeting of the Westmoreland County Football Official's Association to be held at Greensburg.

about 25 percent of the first-year students get 60 percent of the answers right, while 16 percent are denied admission to college English and are required to take a sub-freshman course. "The scores are considerably lower than they were four years ago," he said.
Much of the difficulty, he declared, results from increased high school and college enrolment, with its lack of attention to individual instruction. To help correct the situation, Mr. Gates suggested that high school teachers concentrate on developing ability of their pupils to read well and write clearly, that college teachers pay more attention to individual instruction and that requirements for certifying English teachers be tightened.

Ogden Nash, Humorist, Speaks
Tonight As Guest Lecturer

Former 'New Yorker' Editor
Known For Bizarre Verse, Humorous Books

NASH WRITES WHAT LAYMAN THINKS

"You Can't, Why Don't You Grin?" gives a sample of the spritely verse written by Ogden Nash, who speaks here tonight at the high school under sponsorship of the Lecture Course. His poems are no less fascinating than the odd titles themselves, as will be borne out by tonight's "An Evening with Ogden Nash."

One way to describe Nash's style, according to popular opinion, is to say that he actually writes what the layman thinks but is either incapable of expressing or feels that, if he did write it, it would sound too inane. This is not to mean, however, that Nash's poetry is without sound, philosophical value, albeit it phrased in popular vernacular.

Expect a Surprise

To read his verse without expecting the supposedly impossible would startle the reader as much as a Lincoln Zephyr rolling down the Appian Way would have given Julius Caesar a jolt. There is no prophesying what can be in poems entitled "Lines to be Mumbled at Ovington's," "I Had No Idea It Was So Late," and "Man Bites Dog-Days." Ogden Nash's reputation tells Bucknellians beforehand of a humorous treat.

It was by dint of his amusing poems that Nash became a writer for The New Yorker, later the manager editor, and for the past seven years has relied upon the profits from selling his witty verse for his support.

After chapel Nash complied with autograph seekers and autographed books at Keeler's during noon.

Colorful, unusual, and in part fantastic are the advanced set designs for Liliom, released this week by Anne Randle, set designer for Cap and Dagger's forthcoming production. In discussing the technique used in planning the sets, Miss Randle stated that all require a minimum of scenery, and are entirely based on geometric shapes.

Expressive of the character of the play's hero, Liliom, the sets are brilliant and showy, but real. In the prologue scene, laid in a Budapest amusement park, the designer has suggested the cheap, exciting appeal of the Barker's stand without elaboration and without divergence from realism. In every scene, except that in the heavenly court, this realistic approach is combined with the abstract design to produce unique stage effects.

The courtroom scene, however, is completely fantastic, with a red door for the hellmouth, a blue door for the heavenmouth, and a respondent peering gate. Additional color effects are to be produced by special lighting, arranged by Eugene Nicolait.

Liliom is a designer's holiday, not only for scenery and lights, but for costumes and music as well. Ruth Zimmerman, remembered for her excellent set designs for Accent on Youth, has made original designs for all costumes to be worn by the 23 members of the cast. Most of them are Hungarian peasant costumes and will add much to the stage color.

Director Bob Schramm is contacting Producer Vinton Freedley to obtain rights to the incidental music written by Deems Taylor, which was used in the Liliom revival last year starring Burgess Meredith and Ingrid Bergman.

Picture Deadline
For Seniors, Dec. 5

In a final warning to the Bucknell seniors who have not yet turned in their pictures, the staff of L'Agenda has posted notices that no further appointments with Don Russ will be made after Friday, December 5th.

In addition, the senior activity sheets should also be filled out before this date. If these requirements are not met, L'Agenda cannot promise the inclusion of late pictures in the school annual.

In a meeting of the staff to be held this coming Wednesday night in the L'Agenda office at 7 o'clock, arrangements will be made for full length and facial pictures to be made of the 18 girls who have been selected to send to George Petty for judging for the beauty section.

Dr. Virginia Brown Takes Husband's Post; To Be In English Department

Filling the vacancy left by the death of her husband two months ago, Dr. Virginia Brown has been appointed to the teaching staff of the English Department in Bucknell Junior College at Wilkes-Barre.

Graduated from Wellesley College with the Class of 1924, Dr. Brown followed advanced work at the University of Chicago, where she later received her M. A. degree in English. After two years of teaching at the Ward Belmont Academy at Nashville, she studied at Yale University from 1929 until 1932, year of her marriage to the late Dr. David Brown, and returned to New Haven to take her Ph. D. degree in English in 1934. Topic of her thesis was "The Influence of La Rochefoucauld in England During the Eighteenth Century."

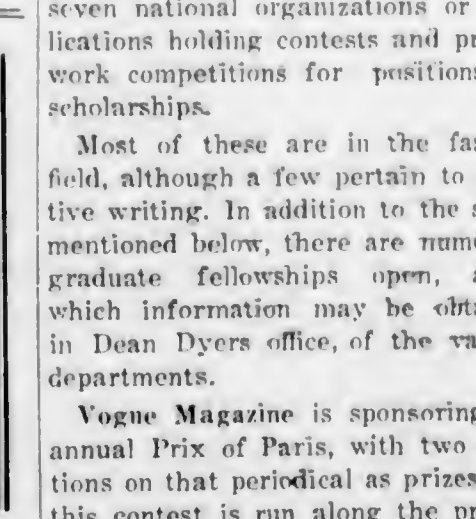

Dr. Virginia Brown will continue her husband's work in the experimental course inaugurated by him which covers the influential writers of past and present. These include Darwin, Carlyle, Ruskin, and others. In connection with this course, Dr. Brown has delivered outstanding lectures on Carlyle and Dickens.

Defense Industries Increase
Demand for College
Graduates Now

Paul Hightower announces that the University Placement Bureau is now functioning for the convenience of all seniors graduating this year, and they are urged to place their names on his list as soon as possible.

Because of the need in defense industries for graduates, the call for college graduates is greater than ever this year, and Mr. Hightower states that firms usually sending out field representatives in January have made appointments nearly one and two months earlier.

Most important item in signing for the services of the Placement Bureau is securing an application photo, and as many seniors forget this, Mr. Hightower emphasizes the fact that each interviewer will want a correct and complete picture, both written and visual, of the prospective employee.

Several Firms Already Here
Representatives from R. C. A., will be here on December 2, and Mr. H. M. Neuman will speak to the engineering students about opportunities in Civil Service in the near future, as will General Electric.

Although to date most of the business representatives have been for engineering industrial firms, positions with other fields will be outlined soon. A series of interviews will be held on Jan. 2, and the date most of the business representatives have been for engineering industrial firms, positions with other fields will be outlined soon.

Flies Expect To Complete
Quota of Hours Aloft
By December 15

All ten students enrolled in the Civilian Pilot Training course have been scheduled to complete their quota of hours aloft by December 15, and the ground schooling of navigation and meteorology in about five weeks.

The cross-country flight will be in the shape of a triangle, from Danville to Williamsport to Wilkes-Barre and back. According to Prof. George Gregory, who instructs the class in meteorology, not one of this Fall's class has had any difficulty with the course. He quotes Red Cole, the senior instructor at the Danville airport, as saying the students are "Men with flyin' stomachs."

Representing Dean Ralph Page, the Bucknell coordinator, Prof. Gregory attended a meeting in New York on November 22, to discuss the relation of the C. P. T. to the present emergency. At the conference it was brought up that from 60 to 70 thousand students have taken the course since its beginning. The conference recommended to the Civil Aeronautics in Washington that the students in college who have private licenses be given opportunity to keep in practice.

Meeting at Professor Stewart's house on November 16, the Bucknell Council of Defense at its initial meeting elected Mr. Forrest Brown as chairman, Fred Schure 42 as co-chairman, and Ruth Braden 42 as secretary.

Fred Schure read a message from the President of the Council of Defense, which is part of a state-wide set-up. The general discussion led to the election of Dean Page and Mr. Dayton L. Rank as a step toward closer cooperation of the University and the defense of Edinburg and Oxford.

In this plan the government would pay for the ten hours of flying required by the C. A. A.

A survey is being made by Dean Page, who is working very hard with the C. P. T. authorities, to find out what the graduates of the course are doing since taking it. Many of them are in the Army and Navy air corps, some have been given good jobs in airplane companies, and some are still in school.

Applications for the spring course are still being accepted and ten students have already expressed a desire to enroll. There will probably be 20 students in the second semester course, the physical exam for which will be held soon. Applications can be gotten from Dean Page in East Wing.

Fierce fighting of a most devastating nature is reported to be taking place in the Libyan desert land. It is rather perplexing, however, to comprehend how it is possible to comprehensively fit together numerous and sundry reports which describe in gory detail everything from ghastly hand-to-hand combat to sand dune slide-and-sink in the armored land cruisers—the only real agreement between correspondents seems to exist in the belief that before long the war will be over. It is only the beginning of the end.

Hi Bucknellians:

At present I am somewhere in South Carolina, where an army against army maneuver is now in action. I haven't the time to say much, but let me convey my appreciation to the Service Council for what you are doing for the men in the service.

Receiving the Bucknellian each week is a big treat and I look forward to it. My regards to all.

Your friend,

Pvt. Joseph Raffa.

An excerpt from a letter written by Ward Gage from Ted Wilkinson, Domic 40, says the following:

The most surprising thing to me about this whole mess is the character of the fellows you come in contact with. Don't let anyone ever tell you that the youth of the United States are going to the dogs. In spite of a few deficiencies, they are a great bunch of guys. Perhaps the most outstanding trait of all is the greatest unselfishness. And I am just beating my gun!

P. S. I receive the Bucknellian every Monday morning and can't wait to open it. My brother's address is as follows:

Dan Wilkinson
Co. D, 88th Inf.
Airborne Batt.
Fort Benning, Ga.

And now a letter from Earle Thomas, Kappa Sig. '42.

November 8, 1941.

Special to the Service Council:

First I would like to thank you and all others responsible for sending us "The Bucknellian." It means a great deal to me and I know it must mean equally as much to the other men in the service. It is swell to know where some of the other fellows are.

I was inducted into the army at Fort Dix on July 30 after having spent a very enjoyable month at Camp Moore, as Craig Waldner may verify. At Dix the only man that I met was Bill Eitel '41. However, it was only two weeks and saw very little of him.

I was then sent to Fort Eustis, Va., where I met Bob George, Frank Nolt, and Frank Sherwood '39. I was placed in the 3rd Battalion, which studies .50 calibre machine gun anti-aircraft. During the course of my training I spent practically all of my spare time with the machine gun. We spent half a day firing .22 rifle before we were set up as targets. I spent all afternoon working on gun crews and firing. It was all very interesting in that, after working on the gun for 10 weeks we were rather interested in knowing how it felt to fire them. The sensation was very mild in comparison with what we expected. If the gunner could hear the noise, his only experience was in sighting and pulling the trigger.

Last Wednesday night I received word that I was going to Camp Davis on Friday, November 7. Well, I did and here I am. After a very uneventful trip I arrived, along with, I'm not supposed to say how many other fellows, at Davis, only to find that sometime during the first week in December we are leaving for San Francisco. As the U. S. O. would have us say my morale was very low at that time. After spending 13 weeks being trained on machine guns, I was placed in a 37 mm. gun battery. Thank to the forethought of my Battalion Commander at Fort Eustis I know what the 37 mm. gun looks like, which is a little more than some of the fellows that I came in with know. I found Fort Eustis rather interesting. I found that if I kept busy enough there were no free moments to stop and think—which is no fun in the army. The life must agree with me because as a result of my activities I've taken off about 24 pounds. I've been in several very poor shows, but the soldiers laugh and that's what it's for, although I fear it wasn't the show they laughed at. One night I was master of ceremonies at a show which 500 soldiers had been forced to attend and it was no fun. I did a little singing, and, as far as sports are concerned, I did a little boxing, played touch football and softball. So you see there are plenty of things to do. We even had a track meet, and running on a drill field in stocking feet is not my idea of a thrill. I don't know what will happen next. Camp Davis is not the most pleasant place in the world, and a lot of the fellows are glad to go west just to leave here. We are in the midst of swamps, sand dunes and only 3 miles from the ocean. The nearest town, Wilmington, is 32 miles away and it is the only town. So just call me Horace Greeley's boy, because I'm only one of many who are going west. Where? You got me. My address is Battery L—95th CA (AA), Camp Davis, N. C. My address after Dec. 1 will be: Battery L—95th CA (AA) Company "C" Post Master San Francisco, Calif.

Thanks again to the Bucknellian. It is a swell treat.

Sincerely,

Earle Thomas.

According to the "Daily Texan" students in the Advertising course at Texas U. complain about not being able to sleep well during class. The publication blames it all on the professor "who asks the north and south sections of the class to swap seats in the middle of the class period when interest is beginning to flag. Students say it's very inconvenient because that's when they're beginning to get settled down in sleep or write a letter home."

Nothing like being frank about those things—but, why not blame it on the heat?

"The Sunquahanna" (Selawick, Pa.) publishes a list of bands which can be heard after midnight and on into the morning hours. Appended is this warning: "Don't lose any sleep in keeping up with this program."

Ho hum!

A definition of Cotillion supplied by the "La Salle Collegian" serves as a pleasant reminder of a Bucknell affair not long past. To quote: "Cotillion—a brisk, lively dance for eight or more persons." We'll aver that the music by Buddy Williams at the B. U. sophomore "cotillion" was brisk and lively (remember the waltzes—and that long-to-be-remembered conga?) and let us forget those smooth turns for the straight dancers. What's more, a grand total of more than 500 (not eight) persons attended.

While Franklin and Marshall men consider the possibility of making the college a co-educational institution, a columnist on the school weekly opines, "We shall continue to shrink from the thought of a campus cutie powdering her nose in Old Main."

And we think we're living in a modern generation.

As though there isn't enough trouble in the world, the editors of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's "The Tech" recently published a letter from a girl attending Simmons College, situated near M. I. T. and Harvard. Quote the letter, "But Simmons girls don't love Harvard men! The statistics show that something like 85 percent of Simmons girls marry Tech men."

Eighty-five percent—sort of in the rut, aren't they?

And from Penn State comes the news that 575 coeds at the Nittany Lion foundation lost their one o'clock date privileges recently. They had skipped a compulsory mass meeting.

Tch, tch!

"The Dickinsonian" columned the following under a caption ten years ago—"Dickinson sent a delegation to the National Dismantlement Conference at Bucknell. Helmut Juel, German exchange student, discussed the land and naval armaments from the point of Germany."

See what they started!

Lehigh students through their publication, "Brown and White," are clamoring for "a course in the problems of marriage and preparation for marriage."

Which only adds proof to our oft-repeated theory that college men and women DO take life seriously.

Immaculate College girls recently heard Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, medievalist educator and author, advise that textbooks should be abolished from the college class rooms. The student organ commented, "The suggestion will solve one vital problem—what to do with books at lunch time."

Exit Dr. Adler.

B. U. Coed Gets Verbal Axe From Wesleyan

Ed note:—In a style obviously copying "The New Yorker" and poorly headlined "Bucknell Co-ed Needs Max Haddy Hints Letter" to "Wes. Prof." the boys at Wesleyan College retailed in print against one of our more exuberant, though naive, Freshman girls, who decided to have a little extra-curricular fun through the mails. The story is re-printed below in all its sophomoric glory. Any member of the football, basketball or boxing team desiring to avenge the honor of our heroine (?) is invited to do so.

WESLEYAN ARGUS—

The male portion of the Bucknell student body appears to be losing interest in their campus coeds, or maybe the abnormal laddies lack a biological stimuli necessary to induce an interest in the collegiate sisters. Frustrated by the lack of attention from the bookish men, the girls have developed a novel extra-curricular activity, designed as an avenue of escape for their pent-up desires. The following self-explanatory letter was unfortunately for the writer, wasted on a member of the Wesleyan faculty, a married man, and one whose only qualification for intercollegiate blind romance is his rental of Downey House Post Office Box No. 12.

Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Penna.
November 14, 1941

Dear Box 12:
I suppose you're wondering who this letter is from. Well! now for the explanation. A few Bucknell coeds have decided to form a get-together club and write to boys at colleges that they are interested in. To tell the honest truth, I really don't know why I'm writing to Wesleyan. It just happened that was the one my finger stopped on, so you're it.

Bucknell is a very pretty college. Our campus is just beautiful and the buildings are awfully pretty, too. I have only one complaint to make—the food is positively terrific at least I think so. There are 1200 kids in the school, which I think is just about right. What course of activities are you in? Do you have much work? I'm just swamped with homework. Last night we sat up till 4:00 studying for a History exam, and after all that, I don't think I got too good a mark.

In case you're curious, I suppose you're not. I'm 5' 6", have green eyes, and brown hair, and medium slender build.

Well! back to the studies. As you can probably guess, I love to write letters—and get them too! So long kid! and don't forget to write.

Bucknell University
Box No. 12
Lewisburg, Pa.

November 21, 1941
Naturally my curiosity is aroused when anyone 5' 6", with green eyes, brown hair and medium slender build, not to mention the beautiful Bucknell campus, is involved. In fact, dear Box 12, it is no more than right that you should know something about me. I am 5' 11", brown eyes and curly brown hair, a slender but slightly plump figure. My courses and activities are not too heavy nor does my homework completely swamp me. Actually I teach a group of 25 clever seniors who were much more interested in your letter than my wife was. In fact they have voted that you should be asked to forward a snapshot of yourself immediately so that with the facts or face before us we may auction off your letter.

So long kid, and don't forget the snapshot.
Box No. 12
Wesleyan

Not to be outdone by the faculty, we too feel the epistolary urge to satiate the yearning which the green-eyed one has for a correspondent. If it's publicity she's seeking, she will be gratified next Saturday to find a copy of tonight's Argus nestled in her Box 12.

November 27, 1941
Dear Box:
Being completely normal males, possessing full strength of mind and hormone, we are deeply interested in your scheme of "On the Make, Through the U. S. Mail." We are just too, too thrilled that your little finger happened to stop on Wesleyan, but you should keep an eye on that digit because it may get you in trouble someday.

Wesleyan is also a "very pretty college". The "beautiful" campus is conveniently situated 130 miles from the nearest night club. The buildings are quaint little brownstone affairs with fifteen chimneys on each roof. We too, have only one complaint to make—we go for months and months and months without seeing any women. Oh Box 12 honey, type of carrier telephone circuit—is now being built into many miles of Long Distance cable lines to increase their capacity.

Engineers at Bell Telephone Laboratories developed this circuit which enables two pairs of wires in parallel cables to carry as many as twelve separate conversations at the same time.

K carrier is one of the ways we have found of adding a lot of long circuits in a hurry to meet defense communication needs. Such problems constantly challenge Bell System men with pioneering minds.

Frosh Coed Choir Gives First Recital

Organization Will Present Three More Recitals During This Year

The first public appearance of the Freshman Women's Glee Club took place yesterday afternoon, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock in a student recital at the Music Building. Accompanied by Nancy Patterson, the group sang three numbers: "Twilight", by Glen, "Sweet, Sweet Lady", by Spross, and "Oasis", from the Algerian Song Cycle also by Spross. The manager, Emily Josif, announced that these girls will present three such recitals during the year as well as the May Festival which will be in combination with the Varsity Women's Glee Club. Officers of the Varsity Women's Glee Club, of which there are 70 members, include Mary Whitely, manager; Frances Rice, assistant manager; Dorothy Sann, publicity manager; Sarah Frey, assistant publicity manager; and Frances Clark, accompanist.

Other musical activities for women include the Sacred Chorus, numbering 30 selected voices. These girls sing once a month at the Sunday morning service of the Baptist Church and are planning to make several trips to nearby towns during the year. The first of these trips was taken Sunday evening, when the Sacred Chorus sang at an evening service in the Reformed Church in Watertown.

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented on December 14th by the Mixed Chorus composed of 250 voices.

Dr. Davis Assures Education Students

Dr. Frank G. Davis, head of the teacher training program at Bucknell, stated recently that, due to the drain on workers from the teaching profession by the defense industries, young persons preparing to teach may look forward with greater assurance to a job upon graduation. Dr. Davis further stated that a recent survey shows that from 40,000 to 50,000 additional rural teachers and 10,000 vocational teachers will be needed in the next year or two.

Benjamin Figs, writing in the New York Times, declared that a recent study by the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through Education shows that "every qualified teacher holding a license will be placed and thousands of others which are ill-prepared will also get teaching posts."

The Commission's report also recommended an immediate increase in teachers' salaries of from 10 to 25 percent, with a nationwide average of 15 percent. In connection with this, Dr. Davis said that unless this recommendation is heeded, the schools and school teachers will experience a slump in efficiency such as has not been known in generations.

Dean Buchanan To Head Seminar

Dean Scott Buchanan, B. A. Ph. D. of St. John's College will conduct a seminar discussion of Sophocles' tragedy "Oedipus Rex" tonight at 7:30 in the Hunt living room.

Dean Buchanan came last year to speak to the faculty on St. John's unique system of education. This session is a follow-up demonstration of the method of teaching. The 129 great books that all of the students of St. John's must read are the chief teachers and the faculty of the college builds its curriculum around them. The 18 Bucknell students who have read Sophocles' "most tragic tragedy" and will conduct the seminar are Alice Zindel '42, Helen Oak '42, Betty Becker '42, Stan Marshall '42, Eugene Nisbitt '42, William Conger '42, Richard Gray '42, Fred Kettenacher '42, Jack Riefler '42, Wm. Waserstrom '44, Helen Cloukey '44, and Daniel Mazzarella '42.

Six sororities and nine fraternities donated the provisions making up the baskets and aided in delivering them.

Dr. Davis Assures Education Students

Dr. Frank G. Davis, head of the teacher training program at Bucknell, stated recently that, due to the drain on workers from the teaching profession by the defense industries, young persons preparing to teach may look forward with greater assurance to a job upon graduation. Dr. Davis further stated that a recent survey shows that from 40,000 to 50,000 additional rural teachers and 10,000 vocational teachers will be needed in the next year or two.

Benjamin Figs, writing in the New York Times, declared that a recent study by the National Commission for the Defense of Democracy through Education shows that "every qualified teacher holding a license will be placed and thousands of others which are ill-prepared will also get teaching posts."

The Commission's report also recommended an immediate increase in teachers' salaries of from 10 to 25 percent, with a nationwide average of 15 percent. In connection with this, Dr. Davis said that unless this recommendation is heeded, the schools and school teachers will experience a slump in efficiency such as has not been known in generations.

Dean Buchanan To Head Seminar

Dean Scott Buchanan, B. A. Ph. D. of St. John's College will conduct a seminar discussion of Sophocles' tragedy "Oedipus Rex" tonight at 7:30 in the Hunt living room.

Dean Buchanan came last year to speak to the faculty on St. John's unique system of education. This session is a follow-up demonstration of the method of teaching. The 129 great books that all of the students of St. John's must read are the chief teachers and the faculty of the college builds its curriculum around them. The 18 Bucknell students who have read Sophocles' "most tragic tragedy" and will conduct the seminar are Alice Zindel '42, Helen Oak '42, Betty Becker '42, Stan Marshall '42, Eugene Nisbitt '42, William Conger '42, Richard Gray '42, Fred Kettenacher '42, Jack Riefler '42, Wm. Waserstrom '44, Helen Cloukey '44, and Daniel Mazzarella '42.

Six sororities and nine fraternities donated the provisions making up the baskets and aided in delivering them.

Organization Will Present Three More Recitals During This Year

The first public appearance of the Freshman Women's Glee Club took place yesterday afternoon, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock in a student recital at the Music Building. Accompanied by Nancy Patterson, the group sang three numbers: "Twilight", by Glen, "Sweet, Sweet Lady", by Spross, and "Oasis", from the Algerian Song Cycle also by Spross. The manager, Emily Josif, announced that these girls will present three such recitals during the year as well as the May Festival which will be in combination with the Varsity Women's Glee Club. Officers of the Varsity Women's Glee Club, of which there are 70 members, include Mary Whitely, manager; Frances Rice, assistant manager; Dorothy Sann, publicity manager; Sarah Frey, assistant publicity manager; and Frances Clark, accompanist.

Other musical activities for women include the Sacred Chorus, numbering 30 selected voices. These girls sing once a month at the Sunday morning service of the Baptist Church and are planning to make several trips to nearby towns during the year. Basketball Team Opens Season This Saturday Night In Game Against Elizabethtown; Also Meet Three Other Foes This Week

Bison Cagers Get An Earful From Coach

Coach Mal Musser gives the Bucknell basketball team a few pointers during a recent practice session held in the Davis Gym. The B. U. hoopers will have its first game of the season against Elizabethtown on Saturday evening. The team has 18 games scheduled with four to be played before Christmas vacation.

Fifty Greek Boxers Start The Leather Flying This Tuesday; Phi Gams Are Defending Champs

by Sy Berger

Stinging jabs, right crosses, sharp uppercuts, and swinging haymakers will be in the vogue Tuesday night, November 9, when the boxing of the Greek pugilists will fly in the 1941 edition of the annual intramural boxing tournament. Fifty combatants in all, keyed to a fine edge in condition and well-grounded in the art of self-defense will be throwing leather when the curtain rises, this being the result of Joe Reno's newly instituted training program.

At the top of the heap will be the defending champions, Phi Gamma Delta, determined to repeat their performance of '40. But they'll be facing some really stiff competition from the Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, the S. A. E., the Phi Psi, and Lambda Chi Alpha. Sigma Chi promises to be the most aggressive in the fight for the honors. Last year, the Phi Psi team took the cup off the Sig mantle when they edged the Sig out by the slim margin of one point. The Sig team, coached by diminutive Frank Garro, will also find tough sledding as the rest of the year.

Following the Sig's disastrous 4-1 defeat at the hands of Temple last year, a sports writer on one of the Philadelphia dailies wrote in his story that he doesn't understand why the Owls play such inferior teams as Bucknell, and he suggested that Temple play the Sig of its own caliber. Well, I, M. champion of the past. The Phi Gams are putting a comparatively new team into the fray. Their only veterans are smooth-working Fred Anderson, who walked off with 127-pound honors last year, and "Chick" Eldridge who was a finalist in the 127-lb. class in 1939. Both "Chick" and Fred are vying for the 135-lb. slot in the Phi ring lineup. Randy

SOPH GIRLS WIN VOLLEYBALL CROWN

Volley ball season came to a close last week when the sophomore girls won the inter-class championship. The team won 57-34 from the freshmen; 75-25 from the juniors, and 54-25 from the seniors. Members of the champion team were Kuster, Zorich, Dorsey, Sortore, Braun, Richards, Lloyd, Maier, Gofine, and Parmelee. The other three varsity teams were Freshmen: Watts, Bulwinkle, Steiner, Stolzner, Bell, Snavely, Reynolds, Darlington. Juniors: Davis, Lawer, Hogue, Dunell, Chubb, Hedder, Honeberger, and Shale. Seniors: Herman, Muller, Fuller, McGowan, Haugh, and Leipsig.

Glass, Fahringer, and Haines Form Nucleus of Good Squad

MUSSER HAS MANY CAPABLE RESERVES

by John Bush

Coach Mal Musser, starting his 11th season as head basketball mentor at Bucknell, will be short on varsity experience when the Bison courtmen commence their 1941-42 campaign on Saturday night in Davis gymnasium against Elizabethtown.

This season the Orange and Blue basketballs will play 18 contests, four of which are scheduled before the Christmas vacation. After Elizabethtown, the Bucknell shooters journey to Susquehanna, then to Penn State, and close the pre-vacation performance with Albright at Reading.

Haines A. Help, blonde-headed junior, will likely form the nucleus of the Bucknell quietest this campaign. Last season George hit the boards late in the season and piled up enough points to outrun his mates and crack the scoring record of 172 markers chalked up by Bob Longaker three years ago.

Fahringer and Ed Glass, emerging from the football wars without blemishes, have lifted Coach Musser's hopes but the affable courtiers will be optimistic. While his task falls to approach the rebuilding program of the nation's defense, the work of organizing a swift and smooth-running quietest has its problems.

Lost by graduation were Albie Baker, Bob Nolan, Ray Armer, and John McElhany, B. U. court dependables. Joe Buzas, rugged all-around athlete, has elected to refrain from the board activities this season.

Many Varsity Candidates Along with Haines, Glass, and Fahringer, Coach Musser will count on these candidates: Bob Snyder and Dave Secunda, returning to help the cause in their senior year; Jack Dedrick, Joe Culbertson, and Morty Silberman, all juniors just getting into the varsity game; Phil Stamm, Lloyd Graham, Bill Schure, Dick McKean, Bob Keegan, and Bill Heim, all sophomores from the ranks of last season's freshman basketball squad.

The records for the year show that victories were chalked up over three opponents: Lafayette, by a 2-0 score; Elizabethtown was on the short end of a 4-0 count; and Franklin and Marshall lost to the B. U. Bison 3-2. Syracuse held the Edwards' net 5-3 in the most exciting contest of the season.

Defeats were inflicted by four teams: Penn State's powerhouse rolled to a 7-1 triumph; Army won 12-0; Duke, 12-0; and Western Maryland both scored victories as mentioned above.

Opposing teams will be the 15 scored a total of 21 goals as compared with the 15 scored in 1940. The team's record for the third straight year.

Attending this clinic, at which the various and defensive basketball techniques will be discussed and demonstrated, will be numerous court cagers representing many of the high schools and colleges of the state.

The Bison court mentor has been placed in complete charge of the program and a number of high school coaches of the vicinity have agreed to cooperate with Mr. Musser in his various demonstrations.

Booters Close Year Bowing To Temple And W. Maryland

Lewis, Snyder, Yost, Heaney, Shafer, and Farquhar Play Last Game

TEAM HAD 3 WINS, 4 LOSSES, 1 TIE

Two defeats were all that the Bison soccer team had to show for their final two games of the year. At Philadelphia and again at Westminster, Md., the Orange and Blue absorbed beatings, Temple administering a 4-0 shutout at the former place and Western Maryland triumphing by a 3-2 count.

In the Temple game, the Bucknell booters were outclassed from the beginning. Temple scored twice in the first five minutes and added a goal in each of the last two quarters. During the game it was noticeable that the Temple center forward and left inside were the sparkplugs for the entire team.

At Western Maryland six seniors donned their soccer uniforms for the last time. Those who finished their collegiate careers were Capt. "Buddy" Lewis, John Yost, Herb Heaney, Bob Snyder, Al Shafer, and Dave Farquhar.

Bud Lewis, blonde-headed junior, who did a splendid job of captaining this year's squad, is probably one of the best center forwards to ever play at Bucknell.

Bud scored 18 goals and set up many more this year. This year's captain ended his playing by scoring his team's final goal of the season.

The three hallmarks of this season will have to be replaced next year as all graduate this year. Bob Snyder was on the soccer squad for three years, playing regularly the last two years. Heaney and Herb Heaney made the varsity last year after playing with the championship Phi Psi team of the year before. Both played smart, aggressive soccer.

Shafer Scored Against State In scoring on Penn State's great aggregation this year Al Shafer took a distinction with him that few, if any, have shared in the past.

Baseball Talk Gets Back In The News So Here's Hilda To Tell You All About It

by Hilda Lubliner

Baseball emerged from its post-World Series stupor with two new major-league managers and the annual major-league convention, in session at the moment.

There have also been a few feeble-breaking trades, none of epic proportions. Gernicki, who was sent back to the minors by parent St. Louis last spring because of the Cardinals' inability to stretch their roster, was sold to Pittsburgh in a straight cash deal. A good pitcher, he will be welcomed with open arms by Frisch, who has been screaming for hurlers of any denomination.

The major-league league set-to in Jacksonville, Fla., should be mostly routine, seasoned by trade talk. A busy time over managerial authority in opposition to team desire, and if Lou can possibly keep his teammates from keeping on Alva Bradley's head, he might make a ball club out of them.

Of course, Bob Feller is 1-A at the moment, and the Indians without Robert would be a headless team. Feller is in place of stowing-down Jimmy Fox, who with Fox mebbe returning to the 'As, would the Yanks want Hank Greenberg in place of St. Louis' Greenberg is due for release from Detroit, rumors have been flying for the majors. Boston would like him in place of stowing-down Jimmy Fox, who with Fox mebbe returning to the 'As, would the Yanks want Hank Greenberg in place of St. Louis' Greenberg is due for release from Detroit, rumors have been flying for the majors.

More gossip than in a beauty shop, and just as problematical.

Desperate Student Pens Ode To Reading Railway

by Chuck Strange

Perhaps there are some who will sing the praise, of the Reading Railway Line, Shamokin Division 74, but their sentiments clash with mine. The Williamsporter's its common name, Bucknell tradition, they say. It carries your check or bill to dox and always saves a day. Advantages granted, my complaint is at 11:17. When I'm busy checking Physics notes and trying to find a mean, Or (dy over dx) for Simple Harmonic Motion or Surface Tension upon a cork tossed in the Indian Ocean.

Some trainman pulls the whistle valve, loosing a fiendish squall just as the engine is vis-a-vis beyond old Roberts Hall. Then shivers dance along my spine; not being a Savonarola, My patience flees and I'm off to the lim to gargle a Pepsi-Cola. Good-bye to scholastic aims so high—you've shattered my concentration Williamsporter.

You've ended a night of my college education. I almost think I'd be reconciled if this alone were my ration. Exchanged for services rendered, viz., our link with civilization.

INSTALL NEW CHAPTER

The installation of Kappa Delta's seventeenth chapter, Beta Theta chapter, was held last weekend at Penn State. All of the members of the National Council were at the college for the occasion. Active members from Bethany College and Bucknell University were present at the installation. Marian Hack '43, and Dorothy Shaw '42, represented Bucknell. Several Phi Tau alumna members witnessed the ceremonies.

Blind Student...

some extra weight Joe obtained new laurels, winning the wrestling title in the 155-pound division at Bucknell Junior College two years ago.

An education for Kulikuskus is being furnished by a special division of the Pennsylvania Department of Education. He likes Bucknell and maintains a devoted interest in his studies. Joe takes pride in his scholastic record and is making every effort here to improve the academic average which he established at the Junior College.

Joe has little trouble in adjusting himself to campus life. Fellow students are lending every available type of assistance in hastening his passage from classroom to classroom, and Joe's only regret is that he does not get an opportunity to meet his "helpers" more often.

Kulikuskus lives in College Inn and has yet to experience the verbal flavor of a "bull session". Some night Joe plans to venture into the men's dormitories to catch a glimpse of this celebrated collegiate forum, of which he has heard a great deal.

For as Joe puts it, "I like Bucknell and while I'm here I don't want to miss a thing."

turally $300 has to come from somewhere, and in this case the slash hits the student publications. Are student budget appropriations to be governed by petition? If so, we would gladly start a campaign each year.

The staff of 'The Bucknellian' has no naive illusions concerning the outcome of this editorial. We simply feel that our appropriation in spite of being reviewed is both unjust, unwarranted and contrary to student interest; feeling thus we want the facts to be known.

15th. President Marts has made arrangements for the appearance on the campus of several officials from Harrisburg, whose talks will sound the keynote of the day.

Mr. Forrest Brown announced that the three flags, American, Christian, and that of Bucknell, which flags President Marts used as the theme for his last commencement address, will be placed in Roberts Hall. Also, Mr. Brown stated that all available defense material will be organized and made accessible to the general student body.

Members of the Defense Council include Professors Discoe, Stewart, Ninkoff, Rice, Mussen, and Mr. Forrest Brown; students in the council are Ruth Braden, George Jenkins, Bernard Heber, Fred Schure, Walter Heide, and Jeanne Haynes.

This was the second meeting called since the establishment of the organization.

NEW YORK TOWN

Having sojourned many times in large American cities, we are more than content to dwell in a so-called hick town. For happiness and contentment comes to us from hidden springs and not external noise and confusion. God made the country and man made the city and like our Radio City we are more happy enjoying the country scenery.

But once a year or so, even before Times Square was a ten story hole in solid rock, the lure of Fifth Avenue, Broadway and the "Shuttle" neighborhood attracted us to the city. Last year's attraction was the World's Fair, this year's alibi was the New York Hotel Show in midtown. But despite Charles Francis Potter is due for another visit. You know my friend Charley heads the Humanist Society of Fifty-Seventh Street, that seeming counterforce of Christianity, distinguished by a lack of faith in freakish haircuts, sideburns, and cute little wax moustaches. But despite Charley's ering theology, he was always a fun roommate and pal, a gentleman of high ideals and a constructive critic that perhaps the Christian Church needed. For when Charley had something to say, he generally knows what he is talking about, and has matched his wit successfully against some of the keenest minds in the United States. Bucknell made no mistakes when she graduated him with highest honors.

The theatrical section from 42nd street uptown made us feel at home right away. Most of the movies was old stuff as usual, which the producers return to the city if it meets the approval of the more intelligent audiences of the rural sections. We also feel at home again because we were a stranger among strangers. A native New Yorker is easily spotted. He is usually going nowhere at breakneck speed and has forgotten the art of the friendly neighbor. The women have an artificial glamour about them something like an old model T with a new coat of enamel. We sometimes imagine that the beauticians almost despair at decorating in our largest city. I am an American, but disclaim any relationship with these unpronounceable names synonymous with crime and New York gangsters.

But if you are ever in doubt about a native New Yorker just ask for some local information. For a native of New York is positively the dumbest creature you will ever meet. We'll give any intelligent visitor a week in the city and will know more about New York than a native will know in a life time. You are fortunate if you even understand some of the dialects down there, and tragic as it may seem, the New York melting pot doesn't seem to function very effectively. It has not overcome the evil influences of European civilizations with merely transplanted them to various sections of the metropolitan boroughs with all their festering sores.

Mayor LaGuardia well expressed our opinion of native New Yorkers when he followed up a communistic parade with a caravan of garbage wagons. It was a fitting climax for the slum-gullian type of civilization and religious rot prevailing in our largest city. I am an American, but disclaim any relationship with these unpronounceable names synonymous with crime and New York gangsters.

Job As Coordinator Of 3rd Corps Area Offered To Marts

Invitation Made By Mayor LaGuardia, Embraces Four States and Wash., D. C.

PHILADELPHIA MAY BE HEADQUARTERS

At the session Monday of the Pennsylvania Defense Council, it was announced that Dr. Arnold C. Marts, Executive Director of the State Council, whose outstanding work in defense activities has attracted national attention and helped Pennsylvania hold its leadership in this field, has been invited by Mayor LaGuardia to take over the coordination of defense matters in the 3rd Corps Area, embracing Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, the District of Columbia, and Pennsylvania.

No decision on this matter was reached today. It was agreed that if it can be arranged that Dr. Marts can do the general supervisory and coordinative work without detriment to his services to Pennsylvania, the State Council would not stand in the way.

It was stated that the Federal authorities had suggested the moving of the defense headquarters of the area to Philadelphia as a means of permitting Dr. Marts to handle both assignments.

Wellons Discusses 'Education In India'

Noted Educator To Address B. U. Students Monday At Lit. Building

Dr. Ralph D. Wellons, former president of Lucknow Christian College in India, will describe the "New Education In India" to Bucknell University students on Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Vaughan Literature Building.

A noted educator and speaker, Dr. Wellons will come to the Bucknell campus at the invitation of the University.

At a special Christmas music program in today's chapel, President Marts for fifteen minutes answered questions voiced from the audience by men students regarding Selective Service and how the war will affect them.

"The most deadly and dangerous members of the Fifth Column in the United States are not the active saboteurs. They are fairly well known, and most of them are under such surveillance that it will be difficult for them to do anything really dangerous. Of course some sabotage will be effected in spite of the strict measures being taken to guard against it, but as far as it is humanly possible the active saboteurs are fairly well under control."

The really dangerous members of the Fifth Column, however, are the unconscious members—those selfish and flabby and excited citizens who are loyal Americans but who are likely to behave like children instead of like men and women in a real crisis. They are spending all of their time in emotions feeling sorry for themselves because their personal plans and their family plans have been abruptly interrupted by the war.

They are thinking in terms of their own selfishness. These men and women who are acting in this childish fashion (Continued on page 8.)

Dr. Wellons joined the faculty of Lucknow College in India in 1916 and became president of the institution in 1929. For a short time prior to his appointment as head of Lucknow, Dr. Wellons served as dean of Tusculum College at Greenville, Tennessee.

He resigned the presidency of Lucknow this year and came to America on a year's furlough.

Reviewer Finds Merit In 'Lilium'

Roberts and Greenig Star; Set and Costumes Brilliant; Small Parts Scored

by Jeanne Rockwell

Last night Bucknell students had the interesting experience of a visit with Mr. Lilium; rogue, liar, thief, and husband of the lovely Julia. For the entire seven scenes, Spencer Roberts convincingly portrayed this questionable character, and though the action dragged a little in several instances, the sets were truly remarkable, the dialogue really good, and the costumes were vividly conceived and executed. Jeanne Greenig played beautifully the most difficult role of her stage career at Bucknell.

Other high points included the well chosen musical effects, the interesting lighting and the fine staging.

Lilium is a story of a man, a madman with traits of goodness, and a confused sense of values. It is the sordid tale of a carnival Barker, his marriage to a "nice" but betrayed peasant servant girl, and his subsequent attempt to lead a better life. When the pressure of finance becomes too great and Julia reveals that she is pregnant (in a very well played scene) Lilium plans to commit a robbery with one of his more unpleasant companions known as Fleur, (Richard Haug). The legend continues with a suicide and Lilium's visit to the Heavenly Police Court.

On the debit side it might be said that this fantasy of Molnar's must have been a difficult one to stage and the occasional halting quality of the play is caused by problems of small part casting rather than any defects in direction.

Molnar Philosophizes

The philosophy of good and evil, the question of God and of love and the sordid life of the lower classes in Budapest seem to be the basic ideas discussed by Molnar. His dissertations on these themes, although obviously worked over by Cap and Dagger, fail to convince in several scenes. However the drama is one of intellectual beauty rather than entertainment, and as such, succeeds in being interesting.

Lilium is a play requiring a full and complete cast of experienced actors, and in this, indeed, the production was superb. Spencer Roberts, Alice Zindel, Sally Dittender, for Jeanne Greenig, James Tallon, and, as usual, George Egan, qualify. It will be a pity if the production tonight's presentation the supporting cast will give a different and better performance.

Defense Mass Meeting In Davis Gym Monday Night; Marts Gives War Talks

OUR PRESIDENT, ARNOLD C. MARTS is shown addressing a mass Monday night in Roberts Hall. Main topics under discussion were the war situation and the railroad transportation problem as it affects us.

President Advises Students on Activities During Wartime Stress

THERE WILL BE NO SPECIAL R. R. FARES

Last Monday night with the air tense amidst the urgent defense preparations throughout the nation caused by the Japanese attack 24 hours before, President Arnold C. Marts spoke here from Harrisburg to call together an emergency meeting of the faculty and various student leaders at 7:00 o'clock in Roberts Hall to clarify rumors about meeting Christmas vacation dates, or inform the university of his work as Executive Director of the State Council of Defense, and to give the students in the Bucknell family sincere fatherly advice on how to act during this shocking arrival of war.

Question up for a solution by the group was whether the vacation would be declared for an earlier date, a question which depended on the possibility of the Army's needing hundreds of railroad cars for troop movements or for bringing soldiers home for Christmas leave. According to the Pennsylvania Railroad, in a letter of December 30 sent to President Marts, 600,000 troops might travel on the PRR system alone in a few days. Dean Rivenburg said that, should these have to be an early vacation, it would start either Wednesday noon, December 17 or at 11 o'clock Thursday, December 18 and end Tuesday noon, January 7.

No Special Fares

It was unanimously agreed that the university, however, abide by whatever orders the U. S. Government hands as concerning use of the railroads. In any event, Dean Rivenburg stated, no specially reduced fares would be available.

When Prof. Gathings asked if the time hereby lost would have to be made up at some other time, Dean Rivenburg replied with hesitation that since this is an emergency situation the faculty would have to treat the lost time as a problem dictated by unusual circumstances and that the faculty would have to review the question at a special meeting before deciding on it definitely.

Explains Slowness

President Marts explained why the university was not able to take action sooner on determining a set date for vacation. Since the issue depended on the Army's need for trains, the university was delayed by a first order cancelling further that was nullified by a second order re-establishing them. Moreover, inasmuch as the Army usually waits for a third order before obeying a command, (Continued on page 8.)

by Rex Wall, Jr.

Two second editorials:

Tucked away in Susquehanna valley, realities of World War II, are indeed difficult to appreciate truly. It is significant, however, to note the intelligent student reaction toward new developments as shown by the following meaningful illustrations: (1) The "fumes" have at long last become second choice in the student morning newspaper scramble—it is the front page, which is now eagerly sought.

The popular collegiate notion that a radio is an ingenious contraption devised solely for the widespread presentation of dance band music, has suffered by a respect for information afforded by international hopscotch.

In brief, the Bucknell population is not just reading and listening, but is, moreover, THINKING.

Pacific Islands Midway, Wake, and Guam according to the most reliable sources available, have undergone Japanese treatment worse than that suffered by Hawaii and the Philippines. Meanwhile, however, defense preparations here in the U. S. have progressed with incredible speed.

San Francisco has experienced its first air raid routine. New York City harbors have been mined by federal authorities, and big town civilians are being publicly instructed in air raid procedure; similar and related education in all branches of home defense is being undertaken throughout the nation.

Retaliation against Japanese onslaught in the Pacific is to be found in U. S. plans for production of 1000 long-range bombers per month.

Uncle Sam's necessity for dipping deep into the reserve pool of selectees will doubtlessly show its effect on the Bucknell campus, with reports at the time of this writing indicating that draft age limits will soon be extended to include those in the 18-45 age bracket. Congress will vote today on a bill permitting the shipping of selectees to anguished of the world.

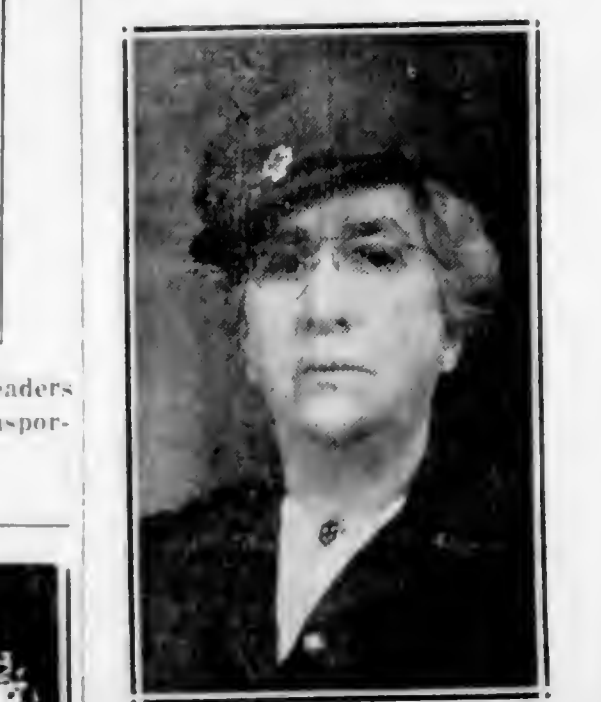

PRIVATE PILOT LICENSES MAY BE REINSTATED

Because of the now belligerent status of this country all students who have been taking the C. P. T. course may now get licenses re-instated by obtaining two letters from responsible people telling the length of the acquaintance and their loyalty to the government. A three by five (Continued on page 8.)

Dr. Warnock, Arthur Espy, and Miss Kennedy Will Address Assembly

FIRE WARDEN WILL EXHIBIT INCENDIARIES

Now that our nation is engaged in war and home defense becomes of paramount importance, Bucknell students and faculty, together with the general public, are invited to hear three important speakers next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, when they will appear before the Bucknell Defense Institute in Davis Gymnasium.

MISS CECIL KENNEDY

the first and biggest of its kind in Pennsylvania.

President Arnold C. Marts will preside at the meeting. Speakers will be Dr. A. R. Warnock, dean of men at Pennsylvania State College and executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State Council of Defense; Arthur W. Espy, fire warden and instructor for the Institute of Public Services for the Department of Public Instruction; and Miss Cecil Kennedy, Pennsylvania representative of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Warnock will deliver an address entitled, "American Unity and the Bill of Rights." Miss Kennedy will explain "First Aid Instruction" and will be followed by a first aid demonstration presented by Malcolm

ARTHUR R. WARNOCK

Musser, Bucknell basketball mentor. "Air Raid Wardens and Fire Wardens" will be discussed by Mr. Espy, who will exhibit incendiary bombs and fire-fighting materials in explaining the work of air raid and fire wardens.

Forrest Brown, chairman of the Bucknell Defense Council, plans to describe the University's defense program and will outline its progress. The 70-piece Bucknell band under the baton of Prof. Charles Stickney will render several selections at the meeting.

LIGHT BULB REFRAIN
Bucknell students are requested to refrain from removing the light bulbs from the Christmas trees on both Quadrangles.

Parties, Teas, Dances Anticipate Yuletide Festivities

by Peter Walde

Social activities seem very trivial in a world so filled with catastrophe, but we all realize that, our generation is facing, and though trouble has been hurled at us, we are determined to make the best of what we have. Our parents faced the situation which we face now; they came through it bravely and so shall we. So, we shall attempt to live as we have been living, thus to keep our spirits high and our souls clearly before us.

Kappa Chapter of Sigma Chi has conferred the ceremonies of initiation upon Chet Podd '43, Al Maganza '44, Jack Huse '44, Fran Zachara '44, John DeHart '44, and Dick Christensen '44. An open house chaptered by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kilgore was held on Friday evening, Bob Steamer and John Warobak represented Bucknell at a debate at Westminster College in New Wilmington. Phil Roy sang in Hollidays, Capt. Bud Lewis, Bob Snyder, Scotty Whyte, Dave Farquhar, Bill Hein, and Ralph Little. Al Maganza, Bob Kleckner, and Dan Waldner visited their homes over the weekend, and Dave Farquhar visited relatives in Washington. A new addition has been made to the Sig house in the person of "Rodner", a Great Dane pup; age, five weeks and weight, eight pounds.

Tri-Delt Lois Johnson spent the weekend at her home in Great Neck, New York. Micky McDowell went to New York over the weekend. Jean Weber visited Jerry Monetti, ex-'43, in Bethlehem. Billie Poling entertained Gerry Golden over the weekend. Anne Bothe entertained her parents. The Tri-Delts went in a group to the movies at the Campus last Saturday afternoon.

Peggy Pi Phi has been rejuvenated by two of the pledges, so that she now has beautiful maroon hair and pretty blue eyes. Lee Robinson and Lynn Sippell are the pledges responsible for the beauty treatment. Jay Harris visited her home to attend the wedding of a friend over the weekend. Peggy Gundy and Marcela Wingert returned to their homes on Sunday. Recently elected officers of the pledge group are as follows: President, Helen Grim; vice president, Lynn Sippell; secretary, Phoebe Follmer; treasurer, Louise Snyder; censor, Nancy Wessling; activities chairman, Marcia Deatty; social chairman, Lee Robinson; historian, Connie Dent. Lynn Sippell entertained Peggy Vreeland of New York City over the past weekend. Edie Painter returned to visit the suite Sunday.

E. Mayer Maloney, national secretary of Kappa Delta Rho, was a chapter guest for several days. Promises of a venison dinner failed when Bud Wertman '43 and Bink Huff '44 returned from a hunting trip holding only the bag.

Delta Sigma pledged Don Shields '45 before the Thanksgiving vacation. Recent alumni returning to the house were Harvard Griffith '40, John Zeller '41, and Dick Kauffman '41. Dinner guests at the house on Sunday were Penny Wood, Harriet Ballentine, Grace Richardson, Jean Bush, and Marion Turner. President Maria was a dinner guest at the house this evening.

Alpha Chi Omega Eleanor Goodrich entertained Jim Shipman '41 this past weekend. Ruth Leonard '40 visited the campus recently. Ed-sign A. K. Howers '40 was the guest of Penny Wood.

The Phi Gam house was visited over the weekend by Dan Richardson, ex-'42, who is stationed at Fort Eustis, Va. Richard Whitman '42 went to New York where he was an usher at the wedding of Warren Baker '41 on Saturday afternoon. The Bucknell Pledge Club, which took Martin Nolan '42, Arthur Denney '42, William Bauerschmidt '43, Paul McConnell '43, and Herman Fritz '43 from the house, was the guest of that school Saturday and Sunday. Among last year's graduating class attending Bill Baker's wedding were Robert Morrison, Vergil Towner, and Ross Jackman. Social highlight at the house was the combination hayride and open-house Friday night. Delta chapter's annual Christmas party for 35 needy children of Lewisburg will be sponsored jointly with the Kappa Delta society on Wednesday, December 17, at the chapter house.

Kappa Sig's Bill Torkington '41 and Jack Camp '43 journeyed to Washington, D. C. over the past weekend. Joe Huser was the guest of George Hain at his home in Marysville. John Becker '36, Song Book Commissioner of the national fraternity, visited the chapter house last Friday night. Oliver Decker, one of the original founders of Alpha Phi, will be the main speaker at the "Frolic" day banquet this Wednesday night. Guests at dinner last Sunday were Rita Harsh, Martin Nickerson, and Ruth Chamberlain.

The highlight of the Phi Psi social season were culminated in a Christmas formal Saturday night. Guests for the occasion were Pat Shepherd, Audrey Young, Hope Weeks, and Mildred Holfrick. Alumni returning for the weekend were Dwight Millman, ex-'42, Lenny Smith, ex-'44, and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Kampman. Chapters included Dean and Mrs. Ralph Page, Prof. and Mrs. G. A. Gathings, Prof. and Mrs. William Johnson, and Prof. and Mrs. Alvin Blisco. On Friday evening the Phi Psi's entertained their dates with a hay-ride followed with refreshments and an open house. Miss Peggy Wright acted as chaperone. Herbert Schubert '43 spent the weekend in New York.

Sigma Alpha Mu Martin Rosengarten, ex-prior of the fraternity, has announced his engagement to Miss Roslyn Goldenberg of New York City. Prof. and Mrs. Lindner and Miss Peg Wright were dinner guests of the Sammie house on Sunday, December 7. The Sammies entertained Joseph Lahmeyer, ex-'42, and Joe Peters, ZBT of Franklin and Marshall, this past weekend.

Delta Zeta pledged Jean Swazy '45 in the suite Friday night. The pledge officers are president, Ruth Smith '44; vice president, Ruth Lynn '43; secretary, Jay Walters '45, and treasurer, Peggy Bachman '43. Kay Lauer '43 was visited by her parents on Sunday. Ruth Maguire '42 visited Anna Ruth Mallek '39 over the weekend. LeVernie Fries '49 was the guest of Betty Evans '42 at her home over the weekend.

S. A. M. Elects Silberman Prior

At its regular active meeting last week, the Sigma Phi chapter of S. A. M. elected its new house officers. Morton Silberman succeeded Martin Rosengarten as prior of the chapter, and Irving Rubin and Harry Tumen were elected to the offices of exchequer and recorder, respectively.

The other newly elected officers were Ben Wasserman, house manager; Robert Siegel, historian; Sanford Finkelshtien, assistant exchequer. Bill Ross replaced Jack Schecter as social chairman. He will be aided by Sy Berger, Sandy Sanger, and Bill Wasserman, who round out the social committee.

Charles A. Duffy, 37-year-old New York City policeman, is enrolled as the exchequer and recorder, respectively.

Lambda Chi, Phi Gam Formals, Delta Zeta Pledge Dance Lead Weekend Activities

The winter formal season is now well on its way, with the Lambda Chi's and the Phi Gam's getting in the swing this Saturday night.

Lambda Chi Alpha will hold its annual formal dinner-dance from 6:30 to 12 o'clock Saturday night. The evening's festivities will begin with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock in the Hotel Lewisburg, followed by a dance at the chapter house.

A Christmas tree, holly, and mistletoe will lead a Yuletide air within the Lambda Chi Alpha house while Santa Claus and his reindeer decorate the roof. The evergreens surrounding the house will be in keeping with the theme.

Ivan Faux and his orchestra will play for the dinner. Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Matsen and Prof. and Mrs. H. A. Weeden will be the chaperones. Herb Jordan '45 is chairman of the social committee, assisted by Henry Parkin '44, George Rehkamp '45, Gene Cowell '44, and Clair Thomas '44.

Wendell's Orchestra at Phi Gam. Phi Gamma Delta will hold its winter formal Saturday night from 8:30 to 12 o'clock at the chapter house. The decorations will feature the

Parties In Hunt, Honor House, Usher In Holiday Spirit

Even though December 25 is still fully two weeks away, the annual round of Christmas parties has started. Dean Dyer is entertaining the seniors from Honor House at dinner tonight, and Hunt Hall's party was held Tuesday night.

The affair at Mrs. Dyer's will take the form of an informal get-together, and the girls will cook their own dinner. Cora Ruser and Gerry Pepperman are in charge of the cooking. Dinner will consist of turkey, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, string beans, and devil's food cake. The table will be decorated in a red and white color scheme.

Party Tuesday in Hunt. Tuesday evening from 9:45 to 11:15 o'clock the girls in Hunt Hall held (Continued on page 3.)

Sophomores To Dance, Play In Rec Room This Saturday

A sophomore Christmas party, under the direction of the sophomore council of the C. A., will be held in Hunt room Saturday afternoon, December 13. Dancing to a vic, together with games, will supply the entertainment. Refreshments will be served.

The sophomore council is composed of Jean Richards, Margaret Meaton, Mary Louise Tripp, Bill Bomer, Louis Haug, and Ed Hoffman. A group consisting of one representative from each social organization on campus completes the committee in charge of the affair.

The charge will be 10 cents for each sophomore attending. This fee may be paid by the students to the representative of the social organization of which they are a member.

This is the first all-sophomore get-together this year. Through such affairs, the Council hopes to keep the sophomores in touch with each other.

Faculty Members Discuss Women's Responsibility In Panel At Frosh Cozy

Prof. F. B. Parker, Prof. M. F. Ninkoff, and Dean Dyer were participants in a panel discussion Sunday night, December 7, at the freshman cozy in Larson living room from 10 to 10:30 o'clock. Jane Colterbaugh and Cort Koser were in charge of the cozy.

A woman's responsibility in the present day was the question under discussion. Problems included in the panel were the marriage problem, ideal relationships between a college man and woman, "going steady", the loss to the women of the Class of '44 responsibility of women for morale.

Delta Zeta's Hold Dance

Delta Zeta will introduce its pledges at the annual pledge dance in Larson living room Saturday evening from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. Silver trees and stars on a blue background will carry out the holiday theme. Eleven angels with the pledges' names on their halos will decorate the walls. The arch will be trimmed with pine branches, and Christmas lights and mistletoe will hang from the ceiling. The programs will be by blue and silver. Bruce Bell and his orchestra will furnish the music for the dance. Professor and Mrs. R. B. Legault and Professor and Mrs. Bruce Miller will act as chaperones. Ruth Maguire '42, social chairman, is in charge of the affair.

Dean Dyer Holds Christmas Tea For Sophomores Friday

The sophomore women will be the guests of Dean Dorothy Dyer at a Christmas tea in Hunt living room from 4 to 6 o'clock, Friday, December 12. Musical entertainment will be presented, and a group of ten freshman girls will serve.

The hostesses in all the girls' houses will be guests, as well as Ruth Braden, Jane Colterbaugh, Jean Dyer, Jean Koebler, Germaine Pepperman, and Jane Shouder, who were counsel. The tea to the women of the Class of '44 last year.

Have you a "College Special" For Your Trip Home at Christmas? Even if you don't have a return portion of a College Special Reduced Fare ticket... you can go home by train on a definite schedule, safely and economically. Fares are low!

HERE'S HOW YOU, TOO, CAN TRAVEL ON "COLLEGE SPECIAL"

REDUCED ROUND TRIP FARES

Students and teachers travel from and to their homes at great savings on these College Special tickets. To make this saving, all you have to do is purchase one from your hometown railroad ticket agent before returning from the Christmas holidays. The cost is amazingly low—liberal return limits fit your school program—you can make stop-overs, too. There are reduced round trip Pullman rates, also. When Spring holidays come you can use the return coupon to travel home again or use it at close of school.

IMPORTANT—It is expected that on account of a heavy volume of Military furlough travel, as well as civilian holiday traffic, passenger travel during the forthcoming Christmas-New Year's holiday period will be extremely heavy this year. If it can possibly be arranged for students to leave school December 17th or before and return to school January 7th or later, it is urged they do so. It will also be found easier to make reservations and more comfortable to travel on or before December 17, 1941, and on or after January 7, 1942.

1865 76th YEAR 1941 The Union National Bank OF LEWISBURG WE WELCOME BUCKNELL ACCOUNTS

To Bucknell men in the Service:

Now that our country is at war it is more important than before that the men in the service maintain contact with each other through this column. We realize that military orders may prevent this contact, but we hope that you will write us as you have heretofore done.

Through a special news release to The Bucknellian from the Public Relations Office of the Southeast Air Corps Training Center, in Montgomery, Ala., we learn that:

Frank Henry Noll of Northumberland, Pa., and Warren Edward Becker of Williamsport, Pa., former Bucknell students, are now aviation cadets in the Southeast Air Corps Training Center.

They entered the replacement center at Maxwell Field, Ala., headquarters of the training center, early in November. They soon will be sent to primary schools in the southeast where they will receive their first flight training under skilled civilian instructors.

Upon the completion of the 30 weeks' flight training course, they will be awarded commissions as second lieutenants in the Army Air Corps.

To supplement this press release we are printing a recent letter sent to the Christian Association from Frank Noll.

Squadron B, barracks 805 No. 5, Cadet Replacement Center, Maxwell Field, Alabama, December 12, 1941.

Dear Friends: You deserve the most hearty thanks for the tasty box of fudge and the enlightening letter which you sent me. We alumni are always glad to hear of our Alma Mater. We are more anxious when we are far away and more or less out of touch with our little world. Such thoughtfulness on your part helps one to tide over those lonely moments that inevitably come to everyone.

William S. McKee, a former Kappa Sigma of the Class of '41, also enjoyed your treat and letter. He would like you to extend your service to him also. His address is as follows:

Cadet William S. McKee, Squadron C, Maxwell Field, Alabama.

We are undergoing a rather intensive training. When you realize that they are attempting to train us in eight months the same as it used to take four years at West Point plus two years of air school to train men, you can readily see why we are busy and also why they are so strict with us.

It is true that we are the pampered babies of the Army as far as equipment, housing, officers, and food are concerned.

We live in long, low, cement, steel, covered barracks. They have a long, screened porch running the full length of the barracks. Our rooms remind you of college. Six men live in a large, well-lighted, well-ventilated, and well-heated room. We have a double-deck bed with a fluorescent lamp for study purposes. We have individual wall and foot lockers. We also have a private shower and wash bowl. We must keep everything neat, orderly, clean, and dust free. Our

Well, I started to thank you and I've written almost a book. I hope you enjoy reading it. Bye now. One of your army boys, Frank H. Noll

Once again we hear from Duke Bilger, Phi Psi, telling us of his change of address.

Service Council: Just a hurried line...I'm leaving today for a new field in South Carolina, and there's so much to do in so little a time.

The Thanksgiving candy was delicious, and all the officers on Sunday have won the largest number of times to date. We had three generals to review this evening. We always have a large crowd of spectators for this colorful ceremony.

Well, I started to thank you and I've written almost a book. I hope you enjoy reading it. Bye now. One of your army boys, Frank H. Noll IMPORTANT: MEN! All male students who reached the age of 21 on or before July 1, 1941 should call at Dean Page's office to fill out a form concerning selective service status for the government as soon as possible.

Engineers Form Cooperating Group

Group To Use Plans, Ideas of Student Chapters of National Societies

Formed to make the most effective utilization of the activities and ideas of the four student chapters of the major engineering societies represented on the campus for the general interests of their members, the newly formed Central Co-ordinating Committee of Bucknell University Engineers met Tuesday afternoon to discuss the various purposes for which it had been formed.

This committee, consisting of two student representatives and a faculty adviser from each of the four student engineering societies, was recommended by the A. I. E. E. so that the student body and faculty could be better informed of the activities of the engineers on so that the engineers could make better use of their resources in obtaining speakers and conducting events that would be of interest to all four groups represented.

Representing their respective student chapters are the following: Prof. C. S. Keell, D. J. Secunda, and J. C. Caldwell, A. I. E. E.; Prof. D. M. Griffith, Wm. McGuire, J. W. Diefenderfer, A. S. C. E.; Prof. J. B. Miller, G. W. Atkins, and J. E. Lewis, A. I. E. E.; and Prof. W. D. Gorman, I. W. E. Elected as officers of the group were D. J. Secunda, chairman, and J. W. Diefenderfer, secretary.

Chief in the items of interest discussed by the group was the procurement of capable speakers in the field of engineering who would be of the profession and perhaps to the student body. It is hoped that several such speakers may be obtained, possibly in conjunction with chapel programs, after which they could speak to the engineering groups alone.

The committee also hopes to be able to handle the matter of having every Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock at the President's House, a special Christmas service will be held next Sunday morning.

DR. OLIVER TO PUBLISH TEXTBOOK ON SPEECH

Two Years of B. U. Teaching Supplies Material for 'Persuasive Speech'

From material gathered during the last two years of teaching at Bucknell, Dr. Oliver has prepared a new textbook, Persuasive Speech, which will be ready for publication in March. In it he will analyze human motivation and its application to speech. Sidney Applebaum '42 is responsible for many of the charts and graphs which will appear in the book. Dr. Oliver is planning to use the new textbook the second semester in English 236. His previous book, Effective Speech, which was published in 1939, is in use throughout the country, and at Bucknell is being used in English courses 181 and 182.

More books have been published by members of the Bucknell faculty than by the faculty of any other college in this size. Professors Harriman, Robinson, Coleman, Halline, Gregory, H. W. Griffith, Smith, Richardson, Nimkoff, Davis Karkner, Dean Riverberg, Oliphant, Eyster, Theis, and Gathings are among those whose books are on the market.

Worship Will Be Held Tuesday A.M.

A short worship period will be held every Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock at the President's House, which will be a special hour of relaxation for the students to meditate over the problems confronting him. Charles Bond '42 and Marian Weinberger '42 are in charge of the service. Various students will direct the separate services.

A special Christmas service will be held next Sunday morning.

Varsity Glee Club Enlarges Program

The program of the Varsity Glee Club will be very extensive this year. Besides practicing for their annual tour, they are planning to give several concerts in the near future, and have added many new numbers to their repertoire. Bud Vanderbilt, the manager of the Glee Club, announced that they will sing at Chapel this week, and this Friday will give a concert at the Federal Penitentiary. Up to date four concerts have been completed. The first of these was given at the Educational Conference at the Lewisburg High School, the others at Father's Day, Armistice Day, and the Milton High School.

Club Larger This Year

The Glee Club is larger this year than in previous years, containing 84 members. Several selections from the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries will be included in the concerts, plus such songs as "Love Marie" and "The Campbells Are Coming". The trip this season has been scheduled for the first week in February. The Club plans to visit Philadelphia, New Jersey, and New York.

War Is Here

Most of us never thought the day would come so soon; most of us thought of it as a remote event and now all of us are faced directly with the fact that our country is at war. Reality, a spectre alien to college life, is now staring us in the face.

Already some of our men have been called and there are many who, although they dislike intensely the thought of killing, want to enlist because of the sudden turn of events. Luckily we are not in the same position as we were in the days preceding the last World War, for at least the issues are blindingly clear today, and we have been on the defensive for the last two years. We must condition ourselves to air raids and invasion. We must avoid confusion of thought and action and turn all our energies towards constructive work and planning.

In 1776 our embryonic nation faced military odds that were completely overwhelming; in addition, the country was divided within itself. Today there is no question in our minds as we prepare to fight for the cause of a free and democratic America. True, in the next few weeks events may be confused and upsetting, but out of this will come a more unified, more determined people. Our goal is "to win the war and win the peace."

Speaking as a woman (though it is unethical journalisticly) I must admit that an editorial on war written to the men of Bucknell and their part in it is likely to be regarded as hypocritical. Therefore, what can be said is to urge the student body as a whole to think sanely, to be determined that we will win, and to work with all our hearts in our present appointed tasks. Rash voluntary, individual efforts have no place in the defense scheme. As President Marts has said, there will be a place for everyone, and in the meantime let us vigorously strengthen our moral outlook by being calm, by looking forward to victory, and by trusting in God.

Sem Holds Xmas Dinner Tuesday

Since, due to the present national emergency, the Christmas vacation may begin earlier than was previously planned, the annual Christmas dinner for students and faculty will be held Tuesday night at 6 o'clock in the sem dining room. The dinner is under the auspices of the W. S. G. A.

The dining room decorations will carry out the Christmas theme. A lighted Christmas tree will be in evidence. Blue drapes with "Merry Christmas" in large letters, and reproductions of two chiming bells, will decorate the wall opposite the door. Girls from both the House of Representatives and the Senate comprise each of the various committees. Else Larsen and Jean Richards are co-chairmen of the committee for favors. Jean Dyer is in charge of the invitation. Ruth Ryder is responsible for the decorations, and Marilyn Epley is handling the programs.

The annual dinner for the sem waiters and waitresses will take place Monday, December 15, in the sem dining room at 6 o'clock. As is the custom, gifts will be given to the waiters and waitresses in appreciation of their services for the year.

County Launches Tuberculosis Drive

To prevent tuberculosis, the local committee for the sale of tuberculosis stamps, asks everyone to support its drive.

Twenty years ago the slogan was "prevent" tuberculosis. Today it is "cure" it and tomorrow it will be "eliminate" it. Every Christmas stamp may help some patient afflicted with the disease. Each year a nation-wide drive is held from Thanksgiving until Christmas. Stamps are being sold under the direction of the Union County Society.

A certain percent of the proceeds every year goes to the National Committee, the greater part being kept for the needs of the county. Families who have a tubercular patient are given special aid; milk and health-giving foods are distributed where they are needed. In April, every school child is given a Mantoux test. Every child having a positive reaction is given an X-ray and the proper treatment that the condition warrants.

This nation-wide program is carried on not only to relieve the present victims but to safeguard the future health of every citizen. BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS SEALS NOW!

If you pierced your way through the fog which settled on the 300-acres during the evening hours last weekend, join us in sympathizing with a Bucknell "pledge" who became the unfortunate of the elements on the occasion of his fraternity's "hayride" a fortnight ago.

This initiative did a masterful job of attending to all the details of the wagon trek—time, point of departure, and the all-important date.

Then came the eventual slip-up in the proceedings. He picked the wrong wagon—and, for some three miles the pledge and his gait friend rode along comfortably, but in the company of strangers.

At Red Rock the fog lifted and the host learned that he was mingling with a party of sorority sisters and their swains. Small world, eh?

Since noticing the reaction of Bucknell students to the news broadcasts which hit the ether waves Sunday we have fired our censor and decided to spring the story which we think is tops concerning "alarms."

Our apologies are extended to the girls of the St. George street house since the incident spins around them.

The coeds in the recently-renovated cottage are freshmen, as you perhaps know. One evening not so long ago, as Mr. Sandman watched over the group, the girls were awakened by a loud blast from a Reading railroad engine as it boomed along near their residence.

One of the lassies snatched out of her slumber and with a faint remembrance that the Northeastern Penitentiary is not far from the campus, heralded the alarm that "A prisoner has escaped!" The warning spread like wild-fire and the end result was that more than a dozen timid frosh were huddled together in one room until the house-mother entered upon the scene and quieted their fears.

ON THE SERIOUS SIDE.

This would be an easy war to win if it were to be fought solely against Adolf Hitler and his armies which have enveloped more than a dozen European nations.

However, though many colleagues pretend that this is the case, there is more to the World holocaust than one man, and this week's happenings brought a deeper realization of this fact. This is a war of profound questions that go even deeper than matters of democracy, liberty, or policies of political parties. This is a war that goes deeper than disputes of right and wrong.

When President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill met they realized that the world was at the most famous eight points for the building of a new order they did not with the thought of one man in mind. And when Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini met a few weeks later on the border line of the battlefield, they did not conceive their plans on the basis of one man's life or aspects. This war goes far beyond Adolf Hitler.

The world is ill. Civilization is approaching a crisis and it is a crisis of mankind.

The question before the world is "How shall we have united good will and complete security among all people of the world?" The answer must come, not from Great Britain, not from the United States, nor can it come from Germany, Italy, Japan, China or Russia, but it must come instead from the agreement of all people.

This is a war to establish a contract among peoples of the world, not guaranteeing, or assuring, but instead agreeing upon a social justice throughout the nations of the earth.

College students should be saturated with this thought and we should make every effort to play a contributing role now and in future years to the making this "a better world to live in," to put it in plain, everyday language.

We cannot say how, or why, or when we will be called upon to assist in the establishment of this contract, and only by constant study, work, observation of world affairs and critical analysis of these events, with an eye to a better future can we determine this how, this why, this when, if the war is to be won by mankind.

Bucknell C. A. To Prepare Exhibit

Bucknell's Christian Association has been selected as one of 12 typical Christian Associations to prepare an exhibit of program materials for display at the National Assembly of the Student Christian Movement, according to an announcement made by Jane Colter, president of the C. A. The Assembly will meet at Miami University, December 27 to January 2. The meeting will be known as "the town meeting of the Student Christian Movement."

Representing Bucknell at the conference will be Jane Colter, Marilyn Epley '43, Don Shields '45, Tom Walker '44, and Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Herrold.

I. R. C. To Hold Meeting Dec. 18

The first meeting of the International Relations Club since the start of our war with Japan will be held next Tuesday, December 16th.

Two reports which were planned at a former meeting will be presented by Corrie Conant and Jean Bush, both of the Burma Road and Corrie's will be on the Japanese cabinet. Since both these topics are extremely timely, the meeting should prove to be an important one.

At a future meeting reports will probably be made on some books which the I. R. C. acquired from the Carnegie endowment.

Health Committee Protects Students

Drs. Fowle and Rice Head Administration of Student Health Organization

by Jeanne O'Sullivan

Little is heard about the silent but essential Student Health Service, which protects us in many important ways. Its efficient administration and two well-equipped infirmaries are a far cry from its organization in 1925, when a small first-aid station with only one nurse was established in Taylor Annex.

Two years later Dr. Lester P. Fowle was appointed college physician and the Student Health Committee was created with Dr. John W. Rice, and Dr. Fowle in charge. Sanitation and public health on campus are now controlled by Dr. Rice, while Dr. Fowle attends essentially to medical cases.

The Student Health Committee governs health instruction which consists of general and advanced courses in hygiene and special lectures, such as the campaign against infantile paralysis. Physical Welfare is subdivided to include plant sanitation, personal health, and physical education.

The Personal Health check-up begins even before the students are admitted to college, when they are examined by the family physicians. While here, they are treated in co-

Semi-Final Bouts Result In 2 KO's

Intramural Boxing Narrows Down to Eight Events For Friday Night

by Sy Berger

The padded mitts flew fast and furious as the intramural boxing field was narrowed down to 16 fighters, who will battle it out for the division titles on Friday night. Davis Gym was in a bedlam yesterday afternoon as five of the ten semi-final bouts ended as a result of three TKO's and two KO's; the rest going the regular three-round route.

In a rather good boxing exhibition, George Haines chalked up a decision over the SPE 120-pounder. As each round went by, the fighting became more exciting and the lads really went to it in the final stanza with the victor getting the better of the flurry of blows.

Sheffer, SAC vs. Reardon, LCA: (127) Ira Sheffer scored his second TKO in two days when he caught the Lambda Chi boxer with a stiff right as the latter was coming up after an exchange of hard blows. It was 1:40 of the third round when Joe Reno stopped the fight which was fairly even until Sheffer struck his telling blow.

B. U. DEBATEES ATTEND ANNUAL TOURNAMENT

Team Scores Four Victories Saturday in Meeting at Westminster College

Eight of Bucknell's varsity debating squad members traveled out to the campus of Westminster College Saturday for the 9th annual Westminster Debate Tournament. This was the annual pre-season trip for the team, and offered them the opportunity of meeting all types of debaters against their own debaters.

Among the teams met by Bucknell were Penn State, University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Tech, Allegheny, Juniata, Grove City, Mount Mercy, Houghton, and Westminster. Debates were scored for Bucknell by Ben Wasserman and John Warobak, who won two debates; Paul Rosenberg and Anna Marie Puschel, who won one; and Edgar Smith, also winners in one debate.

The team returned home on Sunday after a weekend of furious debating, happy in the fact that now they are prepared to meet any rivals.

The next scheduled debate of the team will be this Friday, when Jim Whyte and Mel Hopkins will meet the Dickinson College team here at Bucknell.

Above, Bob Schramm and Anne Randle, Director and Set Designer, respectively, of Liliom. Florence Dietrich assists the Director, Clara Yale is the Production Manager, (with William Byrnes assisting). The Stage Manager is Graham Tappan, and Carol Goodwin is in charge of Scenery.

Lewisburg's Appearance Is Rapidly Changing As Remodeled And New Buildings Make Their Debut

Among the many changes in Lewisburg, the most visible are the new theater, stores, and store fronts, which have done much to favorably alter the general appearance of the town.

The Campus Theater, with its college atmosphere of Orange and Blue, led the way in the change. Aside from the general modernization, the theater boasts a door that opens as one approaches it. A concealed seeing eye does the trick. Of even more interest are the comfortable upholstered seats that make any picture more enjoyable.

Another major change has been the Roca and Derrick drug store. It is larger and has the counter booths, and curran glass front in Bucknell's colors. The popular fluorescent lighting illuminates the picturesque scenes of campus life on the walls. The store was built in the summer and held its formal opening in September. According to Glenn Burnheimer, the manager, the stones in the terrazzo floor were imported from Italy.

ROBERT GALVIN EXHIBITS ART ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Exhibition in School Library Also Displays Etchings and Plate Designs

Bucknell's library will offer until next week an art exhibit consisting of the work of Robert Galvin and also book plate designs, work in linoleum blocks, and the development of some etchings. The exhibit is under the supervision of Prof. Larter.

The display with most appeal to the student body will likely be the very attractive Bucknell University memorial plates which were published at the end of the Nineteenth Century.

However, the main display consists of an exhibit of the work of Robert Galvin, designer to Yale University. Mr. Galvin's designs reflect the tradition and architectural environs of the institution which employs him. His style, while traditional, reflects a modern trend and has the great virtue of original interpretation and invention.

VERMONT IS YOUNGER THAN ONCE BELIEVED

The Vermont area is 100,000,000 years younger than scientists have supposed, according to Prof. Charles C. Doll of the geology department, University of Vermont.

During a mapping expedition, Prof. Doll discovered several mineralized fossils of sea-lilies and snails in a stratum of rock where they had no geological right to be, on the basis of findings of past scientists, because the varieties were not in existence at the time the rocks were supposed to have been laid down. Perfection of the fossil calyx and stem of the sea lilies, and the type of coiling of the snails, left no doubt that they were the variety in existence during the Devonian age, 340,000,000 years ago.

This fossil proof takes the rock structure through eastern Vermont from Massachusetts to Canada, out of the Ordovician, and out into the Devonian age, 100,000,000 years later.

Oscar Burkhead, chairman of the German department of the University of Minnesota, sees no indication of a return of the "anti-everything German" feeling of World War days.

Mixed Chorus To Present 'Messiah'

Dr. Paul Stolz To Direct Yearly Xmas Program Sunday Evening

Once again Handel's "Messiah" will be presented for Bucknell and Lewisburg listeners this year, it was announced by Dr. Paul G. Stolz, under whose direction the Mixed Chorus, soloists, string orchestra, and guest musicians will offer the sacred program Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Men's Gymnasium.

Over 200 voices will sing the Christmas music, accompanied by the Bucknell string orchestra, which will be directed by Prof. Stickey and augmented by a string ensemble from the Wilkes-Barre Sinfonietta. Besides student soloists Phil Roy '42, tenor, and Ken Strittmatter '42, bass, there will be two guest soloists, Marion R. Douglas, soprano, and Inez Robinson, contralto.

To lend a Yuletide atmosphere, there will be two very large Christmas trees placed at either end of the platform and six smaller trees arranged behind the platform to serve as a background.

Trial Registration Ends December 15

All students must have their registrations for the second semester in by December 15, at 6:00 p. m.

Registration consists of filling out trial registration blanks during the period from Thursday, December 4, to Monday, December 15th, inclusive. Complete instructions regarding enrollment on February 2 and 3, 1942, will be mailed with the second semester bills about January 18.

Students should be careful in the selection of their subjects to avoid changes of schedule after the semester begins. A fee of $1.00 is charged for a change of registration during the first week of the semester. A fee of $5.00 is charged during the second week. There is no refund for courses dropped after the second week of the semester. A fee of $5.00 is charged for enrollment after February 3rd.

Women Try-Out For Cheerleading

Noll, Newly Selected Head, Issues Call For Coeds; 21 Girls Respond

Reorganized and revitalized with some of our prettier coeds, the Bucknell cheerleading team will start something new when they begin to lead cheers at home varsity basketball games.

At a recent meeting of the squad, Walt Noll '44 was elected as head cheerleader and plans were formulated for having girl cheerleaders. Permission has been gotten from Dean Dyer and the girls will train under the direction of Walt Noll and Miss Derr. A call for volunteers was issued this week and on Tuesday 21 girls tried out. Walt plans to have the mixed squad ready for the first home game after Christmas. His policy will be to have a large squad and vary those cheering at each game.

There will be no call for men volunteers as the team has enough. Those already on the team are, Walt Noll, Danny Mazzarella, Bill Knipe, Jim Stahl, Dan Kramer, Henry Deles, and Ken Finger.

The team is also looking for new cheers to supplement the old standards, and the student body is asked to contribute either good high school cheers or original ones. All ideas should be given to Walt Noll, 218 East college, or to another member of the team.

Engineers Discuss Tentative Program

Activities and a tentative program schedule for the second semester for the local Student Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers were formulated at a meeting last week of the officers of the group and Dr. C. S. Keevil, their faculty adviser.

It has been planned that there will be a series of student talks on subjects of interest to the members, one meeting at which a guest speaker will talk, and a social get-together at Cowan, during the ensuing semester.

L'AGENDA THEME WILL BE 'NATIONAL DEFENSE'

Color Scheme Is Red, White, and Blue; Art Classes to Make Contributions

The theme of this year's L'Agenda is an appropriate one since it will be "National Defense." Plans along this vein are forging ahead under the direction of Bud Elsaman, editor, and Don Sholl, art editor. The predominant color will be bright red and blue, with white to complete the scheme. Recent developments lend more meaning to the original idea than was anticipated.

The art staff has not been definitely chosen yet, but it is expected that art classes will be asked to make contributions and suggestions. About the same quantity of cartoon color spots for activity illustration, "dividers" pages of campus scenes, and lettering as was in last year's L'Agenda will run throughout this year's book.

The cover design, which will be on the same general style as previously has already been selected.

Cagers Win Season Opener From Elizabethtown, 43-22

Haines Racks Up 17 Points
To Pace Mussermen
In Easy Win

ENTIRE SQUAD PERFORMS WELL

by John Bush

The start of the winter sports season on the campus last weekend found the Bison basketball team crushing Elizabethtown, 43 to 22.

Bucknell prevailed all the way and in every court lane. The Bettyvorners managed to snap out of their lethargy in the final quarter to outscore the Orange and Blue—and that margin was decidedly slim, one point to be exact.

Spotting a 2-12 defense against them at the start of the game, the Bucknell boys switched to a Z formation and from then on it was clear sailing for the Bisons.

Some Court Comment

George Haines would be lost in a closed shop. He scored, and scored—and if Johnny Starnes permitted him to go the other route, the flashy blonde would have undoubtedly chalked up about 30 points.

And what did you think of the hand?—and cheerleaders? Now if we could encourage a dancing school to stage a performance at half-time, or run an amateur show, or do anything—except sit.

The boys are to be praised for their excellent rebound work under both baskets. There seemed to be no let-up in spirit throughout the contest, and the Bison men watched the ball at every turn.

Did you check on Ed Glass? Well, he played against the best man in the Elizabethtown team and kept him under complete control. Ed seemed to be the lad in charge of the court activities of the Bisons on the occasion of "Te-Rod" Snyder on the occasion of the old times. The Sunbury guard played with the Mussermen two seasons ago and established a fine reputation for himself at Bucknell.

Musically "laid" plays the bass fiddle and found that work more profitable last year. He's returning to do his bit for Bucknell on page 7.

BEAT SUSQUEHANNA FOR SEASON'S SECOND WIN

Bucknell's varsity cagers, once again paced by their speedy and shifty forward George Haines, chalked up their second win of the current campaign in as many starts when last Tuesday night they eked out a close win over Susquehanna by a score of 22-18.

The contest, played on the small Susquehanna court, was a rough and ready brawl with numerous fouls being registered by both squads. Mainly as a result of Haines' 9 points during the first half the Mussermen left the court at the midway intermission leading by a margin of 16-10.

Glass paced second half

The second half found Ed Glass, rangy Bison center, taking over the scoring honors and providing the margin of victory. Though Haines was held to but one point this half, giving him a total of ten for the game, Big Ed came through with five important points in rapid succession to give the B. U. quintet a comfortable lead which wasn't threatened until the waning minutes of the game.

Last night the cagers journeyed to Penn State where they engaged the Nittany Lion cagers in their third tilt of the year. However, this edition went to press to soon for the results to appear in this week's issue, and will be printed in next week's issue.

The Herd's next game is scheduled for this Saturday night when they engage Albright in the season's first league tilt. The game is to be played in Reading.

Frosh Cagers Down Jr. College 37-31

Whitford Paces Yearlings
In Opening Win; Meet
Scranton J. V. Next

by Joe Heuer

The Freshman basketball team opened its season Saturday night playing host to the Bucknell Junior College cagers in a preliminary to the varsity tilt. The yearling cagers emerged from their initial contest victorious by rolling up 37 points to 31 for the Junior College aggregation.

The two teams played a nip and tuck first quarter with both squads collecting 8 points in this period. The Frosh cagers, led by Roger Whitford, pushed up in the second quarter and surged ahead. The Yearling combination began to click and displayed a very fine offensive drive with Andy Sember's fine passing, setting up many of the scores. At half-time, the Frosh were up from 21-16.

Whitford Paces Frosh Drive

The second half got under way with neither team scoring for the first few minutes. Whitford started the scoring by sinking two foul shots and then Clemente countered with a two-point shot for the Junior College. Working in a play off, Brader the Frosh outscored the Bisons three points when Whitford dropped one through the hoop.

Clemente again retaliated with a long shot. During the final period the play was somewhat ragged and both teams were awarded quite a few foul shots. The game ended 37 to 31 with the Frosh in the driver's seat.

Coach Starnes' starting five consisted of Whitford and Burns at the forward positions, Brader at center, and Forrest and Sember at the guard posts. This five played most of the game and did very well. Whitford racked up 14 points to pace the local squad. Forrest and Sember were very effective on the defense and showed some fine ball-handling and floor play. Clemente paced the losers five with 12 points.

Coach Starnes' cagers are now pointing toward their first game against the Scranton Frosh at Scranton.

In looking over the Herd's achievements for the year it is interesting to note that in every department of the game, with the exception of their passing and pass defense, the griders quite substantially led the totals amassed by their foes of the year.

The won and lost columns show the Herd well out ahead with six games on the profit side as against three losses. In the matter of scoring, as a result of their 42-0 whitewashing of Albright in the finale of the year, Al Humphreys' team managed to finish well ahead of their opponents in this item of crossing the goal line.

The Orange and Blue griders chalked up 131 points while their foes had 94 points. In outscoring their opposition the Bisons also substantially led in the first downs department, registering 87 to their opponent's 76.

The outstanding item and big surprise of the entire statistics chart for the year is found in the great superiority that the Herd registered in their running game as compared to that of their nine opponents. In yards gained rushing, the Humphreysmen amassed a total of 1,435 yards, while limiting their foes to 965 yards, a difference of almost 500 yards. Of the 965 yards gained against the Orange and Blue forward wall, Temple, the team which handed the '41 griders their worst defeat of the year, chalked up about a third of this total, 310 yards to be exact. In only two other games during the year did Bucknell opponents outgain them on the ground. These two teams were Penn State and George Washington.

With the latter nailing out the Herd by a mere seven yards. In five other games the Bisons gained more than 200 yards, with the highest total coming in the Lebanon Valley and Western Maryland games when they gained 273 and 292 yards respectively.

It is also of interest to note that in losing to Gettysburg, the Herd gained an award for the year.

Coach Mal Musser will likely pit George Haines and either Fred Fahringer or Bob Keegan at the forward posts. Ed Glass will be the center nominee with the backcourt assignments in doubt.

CAPTAIN TO BE NAMED AT FOOTBALL DINNER

Bucknell University's 1941 football squad held a meeting at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity house last week at which time elections were held for the captain or co-captains of next year's varsity football squad. The results of the vote will not be divulged until this Monday night when the squad is to have its annual football dinner. Another expected announcement at this dinner will be the winner of the most valuable player award for the year.

Bison Gridsters Outstatistic '41 Foes In Every Department But Passing And Pass Defense

by Marty Silberman

Statistics and figures may be awfully boring and uninteresting to a great number of persons, but if it's true that figures don't lie then Bucknell's football team this year did not lie. The Bisons' statistics for the year are a record of success in every department except passing and pass defense.

In looking over the Herd's achievements for the year it is interesting to note that in every department of the game, with the exception of their passing and pass defense, the griders quite substantially led the totals amassed by their foes of the year.

Eight Bouts Feature Program In Davis Gym Tomorrow Night

Sigs And SAE Loom
As Ring Favorites
After First Night

by Sy Berger

The padded ring will hold the spotlight tomorrow night in Davis Gym, when 16 of Bucknell's best intramural fighters will throw everything but the ring posts with the hope of coming out of the fray with their division championship. These fights, starting at 8 o'clock, climax one of the year's most thrilling and action-packed intramural events.

To supplement these eight final pugilistic events, the "B" club has arranged to have three added attractions. Boxing coach Joe Reno, who has attained a favorable reputation in the professional ring, will bring an exhibition bout with diminutive Frank Garro, who failed to taste defeat in the 1941 varsity campaign.

The second attraction has not been announced yet as it is being kept as a surprise. The only information released divulges that John Britton is the author of the surprise. Another attraction, which will be of interest to the expected sell-out crowd, will be a gymnastic exhibition by four students who will work on the parallel bars, the horizontal bars, and the horse.

The usual awards will be given following each of the bouts. The winners will receive handsome gold medals, and the vanquished opponents will be the recipients of good-looking silver medals. The team that completes the greatest number of points will be awarded with the much-sought boxing trophy, signifying the championship for 1941.

Students will be charged 25 cents to witness the nerve-ringing finale. And though their gridders are mighty salty, there's nothing wrong with Marshall Spivey!

He'll place the Tide like poison-ivy. In fact, I heard he will win the fight. Poison comes for a Crismon Hide.

So Lucy Belle, Don't start to yell, Or Wyonic, Nelson, and East, Cause those boys will never halt. When they see those Texas Lassies in the Bowl And the eyes of Texas start to roll!

Debenedictis started off by peppering his adversary with uppercuts to the jaw when Schuessler suddenly sent the Phi Gam down with a fast right clip. The Fiji 165-pounder fought Schuessler to a standstill in the second round and came back well in the final stanza. But, the Lambda Chi ringman had piled up enough points to take the decision in the semi-final bout.

Cristoforo emerged with the nod after three rounds of two to one slug-ging with the Kappa Sig freshman. Both boys seemed fairly even with the Sigma Chi amassing a greater number of points.

Sigs, SAE vs. Gibson, PKP: (Heavyweight)

The varsity tackle battered his way to a TKO victory early in the second round, carrying the short-tempered fight every moment, and having Gibson groggy against the ropes as a result of some powerful head punches.

—The Bowl Games—

THE SUGAL BOWL
(Baton Rouge, La.)

Now first of all, it would be nice
If Missouri's star, one Harry Lee,
Could be lured away by subterfuge
Far from the city of Baton Rouge
And spend the first in some cozy nook
Curled around his favorite book.

Then, if Fordham's institution
Would pass a New Year's resolution
To never undertake their foes
And keep their gridders on their toes
Then, my dime on Crowley's men,
Against Missouri's ten!

But the Show-Me boys have Harry Lee
Which makes it a game with loaded dice;
So I cast my vote with the Middle West
And trust they will mistreat their guest.

THE ROSE BOWL
(Pasadena, Calif.)

Since there is no team terrific
In the environs Pacific,
We'd be fools to pick the coast;
So choose the Ducks to lick the host.
Remembering that Wallace Wade
Has waited for this ambushade
With patient dreams
(And two first teams)

Since Eric Tipton took the count
From Doyle Nave. With this we flout
The West
As not best and predict that Oregon
Will be dismantled and undone
By aplit, strength, and skill
Emanating from Chapel Hill.

THE COTTON BOWL

You listen to me
I heard those "Alabama Claims"
That every Bama tackle claims
And that the Tide is mighty hot.
I don't say they're not.

But I all heard of Texas, too.

Ping-pong shuffleboard, and min-operation with their family physician. Supplementing the facilities of the college that the Ziegler Infirmary provides for minor operations, the Geisinger Hospital in Danville stands ready at all times to care for more delicate cases. The infirmary fee usually covers all attention received at the college.

During a typical year 18,400 infirmary contacts were made, 13,457 of these cases being discharges. For the past two years the members of the freshman class have had blood tests. This year 503 tests were made on students including the incoming students as well as others connected with the school.

Few students realize the ready functions of the health service in the community in regard to refuse disposal and the water supply. Each year everyone who handles food in the dining rooms undergo a thorough medical examination. At regular intervals the milk supplies are surveyed and conditions are corrected if necessary. A complete summary of the health service is presented annually to the administrative officers by Dr. John W. Rice.

their party in the living room. As an impressive opening, the girls walked down the stairs carrying candles and singing carols. As they reached the living room each contributed to the China War Relief Fund.

Mother Garrison provided refreshments as her Christmas present to the girls, and Student Church donated the Christmas tree. The rooms were decorated with greens and candles. The entertainment for the evening consisted of "Cantique Noel," sung by Treva Poling, and "The Infant Jesus," sung by Eleanor Tully. Evelyn Groszklaus danced a ballet number, and LeAnne Boyle gave several readings. Mother Garrison read the Christmas story, and later the girls exchanged small gifts.

Defense Meeting...

General Pratt, in Baltimore, of the Third Corps Area, was not able to announce to President Marts, finally the probability of the Government's using the trains for defense. Consequently, the Administrative Council has not been able to formulate permanent plans.

After relating the hurried defense measures that the Pennsylvania and all other defense councils in the United States are following, that the State Police had been asked to guard all highways, tunnels, and bridges, and that local police were instructed to guard against destruction to factories, President Marts asked the students to "keep cool, to get down to college work, and to join the Army when your draft board calls you, instead of enlisting thoughtlessly to the sacrifice of your education, your nation's ultimate defense."

President Marts brought out the very urgent point that what we must do right here on the Bucknell campus for an American victory is to defeat the pernicious "what's the use" attitude that many of us are beginning to adopt. Moral strength is all-important, he stressed.

Directly before adjournment Mr. Forrest Brown, chairman of Bucknell Defense Council, asked that members of the council then present meet in President Marts' office for discussion with Dr. Marts.

Nesselbush, SCC vs. Subda, SX: (145) The winner: Nesselbush. Don copped the nod over Ed Subda in the afternoon's most thrilling bout. Both boys threw everything they had from start to finish with the SCC ringman holding the edge. It was undoubtedly the hardest hitting fight of the tournament.

Benner, PKV vs. Strickland, KS: (145) Bill Benner copped out a decision over southpaw Frank Strickland as a result of his strong finish. Strickland showed quite a bit of the form that won him the 135-pound crown last year, but Benner managed to garner enough points to win.

Brady, PGD vs. Cohen, SAM: (155) The PJ and Sammie fighters started out from the opening bell and treated the spectators to a swell fight. Cohen held an advantage in the first round, but Brady came back to take advantage of the tiring SAM and to walk off with the decision.

Linbeck, SX vs. Burns, SAE: (155) The battle of southpaws was over by 1:50 of the second with Burns on the canvas and Linbeck being credited with a K.O. Burns seemed to be carrying the fight by stepping inside Linbeck's wide left hooks, when suddenly Les caught him with a crushing right, and it was all over.

Kizelstein, SAM vs. Hagao, SAE: (165) Jerry Kizelstein floored the SAE slugger in the first round and never gave him a chance to regain his composure by driving him back with both fists. The Sammie finally put it all together when he battered his foe helplessly about the ring, causing Joe Hagao to stop the fight in 1:25 of the second round.

are, of course, the most effective allies of the axis powers. Each cry-baby must be comforted; each weakling takes away from the strength of the community and the nation. It is that flabby spirit which the axis powers hope to find in America, which would weaken and delay and neutralize the might and energy of this nation.

It is the prime duty of every young man and young woman to forget personal disappointments, to swallow and conceal their own trouble, and to think in terms of national danger and national strength.

This is one of the most crucial moments of American history. America has the opportunity to decide the issues of human life on this planet for the next thousand years. We should live at such a supreme moment bravely and unselfishly. If our spirits can stand this test, this present outburst of force and cruelty and despotism only prove to be the last squall of a dying old order, and out of this crisis can come the dawn of a new order of freedom and brotherhood and peace of all men everywhere.

The duty of college students in this crisis is crystal clear. It is to throw themselves with new enthusiasm and abandon into their job of being college students. They should be better students than they have ever been before, because of the challenge and demands which this crisis in the affairs of humanity has brought to them. Some college students are determined in the excitement of the moment to enlist in the armed forces. They should not do this. There is an abundance and surplus of manpower in the United States. Millions of able-bodied men are out of work. The Selective Service Act will bring to every able-bodied male college student the privilege of serving in the armed forces when he is needed. Until his call comes it is his supreme duty to continue his education with twice as much zeal as he ever had before in order to provide for America one more man educated and trained for leadership.

Many more college students at other end are letting down in their college work, tending to throw up their hands and say "What is the use?" Let's go down town and educate and forget the lessons." They are unconsciously putting themselves on the side of the axis powers, contributing to the weakness and flabbiness of our beloved republic at the time of its greatest danger.

I appeal to them to throw off this flabby mood and plunge in with renewed devotion to the job of making themselves intelligent, strong, capable American men and American women.

The old carol, "Adorate Fideles," opened the last of musical proceedings, which included those numbers sung by the Men's Glee Club; "O Holy Night," a duet by Phoebe and Mary Elliott; Folmer, two selections by the Women's Glee Club; and "The Christmas Candle," sung by Treva Poling.

Now that the war has moved into our backyard and headline phraseology has assumed a concrete meaning for ourselves, let us lose our head with hate and prejudice against all Japanese people. Their military leaders are merely bringing home the bacon that we sold to them in the first place. All the junk and oil are merely returning to its place of origin. Those American patriots, whose greed and profiteering assured mass murder for the Chinese, shouldn't be surprised if their chickens come home to roost. It is just one of the certainties of the moral law that we reap what we sow. The bartender's family are usually drunks themselves.

The Christian Missionary movement has produced a lot of good fruit in Japan. The Japanese Christian hates war and is no more in favor of this conflict than we are. If there are not enough Christians in Japan to stop this war, neither is there enough anywhere else in the world. In fact over in Christian Italy, they started the second World War. Now that the wind has blown the flame the wrong way, we hear all their pious lamentations about the horrors of war and frantic prayers for peace. And that race of people whose leg and foot protrude into the Mediterranean, still do not appreciate the significance of Saturday night. Neither the hints of nature or world opinion can convince them that they need a bath of new leadership and rejuvenated religion.

The Japanese people hardly of their own volition have declared war against us. As long as they are represented by insane and selfish leadership, we have to be realistic enough to combat that kind of leadership. You can't argue with a bully, force is the only language he understands. So, let's get going. It will be a dirty job and quite a messy piece of business, but we have got to dig our way out of it. Quite so, I am an American and only wait the President's orders.

War-Time Program To Be Inaugurated At Bucknell

Council Issues
Three-Fold Civil Defense Plan

Bucknellians to Learn New

AIR RAID TRAINING

In an effort to give the student body concrete opportunities to take hold in the Bucknell Defense Program, the Council here has issued their three-fold plan of Civil Defense for the university and the students. The program is aimed at training which the students can carry back to the home community.

The three aspects, as announced by Forrest Brown, are: Plant Protection, Training and Services.

Under Plant Protection, Dean Page has received instruction in Harrisburg for his work as Deputy Air Raid Warden, and has worked out a plan for assistant wardens in all the 39 residences of the University. Most important aspect of the Plant Protection plan is the naming of Prof. Burpee as Chief Fire Warden, Dean Page as Chief Fire Warden, and Dean Page as Chief Fire Warden.

Also in the Plant Protection, is the placing of the Hill telephone service on a 24-hour basis, and the employment of special police covering the campus at night. A new system of signal lights has been installed for summoning the watchmen. If anyone sights a fire or wishes to report any other disturbance on the grounds, he should call the Bucknell switchboard operator, who will then snap on the signal lights for the watchmen.

Several Types of Training.

Among the numerous training courses soon to be offered are included Nurses Aide and Home Nursing under the direction of a newly formed chapter in Women's College of the Red Cross. First Aid Courses are being given as usual for all sophomores, but for the first time official certificates will be awarded at the completion of the course. Right now 30 members of the faculty are taking a special course for training First Aid instructors. Before this, there were no faculty members teaching First Aid with Red Cross certificates. Mrs. Garrison, hostess of Hunt Hall, has organized a Red Cross Sewing unit. Details of these new ventures are printed on Page Two of this paper.

Many Services Listed.

Among the Services being put into action, are the Emergency Medical Service under the direction of Dr. Rice, a Salvage Committee, headed by Dr. Blasco and a special window in (Continued on page 8.)

Bucknell speakers will participate in the national extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored by the National Parliamentary Association, which will begin in March. Prizes consisting of summer trips to South America will be awarded to the winners. (Continued on page 8.)

by Rex Wall, Jr.

Even the grim prospect of rapidly approaching final exams fail to win the limelight from current war developments. MacArthur's Pacific slugging with our oriental adversaries seems foremost in the mind of everyone which is really saying in a proverbial mouthful...for, it is by this time generally admitted that the various forms of mild war hysteria officially encouraged in seaboard cities finds no little difficulty in penetrating the relatively inaccessible region of which Bucknell is a geographical part.

Old Dobbin is most definitely on the road back, but, a royal road. Equestrians will be dismayed to learn that the price of grain, at auction and otherwise, has doubled since the recent ban on new tire sales. (Continued on page 8.)

WAR COMPELS DEBATE TO REVISE PROGRAM

A Forum Will Be Held For Discussion of 'Youth's Role in the War'

With the coming of war to the United States, collegiate debating teams throughout the country have found it necessary to revise their programs completely.

Following several meetings between Bucknell University debaters and coaches, a three-fold program has been devised which will be followed through the emergency. First, all debate questions were dropped and second, the long-distance debate tips were cancelled. The debaters then adopted plans to hold extensive forum and discussion group meetings with other schools and colleges.

The topic to be discussed under this new plan is "Youth's Role in the War." A forum will be held between two Bucknell speakers and a team from Penn State before the student body of Millburg High School tomorrow afternoon. Melville Hopkins of Nanticoke and James Whyte of Lewisburg will represent Bucknell.

Other activities planned by the teams and their coaches are participation in Freshmen and Varsity debating conventions to be held in February and March respectively at Penn State. Parliamentary discussions will be held at the convales.

Bucknell speakers will participate in the national extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored by the National Parliamentary Association, which will begin in March. Prizes consisting of summer trips to South America will be awarded to the winners. (Continued on page 8.)

Chapel Thronged As Marts Answers Student Questions;
Freedom Regiments for Men and Women Described

Lewisburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—To accelerate the education of students who desire to prepare themselves as quickly as possible for some kind of national service, Bucknell University will, for the duration of the war, continue her classes through the entire year, President Armand C. Marts announced today. Speaking at the weekly chapel services this morning, Dr. Marts also proposed for both men and women on the campus the formation of Freedom Regiments, voluntary non-military organizations which will give students an opportunity to take part in the national fight for freedom while they continue their college education.

New Plan Voluntary For All
But Engineers

Adoption of the new war-time program by which the college year will be divided into three terms, will enable the students to complete their courses in three years or less. The program will be compulsory for engineering students, but will be voluntary for all other students. Dr. Marts said.

As outlined by the President, the college year will include a term beginning early in June in addition to the terms starting in September and February. Incoming freshmen will be admitted to the University at the start of each of the three terms.

Complete details of the accelerated program, adopted by the faculty at a special session at the President's House last evening, will be announced shortly.

The federal government is contemplating a fund to help in the acceleration of the education of these students whose financial conditions make it necessary for them to earn funds during the summer. Decision by Congress on this is expected in the near future.

The 1942 commencement will be brought forward from June 8th to May 23rd. Easter vacation will be omitted.

The Freedom Regiments. The proposed regiments are essentially non-military in character. They aim to teach the women to be leaders in civilian defense, and aid in giving the men valuable training which will be useful when they are inducted into service.

The training in the regiments varies as to hours and include such courses as Air Raid Wardens, Auxiliary Firemen, Messengers, Fire Watchers, Drivers, Emergency Food and Housing, Medical Auxiliaries, and Nurses Aides for the women.

For the men there is listed the same posts as above, with the exception of the last three mentioned, and classes for work such as carried on by Bomb Squads, Auxiliary Police, Rescue Squads, Demolition and Clearance Squads, Road Repair Crew, Decontamination Squads and Utilities Repair Squads.

There will be faculty officers and student officers, regular regimental meetings, and voluntary enlistments. On the last page of the leaflet describing the Regiment there is a blank for the students to indicate that they desire such an organization.

L'AGENDA DEADLINE TO BE MOVED UP

Because of the recent war developments and the possibility of a shortage of materials, the L'Agenda staff may have to step up the deadlines in order to get the publication out on time. The material for the cover has been ordered and plans for it have been completed, but these will remain as a surprise to the students.

Following the senior section will be (Continued on page 8.)

FEDERAL UNION
Meets Monday

Dr. H. W. Robbins, head of the department of English at Bucknell University, will present a plan for evolving the Allier Council into world Federal Union at the next meeting of the Union County Chapter of Federal Union Inc., Jan. 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the President's House on the Bucknell campus.

All persons interested in studying ways and means of securing a permanent peace at the close of this war are cordially invited to attend this and subsequent Federal Union meetings.

REGISTRATION FEB. 16

All Bucknell students and faculty members required to register February 16 under the latest provision of the National Selective Service Law will be able to do so in Roberts Hall Lounge, Dr. Ralph Page, dean of men, has announced.

Greek Winter Formals Begin; Bucknellians Wed, Are Engaged

Yule Season Reveals Weddings, Engagements Of Several Former And Present Bucknellians

Once again the engagement and nuptial plans of several Bucknellians come to the fore. The Yule season particularly has revealed a number of these.

Weber-Hustler Nuptials
Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weber announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to John Miller Hustler at an informal tea on December 25th at the Weber home in Elizabeth, New Jersey. Jean is a member of Tri Delta sorority and the class of '43. John graduated from Bucknell last June and was a Sigma Chi. He is now employed by Dupont's plant in Charleston, Indiana. Many of the Tri Delta attended the tea. No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

Molly Carothers Engaged
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carothers announced the engagement of their daughter, Molly, to Thomas E. Bittner of Jersey Shore on Christmas day. Molly, Kappa Delta, ex-'42, now attends Maryland College for Women. Mr. Bittner matriculated at Lock Haven State Teachers College and is in the Air Corps.

Isabella Harris Engagement
Mr. and Mrs. Reese Harris of Scranton announced the engagement of their daughter, Isabella, ex-'42, to Edwin William A. Acker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Acker, of Scranton, at an informal family party on December 25th. Izzy is a member of

A. X. O. - Tri Delta Formal Uses Novel Decorations, Nets $30 For Red Cross

With the Red Cross as the theme, the Alpha Chi and Tri Delta held their traditional winter formal last Saturday night at Tustin Gym. The decorations were very simple, consisting of American and Red Cross flags and posters lent by a local organization. Bids to the dance were patterned in the shape of the Red Cross emblem. The money usually spent for decorations was donated to the Red Cross and amounted to nearly $30.

The music was furnished by Art Wendel. There were several novelty dances including a Conga, a Paul Jones and a Grand March. The programs were lighthearted tunes with the Tri Delta and Alpha Chi girls attached.

The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. Meyer, Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Biscoe, Dr. and Mrs. Melvin LeDon, and Tom Richardson, a Bucknell and fraternity alumnus, were honored guests.

Formerly scheduled for December 19, the formal was postponed because of the unexpected early dismissal for Christmas vacations.

Women Knit For Red Cross

Hunt Hall will be the headquarters for the student Red Cross knitting and sewing project. Miss Grace Garrison, housemother at Hunt Hall, announced recently. According to Miss Garrison, who is in charge of the project, plans for the carrying on of the work will be put into operation upon the arrival of the 100 pounds of wool that has been ordered. The work will be kept in Hunt Hall library.

The garments that shall be made will be prescribed by the Red Cross. As the project stands now, at least two hours of one afternoon a week, from 2 to 4 p. m., will be set aside for a "knitting and sewing day" in Hunt Hall living room, with music played and refreshments served.

Now that we have all enjoyed a nice long vacation with plenty of fun to spice it, we Bucknellians should be glad to settle down here in school and get the most we possibly can out of our education. Bucknellians are fortunate in having the opportunity of being here, and in gratefulness of our good fortune, there is no doubt that we should work to be worthy of all that which we have been given. Of course, during our months of application along more academic lines, there is always plenty doing that is of social interest of all of the Bucknell students.

Last Saturday night, the annual winter formal was held at the Kappa Sigma house. Guests for Sunday dinner were Jean Ford, Maria Coll, Jane Isachsen, Peggy Good, Peggy Gandy, Dorian Smith, Jimmie Morrow, Jane Shouder, Gloria Green, Doris Haggerty, Jeanne Yert, and Avril Ellenberger. Chick Gwynne '36 of Ridgewood, N. J., was also present.

Alpha Chi Omega Dittie Parnellee was visited by Jim Blair from Penn State. Jeanne Hertz of Lehigh University was the guest of Pat Dawley. Lynn Valentine entertained Ernie Zimmerman of Penn State. John L. Mathews, also from Penn State, was the guest of Dottie Lee Grumms. Ruth Burnett entertained her sister, Doris. A cozy was held in the suite on Saturday night after the dance.

Beta Sigma held initiation ceremonies last Saturday night for John Anthony '43, Jack Hildish '43, Fred Kertusacker '43, George Lile '44, James Moore '43, and Bob Ugarad '44. Art Degenau '43 was formally pledged in ceremonies at the chapter house on Tuesday night. Returning alumni over the past weekend included Harvard Griffith and Richard Kauffman.

Recently, skate enthusiasts have been enjoying themselves immensely, what with the splendid skating, that has been available around the campus. The pond just across the road from the Christy Mathewson Memorial Stadium has been crowded with skaters ever since the cold weather began, and parts of the river have been very good for skaters who aren't afraid to brave the icy winds and weather.

Beta Delta Hilda Lill Bullock, class of '41, visited the campus over the weekend. Dottie Hamming Heaton, ex-'42, also came back for a visit. Marge Hopwood left Bucknell Sunday to spend the rest of the winter in Florida with her family. Phyllis Hood entertained a guest over the past weekend. Billie Poling entertained Gerry Golden over the weekend.

The Sigma Chi chapter on Friday evening was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Chandler of Lewisburg. Bob Cleckner '43 spent the weekend at his home in Harrisburg. The Sigma entertained Jerry Bacon, Walt Wenrick, and Ken Armstrong on Friday evening. Joe Zebely ex-'44, was guest of honor at a birthday banquet on Saturday evening.

Pi Beta Phi Jean Alston, class of '41, returned to Bucknell for the weekend. Dorian Smith entertained Jean Ford and Marion Coll Saturday afternoon.

Twenty-five couples from the Bucknell chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha were present at the Bucknell-Lambda Chi Alpha Night held during the holidays at the Meadowbrook. Several improvements were made upon the rooms of the chapter house during the vacation. Archery was built between the dining room and the left dining room, replacing the wall and thus making more room in the living room. The living room, dining room, hall, and upstairs hall were repapered. Prof. Flinsch was a guest of the house on Sunday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Edwin Winkle '44 and Jack Eichmann '44 spent part of the Christmas vacation in Miami, Florida. Six of the members of the house were weekend guests of John Rauch '43 in Wilkes-Barre. Al Vail '38 spent the weekend at the chapter house. Al is employed at the Glenn Martin bomber plant in Baltimore. Jesse Beers, Sig Epp of Lehigh, spent the weekend at the chapter house.

Miss Shaeffer, Lawyer, Addresses Local A. A. U. W. On Hobby In Hunt, Monday

Miss Helen Shaeffer, a Sunbury lawyer, spoke to the members of the Susquehanna branch of the American Association of University Women at a meeting conducted last Monday evening in Hunt Hall living room. "A History of Detective Stories" was the topic of Miss Shaeffer's address. Miss Shaeffer, herself a member of the A. A. U. W., has made a study of this topic her hobby.

The executive board dined at the Lewisburg Inn previous to the meeting.

Welcome Production X

"Nothing new under the sun?" That's not quite so here as Cap and Dagger girls it's organization to the herculean task of presenting, for the first time in the history of the school, a real live musical comedy complete with what has been optimistically hailed as "Girls, gags, skits, sketches and songs!"

A bang-up musical comedy is a dose of just the right kind of medicine the doctor ought to order for this campus, and there shouldn't be anyone who couldn't do with a little spot of wit and cheer, come March.

It has always been maintained by "The Bucknellian" that there is a great deal of latent talent right here on these "Three hundred acres" and now is the time for those co-eds and men who can sing, dance, act, or dream up ideas, to step forward. With a thoroughly organized group such as Cap and Dagger backing the show, and under the able direction of a veteran campus thespian, this new enterprise cannot fail. In fact it has been the hope of a great many people that a musical show become an annual affair.

Last year's Varsity Show broke the ice for such presentations and showed just how popular entertainments of this type could be. With the addition this year of a 'book' and comedy continuity, the Cap and Dagger production ought to have double the drawing power.

The show will contain, among other things, a dancing and singing chorus of the prettiest co-eds in the school. That in itself ought to insure a S. R. O. the first week of the ticket sale, if only for that pleasurable Bucknell custom of "checking up!"

So, "Welcome Production X". (The name will be revealed later). May the headaches over rehearsals be limited, may the programs arrive on time, and may the audience be a receptive one. We'll be seeing you.

Letters

Dean Ralph E. Page has an important message to all Bucknell men who have gone through the Civilian Pilot Training course here. A copy of a letter that he sent to all these men follows:
Jan. 12, 1942.

My dear friend:

Our country is at war! The situation is such that all our physical and human resources must be used as soon as possible and in the best manner possible.

You are probably one of those who signed the following pledge when you took Civilian Pilot Training at this college: "I pledge myself to apply for flight training in the Army or Navy of the United States when needed." When I first saw this pledge was required I was rather disturbed. I was afraid that military groups might insist that college men be taken out of school in order to build up a large peace-time air force.

Last week I learned that the Army and Navy were having difficulty filling their quotas, and yet, not once has

Prof. Smith Reads Poetry In Hunt

By the glowing of candlelight and the crackle of burning logs in the fireplace, Prof. C. Willard Smith will read poetry in Hunt Hall living room at 7:30 o'clock. Needless to say, many collegians, as in years past, have taken advantage of this restful hour as a solace from grind of the laboratory, classroom, and the study room.

LEST WE FORGET

Behind that green-edged "budget ticket" which you received early in the semester is the secret of your success in gaining admission to Bucknell basketball games, boxing matches, movies-on-the-hill, artist course presentations, etc.

It's an important piece of pasteboard, believe it or not, and if you come from Missouri, try to get beyond the gates without it. So don't say we didn't tell you.

The next several months will bring night after night of activity (and we don't mean exams!) If you "forget" your budget ticket the management will be forced to penalize you by requesting cash for admission.

Let's not breed any "one-eyed Connelys" on the three-hundred acres. Remember your budget ticket—it will get you in a lot of places! (P. S.—If you lost the ever-valuable stub, drop around to the Registrar's office. Everything will be straightened out, we guarantee.)

ANY DAY NOW

We figure that by the time this reaches you the snow will be just right for a terrific launching of white pellets between the sharp-shooting forces from East College and the bonharding boys from West College.

Last season the freshman representatives of the residence dormitory wielded the deciding blow that routed the charges of the residence quarters to the west. Confident that they are still "tops" in the art of snow-balling, a challenge has been relayed to the acting captain of West College for a get-together of the two teams on neutral territory when the elements are favorable.

We might add that the men's quadrangle is commonly known as neutral ground this time of the year.

GIRLS, TAKE A BOW

It's refreshing to learn that the Bucknell girls are doing a lot for "morale." If you want to call it that, among the men in the armed services of Uncle Sam.

Unknowningly, our girl counselors, and we refer particularly to the group which was pictured in the New York Times early in September, have contributed their bit towards strengthening the spirit of a quartet of men serving on the U. S. S. Quail, stationed near Cavit, Philippine Islands.

One of the girls photographed in the group was Janet Bold, Larison Hall counselor. The yarn spins around the picture and a letter which Miss Bold received from one of the Navy men not too many days ago. The message, in part, follows:
"Dear Miss Bold:

You, my dear young lady, are the victim of a pin-sticking; and, as a result, the recipient of this letter. The aforesaid pin-sticking was not administered in person, to be sure, but came about in this manner.

"There are four of us in the radio gang of this mighty man-of-war vessel and we were carefully perusing the latest issue of the New York Times to reach these islands, when suddenly we ran across a picture of a group of lovely maidens who were to act as counselors for those timid little freshman girls who were about to embark on a college career at good old Bucknell."

Immediately we decided to play a game. We cut the picture from the paper and hung it on the bulletinboard. Then we drew straws to determine who would write a nice, newsy letter to some lucky girl in the picture. As usual, I got the short end of the stick.

The next step was the selection of a young lady. It would not have been fair to the rest of the lovely young counselors, to have arbitrarily picked one from the group; so, it was decided that the selection should be left to chance. The method used was very similar to a game I used to play at kid parties, "Pin the tail on the donkey," except that the pin was unadorned. Well, Miss Bold, my apologies—but you were the one who received the puncture."

Then followed two pages, neatly typewritten, and crammed with happenings aboard the U. S. S. Quail.

The letter was dated November 4, 1941 and the signature—Elmer C. Kuhn, Rm 2/c, U. S. N.

JUST FIFTEEN MINUTES, PLEASE

Several seconds before ten o'clock tonight, drop those books (there's only seven more cramming days 'til exams) and rest your radio dial on station WOR. From 10 to 10:15 P. M. Coca Cola will spotlight a favorite band and this evening it's Will Bradley, our Junior promaestro. So give an ear!

Martha Butler Childs, 91, second woman to be graduated from the University of Minnesota, died recently.

Men's Glee Club To Be Heard On WOR

Annual Trip, Beginning Feb. 1, Will Cover 4 States; LeMon to Direct

The highlight of the Bucknell Men's Glee Club annual mid-winter concert tour will be a broadcast over a national hookup on Sunday afternoon, February 1 at five o'clock. The half-hour program, "I Hear America Singing", will originate at station WPH in Philadelphia, and will be heard over WOR and other Mutual stations throughout the nation.

Consisting of a number of Welsh, Irish, English, and Slavic miners' songs, the music will be supplemented by a factual script written by Miss Tremaine E. Easley, director of publicity at Bucknell and based upon research made by Doctor Melvin LeMon between 1935 and 1941.

The program is sponsored by the United States Department of Justice and has featured some of the outstanding choral groups of America.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. LeMon, will leave on February 1, to make its annual tour through four states: Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey.

The group of 82 boys is planning to give 20 concerts during the course of the trip. They will return to Bucknell on the following Sunday.

An old Irishwoman, and the second a satirical commentary on the life span, entitled "Three Breakfasts."

Following a short intermission she gave three other monologues. They were "Three Generations in a Court of Domestic Relations", "On the Porch of a Maine Coast Village", and "A Scottish Immigrant at Ellis Island."

Miss Draper appeared on campus through the management of S. Hurok, Chairman of the committee here was Prof. Halline.

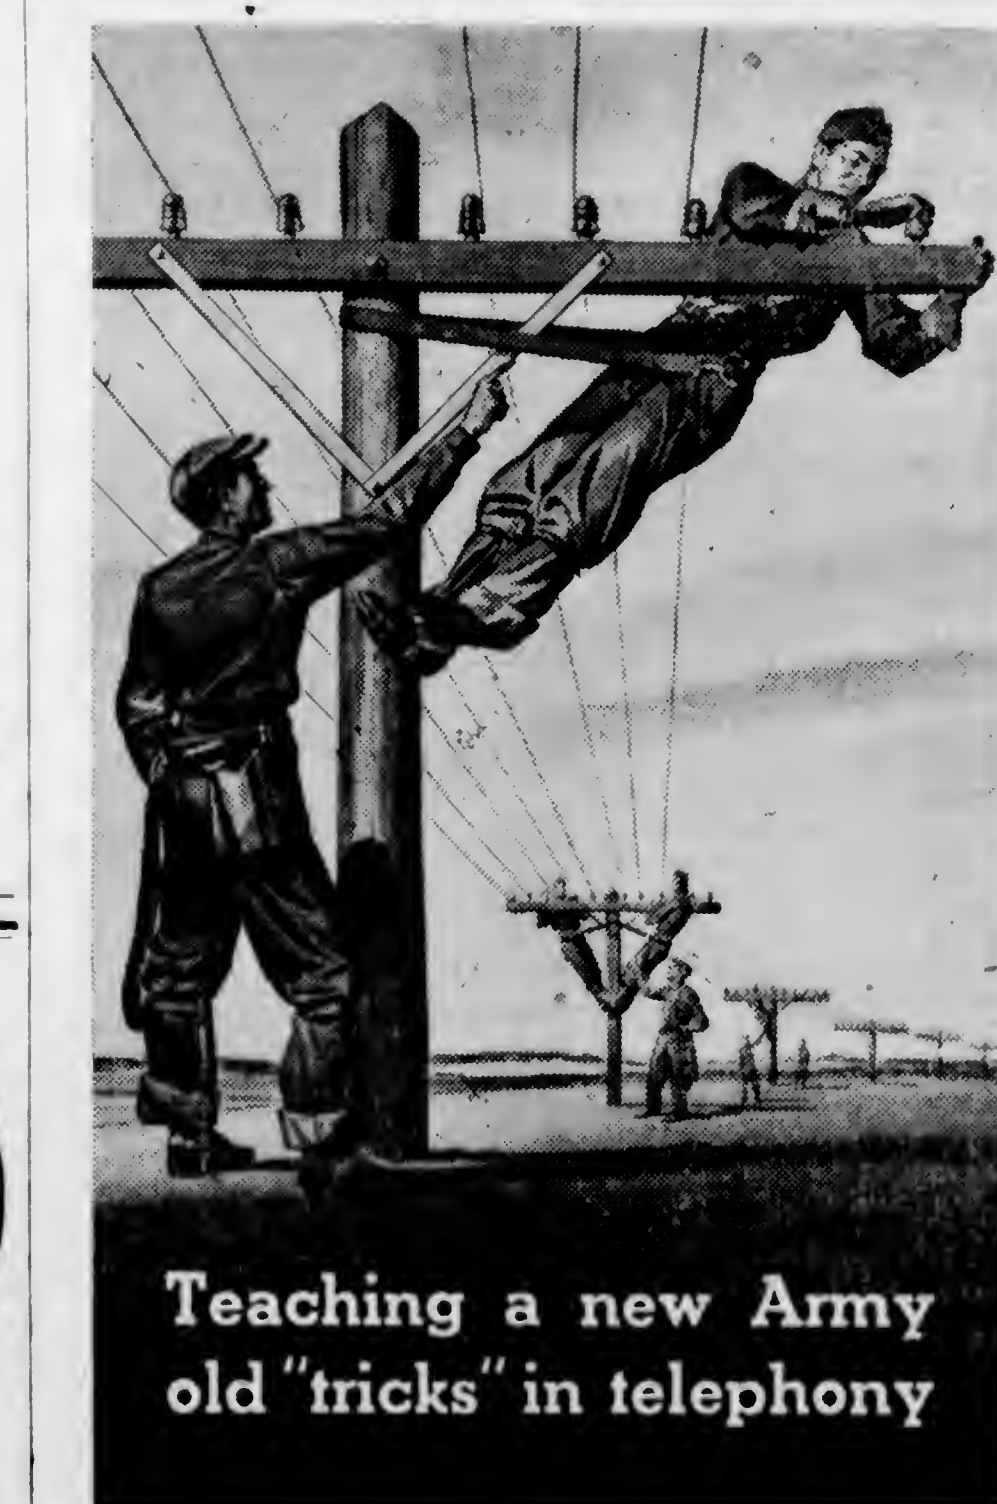

Alumni Organize 41st Chapter

The forty-first chapter of the Bucknell University Alumni Association will be organized January 23, when a banquet for Alumni members residing in the region of Schenectady, N. Y., will be held in the Hale House-Dining Hall on the Union College Campus, Schenectady.

L. Francis Lybarzer, Jr., general secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Association, will attend the banquet. The new organization is being formed under the direction of Rupert Sweetland of Schenectady, who was graduated from Bucknell in 1923.

NEXT TEST—AN "A"
The teacher passes back a test. My score is fifty-one.
At least last night I had good rest. Nine hours was the sum.
But now I'm feeling very sad. The skies are dull and gray,
I swear by all the gods there are. Next time I'll get an A.

—GIVE TO THE RED CROSS—

The telephone plays a vital role in army communications. So the Bell System is helping to school Signal Corps men in practically every phase of telephone construction, operation and maintenance.

This training job is but a small part of the tremendous task Bell System people are doing in this national crisis. They're setting up telephone systems for new camps, bases and factories—handling an enormous volume of calls needed to coordinate the Nation's war effort.

Throughout the country, Bell System people are wholeheartedly cooperating in the drive for victory. To men and women of their high caliber, there is real satisfaction in a difficult job well done.

Roy Bostwick Will Head Trustees

Board Elects Pittsburgh Lawyer Chairman at Meeting

Roy G. Bostwick, prominent Pittsburgh lawyer, was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University at the semi-annual business meeting of that body held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Dec. 20.

He is pictured to the right being congratulated by President Marts.

Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, Bucknell president, announced also the elections of Christian R. Lindback of Philadelphia and Alfred C. Howell of New York to the newly-created posts of vice chairman of the Board. Mr. Lindback is president of Abbott's Dairies, Inc., and Mr. Howell is vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company in New York City.

To represent the Monongahela Baptist Association on the Board, the trustees elected Ernest Overholt, well known banker from Scottsdale, Pa.

Board officers re-elected include Oliver J. Decker, Williamsport, secretary, and Dayton L. Ranck, Lewisburg, treasurer.

The trustees voted to extend the partial leave of absence granted to President Marts last year, in order that he may continue his work as executive director of the Pennsylvania Council of Defense.

Mr. Bostwick, newly-elected chairman of the Board, presided at the meeting. A graduate of Bucknell, where he is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, Mr. Bostwick is a member of the law firm of Thorp, Bostwick, Teed, and Armstrong. He makes his home in Wilkesburg, where he is vice president and director of the Wilkesburg Bank and the Arcade Land Co., and a member of numerous civic and church organizations.

CAP & DAGGER TRY-OUTS
Try-outs for the coming musical production are being held in Bucknell Hall tonight at 8 o'clock and tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Come promptly.

Cap And Dagger To Present Musical

Nicolait Writes Music; Egan Writes Verse; To Be Given in March

An original musical written by George Egan and Gene Nicolait, both seniors, under the various names of "Apart From These Acres", "Merry-go-round", "Say What You Please", and two other titles, will be given by Cap and Dagger on March 11, 12, and 13. As far as can be ascertained, there has never been a musical on this campus put on solely by Bucknell students.

George Egan wrote the story between scenes while playing in a summer stock theater in Madison, Ohio. The members of that group wished to put on a winter production, so George wrote up the play. The coming production has one scene from the original, which was, incidentally, never staged. The story was written with certain songs in mind instead of the usual way of writing the story first and then fitting in the musical numbers. Besides, several roles were custom-made to lend themselves well to the Bucknellians who will play them. Gene Nicolait wrote the music and George wrote the words.

Already on the job
Prof. LeMon is handling arrangements for the instrumental accompaniment. Composed of selected members of the symphony orchestra, band, and the "Bucknellians", the musicians have already started to practice.

Commenting on the gratifying turnout for try-outs, George Egan said: "It is amazing how much good talent is coming out for the play." Many persons are trying out who haven't auditioned for the regular plays heretofore."

Boxers And Cagers Face Stiff Tests This Saturday

Cagers Downed By Muhlenberg 64-62 And G-burg 44-37

Haines Leads Bisons With 22 Markers Against Mules in Thriller

COURTMEN DEFEATED IN LAST FOUR CONTESTS

By Sy Berger

Because of our lengthy Christmas vacation this semester and the coming week preceding the vacation this column has not appeared in print since the December 4th issue of the Bucknellian.

Three days after that issue was in your hands, on December 7, 1941, a red-letter day in American history, you all will know what happened. This was the date marking the occurrence of the most treacherous double-cross ever pilfered by one nation against another. This was the date when at the very moment that they had sworned envoys of peace riding in Washington, the greedy, imperialistic Japanese war chiefs unleashed a fearsome all-out attack upon thousands of unsuspecting and comparatively defenseless peoples living in numerous American and British possessions throughout the Southwestern Pacific.

Since that fateful day, as you are well aware without my having to further elaborate on the subject, things have really been happening with such lightning-like swiftness and producing such startling surprises that there's no telling what we here at Bucknell and in the nation at large can expect next.

But perhaps I'm getting a little out of place here, for this article isn't meant to be an editorial. This is supposed to be a sports column, and as such let's try to observe how this period of national emergency is going to affect college athletics in general and Bucknell athletics in particular.

It is my opinion that the recently passed law lowering the draft age to include men of 20 years old as subject to military service will just about knock the bottom out of intercollegiate athletics for the duration of the emergency. Despite the sincere efforts of the numerous intercollegiate associations to make plans to comply with this many expected losses by college within the next few years, I can't possibly see how these associations can ever hope to maintain intercollegiate competition on the level to which the nation's fans are accustomed to and to which they have come to expect.

As to why I'm so pessimistic in regard to the outlook for intercollegiate athletics for the duration of the emergency, let me explain. It is a known and established fact that the average college athlete doesn't reach his athletic peak until his senior year, sometimes in his junior year, but very rarely before this. Now when a college athlete reaches his junior or senior year he usually ranges in age from 20-23 years old, is usually in perfect physical condition, and thus makes ideal material for the military service, and there is no doubt the fact that as we get deeper and deeper into this conflict more and more college men are either going to find themselves being drafted, or in many cases they'll be enlisting.

The natural and inevitable result of these losses will be something like this: a definite and decisive lowering of the brand of college athletics, particularly football; a big drop in gate receipts, because the average person who puts his money on the line to see an intercollegiate tilt comes with the purpose of seeing a well-played, hard-fought contest, and the loss of the nation's top collegiate athletes will not produce this sort of an affair, and consequently will cause a lack of interest on the part of the public toward intercollegiate competition; with this loss of interest on the part of the general public, there will also naturally follow a loss of interest on the part of the undergraduate toward these sports; as the interest in intercollegiate athletics continues to lessen the undergrad is going to have something to satisfy his desire for athletic activity and competition, and his interests will consequently turn in the direction toward an extensive intramural athletic program.

I've noticed in this week's newspapers that Lafayette and Rutgers, two schools who are scheduled to meet next year on the football field, have already prepared vast intramural programs in which every student in the college will have to participate.

The Bison cagers dropped two more league contests in falling before the onslaught of Muhlenberg and Gettysburg. The Mules outscored the Bison cagers in the Allentown 43-30, 64-62, in a thriller, while the Bison cagers were very ungracious guests in taking the toll of the Bucknell cagers, 44-37. George Haines, who led the Bison cagers in scoring, was the only player to score in both contests, dropping 22 markers against Muhlenberg and treating the Bison fans with 15 tallies against Gettysburg.

Employing a fast break to good advantage, the Bison courtiers scored a total of 62 points only to be tossed out by a Muhlenberg goal in the dying seconds of play by a 64-62 score. Amid the din of the cheering crowd, Meyerdiere, aggressive Mule guard, broke loose to notch a 2-point or with 15 seconds of play remaining, to climax the thrill-packed contest.

The basketballs ran havoc over the Mules the first half and piled up a 10-point margin. The home team was taken completely off guard by the unfamiliar style of play used by the Musesmen, and with George Haines and Bob Snyder each ringing up nine points and Bob Keegan contributing seven tallies, the Bucknell lads raced into a 34-24 halftime lead.

Despite the 12 points dropped in the first half, the Bison cagers, during the second half, the Mules matched basket for basket and added a few extra. Muhlenberg came back fast and deadlocked the Bison at 36 all with 10 minutes to go. By this time, the Bison cagers were in a real jam. The attack, the lead seemed to be slipping away from them, and the Bison cagers were in a real jam. The attack, the lead seemed to be slipping away from them, and the Bison cagers were in a real jam.

In the heat of the game, Dave Secunda fouled Schneider, giving the Mules game two foul shots which dropped through the hoop. The Bison cagers tied it up again, though, when Morty Silberman ripped the cords from ten feet out, and went on to a 42-40 lead as a result of a beautiful one-hander from the side by Haines. It was at this point that Meyerdiere dropped in a set-shot from mid-court, making it 42 all. The crowd was on their feet yelling for the Frank Merrill climax, when Meyerdiere took the gun by 15 seconds to break up the ball game with his lay-up shot.

MUSSELMEN BOW TO GETTYSBURG 44-37

Mal Musser's varsity crew failed to meet their losing ways when they dropped their fourth straight contest to the Gettysburg quintet 44-37 on the Davia Gym floor.

The Bison cagers got off to a blazing start and led at the end of the first quarter 11-7. George Haines boosted his scoring total by 15 tallies in the first half, while Bob Snyder and lanky Ed Glass notched 5 and 7 points, respectively, to give the Bucknell cagers a 22-17 half-time lead.

But the second half told an entirely different story. The Bison cagers got out blazing and deadlocked the game at 27 all with their scoring expert, Morty Silberman, driving the drive. They Welliver, pairing the drive. They

Intramural Cage Season Opens With Six Games; Competition To Be Keen In Both Leagues

By Bob Edmunds

The intramural basketball campaign got under way Monday night with a six-game card, however the competition is in its early stages and no definite teams can be cited as sure-fire champions. On paper, quite a number of clubs look worthy contenders.

The leagues are quite evenly matched and from all indications, the championship crew will have to battle their way through a host of keen competition. League I is composed of Sigma Alpha Mu, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma, Sigma Chi, the Men's Dining Room and the Training Table. The Samians appear to be one of the top contenders for league honors. The team will be built around three holdovers from last year's semi-finalists, Bob Siegel and Jerry Miller. Morty Silberman, now playing for the Bison cagers, will be absent from the lineup, but Matty Friedman and Al Fried show promise of filling the gap. The club is rounded out by Hal Clavier, Joel Shorin, Irv Rubin, Marc Gerla, and Herman Schulman.

Another strong bid will be put in by the Sigma Chi's, headed by Bill Anderson, whose height should prove valuable under the hoop. Jack Hulse and Bill Hein, both recruits from last year's team, will probably play, while last year's fresh outfit will probably play, to climax the thrill-packed contest.

The Phi Psi's, defending league champs, are out to steal the honors again. They are greatly aided by wily Charley Brugan, who earned a spot on the all-league second team last year while playing with Muhlenberg. Herb Healey, last year's first-shoot-out champ, will hold down one of the forward berths with "Starchy" Will.

Despite the 12 points dropped in the first half, the Bison cagers, during the second half, the Mules matched basket for basket and added a few extra. Muhlenberg came back fast and deadlocked the Bison at 36 all with 10 minutes to go. By this time, the Bison cagers were in a real jam. The attack, the lead seemed to be slipping away from them, and the Bison cagers were in a real jam.

In the heat of the game, Dave Secunda fouled Schneider, giving the Mules game two foul shots which dropped through the hoop. The Bison cagers tied it up again, though, when Morty Silberman ripped the cords from ten feet out, and went on to a 42-40 lead as a result of a beautiful one-hander from the side by Haines. It was at this point that Meyerdiere dropped in a set-shot from mid-court, making it 42 all. The crowd was on their feet yelling for the Frank Merrill climax, when Meyerdiere took the gun by 15 seconds to break up the ball game with his lay-up shot.

MUSSELMEN BOW TO GETTYSBURG 44-37

Mal Musser's varsity crew failed to meet their losing ways when they dropped their fourth straight contest to the Gettysburg quintet 44-37 on the Davia Gym floor.

The Bison cagers got off to a blazing start and led at the end of the first quarter 11-7. George Haines boosted his scoring total by 15 tallies in the first half, while Bob Snyder and lanky Ed Glass notched 5 and 7 points, respectively, to give the Bucknell cagers a 22-17 half-time lead.

Mittmen Open Season Against Lock Haven; Cagers Meet F. & M.

Quintet Out to Break Their Four Game Losing Streak Against Diplomats

Garro and Treacart Form Nucleus for Renomen; I-M Champions Squad

By Morty Silberman

Bison sports fans will be treated to the first big doubleheader of the winter season when at 7 o'clock this Saturday evening the Bucknell boxers will start trading punches with the leather-pushers of Lock Haven State Teachers College, and immediately following the final bout of the match, at 8:30, the Orange and Blue basketball quintet will meet the hoopsters of Franklin and Marshall College.

This will mark the boxing team's first appearance of the year, while for the basketball team the F. & M. game will be their fourth league tilt of the current campaign.

Mal Musser's court squad will be gunning for their first league win of the current campaign when they take on the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley in the second half of this Saturday evening's big bargain bill.

Having lost their first three league starts of the season to Albright, Muhlenberg, and Gettysburg, the Orange and Blue courtiers seem about ready to snap out of their losing ways. In their practice sessions this week the Mussermen have shown more zip and fire than at any other previous time this year, and this Saturday night's tussle might find them turning the tables on last year's league champions, who in their only league start in the 155-lb. division. Cy didn't fight last season, but two years ago in his sophomore year he displayed lots of class in coming through with a number of wins in the 145-lb. division, and this year is being counted upon quite heavily by Reno to rack up a few decisions.

One other member of the squad has seen previous varsity service, that being the 120-pound Herb Jordan, but there's a possibility that little Jackie Pink may be fighting for the Renomen at this weight. In that case it will be either Jordan, Sheller, or Labak for the Bison. Jesse Syme or Ralph Keenan will be in the 135-lb. slot, while Garro and Treacart in the 145- and 155-lb. classes respectively round out the lower weights. Jim Shuesler, this year's 155-lb. intramural champion, will be fighting at the weight for the varsity this Saturday evening. Two men better known for their exploits on the gridiron, Jackie Pink and Herb Jordan, will meet Saturday night in this class. The two will represent the Orange and Blue forces in the 175-lb. and heavyweight class this year. Frank DeAngelis, a scrappy, hard-running halfback on this year's Herd squad and winner of the intramural crown in the 175-lb. division will be Joe Reno's choice in this weight against Lock Haven. Jim Reicher, bruising fullback on this year's eleven and intramural heavyweight champion last year, is to get the call from Reno for the heavyweight assignment on Saturday night. Both are sophomores.

Girls who have played hockey this fall should check up on whether your points have been recorded. Some of the captains failed to report all the points. Boxers Face Stiff Tests This Saturday

Joe Reno's varsity boxing team opens its 1942 schedule this Saturday night against the well-balanced Lock Haven State Teachers College group of mid-weights.

This season's Bison varsity boxers presents an interesting situation in that no less than five or six of the Orange and Blue pugilists on this year's squad are men who have been drafted by Reno from the intramural ranks.

The only veteran on this year's team is Captain Frank Garro. Last year Garro went through a complete schedule of six matches without once being defeated, and once again is being counted upon heavily this season. He'll be battling in the 145-lb. slot this Saturday night.

Aside from Garro there'll also be another man representing the Bisons in the ring against Lock Haven. Last year Garro went through a complete schedule of six matches without once being defeated, and once again is being counted upon heavily this season. participate. Bucknell is very fortunate in that we already have and have had one of the finest intramural programs in the East. But the program under which we have been operating for the past number of years will have to undergo certain changes to conform to events of the present and those that are discernible now.

I don't know what type of program the university authorities, in cooperation with the physical education department, will attempt to work out, but whatever it is I do hope that the student body conforms to the fullest degree with the plans as mapped out by them. If carried out in the right spirit, a well-rounded physical education program will be just the type of morale builder to give the student that needed uplift in these days of stress and worry, and then, there is this item to consider, that is, that a good intramural program in which everybody participates will go a long way toward guaranteeing physical fitness for any man, while any of us may be called upon to perform in the future.

SIDELINES... So far as I know these Bison athletes are already in the military service. Freddy Fuhlinger turned in his basketball tows for an aviator outfit and is now a member of Uncle Sam's air corps. Charlie Nagel has enlisted in the Coast Guard Service. And Joe Garro, a promising back on this year's freshman football squad, will be in the Navy. There's also a slight possibility that Big Ed Glass' draft number may be up on or about February 4. If this is so then Mal Musser's basketball squad will be in a tight spot.

While harping on the army, it might be well to state that the Service gentlemen are busy in their selection of the basketball team. Look what they've got: Greenberg, Ted Williams, Bob Felber, Johnny Clark, and a few Senators, much to Clark Griffith's chagrin. And now they plan to select...

cup territory" and it will take a lot to stop them. The Phi Psi, Samians, SAK, SCC and Fijis, all set out on the right foot by chalking up their first victory in the win column of points in the same number of tries. A. C. 34-A. C. M. 9. A one-sided victory for last year's champs with Haines' 18 tallies featuring the scoring. Danny Mazzarella, all against Lock Haven State Teachers College. I understand that Joe Reno is having his trouble in moulting a 9-8 advantage, but they really pulled ahead in the second half to increase their lead. The Sigs lost Bill Anderson via the personal route. In the fourth quarter, thus losing many chances to retrieve the ball off the backboard.

By Hilda Lubliner

The only momentous occurrence in the sports pages this week is Joe Louis' desertion of his Uncle Mike for his Uncle Sam, and Uncle Mike took it like a gentleman. It is difficult to remember now whether there was more pomp and ceremony attendant upon "Hank" Greenberg's first induction last spring or if the swarms of cameras and sleepy sports writers who followed Louis through his pre-induction medical ranks tops.

Louis may fight again in the spring, probably for some army benefit, and if he does, we shall see a nice sporting gesture if the fight went at least two rounds. It's all very well to flatter the Himalaya of the Heavyweights (Maxie's brother Buddy) in the first round, as Joe's purse went to the Navy Relief Society, an army body which you aren't getting paid for it? But Pvt. J. L. Barrow ignores the poor beleaguered customer who pays nice green dollars for what his ticket status is a 15-round bout, and then gets 2:30 minutes worth. And Henderson frets about inflation!

We hope there is no thought of some form of elimination contest to select another heavyweight champion, now that Louis is occupied for the duration. He is getting older, maybe he's slowed down against Conn, and all the rest of it, but there isn't a freshman football on the horizon who could do K. P. for Joe Louis, no matter how big he is.

While harping on the army, it might be well to state that the Service gentlemen are busy in their selection of the basketball team. Look what they've got: Greenberg, Ted Williams, Bob Felber, Johnny Clark, and a few Senators, much to Clark Griffith's chagrin. And now they plan to select...

Winter Sports Reign At B. U.

By Harold Brown

Students Find Ice Skating Excellent

Courts and Pond May Be Flooded As Winter Weather Comes

By Harold Brown

When the mercury begins to dip below 32 degrees, the trend of outdoor activity turns to ice skating. This popular winter sport will hit its full stride at Bucknell a few weeks after Christmas and continue through the winter months.

As was done last year, Mr. F. E. Burpee, superintendent of the Maintenance Department plans to flood the tennis courts to make available skating facilities for Bucknellians. This proved to be quite popular last winter although the task of preparing it was rather difficult. In order to prevent the water from seeping through, it was necessary to dig up around the courts and lay tarpaper and planks. This year, however, the Maintenance Department has a new type of spraying machine especially designed for this purpose. It consists of a number of long pipes which discharge a fine spray of water over the surface of the ground. If the temperature is right, this fine spray freezes, forming a thin layer of ice.

Of course, the river is sometimes frozen over and the pond out at the farm is dammed up and used for skating. However, the pond is predictably dry and it has not yet been determined whether it will be able to be used or not. There was a movement in the past to have Loomis Field flooded, but it was thought that the ground would absorb too much water to make this a success. All this leads to the fact that the tennis courts are and will be the ideal spot on the campus for ice skating this winter.

Sophs Struggle To Defeat Juniors

Last Minute Score Brings 26 to 23 Defeat to Junior Women

By Harold Brown

In an evenly matched battle, the sophomore women's basketball sextet succeeded in losing out to the junior squad by scoring in the last seconds of play for a 26-23 victory. With Jean Bell tallying the first score of the game, the sophomores assumed an early lead by sinking three baskets in the first minutes of play. In the first half, the sophomore power was entirely dominant, but in the latter half of the encounter, the juniors displayed greater strength and almost succeeded in equalling the sophomore offense, before the final whistle sounded. Nevertheless, as a whole the sophomore squad demonstrated greater efficiency in its drive, in addition to having the marked advantage of a larger squad.

Dr. Meyer F. Ninkoff will lead a discussion on the topic "Preparing for Marriage". At the evening session, Mr. E. C. Strouse, of the Sunbury Finance Corporation, will speak on "Financing Courtship and Marriage." Recreation will also be a part of the program.

The Sunday morning session will be led by Dr. Charles M. Bond and Mrs. Pearl S. Norris, experienced lay leader in these problems. Dr. Bond will talk on "The Religious, Cultural, and Aesthetic Background of Marriage," and Mrs. Norris will speak on "The Moral and Religious Responsibilities in Courtship and Marriage."

The meetings on Thursday and Friday are a part of the program in the course in Personal Hygiene and are open to the whole school. However, the Cowan Conference is limited to the first 40 students to register at the C. A. Office.

Appointments may be made to discuss personal problems of this type with Dr. Fowle, Prof. Harriman, Prof. McPhee, Dr. Rice, Dr. Stewart, Dr. Ninkoff, Dr. Bond, and Mr. Herrold on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

S. F. C. Discusses Changes In Plans

The change in date of the Spring Festival this year on account of the new schedule was brought up yesterday at the Student-Faculty Congress meeting in the President's House at 4:30. It was pointed out by Prof. Gathings that this year the weekend wouldn't be as extensive as in previous years but decision as to the exact time and duration would have to be reserved until after President Martz' announcement.

Discussion on that point led to the question of the Student-Faculty Congress' position under the new plan. It is said that it would involve change of the Budget Committees, Senior Tribunal, etc. However, it was decided that no action could be taken on this either until the first week of second semester.

President Fred Schure announced that financial reports of all student activity groups were due in Prof. Burgee's office and then adjourned the meeting.

up immediately in Miss Henry's office. A number of girls have already done so.

Both of these courses will start second semester, since the Defense Council and the Red Cross are anxious to receive trained help. Arrangements are being made through Dr. Rice and the Geisinger Hospital.

Members of adult women's campus clubs are to register for either of these courses. A group on nutrition invited under the Red Cross will be established later.

The local board is also interested in locating the number of girls who have taken First Aid previously. These students can refresh themselves and renew their certificates, since they must have the course before being certified.

Girls interested in receiving certification or in learning if it is still valid should inquire in Miss Henry's office. Mrs. Dyer will get that information as soon as possible.

The Nurse's Aide committee which has been formed consists of Dr. Fowle, Dr. Rice, Dean Dyer, and the school nursing staff. Work on the courses will be conducted through this committee.

either service made any move to urge men to redeem the pledge, "to apply for flight training in the Army or Navy of the United States when needed." It seems to me that they have leaned over backwards to be fair.

I am therefore, taking it upon myself to remind former Civilian Pilot Training trainees of this pledge and to urge them to give serious consideration as to how they might best serve our country now. It may not be advisable to enlist. That is a matter for you to decide yourself. It may be a good plan to wait a few weeks to see where you can render the best service. It may be that you should continue immediately with your Civilian Pilot Training through Secondary if you are planning to go into military service, or through the Cross-Country and Instructor Courses if you are married and willing to use your services in training pilots.

Please give these matters the most serious and honest consideration. This letter is being written not to embarrass you but simply to place before you those facts which are so important to all of us these days.

Yours very truly,

HAYDEN IS NAMED HEAD OF 'V' BOOK DRIVE

Committee Forms to Secure Used Books for Men in Service Camps

Chief Librarian Harold W. Hayden of Bucknell University has been appointed head of the Victory Book Campaign for Union County. An organization committee soon to be appointed to assist in securing Union County's share of good used books to be placed in Army Camps, Naval bases, ships and in U. S. O. houses.

Depositories for the gathering of books will soon be designated. These will be at newspaper offices, libraries and other central public places in the County.

Union County citizens are asked to look over their own bookshelves, and see what good books they are willing to give to the libraries and reading rooms of our armed forces. Our soldiers, sailors and marines like good fiction, technical books, history, biography, and the other types of literature that are enjoyed in the average American home. For example:

1. Do not plan to give old books that have been long in the discard but good books that will be sure to have the interest of our young men in service.

2. Watch the papers next week for more details concerning the organization, list of depositories and other interesting items concerning the VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN.

3. Bucknell University will have its own student committee and special place about the campus will be designated for the placing of books. Good used text books are especially desirable, because many of the men in the service need these for reference and study in their own work.

Sigma Tau Delta To Poll Popular Poets

Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, will get together this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Literature Lounge to poll the members' rating of the ten most popular living poets. This is done at the request of Paul Malone of radio fame, who is seeking this information from polls conducted in American colleges and elsewhere.

Each member was asked to come with a list of the ten living poets who are his favorites and to read a poem written by the one particular poet whom he likes best. After deciding on a definite date on which to pose for the L'Agenda picture, the group will turn to the refreshments before adjourning.

War-Time Program To Be Inaugurated At Bucknell

Council Issues Three-Fold Civil Defense Plan

Bucknellians to Learn New Skills; Courses Begin in February

In an effort to give the student body concrete opportunities to take hold in the Bucknell Defense Program, the Council here has issued their three-fold plan of Civil Defense for the university and the students. The program is aimed at training which the students can carry back to the home community.

The three aspects, as announced by Forrest Brown, are: Plant Protection, Training and Services.

Under Plant Protection, Dean Page has received instruction in Harrisburg for his work as Deputy Air Raid Warden, and has worked out a plan for assistant wardens in all the 38 residences of the University. Most important aspect of the Plant Protection plan is the naming of Prof. Burpee as Chief Fire Warden, with Mrs. Manning of the Women's College, and Dean Page under his jurisdiction.

Also in the Plant Protection, is the placing of the Hill telephone service on a 24-hour basis, and the employment of special police covering the campus at night. A new system of signal lights has been installed for summoning the watchmen. If anyone sights a fire or wishes to report any other disturbance on the grounds, he should call the Bucknell switchboard operator, who will then snap on the signal lights for the watchmen.

Several Types of Training
Among the numerous training courses soon to be offered are included Nurses Aide and Home Nursing under the direction of a newly formed chapter in Women's College of the Red Cross. First Aid Courses are being given as usual for all sophomores, but for the first time official certificates will be awarded at the completion of the course. Right now 30 members of the faculty are taking a special course for training First Aid instructors. Before this, there were no faculty members teaching First Aid with Red Cross certificates. Mrs. Garrison, hostess of Hunt Hall, has organized a Red Cross Sewing unit. Details of these new ventures are printed on Page Two of this paper.

Many Services Listed
Among the Services now being put into action, are the Emergency Medical Service under the direction of Dr. Rice, a Salvage Committee, headed by Dr. Bliese and a special window in

Even the grim prospect of rapidly approaching final exams fail to win the limelight from current war developments. MacArthur's Pacific slogan with our oriental adversary seems foremost in the mind of every one, which is really saying a proverbial mouthful. For, it is by this time generally admitted that the various forms of mild war hysteria officially encouraged in seaboard cities finds no little difficulty in penetrating the relatively inaccessible region of which Bucknell is a geographical part. All of which proves that as long as the folks back home keep asking whether our Alma Mater is situated in Texas or Ohio, the Lewisburg merchants' profits on blackout shades,

First Snowfall Adds New Beauty To Campus

When Bucknellians returned to their University after their three week vacation they found scenes such as these above to greet them. Sub-zero weather made for excellent skating on the river, and the ski enthusiasts swarmed the Golf Course.

WAR COMPELS DEBATORS TO REVISE PROGRAM

A Forum Will Be Held For Discussion of 'Youth's Role in the War'

With the coming of war to the United States, collegiate debating teams throughout the country have found it necessary to revise their programs completely.

Following several meetings between Bucknell University debaters and coaches, a three-fold program has been devised which will be followed through the emergency. First, all debate questions were dropped and second, the long-distance debate trips were cancelled. The debaters then adopted plans to hold extensive forum and discussion group meetings with other schools and colleges.

The topic to be discussed under this new plan is "Youth's Role in the War." A forum will be held between two Bucknell speakers and a team from Penn State before the student body of Millburg High School tomorrow afternoon. Melville Hopkins of Nanticoke and James Whyte of Lewisburg will represent Bucknell.

Other activities planned by the teams and their coaches are participation in Freshmen and Varsity debating conventions to be held in February and March respectively at Penn State. Parliamentary discussions will be held at the conclave.

Bucknell speakers will participate in the national extemporaneous speaking contest sponsored by the Nelson Rockefeller Committee for Coordination of Inter-American Affairs which will begin in March. Prizes consisting of summer trips to South America.

Red Cross Drive Begins On Campus

Mortar Board and S. A. K. Sponsor Drive; Buttons Given to Contributors

With public announcements in both dining rooms, long rows of signs leading up the hill, and banners and solicitors everywhere, the annual Red Cross Drive got under way here on campus to raise funds for this famous relief organization.

Students will be personally solicited and buttons indicating that they have contributed will be distributed to all who give to the fund, no matter what the amount.

The drive this year is sponsored by two groups, Mortar Board and S. A. K. The first organization is composed of women students, and the second of men. The co-chairmen are Ruth Braden '42, and Walt Held '42. Kenny Herrold is adviser for the Bucknell drive.

Kenneth Herrold announced last night that the Red Cross had netted 100 dollars on the first day of the drive. The total amount is set for 500 dollars.

C. A. Announces Family Aid Project

The Community Service Council of the Christian Association has announced that a "Family Aid Project" has been launched under the direction of William Bowen '43 and Mrs. Kenneth Herrold.

Although plans were laid for the beginning of the project last November, the full schedule carried by the C. A. would not permit the program to get under way.

The primary purpose of the project is to care for impoverished Lewisburg families throughout the year. Previously, help was extended to these families, at most, three times a year—Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter.

The problems of many of these families have been studied and lists have been drafted according to their needs. A student will be put in charge of a family and will see that their needs are looked into by county organizations.

The Service Council would like to have interested students volunteer in the project. Names may be given to William Bowen or the C. A. Office.

WHEN LADIES MEET IS NEXT HILL MOVIE

The "Movies on the Hill" put on for this year's initial program last Tuesday night, "Kitty Foyler", starring Ginger Rogers and Dennis Morgan, and has three more shows scheduled.

The show Tuesday night had not yet started.

DEFENSE COUNCIL OFFERS NEW HISTORY COURSE

Dr. C. Karraker Will Direct History 232; 99-100 Prerequisite

A special course entitled "The Basic Problems of the Present War and the Coming Peace" will be offered the second semester under the auspices of the Bucknell Defense Council.

Instruction will be given by about sixteen members of the social science departments and the departments of philosophy and religion. The course, listed as History 232, will give one hour of credit and will be open to students who have completed History 99-100 or to others by permission of the director, Dr. Cyrus H. Karraker. Students who have a full schedule may register as auditors.

Procedure in the class, which will meet Tuesday in 141, 209 at 11:00 o'clock, will be by lecture and discussion. Tri-weekly panel discussions will also be held on designated topics; and in April the new course, while ending at the regular close of college late in May, will reach its climax with the Bucknell Victory Peace Conference to which an outstanding, nationally known speaker will be invited.

"Win the Peace"

The purpose of the course is to inform faculty and students of the principles on which a just and durable peace after this war can be founded. Victory must be won, but after that a peace must be won that will end war and prevent our sacrifice.

Girls Lead Cheers At Varsity Games

One Junior and Five Fresh Selected From Group of 26 Contestants

After keen competition, the major part of the girls who will cheer at home basketball games has been chosen and three of the co-eds were introduced at the game with Gettysburg, Tuesday night.

According to Walt Noll, head cheerleader, six girls have already been chosen from the group of 26 who tried out last Saturday morning. There are still three or four girls to be picked, and final tryouts will be held in Bucknell Hall on Monday, the 15th, at 4:30.

The six girls chosen by the squad, in cooperation with Miss Derr, are: Helen Grim, Louise Stead, Jean Bush, Jean Shale, Ann Mitchell, and Nancy Bick. All of the girls are freshmen with the exception of Jean Shale who is a junior.

Walt Noll plans to have a different sound at each game, consisting of three boys and three girls. The next appearance of the team will be on Saturday night, January 17, at the game with Franklin and Marshall.

Chapel Thronged As Marts Answers Student Questions; Freedom Regiments for Men and Women Described

Lewisburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—To accelerate the education of students who desire to prepare themselves as quickly as possible for some kind of national service, Bucknell University will, for the duration of the war, continue her classes through the entire year, President Armand C. Marts announced today. Speaking at the weekly chapel service this morning, Dr. Marts also proposed for both men and women on the campus the formation of Freedom Regiments, voluntary non-military organizations which will give students an opportunity to take part in the national fight for freedom while they continue their college education.

Adoption of the new war-time program by which the college year will be divided into three terms, will enable the students to complete their courses in three years or less. The program will be compulsory for engineering students, but will be voluntary for all other students, Dr. Marts said.

As outlined by the President, the college year will include a term beginning early in June in addition to the terms starting in September and February. Incoming freshmen will be admitted to the University at the start of each of the three terms. Complete details of the accelerated program, adopted by the faculty at a special session at the President's House last evening, will be announced shortly.

The federal government is contemplating a fund to help in the acceleration of the education of those students whose financial conditions make it necessary for them to earn funds during the summer. Decision by Congress on this is expected in the near future.

The 1942 commencement will be brought forward from June 8th to May 23rd. Easter vacation will be omitted.

The proposed regiments are entirely voluntary and are non-military in character. They aim to teach the women to be leaders in civilian defense, and aid in giving the men valuable training which will be useful when they are inducted into service.

The training in the regiments varies as to hours and include such courses as Air Raid Wardens, Auxiliary Firemen, Messengers, Fire Watchers, Drivers, Emergency Food and Housing, Medical Auxiliaries, and Nurses Aides for the women.

For the men there is a list of the same posts as above, with the exception of the last three mentioned, and classes for work such as carried on by Bomb Squads, Auxiliary Police, Rescue Squads, Demolition and Clearance Squads, Road Repair Crew, Decontamination Squads and Utilities Repair Squads.

There will be faculty officers and student officers, regular regimental meetings, and voluntary enlistments. On the last page of the leaflet describing the Regiment there is a blank for the students to indicate that they desire such an organization.

Junior Prom To Feature Bradley

Will Bradley and his orchestra, featuring Ray McKinley, America's greatest musical drummer, with Lynn Gardner and Terry Allen, vocalists, and the Bradley Boogie Woogie Trio will furnish the music for the annual Junior Prom at Davis Gymnasium on February 13, as announced by Walter Held, junior class president, and Prof. Donald G. Stillman, faculty adviser.

Hailed by many music critics as "the band of 1941", Will Bradley is currently in great demand at prominent colleges and universities throughout the country.

The dance committee has been directed to get the publication out on time. The material for the cover has been ordered and plans for it have been completed, but these will remain as a surprise to the students.

Following the senior section will be

Federal Union Meets Monday

Dr. H. W. Robbins, head of the department of English at Bucknell University, will present a plan for evolving the Allies' Council into world Federal Union at the next meeting of the Union County Chapter of Federal Union Inc., Jan. 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the President's House on the Bucknell campus.

All persons interested in studying ways and means of securing a permanent peace at the close of this war are cordially invited to attend this and subsequent Federal Union meetings.

REGISTRATION FEB. 16

All Bucknell students and faculty members required to register February 16 under the latest provisions of the National Selective Service Law will be able to do so in Roberts Hall Lounge, Dr. Ralph Page, dean of men, has announced.

Greek Winter Formals Begin; Bucknellians Wed, Are Engaged

Yule Season Reveals Weddings, Engagements Of Several Former And Present Bucknellians

Once again the engagement and marital plans of several Bucknellians come to the fore. The Yule season particularly has revealed a number of these.

Weber-Hustler Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Weber announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to John Miller Hustler at an informal tea on December 26th at the Weber home in Elizabeth, New Jersey. Jean is a member of Tri Delta sorority and the class of '43. John graduated from Bucknell last June and was a Sigma Chi. He is now employed by DuPont's plant in Charleston, Indiana. Many of the Tri Deltas attended the tea. No definite plans have been made for the wedding.

Newberg-Samuels Marriage

Elaine Newberg, ex-'43, was married to Irving Samuels, '38, S. A. M., at her home in Mount Vernon, New York, on Tuesday, December 23. The bride is a junior at Goucher College and plans to continue her course there. Mr. Samuels will complete his medical course at Maryland University Medical School in June. The couple spent their honeymoon in Miami, Florida.

Ahrensfield-Haas Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ahrensfield of Roselle Park, New Jersey, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean, to Robert G. Haas of Roselle Park, New Jersey. Jean is a member of Tri Delta sorority and the class of '43. Robert is a member of Tri Delta sorority and the class of '43. They are now attending Maryland College for Women.

Molly Carothers Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carothers announced the engagement of their daughter, Molly, to Thomas E. Bittner of Jersey Shore on Christmas day. Molly, Kappa Delta, ex-'42, now attends Maryland College for Women.

Haynes-Thomas to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. George Haynes have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jeanne, to Robert G. Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Thomas of Elmira, New York. The cooperative home celebrated the event with a dinner party for Jeanne last Thursday evening. Bob, Delta Sigma '41, is taking his master's degree here this year.

Kappa Sigs Present Winter Formal At House Saturday

The members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity were hosts to 144 guests at their annual winter formal last Saturday night, January 10. Band leader, Jimmy McAdam and his Campus Owls furnished the music. The decorations were in tune with the recent holiday spirit. Pine and evergreens were used freely and a great array of confetti and balloons was in evidence.

The committee for the dance consisted of Fred Nichols, chairman, Tom Burke, Joseph Burke, Charles Nagel, Frank Strickland, Ted Roselle, and Fred Ashby.

Mrs. R. H. Rivenburg, Mr. Paul Hightower, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Meyer, Prof. and Mrs. F. B. Parker, Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Biscoe, Dr. and Mrs. Melvin LeMay, and Tom Richardson, a Bucknell and fraternity alumnus, were honored guests.

Formerly scheduled for December 19, the formal was postponed because of the unexpected early dismissal for Christmas vacations.

Women Knit For Red Cross

Hunt Hall will be the headquarters for the student Red Cross knitting and sewing projects. Miss Greta Garrison, housemother at Hunt Hall, announced recently. According to Miss Garrison, who is in charge of the project, plans for the carrying on of the work will be put into operation upon the arrival of the 100 pounds of wool that have been ordered. The wool will be kept in Hunt Hall library.

The garments that shall be made will be prescribed by the Red Cross. As the project stands now, at least two hours of one afternoon a week, from 2 to 4 p. m., will be set aside for a "Knitting and Sewing Bee" in Hunt Hall living room, with music played and refreshments served.

by Pete Waide

Now that we have all enjoyed a nice long vacation with plenty of fun to spice it, we Bucknellians should be glad to settle down here in school and get the most we possibly can out of our education. Bucknellians are fortunate in having the opportunity of being here, and in gratefulness of our good fortune, there is no doubt that we should work to be worthy of all that which we have been given. Of course, during our months of application along more academic lines, there is always plenty doing that is of social interest of all of the Bucknell students.

Last Saturday night, the annual winter formal was held at the Kappa Sigma house. Guests for Sunday dinner were Jean Ford, Marian Coll, Jane Isabson, Peggy Good, Peggy Gundy, Dorian Smith, Marjorie Murray, Jane Shoultz, Gloria Green, Doris Haggerty, Jeanne Verity, and Arvill Elieberger. Chick Gwynne '36 of Edgewood, N. J., was also present.

Alpha Chi Omega Dittie Parmelee was visited by Jim Blair from Penn State. Jesse Beers of Lehigh University was the guests of Pat Dawley. Lynn Valentine entertained Ernie Zimmerman from Penn State. John J. Mathews, also from Penn State, was the guest of Dottie Lee Grounds. Ruth Barrett entertained her sister, Doris. A cozy was held in the suite on Saturday night after the dance.

Delta Sigma held initiation ceremonies last Saturday night for John Anthony '43, Jack Hilbish '44, Fred Kettner '43, George Liles '44, James Moore '43, and Bob Ungard '44. Art Dagenais '45 was formally pledged in ceremonies at the chapter house on Tuesday night. Returning alumni over the past weekend included Howard Griffith and Richard Kauffman.

Recently, skate enthusiasts have been enjoying themselves immensely, what with the splendid skating that has been available around the campus. The pond just across the road from the Christy Mathewson Memorial Stadium has been crowded with skaters ever since the cold weather began, and parts of the river have been very good for skaters who aren't afraid to brave the icy winds and weather.

Delta Delta Delta Lil Bullock, class of '41, visited the campus over the weekend. Hope Hanning Heaton, ex-'42, also came back for a visit. Marge Hopwood left Bucknell Sunday to spend the rest of the winter in Florida with her family. Phyllis Hood entertained a guest over the weekend. Billie Poling entertained Gert Golden over the weekend.

The Sigma Chi open house on Friday evening was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Chandler of Lewisburg. Bob Cleckner '43 spent the weekend at his home in Harrisburg. The Friday evening, Joe Zebay ex-'44, was guest of honor at a birthday banquet on Saturday evening.

Pi Beta Phi Jean Alston, class of '41, returned to Bucknell for the weekend. Dorian Smith entertained Jean Ford and Marion Coll Saturday afternoon.

Twenty-five couples from the Bucknell chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha were present at the Bucknell-Lambda Chi Alpha Night held during the holidays at the Meadowbrook. Several improvements were made upon the rooms of the chapter house during the vacation. Arches were built between the dining room and the left dining room, replacing the wall and thus making more room in the dining room. The living rooms, dining room, hall, and upstairs hall were repapered. Prof. Finlay was a guest of the house on Sunday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Edwin Winkler '44 and Jack Eichmann '44 spent part of the Christmas vacation in Miami, Florida. Six of the members of the house were weekend guests of John Rauch '43 in Wilkes-Barre. Al Vail '38 spent the weekend at the chapter house. Al is employed at the Glenn Martin bomber plant in Baltimore. Jesse Beers, Sig Ep from Lehigh, spent the weekend at the chapter house.

Kappa Delta Betty Bauch '44 visited Frankie Olsen '44 and Dottie Sonn '44 at their homes during vacation. Margie Gennill '44 entertained Martha Lloyd and Betty Fisher during vacation. Dottie Bunnell '44 visited Jean Acker. Ding Clark '43 visited Ruth Chamberlain '43 at her home in Newark, N. J. Midge Mellor '42, Bunny Hermann '43, Ruth Chamberlain '43, Ding Clark '43, Jean Acker '44, Frankie Olsen '44, Eve Muller '45, Nancy Ireland '45, and Dottie Stevering '45 were among those who attended the Bucknell Reunion at the Meadowbrook. Kappa Delta will present its Winter Formal on January 24.

The social chairman was LeAnne Boyle and Anne Randle. The members of their committee included Mary Forrest, Betty Evans, Eleanor Goodrich, and Ruth Howley.

Girls interested in either knitting or sewing for the Red Cross are asked to sign with Miss Garrison in Hunt Hall. Miss Helen Thornton is in charge of the sewing project.

Mrs. W. H. Sauvain is responsible for the direction of the work of the project, who are specially invited to join the group helping with the project.

Joseph Caldwell, a Princeton graduate, was the first president of the University of North Carolina.

'A String Of Pearls' Is Theme Of Bucknell Coed Jewelry Devotees

by Marie Fromuth

A string of pearls, besides being Glenn Miller's new song hit, is the most popular piece of jewelry among the Bucknell co-eds. Just to get an idea how popular they really are, we took a census and found that 976 pairs of pearls are owned by the girls in the dormitories.

Every conceivable kind of pearl necklace is represented among this grand total. We found everything from the choker to the waist-length pearls, from the one strand to the four strands, and from the ten cent variety to the genuine.

The long pearl necklace became popular last season, and of the 976 necklaces counted, 253 were this new, long style.

The average co-ed owns two pearl necklaces. Only ten have none at all. A sizeable number own four, five, and six pairs. Hope Briggs heads the list, with seven to her name.

Genuine pearls are naturally very scarce on a college campus. Barbara McDermitt, Eleanor Goodrich, Bobbie Palmer, Ginny McCabe, Ruth McGuire, and Alice Zindel, however, all have a pair of their own. Thirty-four co-eds own cultured pearls, and 152 have Richeleu.

A cultured pearl has the clear, almost translucent white color characteristic of genuine pearls. Cultured pearls, as genuine ones, are formed in the bodies of oysters. However, in the case of the cultured pearl, man has aided the process of pearl formation. A genuine pearl has been formed naturally, insidiously by artificial means. Richeleu pearls are considered to be good imitations.

This second is much more technical than the first. Registered nurses, under the leadership of Dr. Fowle and our nursing staff, will train the recruits. A girl so trained will be able to work with a graduate nurse in a hospital, a clinic, and so forth. Girls interested in either course may sign (Continued on page 8.)

Welcome Production X

"Nothing new under the sun?" That's not quite so here as Cap and Dagger girls it's organization to the herculean task of presenting, for the first time in the history of the school, a real live musical comedy complete with what has been optimistically hailed as "Girls, gags, skits, sketches and songs!"

A bang-up musical comedy is a dose of just the right kind of medicine the doctor ought to order for this campus, and there shouldn't be anyone who couldn't do with a little spot of wit and cheer, come March.

It has always been maintained by "The Bucknellian" that there is a great deal of latent talent right here on these "Three hundred acres" and now is the time for those co-eds and men who can sing, dance, act, or dream up ideas, to step forward. With a thoroughly organized group such as Cap and Dagger backing the show, and under the able direction of a veteran campus thespian, this new enterprise cannot fail. In fact it has been the hope of a great many people that a musical show become an annual affair.

Last year's Varsity Show broke the ice for such presentations and showed just how popular entertainments of this type could be. With the addition this year of a 'book' and comedy continuity, the Cap and Dagger production ought to have double the drawing power.

The show will contain, among other things, a dancing and singing chorus of the prettiest co-eds in the school. That in itself ought to insure a S. R. O. the first week of the ticket sale, if only for that pleasurable Bucknell custom of "checking up!"

So, "Welcome Production X". (The name will be revealed later). May the headaches over rehearsals be limited, may the programs arrive on time, and may the audience be a receptive one. We'll be seeing you.

Letters

Dean Ralph E. Page has an important message to all Bucknell men who have gone through the Civilian Pilot Training course here. A copy of a letter that he sent to all these men follows:

Jan. 12, 1942.

My dear Friend:

Our country is at war! The situation is such that all our physical and human resources must be used as soon as possible and in the best manner possible.

You are probably one of those who signed the following pledge when you took Civilian Pilot Training at this college: "I pledge myself to apply for flight training in the Army or Navy of the United States when needed." When I first saw this pledge was required I was rather disturbed. I was afraid that military groups might insist that college men be taken out of school in order to build up a large peace-time air force.

Last week I learned that the Army and Navy were having difficulty filling their quotas, and yet, not once has

LEST WE FORGET

Behind that green-edged "budget ticket" which you received early in the semester is the secret of your success in gaining admission to Bucknell basketball games, boxing matches, movies-on-the-hill, artist course presentations, etc.

It's an important piece of pasteboard, believe it or not, and if you come from Missouri, try to get beyond the gates without it. So don't say we didn't tell you.

The next several months will bring night after night of activity (and we don't mean exams). If you "forget" your budget ticket the management will be forced to penalize you by requesting cash for admission. Let's not breed any "one-eyed Connelys" on the three-hundred acres. Remember your budget ticket—it will get you in a lot of places! (P. S.—If you lost the ever-valuable stub, drop around to the Registrar's office. Everything will be straightened out, we guarantee.)

ANY DAY NOW

We figure that by the time this reaches you the snow will be just right for a terrific launching of white pellets between the sharp-shooting forces from East College and the bombarding boys from West College.

Last season the freshman representatives of the riverside dormitory wielded the deciding blow that routed the charges of the residence quarters to the west. Confident that they are still "tops" in the art of snow-balling, a challenge has been relayed to the acting captain of West College for a get-together of the two teams on neutral territory when the elements are favorable.

We might add that the men's quadrangle is commonly known as neutral ground this time of the year.

GIRLS, TAKE A BOW

It's refreshing to learn that the Bucknell girls are doing a lot for "murals", if you want to call it that, among the men in the armed services of Uncle Sam.

Unknowingly, our girl counselors, and we refer particularly to the group which was pictured in the New York Times early in September, have contributed their bit towards strengthening the spirit of a quartet of men serving on the U. S. S. Quail, stationed near Cavite, Philippine Islands.

One of the girls photographed in the group was Janet Bold, Larison Hall counselor. The yarn spins around the picture and a letter which Miss Bold received from one of the Navy men not too many days ago. The message, in part, follows:

"Dear Miss Bold:

You, my dear young lady, are the victim of a pin-sticking; and, as a result, the recipient of this letter. The aforesaid pin-stickling was not administered in person, to be sure, but came about in this manner:

"There are four of us in the radio gang of this mighty man-of-war vessel and we were carefully perusing the latest issue of the New York Times to reach these islands, when suddenly we ran across a picture of a group of lovely maidens who were to embark on a college career at good old Bucknell.

"Immediately we decided to play a game. We cut the picture from the paper and hung it on the bulkhead. Then we drew straws to determine who would write a nice, newy letter to some lucky girl in the picture. As usual, I got the short end of the stick.

"The next step was the selection of a young lady. It would not have been fair to the rest of the lovely young counselors, to have arbitrarily picked one from the group; so, it was decided that the selection should be left to chance. The method used was very similar to a game I used to play at kid parties, 'Pin the tail on the donkey', except that the pin was unadorned. Well, Miss Bold, my apologies—but you were the one who received the puncture."

Then followed two pages, neatly typewritten, and crammed with happenings aboard the U. S. S. Quail.

The letter was dated November 4, 1941 and the signature—Elmer C. Kuhn, Rm 2/c, U. S. N.

JUST FIFTEEN MINUTES, PLEASE

Several seconds before ten o'clock tonight, drop those books (there's only seven more cramming days 'til exams) and rest your radio dial on station WOR. From 10 to 10:15 P. M. Coa Cola will spotlight a favorite band and this evening it's Will Bradley, our Junior promaestro. So give an ear!

Martha Butler Childs, 91, second woman to be graduated from the University of Minnesota, died recently.

Men's Glee Club To Be Heard On WOR

Annual Trip, Beginning Feb. 1, Will Cover 4 States; Le Mon to Direct

The highlight of the Bucknell Men's Glee Club annual mid-winter concert tour will be a broadcast over a national hookup on Sunday afternoon, February 1 at five o'clock. The half-hour program, "I Hear America Singing", will originate at station WIP in Philadelphia, and will be heard over WOR and other Mutual stations throughout the nation.

Consisting of a number of Welsh, Irish, English, and Slavic miners' songs, the music will be supplemented by a factual script written by Miss Tremmie E. Easley, director of publicity at Bucknell and based upon research made by Doctor Melvin LeMon between 1935 and 1941.

The program is sponsored by the United States Department of Justice and has featured some of the outstanding choral groups of America.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Prof. LeMon, will leave on February 1, to make its annual tour through four states: Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. The group of 82 boys is planning to give 20 concerts during the course of the trip. They will return to Bucknell on the following Sunday.

Alumni Organize 41st Chapter

The forty-first chapter of the Bucknell University Alumni Association will be organized January 23, when a banquet for Alumni members residing in the region of Schenectady, N. Y., will be held in the Hale House-Dining Hall on the Union College Campus, Schenectady.

L. Francis Lybarger, Jr., general secretary of the Bucknell Alumni Association, will attend the banquet. The new organization is being formed under the direction of Rupert Sweetland of Schenectady, who was graduated from Bucknell in 1925.

Ruth Draper Skits Prove Popular

Program Consists of Five Monologues; Draper's Artistry Unique

In an appearance here on the Bucknell Artist Course last night in the Lewisburg High School, Ruth Draper, the celebrated monologist, gave an interesting example of her particular artistry.

Her program consisted of five 'situations', the first taking place in County Kerry, where she portrayed an old Irishwoman, and the second a satirical commentary on the life span, entitled "Three Breakfasts."

Following a short intermission she gave three other monologues. They were "Three Generations in a Court of Domestic Relations", "On the Porch of a Maine Coast Village", and "A Scottish Immigrant at Ellis Island."

Miss Draper appeared on campus through the management of S. Hurck, Chairman of the committee here was Prof. Halline.

The telephone plays a vital role in army communications. So the Bell System is helping to school Signal Corps men in practically every phase of telephone construction, operation and maintenance.

This training job is but a small part of the tremendous task Bell System people are doing in this national crisis. They're setting up telephone systems for new camps, bases and factories—handling an enormous volume of calls needed to coordinate the Nation's war effort.

Throughout the country, Bell System people are wholeheartedly cooperating in the drive for victory. To men and women of their high caliber, there is real satisfaction in a difficult job well done.

Roy Bostwick Will Head Trustees

Board Elects Pittsburgh Lawyer Chairman at Meeting

Roy G. Bostwick, prominent Pittsburgh lawyer, was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Bucknell University at the semi-annual business meeting of that body held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Dec. 20.

He is pictured to the right being congratulated by President Marts.

Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, Bucknell president, announced also the elections of Christian E. Lindback of Philadelphia and Alfred C. Howell of New York to the newly-created posts of vice chairman of the Board. Mr. Lindback is president of Abbott's Dairies, Inc., and Mr. Howell is vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company in New York City.

To represent the Monongahela Baptist Association on the Board, the trustees elected Ernest Overholt, well known banker from Scottsdale, Pa.

Board officers re-elected include Oliver J. Decker, Williamsport, secretary, and Dayton L. Ranck, Lewisburg, treasurer.

The trustees voted to extend the partial leave of absence granted to President Marts last year, in order that he may continue his work as executive director of the Pennsylvania Council of Defense.

Mr. Bostwick, newly-elected chairman of the Board, presided at the meeting. A graduate of Bucknell, where he is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, Mr. Bostwick is a member of the law firm of Thorp, Bostwick, Reed, and Armstrong. He makes his home in Wilkesburg, where he is vice president and director of the Wilkesburg Bank and the Arcade Land Co., and a member of numerous civic and church organizations.

CAP & DAGGER TRY-OUTS

Try-outs for the coming musical production are being held in Bucknell Hall tonight at 8 o'clock and tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Come promptly.

Cap And Dagger To Present Musical

Nicolaï Writes Music; Egan Writes Verse; To Be Given in March

An original musical written by George Egan and Gene Nicolaï, both seniors, under the various names of "Apart From These Acres", "Merry-go-round", "Say What You Please", and two other titles, will be given by Cap and Dagger on March 11, 12, and 13. As far as can be ascertained, there has never been a musical on this campus put on solely by Bucknell students.

George Egan wrote the story between scenes while playing in a summer stock theater in Madison, Ohio. The members of that group wished to put on a winter production, so George wrote up the play. The coming production has one scene from the original, which was, incidentally, never staged. The story was written with certain songs in mind instead of the usual way of writing the story first and then fitting in the musical numbers.

Besides, several roles were custom-made to lend themselves well to the Bucknellians who will play them. Gene Nicolaï wrote the music and George wrote the words.

Already on the job Prof. LeMon is handling arrangements for the instrumental accompaniment. Composed of selected members of the symphony orchestra, band, and the "Bucknellians", the musicians have already started to practice.

Commenting on the gratifying turn-out for try-outs, George Egan said, "It is amazing how much good talent is coming out for the play." Many persons are trying out who haven't auditioned for the regular plays heretofore.

HAMILTON, N. Y.

Leading College Photographers From Coast To Coast

Boxers And Cagers Face Stiff Tests This Saturday

Because of our lengthy Christmas vacation this semester and the confusion and excitement of exams during the week preceding the vacation this column has not appeared in print since the December 14th issue of the Bucknellian.

Three days after that issue was in your hands, on December 7, 1941, a red-letter day in American history, you all well know what happened. This was the date marking the occurrence of the most treacherous double-cross ever pilfered by one nation against another. This was the date when at the very moment that they had so-called enemies of peace residing in Washington, the greedy, imperialistic Japanese war chiefs of Tokyo unleashed a fearsome all-out attack upon thousands of unsuspecting and comparatively defenseless peoples living in numerous American and British possessions throughout the Southwest Pacific.

Since that fateful day, as you are well aware without my having further elaborate on the subject, things have really been happening with such lightning-like rapidity and producing such startling surprises that there's no telling what we here at Bucknell and in the nation at large can expect next.

But perhaps I'm getting a little out of place here, for this article isn't meant to be an editorial. This is supposed to be a sports column, and as such let's try to observe how this period of national emergency is going to affect college athletics in general and Bucknell athletics in particular.

It is my opinion that the recently-passed law lowering the draft age to include men of 20 years old as subject to military service will just about knock the bottom out of intercollegiate athletics for the duration of the emergency. Despite the sincere efforts of the numerous intercollegiate associations to make plans to comply with the many expected losses by colleges within the next few years, I can't possibly see how these associations can ever hope to maintain intercollegiate competition on the high level to which the nation's fans are accustomed to and to which they have come to expect.

As to why I'm so pessimistic in regard to the outlook for intercollegiate athletics for the duration, well it all hinges on this reason: It is a known and established fact that the average college athlete doesn't reach his athletic peak until his senior year, sometimes in his junior year, but very rarely before this. Now when a college athlete reaches his junior or senior year he usually ranges in age from 20-22 years old, is usually in perfect physical condition, and he makes ideal material for the military service, and there is no doubting the fact that as we get deeper and deeper into this conflict more and more college men are either going to find themselves being drafted, or in many cases they'll be enlisting.

The natural and inevitable results of these losses will be something like this: a definite and decisive lowering of the brand of collegiate athletics, particularly football, a big drop in gate receipts, because the average person who puts his money on the line to see an intercollegiate tilt comes with the purpose of seeing a well-played, hard-fought contest, and the loss of the nation's top college athletes will not produce this sort of an affair, and consequently will cause a lack of interest on the part of the public toward intercollegiate competition; with this loss of interest on the part of the general public in regard to intercollegiate sports, there will also naturally follow a loss of interest on the part of the undergraduate toward these sports; as the interest in intercollegiate athletics continues to lessen the undergraduate will have something to satisfy his desire for athletic activity and competition, and his interests will consequently turn in the direction toward an extensive intramural athletic program.

I've noticed in this week's newspapers that Lafayette and Rutgers, two schools whom we are scheduled to meet next year on the football field, have already prepared vast intramural programs in what every student in the college will have to

Haines Leads Bisons With 22 Markers Against Mules in Thriller

COURTNEY DEFEATED IN LAST FOUR CONTESTS

The Bison cagers dropped two more league contests in falling before the basket onslaught of Muhlenberg and Gettysburg. The Mules outscored the Mussermen on the Allentown gym court, 64-62, in a thriller, while the Bisons were outplayed by the Bulldogs, 44-37.

George Haines paced the Blue and Orange quintet in both contests, dropping in 22 markers, and with George Haines and Matt Snyder each ringing up nine points, Bob Keegan contributing seven tallies, the Bucknellians raced into a 24-12 half-time lead.

Despite the 12 points dropped in by the unstoppable Haines, during the second half, the Mules matched basket for basket and added a few extra, leading the Bisons at 36 all, with Trinkle, Meyerdericks, and Stone packing the attack. The lead save-saved back and forth, when the Allentown club suddenly quartered to overcome a 42-32 third period lead and set the pace at 54-47. By this time, the Bisons were handicapped by the loss of Matt Snyder, who had been held out of the game by a foul, and both boys going out via the foul route. But George Haines, working smoothly with his red-headed running mate Joe Culbertson, dropped in four goals and Bob Snyder's dribbling exhibition helped us pull up to a 58-58 standstill.

In the heat of the game, Dave Secunda fouled Schneider, giving the Mules giant center two foul shots, which dropped through the hoop. The Bisons tied it up again, though, when Morty Silberman ripped the cords from ten feet out, and went on to a 62-60 lead as a result of a beautiful one-handed shot from the side by Haines.

It was at this point that Meyerdericks dropped in a set-shot from mid-court, making it 62 all. The crowd was on their feet yelling for the Frank Merrill climax, when Meyerdericks beat the gun by 15 seconds to break up the ball game with his lay-up shot.

MUSSELMEN BOW TO GETTYSBURG 44-37

Mal Musser's varsity crew failed to send their losing ways when they were defeated by the Bulldogs, 44-37, in the Davin Gym floor.

The Bisons got off to a blazing start and led at the end of the first quarter 11-5. George Haines boosted his scoring total with 9 tallies in the first half, while Bob Snyder and lanky Ed Glass notched 5 and 7 points, respectively, to give the Bucknell five a 22-17 half-time lead.

The second half told an entirely different story. The Bulldogs came out blazing and deadlocked the game at 27 all with their scoring expert, Welliver, pacing the drive. They

Intramural Cage Season Opens With Six Games; Competition To Be Keen In Both Leagues

The intramural basketball campaign got under way Monday night with a six-game card, however the competition in the early stages and no definite teams can be cited as sure-fire champions. On paper, quite a number of clubs look like worthy contenders.

The leagues are quite evenly matched and from all indications, the championship crew will have to battle their way through a host of keen competitors. League I is composed of Sigma Alpha Mu, Phi Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma, Sigma Chi, the Men's Dining Room and the Training Table. The Sammies appear to be one of the top contenders for league honors. The team will be built around two holdovers from last year's semi-finals, and with George Haines and Matt Snyder, who are expected to be in the lineup, but Matt Snyder and Al Fried show promise of filling the gap. The club is rounded out by Hal Glazier, Joe Shorin, Irv Rubin, Marv Geria, and Herman Schulman.

Another strong bid will be put in by the Sigma Chi's, headed by Bill Anderson, whose height should prove valuable under the hoop. Jack Huse and Bill Hein, both recruits from last year's team, will be expected to help the team's fresh out look, which will help the scoring totals. Chet Podd and Al Magagnoli also look good.

The Phi Psi's, defending league champions, are out to steel the honors again. They are greatly aided by vinty Charley Irogan, who earned a spot on the all-league second team last year while playing with MIT. Herb Heaney, last year's foul-shooting champion, will hold down one of the forward berths with "Starchy" Wilson as his running mate. Danny Reinhardt is expected to play his usual dependable game. The "Hill-toppers" are mourning the ineffectuality of Bill Reinhold and Len Miller. Kappa Sigma, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Chi Mu, Kappa Delta Phi, and Lambda Chi Alpha, will all be tussling for the League II crown.

Mittmen Open Season Against Lock Haven; Cagers Meet F. & M.

Quintet Out to Break Their Garro and Treacartin Form Four Game Losing Streak Against Diplomats

Bison sports fans will be treated to the first big doubleheader of the winter season when at 7 o'clock this Saturday evening the Bucknell boxers will start trading punches with the leader-pushers of Lock Haven State Teachers College, and immediately following the final bout of the match, at 8:30, the Orange and Blue basketball quintet will meet the hoopsters of Franklin and Marshall College.

This will mark the boxing team's first appearance of the year, while for the basketball team the F. & M. game will be their fourth league tilt of the current campaign.

Mal Musser's court squad will be running for their first league win of the current campaign when they take on the Flying Dutchmen of Lebanon Valley in the second half of this Saturday evening's big bargain bill.

Having lost their first three league starts of the season to Albright, Muhlenberg, and Gettysburg, the Orange and Blue courtiers seem about ready to snap out of their losing ways. In their practice sessions this week the Mussermen have shown more zip and fire than at any other previous time this year, and this Saturday night's tussle might find them turning the tables on last year's league champions, who in their only league start of the year thus far turned in a win over Lebanon Valley.

The only other veteran on this year's ring squad is Cy Treacartin, who will be representing the Bisons in the 155-lb. division. Cy didn't fight last season, but two years ago in his Sophomore year he displayed lots of class in coming through with a number of wins in the 145-lb. division, and this year is being counted upon quite heavily by Bisons to rack up a few decisions.

One other member of the squad has seen previous varsity service, that being the 120-pounder Herb Jordan, but there's a possibility that little Jackie Pink may be fighting for the Bisons at this weight. In that case it will be either Jordan, Shaffer, or Labak for the Bisons. Jesse Syme or Ralph Keenan will be in the 135-lb. slot, while Garro and Treacartin in the 145 and 155-lb. classes respectively round out the lower weights. Jim Shuesler, this year's 165-lb. intramural champion, will be fighting at the weight for the varsity this Saturday evening. Two men better known for their exploits on the gridiron this past Fall will represent the Orange and Blue forces in the 175-lb. and heavyweight class this year. Frank DeAngelis, a scrappy, hard-running halfback on this year's Herd squad and winner of the intramural crown in the 175-lb. division, will be Joe Renzo's choice in this weight against Lock Haven. Jim Reichert, bruising fullback on this year's eleven and intramural heavyweight champion last year, is to get the call from Reno for the heavyweight assignment on Saturday night. Both are sophomores.

165-lb. class presents a definite problem because of Marv Geria's decision to quit boxing. The only man who can stand up to him is Jim Shuesler, intramural champ at this weight, but probably see action in this class Saturday night. Two rugged football players, Frank DeAngelis and Jim Reichert will round out Coach Reno's squad for Saturday night's encounter.

The board has decided that all girls, who were nominated for the Sorority Star Hockey Team, will be awarded 50 points in recognition of being selected on the team.

The inter-class basketball rule, stating that girls who played on sorority teams would not be allowed to play interschool, is not effective this year. The season has just opened and it is hoped that more people will participate in this sport. It is a captain's responsibility to give each girl who reports at the games an opportunity to play.

The Red Cross first aid course will begin as soon as second semester opens. It is compulsory for sophomore theory classes to attend. Other Bucknell clubs are urged to go and do their part for National Defense.

participate. Bucknell is very fortunate in that that we already have and have had one of the finest intramural programs in the East. But the program under which we have been operating for the past number of years will have to undergo certain changes to conform to events of the present and those that are due to come.

I don't know what type of program the university authorities, in cooperation with the physical education department, will attempt to work out, but whatever it is I do hope that the student body conforms to the fullest degree with the plans as mapped out by them. If carried out in the right spirit, a well-rounded physical education program will be just the type of morale builder to give the student that needed uplift in these days of stress and worry, and then too, there is this item to consider, that is, that a good intramural program in which everybody participates will go a long way toward guaranteeing physical fitness for any part which any of us may be called upon to perform in the near future.

SIDELINES...—As far as I know three Bison athletes are already in the military service. Freddy Fahringer turned in his basketball bag for an aviators outfit and is now a member of Uncle Sam's air corps. Charlie Nagel has enlisted in the Coast Guard Service. And Joe Garber, a promising back on this year's freshman football squad has enlisted in the Navy. There's also a slight possibility that Big Ed Glass' draft number may be up or about February 4. If this is so then Mal Musser's basketball squad will be in a bad way for Ed's play around the backboards is invaluable to the team's play. That game against Muhlenberg last Saturday night in which the Mussermen lost out in the last 10 seconds of play by a count of 21-19 was just about the most thrilling game one could hope to see, and the 2000 people who jammed the Allentown gymnasium really gave the B. U. Bison cagers a wonderful round of applause at the close of the game. George Haines finally hit his stride, and in racking up 22 points was easily the game's outstanding performer. Including this tilt George's shot record now stands at 15 points in the same number of tries.

This Saturday night will mark Bucknell's first big show of the season. At 7 o'clock the Bison boxing team opens its campaign in a tilt against Lock Haven State Teachers. I understand that Joe Renzo is having his trouble in moulding a squad together, but in Frankie Garro and Cy Treacartin he has two boys who can be depended upon to rack up a goodly number of wins. Following the heavyweight bout the ring will be cleared away and the Bison cagers will meet last year's league champions, the coaches of Franklin and Marshall College. Should be a real good night of sports entertainment.

by Hilda Lablinter

The only momentous occurrence in the sports pages this week is Joe Louis' desertion of his Uncle Mike for his Uncle Sam, and Uncle Mike took it as a gentleman.

It is difficult to remember now whether there was more pomp and ceremony attendant upon "Hank" Greenberg's first induction last spring or if the swarms of cameras and sleepy sports writers who followed Louis through his pre-induction medical ranks topped.

Louis may fight again in the spring, probably for some army benefit, and if he does, we think it would be a nice sporting gesture if the fight that needed uplift in these days of stress and worry, and then too, there is this item to consider, that is, that a good intramural program in which everybody participates will go a long way toward guaranteeing physical fitness for any part which any of us may be called upon to perform in the near future.

Winter Sports Reign At B. U.

by Harold Brown

When the mercury begins to dip below 32 degrees, the trend of outdoor activity turns to ice skating. This popular winter sport will hit its full stride at Bucknell a few weeks after Christmas vacation and continue through the winter months.

As was done last year, Mr. F. E. Burpee, superintendent of the Maintenance Department, plans to flood the tennis courts to make available skating facilities for Bucknellians. This proved to be quite popular last winter although the task of preparing it was rather difficult. In order to prevent the water from seeping through, it was necessary to dig up around the courts and lay tar paper and planks. This year, however, the Maintenance Department has a new type of spraying machine especially designed for this purpose. It consists of a number of long pipes which discharge a fine spray of water over the surface of the ground. If the temperature is right, this fine spray freezes, forming a thin layer of ice.

Sophs Struggle To Defeat Juniors

Last Minute Score Brings 26 to 23 Defeat to Junior Women

In an evenly matched battle, the sophomore women's basketball sextet succeeded in losing out in the last seconds of play for a 26-23 victory.

With Jean Bell tallying the first score of the game, the sophomores assumed an early lead by sinking three baskets in the first minutes of play. In the first half, the sophomore power was entirely dominant, but in the latter half of the encounter, the Junior displayed greater strength and almost succeeded in equaling the sophomore offense, before the final whistle sounded. Nevertheless, as a whole the sophomore squad demonstrated greater efficiency in its drive in addition to having the marked advantage of a larger squad.

Time Ireland, Ruthie Maier, Petey Wicks, and Emory Lou Crisp were sparkplugs of the sophomore team, while Bunny Bunnell, John Shale, and Dottie Davis starred for the junior set.

Dr. Meyer F. Ninkoff will lead a discussion on the topic "Preparing for Marriage." At the evening session, Mr. E. C. Strauss, of the Sunbury Finance Corporation, will speak on "Financing Courtship and Marriage." Recreation will also be a part of the program.

The Sunday morning session will be led by Dr. Charles M. Bond and Mrs. Pearl S. Norris, experienced lay leader in these problems. Dr. Bond will talk on "The Religious, Cultural, and Aesthetic Background of Marriage," and Mrs. Norris will speak on "The Moral and Religious Responsibilities in Courtship and Marriage." The meetings on Thursday and Friday are a part of the program in the course in Personal Hygiene and are open to the whole school. However, the Cowan Conference is limited to the first 40 students to register at the C. A. Office.

Appointments may be made to discuss personal problems of this type with Dr. Fowle, Prof. Harriman, Prof. McPherson, Dr. Rice, Dr. Stewart, Dr. Ninkoff, Dr. Bond, and Mr. Herrold on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

S. F. C. Discusses Changes In Plans

The change in date of the Spring Festival this year on account of the new schedule was brought up yesterday at the Student-Faculty Congress meeting in the President's House at 4:30. It was pointed out by Prof. Gathings that this year the weekend wouldn't be as extensive as in previous years but decision as to the exact time and duration would have to be reserved until after President Maris' announcement.

Discussion on that point led to the question of the Student-Faculty Congress position under the new plan. It is said that it would involve change of the Budget Committee, Senior Tribunal, etc. However, it was decided that no action could be taken on this either until the first week of second semester.

President Fred Schmeier announced that financial reports of all student activity groups were due in Prof. Burge's office and then adjourned the meeting.

up immediately in Miss Henry's office. A number of girls have already done so.

Both of these courses will start second semester, since the Defense Council and the Red Cross are anxious to receive trained help. Arrangements are being made through Dr. Rice and the Geisinger Hospital.

Members of adult women's campus clubs are to register for either of these courses. A group on nutrition invited under the Red Cross will be established later.

The local board is also interested in leasing the number of girls who have taken First Aid previously. These students can refresh themselves and renew their certificates, since they must have the course before being certified.

Girls interested in receiving certification or in learning if it is still valid should inquire in Miss Henry's office. Mrs. Dyer will get that information as soon as possible.

The Nurse's Aide committee which has been formed consists of Dr. Fowle, Dr. Rice, Dean Dyer, and the school nursing staff. Work on the courses will be conducted through this committee.

HAYDEN IS NAMED HEAD OF 'V' BOOK DRIVE

Committee Forms to Secure Used Books for Men in Service Camps

Chief Librarian Harold W. Hayden of Bucknell University has been appointed head of the Victory Book Campaign for Union County. An organization committee soon to be appointed to assist in securing Union County's share of good used books to be placed in Army Camps, Naval bases, ships and in U. S. O. houses.

Depositories for the gathering of books will soon be designated. These will be at newspaper offices, libraries and other central public place in the County.

Union County citizens are asked to look over their own bookshelves, and to give good books that they are willing to give to the libraries and reading rooms of our armed forces. Our soldiers, sailors and marines like good fiction, technical books, history, biography, and the other types of literature that are enjoyed in the average American home. For example:

1. Do not plan to give old books that have been long in the discard, but good books that will be sure to have the interest of our young men in service.

2. Watch the papers next week for more details concerning the organization, list of depositories and other interesting items concerning the VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN.

3. Bucknell University will have its own student committee and special places about the campus will be designated for the placing of books. Good used books are especially desirable, because many of the men in the service need these for reference and study in their own work.

Sigma Tau Delta To Poll Popular Poets

Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, will get together this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Literary Lounge to poll the members' rating of the ten most popular living poets. This is done at the request of Paul Malone of radio fame, who is seeking this information from polls conducted in American colleges and elsewhere.

Each member was asked to come with a list of the ten living poets who are his favorite and to read the poem written by the one particular poet whom he likes best. After deciding on a definite date on which to post the results of the poll, the group will turn to the refreshments before adjourning.

Gov. Sends Free License To Student

In these times of rising prices and high taxes it is a very rare thing that anyone receives anything free, especially from the Department of Revenue, Harrisburg. Yet, when C. Ferris Miller '43 opened his mail box the other day, he found a crisp, new 1942 driver's license sent to him from the Department.

The strange part of the affair is that Miller had not applied for it, nor has he ever driven a car.

Miller is just as much in the dark as anyone else and cannot imagine the motive behind the uncanny move of the Harrisburg revenue men. Apparently Harrisburg mistook him for someone else with the same name.

Although stunned by such overwhelming generosity, Miller gave in to a wee, small voice of the spirit of fair play and returned the license, not without one last, longing look at the envelope as it dropped down the mail box enroute back to Harrisburg.

And, speaking of taxes, could it be that the powers that be intend to tax the automobile out of existence?...

Efforts to break through Price Administrator Henderson's ceiling on farm produce were successfully stemmed yesterday by a pre-heated audience in Congress by President Roosevelt. Secretary of Agriculture Wickard found it best for all to accept with more enthusiasm the President's views.

Nazi fighters are reported to be suffering an acute attack of reversals. They are being outfitted with a dog sled, super-swift snipers, and with devastating results.

Bucknell's Victory Book Campaign, to begin with the new semester, will be incorporated with the Union County drive, all books tagged for sending to the State Council of Defense in Harrisburg, which will direct them to Army and Navy posts, camps, stations, and ships. Pennsylvania camps are making a particular effort to build up their libraries.

Ruth Braden '42 and Walter Held '43, the committee for the Red Cross drive, are in charge of the collection of these books on our campus. Each student is requested to contribute one book, 500 being the goal for the whole university. These will be sorted so that undesirable items can be sold for paper.

Donors are asked to inscribe their books with their names and Bucknell University. Textbooks of all kinds will be appreciated. Technical books, however, must not be dated earlier than 1935. Collection stations will be designated soon by the committee.

After a general discussion among the group on the organization and objectives of Federal Union, Prof. H. W. Robbins read a paper in which he proposed specific changes in the Federal Union set-up. Warning first against the formation of a mere Anglo-American alliance after the war to achieve world domination, he made the following suggestions:

(1) That the Federal Union be all inclusive; (2) that like the American Union, with its states, organized territories, and other territories, the Federal Union should provide similarly for three categories of states; and (3) that eligibility to full membership in Federal Union be based on a literacy test that would prevent such a nation as China with its 450 millions, of whom only two percent are literate, from over-ruling the rest of the Union.

"In this scheme," Prof. Robbins said, "the status of any individual would not depend upon such invidious distinctions as race, color, or previous conditions of servitude; nor would the status of any nation be upon an interchangeable basis. Rather, the status of both would depend upon the progress made in education, establishment of democratic government, and guarantee of freedom."

The reading of the paper was followed by an enthusiastic discussion by half the members. Before adjourning it was pointed out that the idea of Federal Union is steadily growing in the United States, with the Fortune poll showing that 30 millions favor this plan of world order.

vided into sub-committees by Walt Held as follows: prom queen, Ruth Chamberlain, Marilyn Eppley and Pat Wolfe; chaperones, Janet Bold and Al Alexander; furniture, Earl Grose, Jim Moore and Dean Kearsch; publicity, Ted Armstrong, Fitz Walling, Bill Griffiths and Stanley Williams; program and novelties, Jack Gilkeson, George Jenkins and Morty Silberman. Ticket prices have not as yet been set by the committee.

Tickets for the Junior Prom hit a new level in reasonable prices, as tickets bought up to the day before the dance may be had for only $4, including the tax, and tickets after that may be purchased for $4.40, also including tax.

With Dr. Fowle, concentrating on the medical phases of all problems and with Dr. Rice more concerned in the handling of the situation in regard to sanitation, the program has been making great strides. Organization and the actual establishment of boards and sub-committees are progressing. Provisions are being made for air raid wardens, rescue squads, nurses, stretcher teams, casualty stations, ambulance service, base hospitals, and the actual First Aid training itself.

Dr. Rice displayed a large chart which demonstrated the movements of the entire medical service under Dr. Fowle's supervision. It gave the following explanation of the actual service of the organization in action. In the event of an attack, the nurses and doctors will man the First Aid posts. The stretcher teams and rescue squads will advance into the area of demolition to transport the injured back to the First Aid posts. The ambulance service will render transportation to the casualty stations, where blood transfusions are administered; these stations in turn work in coordination with the hospitals and these with the base hospitals, which is Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville.

Nurses' Aid Training will begin on February 1, while faculty members and a few students, totaling approximately 30, are now engaged in intensive work so as to be instructors when the classes begin. University trucks will be converted into ambulances for which there will be a demand for girl drivers. The air raid warden and fire service is under the leadership of Dean Page, and as soon as the system is formally established, the campus will witness a tentative air raid program. The rescue squads (Continued on page 4.)

Bucknellians Play For K. D. Formal

K. D.'s annual winter formal will be held Saturday, January 24, from 8:30 until 12 p. m. in Larson Living Room.

The programs are to be of rose-wood, with the K. D. shield in bronze, and a green leather cord. The Bucknellians will play for the dance. Professor and Mrs. A. G. Halline, and Prof. and Mrs. Donald Stillman will act as chaperones.

A crystal ball reflecting colored lights will be the decorative feature, with balloons adding to the festivity.

Euth Chamberlain is in charge of arrangements, with Dotie Sonn acting as her assistant. Frannie Olsen and Mrs. Donald Bunnell are also on the committee.

MILLER MUST LIKE US.

Glenn Miller, one of the nation's outstanding band leaders, will serenade Bucknell on Tuesday evening, February 3, from 10 to 10:15 o'clock over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

On this broadcast which is sponsored by Chesterfield, Glenn will pay special tribute to the members of Phi Mu sorority at Bucknell for their splendid patriotic gesture in turning over the funds of their forthcoming winter formal to defense agencies.

BARE LEGS, SHORT SKIRTS

Yes, we nearly fainted! We'll admit the shock was too great but who in the world would ever expect to find girl cheerleaders clad in short skirts sounding the galls for the Orange and Blue?

The day has arrived—the scene is Davis Gymnasium; the time—any home basketball game. And as they say in Camp Dix, we think “they got something there.” For if the girls continue to cast their feminine splendor at the sports audiences which crowd the BU sports arena it will be necessary to haul out the “Standing Room Only” sign.

It's simple to figure out and we've been anxious to discuss it for a long time, especially since we've lacked the beauteous ones to help along on the gridiron. Absent from the cheer-leading ranks during the football wars, the coeds also fail to be represented in the trio which struts down ahead of the band before the kick-off, etc.

Now that just isn't fair. But in basketball it's different—for one thing, the girls are inside and there's every protection in the world afforded these precious bare legs. We're certain, however, that on the gridiron, they would be yelling just as loud for the alma mater, in spite of the elements, if they were permitted.

In basketball, again, it's different. The girls make a big difference but basketball in Davis Gymnasium is still basketball.

News Of Men In The Service

Many Bucknellians in the service will be interested in reading this letter from one of the country's outposts in the Atlantic. In answer to a recent letter from the school, Roger Moke, Phi Psi, writes us from Iceland.

December 17, 1941.

Dear Bucknellians:
I cannot possibly convey to you the extreme pleasure I enjoyed when I received your letter. The letter just arrived this evening so you can see the kind of mail service we have.

Iceland is a very beautiful, rugged country. The only vegetation is a hybrid swamp grass. No trees at all except a few pines on the most northern tip of the island. Mountains, lakes, rivers, and glaciers make up the greater part of the terrain. There are several geysers of great beauty here. There are numerous hot springs here, which come in very handy on wash days, as we have to do our own laundry. The scenic grandeur is at its height now because of the heavy snows. Snow storms are numerous and very severe. No one is allowed outside his hut during one of them.

We are warmly clothed and housed. We eat very well considering the fact that all food has to be conveyed here from the states.

We have been working very hard at our individual jobs. What our work is I am not permitted to say. Now we only have three hours of daylight a day so our work is greatly lessened. This continual darkness is very depressing but I suppose we'll get used to it.

The temperature drops way below zero, but the cold is not as noticeable as back in the states.

We spend most of our free time in reading, if we can get books, and going to the movies. We have a recreation hall with radio, magazines, and ping pong tables. All in all, we are fairly well equipped as far as recreational facilities go.

Thank you again for your very pleasing letter. I shall look forward anxiously for another.

Yours sincerely,
Wilbur R. Moke,

From Camp Shelby, here in the States, Tommy Leinenbach, of the Service Council, an original poem.

AMERICA CALLS
The call has come, Americans
To make another stand,
To fight with all the power we have
For this beloved land.

The call has come to young and old,
We all must play a part;
In this our country's greatest test
Let's make a valiant start.

No matter whether rich or poor—
Whatever may be our lot,
Our greatest duty is to give
The best of what we've got.

America has faith in us—
In every loyal son;
And this deep faith well justify
By seeing that victory's won.

So gather round the flag today,
May freedom cheer us ring loud;
Let's win for all, let's win for good,
Liberty under God!

Haines Tallies
37 Points As Courtmen Win

Junior Ace Breaks League
Scoring Record in 77-44
Lebanon Valley Victory

TRIUMPH PULLS TEAM OUT OF CELLAR

by Sy Berger

Mal Musser's charges bombarded the Lebanon Valley quintet into submission as they came through with their initial league victory by the tune of 77-44. From start to finish, it was Bucknell all the way with fair-haired George Haines running wild to amass a total of 37 points with 14 baskets and nine fouls.

The Bisons employed a fast break throughout the game and enjoyed an "on" night in their role of the Plying Dutchmen. From the opening gun, the Orange and Blue courtmen went into the lead and were never threatened during the evening. Fifteen tallies on the part of George Haines and nine and eight by Glass and Snyder, respectively held the Bisons gain their 34-20 half-time lead.

Outscored Opponents.
It didn't take the Bucknell crew long to warm up to their previous pace and they picked up where they left off to outscore their opponents, 43-24 in the second half with Haines chalking up 23 points and every man on the squad seeing action. Staley and Mease contributed 27 of the late game's points, with the latter making many spectacular one-handed shots.

The greatest acclaim of the victory must go to Haines, who shattered the Eastern Intercollegiate League scoring mark by virtue of his 37 markers. The applause for the Wyoming flash was loud as he left the game in the fourth quarter having outscored the whole Lebanon Valley quintet by two points in the second half. George's game was superb. He feinted and dribbled through the stifling club many times, and often broke loose on the fast break to drop in points, unopposed. On numerous occasions, the Bisons junior would take the ball away from his taller foes on backboard plays to ring up baskets. He made nine out of ten fouls to help nurse his scoring mark to the new record.

In the 127-lb. bout, Ira Sheller ran up against Lock Haven's Clee. The B. U. freshman's opponent had at least a two-inch advantage in the reach over him, but by getting inside of his foe's reach and delivering many telling blows to Clee's body, Sheller came through with a hard and well-earned decision.

With equal suddenness Capt. Frank Garro, the Bisons' hard-hitting ace battler in the 145-lb. spot, put away his opponent with a sharp left hook to the jaw in 1 min. 35 sec. of the first round. It was a right to the body that set him up for the finisher, and gave Garro his seventh successive intercollegiate win over a period of two years.

Cy Treacart made it two straight knockout wins for the Bisons when he polished off his opponent, Velvich, with a fast hard right to the chin in 1 min. 23 sec. of the third round. Both men fought in the same round, with plenty of leather being swung by both and traveling at a tortuous pace. The bout-ending punch came so quickly that few in the audience saw it.

Jim Shuessler fighting in his first varsity bout did more than hold his own against his hard-hitting foe, Huggler. The bout was close throughout with Shuessler's lack of experience showing itself when he missed a fine chance for a KO after delivering a hard blow to his opponent's midsection in the third round. The decision was a close one going to the Lock Haven battler.

Frank DeAngelis proved to be too fast for his Teachers' foe, and fighting in the same manner as he did in the Intramural bouts he wore his opponent down with numerous hard body blows. If the fight had gone on to a knockout win, as it was, he was awarded an undisputed decision.

In the final bout of the evening, Jim Reichert, looking in better shape than he has in the past, had little trouble in hammering down his 205-lb. opponent in 1 min. 15 seconds of the first round. Reichert was much too fast for his bulky foe, and a few hard rights to the face dropped the Lock Haven boy to the canvas twice before the referee stepped in and stopped the drubbing.

One Winner in First Three Bouts
Things didn't start off too well for Joe Reno's boys for in the first three bouts of the evening they were held to a win, a loss, and a draw. But in the first bout of the match, in the 120-lb. class, Jack Pink ran up against a hard-hitting boy from the Teachers College by the name of Randall. Both boys landed numerous hard blows and both were pretty well exhausted at the sound of the final bell. The referee's decision of a draw was well received by the crowd.

Garro Lands A Haymaker

Frankie Garro, Bucknell's dynamic 145-lb. boxing captain, is seen putting the finishing touches to his first opponent of the year, Burris of Lock Haven State Teachers College. The K. O. came in 1:35 of first round.

Garro, Treacart, and Jim Reichert Win By Knockouts As Boxers Beat Lock Haven

by Morty Silbermann

In an action-packed match, featured by four knockouts and plenty of free-swinging, the numerous spectators who crowded into Davis Gym last Saturday night were treated to one of the best boxing cards in recent years, as the Bucknell boxing team opened its 1942 season with a 75-25, 43-24 in the second half with Haines chalking up 23 points and every man on the squad seeing action. Demies Will Hold Formal Saturday

Delta Sigma fraternity will hold its annual winter formal dinner and dance this Saturday evening. The Demies with their guests will have dinner at the Lewisburg Inn at 6:30 p. m., returning to the chapter house at 8:50 for dancing. Music will be furnished by Ivan Paux and his band.

Decorations for the dance will be in the friendly colors of black and red, as well as the leather dance programs. There will be no corsages, as formerly, for the money for corsages has been turned over to the local Red Cross drive on the campus.

The committee on arrangements for the dance is headed by Don Hopkins with William Bowen, Bernard Heber, and Richard Gray assisting. Dr. and Mrs. George Gregory, Dr. and Mrs. James Gathings, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank G. Davis will be the chaperons for the dance.

Student Church To Hold Hymn Service

Student Church will provide an hour of relaxation this Sunday evening when it sponsors an informal hymn service. The story behind several of the favorite hymns will be given. Then many of the favorites students want to sing will be sung.

Charles Bond, the head of the student church council, will lead an open discussion on what the students would like to get out of student church and how it can better fit their desires.

This service will offer an opportunity for students to relax and also to offer suggestions for improving student church.

GUILD TO PRESENT PROF. HALLINE'S PLAY IN APRIL

Halline Bases "Parents, Inc." On Family Problems of College Graduate

Some time next Spring—probably in April—a new play by Prof. Halline will be presented by the Lewisburg Theater Guild. It will not be his first work to be presented by them, since his "Wings Over Pennsylvania" a one-act play was given last Spring and Summer.

"Parents, Inc.", which is the title of Prof. Halline's three-act play, is based on his observations of present-day life and is the combination of several characters into real situations.

The story takes place in Springfield, U. S., at the present time and concerns itself with the family problems of a young man during his first summer after being graduated from college.

many others, Bradley's sensational limitations playing made him one of the most sought-after musicians in the radio business.

Tanking along with Tommy Dorsey for "Sweet" and Jackson Twagarten for "Hot", Bradley has long been recognized by musicians as the best of all around trombone players. Now his land, after being organized only a little over a year, is winning similar honors from the public for its unusual performance of all types of dance music.

Walt Held, president of the junior class, announced that tickets went on sale this week, and can be purchased from any of the committee members. The price is $4.00 including tax if purchased on or before Thursday, February 12.

Several new attractions will feature the 1942 Prom. A professional decorator has been contracted by the committee to place elaborate decorations of red, white and blue with a patriotic theme in the big gym.

Another new feature is that the Junior Prom Queen will be elected by the student body rather than be selected by the leader of the band. Each sorority and the Student Campus Club will name two members of their organization to be placed on the ballot, which will be published in the Bucknellian. Further details will be completed later.

MOTION PICTURES

The Motion Picture Committee has now completed the booking of movies for the winter's program, and this includes, in addition to the program listed last week "Blossoms in the Dust" to be shown March 3rd.

The new campus movies will be shown between the two evening shows on January 27th.

Cagers Lose Out To F&M In Last Minute

Diplomats' Rally Overcomes 10 Point Bison Lead; Glass Tallies 13

by Sy Berger

Sporting a 39-38 advantage with less than a minute to play, the Bison lost their opportunity to chalk up their first win in five starts, while the Franklin & Marshall courtmen turned a virtual defeat into victory with a four-point spurge to emerge on top 42-39. Big Ed Glass and George Haines led the Orange and Blue attack with 13 and 12 points respectively, and "Dutch" Hainsner netted 15 points for the Diplomats.

Ed Glass led the Bucknell quintet throughout the first half with his four 2-pointers and his great backboard work. The high scoring Geo. Haines failed to find the range and contributed only one basket to the Bison 19 point half-time total. The Lewisburg five led throughout the second period, but the Diplomats' rangers kept the F. & M. ace, Hainsner, dribbled through the Bison defense to deadlock the game at 39-39.

The Bison courtmen came out and started the second half with a flurry of baskets with George Haines showing his dribbling talents. The Mussermen made good use of their fast break and pulled ahead to a 32-24 lead by the end of the third quarter.

It looked like certain victory for Bucknell, but the Diplomats played all the basketball within them to overcome the handicap and go on to keep their winning streak intact. Hainsner showed the Bucknell defense his prowess as he went through for 8 points, while his teammate Mackin chalked up four. The Diplomats were right back in the ball game, and with the score 29-36 in Bucknell's favor, Hainsner ripped the cords with a set shot from 10 feet out to cut down the margin to but one point. The clock showed but a minute to play, when Smith intercepted a Bison pass under his basket to give the F. and M. boys a 40-39 margin. The Bison came out desperately only to falter down in their court. Hainsner put the game on ice, when he dribbled down the center of the court to knock in his eleventh point of the half.

JUNIORS DEFEAT FROSH SOPHS DEFEAT SENIORS

by Audrey Bishop

Freshman-Junior Game

In the toughest battle seen on the girls' courts this season, the freshman team defeated the Junior squad to the tune of 23 to 21.

The frosh squad showed greater power than exhibited in previous games, but still lacked the team work necessary to vanquish the power of the Junior squad.

The Jean Shae-Dottie Davis combination accounted for the victor's strong offensive, the two juniors scoring 14 and 6 points respectively. Jane Bell led the frosh attack with six baskets.

The powerful sophomore sextet defeated the seniors by a score of 24 to 4 in an unevenly matched encounter.

The schedule includes stops for Wednesday in New Jersey at Peddie School, Hightstown, the high school in Leonardo, followed by a conference for students with the Bucknell men; and in the Leonardo grade school by presentation of the P. T. A. of that town.

The succeeding morning will be devoted to concerts at high schools as yet unmentioned, while in the afternoon the Glee Club will sing at Cranford High School as guests of the local Lions Club.

The second breakfast takes place from New York on Friday afternoon over WOR from 3:30 to 4 o'clock, with a concert listed that evening in the Women's Club auditorium in Orange, N. J., under presentation of the Metropolitan Alumni Association, to be followed by the showing of Bucknell movies and a dance. The "Bucknellians" dance band with fourteen pieces will supply the music. Prospective students are invited.

Before returning to Lewisburg the Glee Club will make its final appearance Saturday night at the high school in Nyack, N. Y., presented by the School Board of Rockland County.

Civilian Defense Council Will Hold Meeting Monday

Prospectus Will Be Given to Students Explaining 20 Fields of Service

BASIC TRAINING COURSES NECESSARY

A complete explanation of the training programs offered here by the Civilian Defense Council will be given to the student body Monday at eight p. m. in the Literature Building, announced Forrest Brown today.

A prospectus will be given out which will contain detailed information on "taking hold" in the 20 fields of protection services. The school is prepared to give training in any one of the 20 courses for which more than ten students sign.

Basic Training Necessary

There are four basic courses, however, which must be completed first. These are: First Aid, 20 hours; First Defense, 3 to 5 hours; Gas Defense, 2 to 5 hours; and a general course of 5 hours. Upon completion of this training the individual will be entitled to the insignia of the Official Civilian Defense worker.

The Council has so planned the training courses that a student, after passing the basic four-class course outlined above, can achieve a first class rating in one semester by devoting only 1½ hours, one day a week to civilian defense. Advanced training will follow the primary training and in some cases may be given along with the last half of the basic courses.

In order to meet immediate military and defense demands, the Commerce and Finance department is offering to junior and senior men and women a twelve-week non-credit course in beginning vocational typewriting. Enrollment in this course will take place on Friday, February 6, in the dean's office. It is urged that only those who seriously plan to use typewriting vocationally take the course.

Due to the short time available and the necessity of meeting certain vocational standards, purposeful, daily practice of from one to two hours will be required of all students who enroll. This means access to a typewriter outside the laboratory.

Later, other interested groups will be given an opportunity to enroll in a course of vocational-use typewriting.

One of the most interesting sections will be the Pictorial Calendar. This will contain from 15 to 20 pages of snapshots recording college life with dated descriptions.

Red will be the featured color in this year's yearbook, and blue the subordinate color.

The seniors will hold elections for the Hall of Fame early in the semester. Editor Eissman would like all honorary fraternities who have not had their L'Agenda pictures scheduled to contact the office immediately.

Also on January 19, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers held a meeting at which Harry V. Johnson '42 gave a talk on "Magnesium from Sea Water". Their next meeting is scheduled for February 10th, at which time another student will be the principal speaker.

The new speed-up three year course will probably hit the engineering students hardest; there will be difficulty in entering new students into the physics classes, which also is to be the case.

An Embarrassing Situation

It would appear that we students at Bucknell have placed ourselves in an embarrassing situation in regard to the enrolment in the Bucknell Free-Don Regiment. To date about 80 men and 115 women have indicated an interest in the regiment.

Because this may be a result of mis-information on the status of the proposed voluntary unit, the following points should be carefully understood:

1. A number of men students have desired "halfway measures" and asked for a regular government military organization, such as the R. O. T. C. THIS IS IMPOSSIBLE. AND SINCE 1939 THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAS REFUSED TO PUT IN AN R. O. T. C. ON ANY COLLEGE CAMPUS.
2. The Bucknell Regiment is the only possible substitute and will closely follow the R. O. T. C. program.
3. It will give men students a head start on the army "toughening-up" process, and enable them to be further on the way toward leadership and proficiency.
4. Army leaders and university authorities are watching the Bucknell Plan with great interest, believing it to be the most democratic and practical way to give Pre-Service training.

Bucknellians Attend Defense Council

College Defense Councils Meet at Harrisburg to Discuss Methods

Some members of the Bucknell Defense Council and two non-members attended the Harrisburg conference of College Defense Councils, called by the State organization of the same name.

The meeting was designed to outline methods of college cooperation in civilian defense and more than 30 Pennsylvania colleges and universities were represented.

Among the speakers were President Marts, general chairman, Hon. Wm. S. Livingston, and Governor James. George Munger, head football coach of the University of Pennsylvania, and director of Youth Activities in the State Defense Council also led a forum on this topic. Training Course information was given by two representatives from the State Department of Education. Miss Cecilia Kennedy of the American Red Cross spoke briefly on the aims of her organization.

A meeting of college presidents was held in conjunction with the College Defense conference.

The representatives from Bucknell to the latter meeting were: Forrest Brown, Fred Schure, Prof. Alvin Biscoe, Jeanne Haynes, Walter Held, G. Jenkins, Miss Bernice Henry and Miss Tremie Easley.

There is ready at their capacity. There is also going to be difficulty in preparing the chemistry laboratories for the immediate summer classes. The students' attitude to the new system is reported to be fine with the majority liking the three year course.

MOVIES—ENGINEERING

There are four movies in store for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, after a short business meeting, for which they will assemble next Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Put out by DuPont, Johns-Manville, and U. S. Steel, the films deal with topics of interest to engineers, as for example, "Bridging San Francisco Bay" and "Heat and its Control."

Five of Louisiana State University's correspondence students are getting their questions and grades by foreign mail.

Egan Announces Cast For Comedy

George Egan, author and director of the musical comedy to be presented by Cap and Dagger on March 11, 12, and 13, this week announced the cast for the production. Those assigned roles include: Billie Poling, George Burns, Leanne Boyle, Dorothy Benham, Bob Schumann, Jeanne Greening, Bob Lipman, Shirley Higgins, Gertrude Jones, Chris O'Malley, Bob Kimmel, Don Hopkins, Philip Roy, and Bill Harrison.

The show will go into rehearsal on Thursday, February 5. The cast is complete except for one important male character part, for which tryouts will be held during rehearsals. Men interested in applying for the part should see George Egan, or attend rehearsals in Bucknell Hall after February 5. Singing ability is not required for the role.

Set designs for the production, executed by John Parachini, have been completed. The three sets will use the regulation stage area, but an innovation in staging at the Lewisburg High School will be the use of the area in front of the curtain in playing some of the scenes.

Special tryouts for the boys' and girls' choruses will be held at a later date. Watch the Bucknellian for announcements.

January 21, 1942.

Editor, Bucknellian:
Thanks for the copies of The Bucknellian that I have been receiving regularly and reading with much enjoyment.

The intention of this letter is to give you my change of address, and also to put in my two cents worth for the Navy. The army boys seem to monopolize column dealing with the men in the service and I dare not, doubt, the lack of information about the navy men.

I have been on active duty as a reserve engineer about one year and I would like to say to Bucknell men who are undecided as to which branch of the service to enter that they can't go wrong in applying for the Naval Reserve Officers' Training. Life in the navy is not always an easy one but it is a good life and a clean one. I know I have no regrets whatsoever for having joined the navy.

I've been on duty in the Atlantic these past six months aboard an old destroyer. A month ago I was transferred to a new destroyer, that has just been completed. It is very satisfying to me knowing that I am now aboard the most modern and finest ship of its type in the world. My work is interesting and I like it. I know that I am not only helping my country but also helping myself to be able to live a better life after the war is over.

Cagers Set For Albright Tilt

On Davis Floor

Renomen Battle CCNY; Sluggers in New York Saturday

FROSH COURTSTERS MEET DICKINSON SEM

By Mary Silberman
Following the brief halt caused in Bucknell's athletic program for the past two weeks by the mid-year examination period three Bison teams will swing back into full action this week.

This Wednesday evening both the B. U. varsity and freshman basketball teams will be playing the part of host in Davis Gymnasium. In the first game, scheduled to start at 7 o'clock, the Bison Freshmen will meet Dickinson Seminary, and following this the varsity court squad will tackle the high-scoring Albright combine.

The third Orange and Blue team to go to the wars this week will be the Bucknell boxers, who this Saturday evening will travel to New York City where they are scheduled to encounter the sluggers of C. C. N. Y.

Cagers Coming Along
Up to last night's game against Gettysburg the varsity courtmen had marked up two straight triumphs, scoring 77 and 60 points against Lebanon Valley and Juniata respectively, and they really seem to have snapped out of the early season rust that they had gotten themselves into. However, this Wednesday evening the Mussermen will be in for a severe test when they meet Albright College.

The Orange and Blue boxers have already met the Lions this season, that was in their first league game of the year. After a miserable first half in which the Reading team got off to a 30-12 lead the Bisons began to click in the second half, but, nevertheless, lost out by a considerable margin. This contest, however, was waged on the Albright court and there was no question about it that the Mussermen were seriously handicapped by the odd dimensions of the floor and also by the unsympathetic and hostile attitude of the Reading crowd.

In their most recent encounter the Albright courtmen were leading 1-0, one of the nation's top teams, and only a late rally by the Blackbirds saved them from a defeat by the Reading team.

The game this Wednesday night on the Bison's own court should prove to be a much closer affair than their first meeting and if George Haines gets "hot" the Mussermen may spring an upset.

Frosh in First Place

The Frosh, who will be playing the preliminary to the Varsity tilt, are riding high these days. At the present time they are tied with the Scranton Freshmen for first place in their league races. A win over the Dickinson Freshmen on Wednesday would virtually assure them of at least a tie in the final standings. In an earlier meeting this year Johnny Sitarsky's boys defeated the Williamsport team, but the boys from up the river are one of the best teams in the league, and if the Varsity should not get underway they may find themselves on the wrong end of the final count.

Boxers Ready for City
With a season record to date of one win and one loss, Joe Reno will lead his boys into New York City this Saturday evening in the hopes of beating a City College team that year in and year out seems to come up with a formidable aggregation.

In the two matches this year only one man on the team has gained two triumphs, that being the B. U. heavy, Jim Reichert. However, Cy Treartr and Frank DeAngelis are also undefeated. Both these boys won their first bouts of the year against Lehigh Haven, and last week the both gained draws against West Point. Frankie Garro, who dropped a very close decision to his Army foe, is in the best of condition and expects to start a new string of wins, his last one being snapped at seven.

Bison Five Routs Juniata 60 - 37

Haines Scores 16 Points

In Scoring Spree; Glass and Snyder Net 14 Each

By Sy Berger
Nal Musser's charges came through with their second straight victory by trouncing Juniata's quintet, 60-37 on the Davis Gym floor last Saturday night. It was a one-sided affair throughout the evening with the B. U. Bison courtmen dominating the play.

The Juniata club held a short-lived 2-0 lead in the opening minutes of play, but the Bisons surged back with 14 markers to hold a 12 point advantage, with Snyder and Glass leading the Orange and Blue scoring. At the end of the first quarter, the home club led, 14-7.

The Mussermen outscored their opponents 16-7 in the second period and sped ahead to a 30-14 halftime advantage. George Haines found the range and ran his half-time total to 11 points with a few spectacular one-handed shots. Red Snyder and Big Ed Glass took good advantage of their height by taking charge of the backboard play and combined for 14 markers. Bob Keegan contributed five points to the cause with a set-shot from mid-court, a one-hander from the side and a foul.

The Bucknell crew coasted along quite easily the second half and still came out on top with a 23 point victory. Juniata's Indians played their best ball in the third quarter when they ran up 13 markers only to be outscored by the Bison's superior forces by 2 points. It was Snyder and Glass who paced the home team's second half drive, both setting shots from all angles to score 14 apiece for the game. George Haines ripped the cords to total 16 tallies and Bobby Keegan hit the two figure mark with five second-half points. Red-headed Joe Culbertson proved his defensive value by breaking up many a Juniata scoring thrust.

321 Sophomores Start
20-Hour First-Aid CourseFirst-Aid Classes to Begin
Saturday at 11 o'Clock in Literature HallFOWLE LECTURES
FOR FIRST HOUR

Swinging into action as an integral part of the preparedness effort here, First Aid classes will begin for sophomore men and women Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in the Literature Building, where Dr. Lester P. Fowle, head of Ziegler Infirmary, will start the 20-hour course with a lecture in the auditorium for the first hour on the purpose, value, anatomy, and physiology of First Aid, after which the 321 sophomores will divide into smaller groups and repair to individual classrooms to learn and practice making eight kinds of bandages.

Scheduled to continue for ten weeks, these classes, which replace regular sophomore gym theory study, will satisfy the requirement of 20 hours of work required by Red Cross headquarters for the standard First Aid Certificate; this means April 18 will be the last meeting.

The 20-hour First Aid requirement of defense courses will be fulfilled upon completion of the course and receipt of the Red Cross Certificate at the end of the ten weeks.

When the sudden exigencies of war in December made this course strongly advisable, the problem of recruiting enough instructors for so many sophomores loomed a difficult one, especially since the Red Cross asks that classes do not contain more than about 30 persons. To cope with the demand, some 30-odd faculty and administration members grappled with the task of taking the regular 20-hour course, a 10-hour advanced course, and a 15-hour instructors' training from January 7 till January 30, sometimes putting in as much as six hours a day.

While in the weeks to come practice will revolve about such things as

C.A. to Sponsor
Religious Service'Need for Worship' Is Theme of Sunday Meeting
at 3:30 P. M.

This Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the Literature Lounge, Dr. J. Maxwell Adams, director of University Ministry, will sponsor a religious service. He urged the students to make use of their infirmity fees and have themselves inured against almost all the common wartime diseases.

Bob Thomas '42 spoke on the importance of guarding against epidemics. He urged the students to make use of their infirmity fees and have themselves inured against almost all the common wartime diseases.

Page Talks of Physical Fitness. Fred Schure '42 co-chairman with Forrest Brown, then introduced Dean Page, in charge of the physical fitness program, who declared that our country is entirely "too inconspicuous of the terrific importance of our war effort."

A highlight of the series will be the weekend of February 28 and March 1 at Cowan, spent with Dean and Mrs. Frank Wilson and a group of Negro students from Lincoln University.

Certification Outlined. Of special interest to those considering camp counseling, educational or church and social work will be the certificate presented by the International Council of Religious Education authorizing the individual to lead devotional services. This certificate will be presented for attendance at a majority of the meetings.

Starting February 15, the meetings will take place in the Literature Lounge at 3:30 Sunday afternoons, with the exception of the weekend at Cowan.

By Rex Wall, Jr. Foremost in the mind of every news-conscious American at the time of this writing is the expected fall of Singapore. It is, however, worth while to observe the relatively calm manner in which this military defeat is being acknowledged, as contrasted to the near-hysterical reactions to comparable Allied losses earlier in the brief history of this World War. There appears to be on the part of the American public a happy substitution of united, strengthened determination for the unorganized, self-centered feelings of not so long ago.

Another chapter is the costly book of carelessness indelicately written with the burning of the giant sea queen, Lafayette. . . . What is believed to have been the result of a single workman's negligence has confronted salvage engineers with the problem of extricating 83,000 tons of flame-scarred hulk from 12 feet of Hudson River mud.

A survey of the lighter side of the news would reveal such intriguing, the slogan of a self-appointed, un-Items as "Bundles for Congressmen," selfish group organized to collect every half of neglected, pension-deserving Congressmen; which articles have, in Hudson River mud.

145 STUDENTS ATTEND
CIVIL DEFENSE MEETINGDisappointment at Attendance
Expressed by Shimer;

Exactly 145 emergency-minded Bucknellians attended the Civil Defense meeting Monday night in the Literature Building, where Dean Shimer, in his opening talk, asked, "Where are the other students of this university—tolling in easy chairs waiting for another Pearl Harbor?"

Dean Shimer's speech preceded a generally informative session outlining the training opportunities now being offered to the men and women of Bucknell. Forrest Brown, after displaying the insignia of several of the Civilian Defense corps, stressed the importance of the 20-hour First Aid course which will be offered as part of most of the other courses instead of the required ten for the standard certificate. "If the war continues at its present pace," he declared, "there may not be a single doctor in any community under 50 years of age!" Thus, he stated, "it is absolutely essential that a community have citizens who know exactly what to do in case of an air raid or some other war disaster which will cause death and injury."

Bob Thomas '42 spoke on the importance of guarding against epidemics. He urged the students to make use of their infirmity fees and have themselves inured against almost all the common wartime diseases.

Page Talks of Physical Fitness. Fred Schure '42 co-chairman with Forrest Brown, then introduced Dean Page, in charge of the physical fitness program, who declared that our country is entirely "too inconspicuous of the terrific importance of our war effort."

The prayer of consecration and benediction followed, and the chapel was closed with the postlude "Trumpet Tune and Air" by Purcell.

Make Visit to Gettysburg and Washington

Mr. Howard W. Runkle, assistant in speech, has announced that the Bucknell Debating Society will send representatives on two tours. The first tour will take in Gettysburg, Washington and parts of Maryland on February 28, 29 and the last and 2nd of March. Cullen Shipman and Sidney Apfelbaum, the representatives, will be accompanied by Dr. Robert T. Oliver and Mr. Runkle. The subjects will be, "What Will Be the Nature of the Peace Following the Present War?" and "How Can We Best Implement the Good Neighbor Policy?"

No one has been selected for the second tour which will be early in March. This will include a number of New England states.

Due to the war the debate forum will not be used but forums and symposiums will be substituted.

Change In Telephone Numbers
Interferes With Social And Scholastic Campus Activities

By Ray Wilson "Hello, would you call Betty Murray, please?" Isn't this second floor Larkin's 100th excuse me?" This could have been a phone call to any of the many phone calls which have been made since the change in the telephone numbers on the campus was changed, effective Feb. 2.

When you stop to think about it, this change could play havoc with activities on the campus. For example, the calculus student on second floor West Wing, wanting to know the answer to the problem of a assignment, calls his pal at the Kappa Sigma house. Here's the answer he might receive: "Hi, Mommy's at bridge club and Daddy went away. Chye!" Three-year-olds shouldn't be left in charge of telephones, anyway.

As the Buffalo Valley Telephone Company officials explained it, all pay phone numbers in Lewisburg now end with at least two zeros, and the campus for six numbers being used in some instances is that a new "hundred" line has been added to the system, necessitating an addition of one number instead of using letter combinations as in cities.

Included in telephone changes on campus are 5 fraternities, 15 dormitory phones and the faculty house. Additions made since last year's directory was published are the Sixth Street house, Walker Street house, and the Hays house. Phones on second and fourth floors of West College are no longer listed, having been connected to the college switch board.

CHAPEL COMMEMORATES
'OUR THREE FLAGS'Students Present Christian,
National, and Bucknell
Flags at Service

"A Service in Commemoration of Our Three Flags" was the theme of the Chapel program this morning in which the Christian Flag, the National Flag, and the Bucknell Flag were presented by Jane Colterzyahn, Fred Schure, and George Jenkins, respectively.

As each student presented the flag he bore to President Marts, he gave a short talk on the significance of the flag. These three flags were presented to Dr. Marts to replace the three flags that he presented to the officers of the senior class at the graduation ceremonies last June.

The service began with the Invocation by President Marts followed by an organ meditation, "Largo" by Rinck. The students then united in the hymn, "When Wilt Thou Save The People."

Lincoln's immortal "Gettysburg Address" was given for the responsive reading, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Miss Marian Douglass gave a solo selection, "Jerusalem," from "St. Paul" by Mendelssohn.

After the stirring hymn, "Flare Out the Banner," Miss Jane Colterzyahn presented the Christian Flag, and the students gave their pledge of allegiance to this flag.

Fred Schure, Jr., presented the National Flag to the accompaniment of "America," after which a pledge to this was given by all those present.

The third flag, that of Bucknell, was presented by George Jenkins, and "Hail All Hail: Bucknell" and the "Alma Mater" were played.

The prayer of consecration and benediction followed, and the chapel was closed with the postlude "Trumpet Tune and Air" by Purcell.

Will Bradley Plays For 'Patriotic
Prom' At Gym Tomorrow NightFourteen Co-eds Compete for Crown; Band Features Allen, Gardner, McKinley; Defense Stamps Adorn Corsages

Bucknell goes "all-out" tomorrow night—socially and patriotically—on the occasion of what promises to be the most colorful Junior Prom in the college history. A star-spangled, red, white, and blue decorative scheme, specially designed in keeping with the spirit of the day, will bedeck the interior of Davis Gymnasium while sweetheart and swain dance to the music of Will Bradley and his orchestra.

"Victory corsages" have been adopted by the prom committee as the standard corsage to give impetus to the "all-out" theme. To this end the corsages will consist of a gardenia or white carnation and will carry defense stamps hinged on two blue ribbons which will be attached to a red sash. (See photo on page 3). Programs will also follow the patriotic motif—in white with blue and red tassels.

The Time Is Now....

Student Faculty Congress meets this afternoon in deliberative session to discuss one of the toughest problems to face a group of campus leaders.

We refer to the very delicate task of planning for activities during the summer session, the placing of extra-curricula affairs on a three semester, war-time basis, and the reduction of non-contributive units.

Not many people are aware of the fact that there are just about 80 extra-curricular committees, groups, fraternities and clubs here at Bucknell. Unfortunately, a number of them no longer mean anything to the large bulk of the student population, although they probably are important to the individual members.

The question that arises upon consideration of any plan to cut activities, is the burning one entitled, "Where Shall the Line be Drawn?" "The Bucknellian" holds no brief, either for itself, or for any other group. We merely state that if the health, morale, and goal of all Bucknell students is to be realized, then a reduction of time-wasting activities must come.

The length and non-productivity of the vast number of stupid campus committee meetings has been a standard joke for too many years. In wartime, life should be stripped of all but the essentials. Recreation also is important, but only in the sense that it meets the needs of the entire student body.

Now is the time for Student Faculty Congress to evaluate and bring up to date the antiquated and uncoordinated activity program here at Bucknell. It may be that the more efficient point-system used by other universities could be utilized. Whatever the outcome of this afternoon's meeting, we hope the near future will bring about a greater and more practical consolidation of student energy.

Allegheny College was so named because a large part of the area it serves is watered by streams that make up the Allegheny river.

GIVE TO THE RED CROSS

IN CASE OF FIRE

Long before we heard of the title "Civilian Defense," a Bucknell parent had conceived a novel plan of "protection" for his son who had contracted for a room in one of the private homes off-campus.

Story is that the lad got cooped up in the attic somehow and when the father dropped around for a visit and observation he became alarmed at the dangerous position in which the lad might find himself in case of fire.

Several days later the express man arrived with a huge package which contained more than three-dozen feet of rope. The instructions provided that the son should tie one end of the rope to the bed or some dependable piece of furniture, coil the remainder of the hemp in snake-like fashion—in case of fire—he should toss the rope out the window and slide down the escape stair.

Fortunately, there never was any fire, but neighbors on Mill street report that "escape drills" were many and thrilling, with nearly every member of the rooming-house college group participating. Some fun, eh?

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE

Calling all men. ————— Don't say we didn't warn you. If you fail to comply with those 12:30 p. m. or 11 p. m. curfews at the Van Gundy house and hesitate in making a hurried exit—on time, you're likely to have a bucket of sand curled around your head. Maybe that's carrying things a bit too far, but the buckets of sand and the buckets are part of student defense against incendiary bombs, etc.

Now, where have we heard that one before?

SLACK TIMES

Seems like we can't get away from this defense business and if we bore you, just remember that the Junior Prom is tomorrow night and the opportunity for a good time, away from some of the burdens of the day, is only about 24 hours away.

But we intended to write something about slacks—you know, those male tights which many of the coeds have adopted of late. Well, it's okay—cause a Dean of Women up near Englewood has rested the stamp of approval on the slacks for school wear.

The issue of slacks vs. skirts, which at other periods of American history might have grown into a cause celebre has been decided at Bucknell without the slightest fuss. Times change, so do women's styles—this time it's slacks.

THE "GOOD NEIGHBOR" POLICY

Call it for the sake of harmony or what you will but Charlie Brogan replied to Fred Lechner's fine display of sportsmanship of several weeks ago, with a gift of a miniature fraternity peddle last week.

No doubt you recall that Lechner, S. A. E. semi-finalist in the recent intramural boxing bouts, stopped in to fill Brogan's seat in the first round of the tussle when the Phi Psi puncher suffered a slight eye injury and was unable to compete in the deciding match. Lechner, in a fine gesture of sportsmanship, turned over the medal, which he received as finalist, to Brogan.

Brogan, in appreciation, responded with a special gift to Lechner.

GETTING THINGS IN ORDER

There's so much awaiting the Bucknell gang tomorrow night that perhaps it would be an excellent idea to check up before the annual Junior Prom.

The committee is about ready to open the doors to Davis Gym with the following promised:

Music by Will Bradley, featuring Terry Allen and Lynn Gardner, vocalists, and Ray McKinley (keep an eye on him), drummer deluxe. Decorations in keeping with the patriotic spirit to cover the interior of the gymnasium.

A grand promenade of all dancers at the Prom.

The "victory corsages"—defense stamps, gardenias, etc., all arranged especially for her.

Last, but certainly not least, the Junior Prom queen. Your guess is as good as the collegian's next to you. It would be nice to check on as many of the details as possible to some danceable music amid a fun-loving gathering in the meantime.

ADDENDA

Collegiate cinema-goers note the strong resemblance between Chick Etridge, L'Agenzia sports editor, and Robert Cummings of screen fame. For many, many years it has been going its own way, and that puzzling time-piece atop West College is determined to stick to Eastern Standard Time—have you noticed? ————— Add to the list of industrious coeds knitting for the Allies—Mae Lewis, Margie Strouse, Ruth Cooper, Marian Kemp, and Helen Grosskurth.

In the evening hours you may have noticed an unusually large concentration of parked autos around the engineering building. It seems that this particular edifice is a "hotbed" of activity as Bucknell continues its contributions with the training of citizens for jobs in war industries and allied lines. Here you will find pink-cheeked youths and round-shouldered veterans—working the levers on whirling lathes, hanging on sheet metal, cutting metal with blue flames of acetylene torches and myriad other duties. Or you can see them listening to lectures in classrooms or working out problems at their desks. Others will be learning how blue prints are read and still others will be studying how to make those same blueprints. What's more, the classes extend around the clock—for when daylight comes the Bucknell engineers pitch in as an added effort to speed the war force.

Came the snow, the rain, and the flood signal was sounded at the P. George St. bus as water poured into the cellar of the edifice—not for long however, but the girls vow they'll never forget the arduous task of hauling their trunks from the basement storeroom. The brother combination now flourishing on fourth floor, East College, has added another group to its fold with the addition of Jack Kimmel from Bloomsburg to join brother Bob.

POTPOURRI

Student followers of the international strife are of the opinion that the dictators will make no separate peace, but will hang together—we hope.

With sugar on the ration list, Frank Garro won't have to worry about that "sweet tooth" anymore.

According to John Buckman (back with us after a hitch with the U. S. Air Force) the sheepskin most desired today by college undergraduates is the kind that lines an aviator's helmet.

Art Schallack would like to add these horses to the stallions that won't help solve the transportation problem: Trojan, hobby, and saw.

Date of Post-Exam Jubilee Is April 1

Don Sholl, president of Torch and Scroll, announced that the date of the annual Post Exam Jubilee has been tentatively set for April 1, since all the dates in February have been taken.

At the meeting last Thursday of Torch and Scroll sponsor of the Jubilee, it was decided that the name, Post Exam Jubilee, would have to be changed because of its late date. The committee appointed to decide upon the date is composed of Dick Gray, George Jenkins, and Jeanne Haynes. No further plans have been made as yet.

NEWLY FORMED RIFLE CLUB BEGINS ACTIVITIES

Shooting Range Is Located At 131 Market Street; Meeting Monday Night

The sponsors of the rejuvenated Lewisburg Rifle and Bow Club have been working for several weeks to put the new indoor range in order. This range, located in the basement of the Lewisburg Club at 131 Market Street, is now in operation. The first match was fired over it last Wednesday, February 4, when the Junior Division of the club turned in excellent scores in a postal match in the Junior Division match of the National Rifle Association.

The first official shooting night for the senior members of the club, in addition to local and college student members, will be on Monday at 7:00 o'clock. All persons who have already indicated that they expect to join the club and any others interested in rifle shooting are urged to be present. The range has five firing points and can accommodate a considerable number of shooters in an evening. It is (Continued on page 8.)

Member Of Bucknell Men's Glee Club Relates Incidents Of Annual Concert Tour

by Dick Gray

When the Bucknell Men's Glee Club goes on tour through the East in February, a number of curious incidents occur which were never meant to be either recorded or distributed among the general public. Hardly being legitimate publicity, this makes them even more interesting reading.

Everyone being on time, the Club departed from the Music School at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, Feb. 1. It was the first time since last year's trip that 74 Bucknell male students had all shaved at the same time. Often referred to as the "Bucknell Glee-men," the trip this year indicated that the title was well-earned. For numerous case-histories of the week, a few of which will be mentioned, stand to emphasize this point.

Before enumerating these, it may be well to explain that it is the custom to "quarter" (used in the housing sense) the men in private homes during their stay in small towns. These homes are fairly representative of the town's population, and as "homes for the night" often prove interesting or uninteresting, as the case may be.

Case No. 1: A beautiful set of twins were hostesses to around sixteen members of the Glee Club in Pottstown, Pa. They also secured dates for the remainder of the club; the other 58 were guests of four girls who the twins could locate.

Case No. 2: Two club-members staying in Philadelphia opened the window at night for fresh air and froze a howl-full of pet gold-fish who were tragically near.

Case No. 3: Two room-mates returned one morning with the claim that no one had stayed with a family in the Colorado Union, football squad, never played football until he enrolled at C. U.

RELIGIOUS MEETING

There will be an informal meeting in the President's house of those students interested in religious discussion. The first meeting will be Sunday, Feb. 22 at 9:30. The speaker will be Dr. Meyer of the political science department. His subject is "A Christian Student Looks at the World."

SENIORS

Don't forget to vote for your most outstanding classmate in the "Hall of Fame" balloting Friday afternoon. The L'Agenzia announces there are 8 men and a girl to be chosen.

Assisting Whiteinan, on the committee, are Thomas Walker and William Schnure, both of the class of '44.

Boxers Bow In Close Match To C. C. N. Y 4 1-2 To 3 1-2; Garro, DeAngelis, Trecartin Winners

Speaking to Al Humphreys last week, I asked him whether he thought Bucknell would make freshmen eligible for varsity football next year. He replied that nothing definite had been decided as yet about it, but that if the other schools throughout the country continue to adopt this policy as they have been doing, then they will just have to follow suit.

Looking at next year's football schedule I certainly think that it would be to the team's advantage to have freshmen eligible for the varsity squad. For I notice that on successive Saturdays next Fall the Bison does away against Penn State, Rutgers-Lafayette, Boston U., and Temple. That's a man-sized order for any team, and indicating that the varsity does may be just what Al Humphreys will be needing in the way of reserve strength.

In regard to freshmen eligibility, the Eastern Pennsylvania Collegiate Basketball League, of which the Bison court squad is a member, passed a rule permitting any team in the league to play one member from their freshman team on their varsity squad for any varsity man that was left to the team because of the draft or through military service. This new rule will have little effect on the Bison's squad, for he has lost only one man from his team, that being Fred Ehringer, and it is doubtful whether he would have been drafted. The rule would deprive John Starks's squad of one of its boys, especially in view of the fact that at the present time the freshmen courters are in a tie for first place in their league and stand a better than fair chance of winning the league title. However, one team seems to have taken full advantage of this new rule. University, a team which has been losing decisively and consistently up to now, has added four men from their freshman squad to the varsity team, and in their only game since these additions they lost out to a powerful Allegheny five by a margin of 40-46. Looks like more trouble for the Mussermen.

When George Haines tallied 37 points against Lebanon Valley two weeks ago, and thereby broke the league scoring record for a single game, he thought that he might possibly have also established a new record for Bucknell scoring. Well, we had to go pretty far back in the past to find somebody who had broken his record, and I'm sorry to say that George doesn't even come close. For in the year 1933, a Bucknell player, John Alderson by name, threw in 49 field goals for a total of 80 points in a single game. The Bison won that game against some small Philadelphia school by the scant margin of 15-8. But we hope that this doesn't discourage our George too much, because the way in which he has been throwing that ball through the hoop this season I think would make even Mr. Anderson take his hat off to the Junior speedster.

The Bison basketball team was supposed to meet Lebanon Valley again this Saturday night, but because so many of the boys on the squad have big social affairs at their fraternity houses that night, the boys were given a break and the game was moved up to tonight. However, after that grueling race-horse game against Allegheny last night and tonight's tussle with the Flying Dutchmen, most of the boys will probably appreciate a nice snore instead of a big dance. But you can bet that when their dances roll around they'll be out there burning up their respective dance floors, perhaps even more effectively than they do on the basketball floor.

George McGill is back at school. Most of the Junior and Senior will remember "Mac" as being one of the best tennis players that Bucknell has had in many a year. After remaining out of school for two years he has now come back for his degree, and in all probability he'll be playing for the Bisons again this spring, which ought to give the netmen a real good square. All they need now is a few tennis balls.

In a nip-and-tuck boxing match, boasting a whirlwind finish that would have shamed most movie "million-drammers", the Bucknell boxing team overcame early setbacks and made a valiant victory bid at New York City Saturday night but were noosed out by Trecartin and Frank DeAngelis, who won the fight by a unanimous decision.

Wins by Captain Frank Garro, Cy Trecartin and Frank DeAngelis dealt the score at 3 to 2, 3 to 2, and 3 to 2, respectively. The first round, City College of New York fought against the Bison. An early exchange of punches, with Trecartin and DeAngelis, who won the fight by a unanimous decision.

Frank DeAngelis Scores Win
A different story and brighter for Bucknell was punched out by Frank DeAngelis in the 17th round. He started out like a rocket and swayed blows with tussle-like Willie Sherman with the honors about even at the end of the first round. It was two-to-two slugging in the second with Bucknell getting the shade. Sherman used a punch like his mallet in the final round but Frankie bounced the leather off Willie's whiskers and he just managed to land the last blow. DeAngelis' little windmill, Frank Garro, forced the 145-lb. fray to Traube and forced under the City College's zipper-fast left to grab the nod. Chicago.

Muhlenberg Leads Frosh Cagers Tied Basketball League For League Lead

Bisons Wallow In Fifth Place; F&M and Albright Threaten Mules

With little more than one half of the current basketball season already gone by, Bucknell's position in the Eastern Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Basketball League is certainly not as enviable one. In league competition, not including last night's tilt with Albright, the Mussermen have won one game while losing five, and are fifth in the league standings.

Leading the league is the court team of Muhlenberg College, the only undefeated team in the loop. Up to last week's game against Franklin and Marshall the Mules had been tied with the Diplomats, but by handling the P. and M. quintet a 34-41 drubbing they took over undisputed possession of first place. This was the P. and M.'s largest first setback in 16 consecutive league contests.

Tied with F. and M. for second place is Albright, whom the Bison met last night. Earlier in the week Albright had beaten Gettysburg 63-47. This Saturday night F. and M. and Albright met each other at Reading the winner taking over undisputed possession of second place.

It is interesting to note that Bucknell continues in their only class with Muhlenberg this year last out to the Mules in the last minute of play by a 64-62 count.

by Hal Kierce '40
Like punches in the final round by Garro had Traube out on his feet and only Divine Providence and the comforting sound of the gong saved him from star-gazing from a prone position.

Cy Trecartin was cool and calm and collected the duke over game Harold Parkins of City College in the 15th round. Cy's fast left jab and smashing right proved rather distressing to Parkins and it was the Bison "Greek God" all through the fight till.

Scheller Takes a Half Point
Netting a half point for Bucknell with a draw, young Irwin Scheller held the offensive throughout the 12th round, class and mixed plenty of leather with mouthcoiled Stan Grober who looked like a belted-down water-skiist. The City College left's arm was jabbing and counter rights kept "Schell" from taking the fight.

In the evening's surprise package, "Sonny" Pincus, wearing the Bison boxing gloves, was the first time, fought a mano-defensive bout against experienced Bernie Cott only to be deprived of a win by a one-half point, according to the referee's announcement.

Frank Burns leads the list of Freshmen bowlers with 27 field goals and 6 goals for a total of 60 points. His closest rivals for scoring honors are Ed Brader who scored 49 points, and Ray Keagan who scored 48 points. Burns' consistent drive is pressing Bill with 49 points. In league games, though, Burns has a total of 19 and 18 points, respectively.

Following George on the scoring list is Big Ed Glass who found the range against Juniata, F. & M., and Lebanon Valley by ringing up 41 points in the three contests. Ed has 79 markers next to his name and is trailed quite closely by "Red" Snyder, who roused out the Bison's "big three" in the point column with 72 points.

Bob Keagan, the club's defensive star, has tallied 46 points, his best scoring performance being against Juniata when he dropped in 10 tallies. Joe Culbertson and Dave Scudera have compiled 19 and 18 points, respectively.

W. Va. Boxers Here Saturday Return Match Between Garro-Hernandez To Be Feature Bout

Junior Speedster Has Tallied One-Third of Team's Points

Despite the unimpressive win and record compiled by the Bison court squad, the Mussermen have done fairly well in their scoring, running up a total of 460 points in ten games, which gives them an average of 46 points a game.

Leading the Bison scoring drive is fair-haired George Haines, who has already rung up 161 points with eight contests still remaining to be played. The high-scoring junior is well on his way to break the Bucknell scoring record, which he set last year at 184 points. All George needs is three tallies in each of the remaining games, and he will set a new high school record.

With the varsity basketball schedule in full swing, the Bucknell boxers have their hands full of more than just tape and leather, and the Junior "Iron right upon us, the Baby Bisons brilliant record is greatly overshadowed. And for no reason at all, for the "dreaded men" are tied for first place in their league with the Stratton U. Frosh. If the boys keep up their terrific pace, they will, no doubt, play the Stratton cagers for the league championship.

Last Wednesday the Frosh cagers dropped a hard fought game to our "Citizens" neighbors by a 44-25 score. The loss may be attributed to lack of practice during exam week and a bad fling zone defense set up by the State team. The Starskymen, however, feel that they are on the home court. Frank Burns scored 11 points, making some nice pivot shots. Weber with 13 points was Penn State's high scorer.

Fresh Down Wyoming 54-29
The Starskymen completely outclassed the Seminary team last Saturday. Burns again was high scorer with six field goals and two foul shots totaling 14 points. Brader was second with 12. "Hank" Forward was the sparkplug while he played. He tallied nine points and had to leave the game in the early minutes of the second period due to an ankle injury. An ankle injury also kept Andy Smith, her scoring action.

The Frosh substitutes proved their mettle by playing superb basketball. Haines was high man among reserves with 9 points under his belt. Downes was acting captain.

Haines On Way To Return Match Between Garro-Hernandez To Be Feature Bout

By Ed Edmunds
The mid-year exams saw the fraternal life for a few days in the campaign for hoop honors, however, this past week the 1-M cagers got rolling again and put on some really fine exhibitions.

In League I the Sammies and Phi Psi's are showing up well and will probably battle it out to the finish. In league II, the Phi Gans, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma are all battling it out for the semi-final berths.

The League Standing up to and including Tuesday night's games are as follows:
League I
S. A. M. 4 1
S. C. 4 1
P. K. 2 1
D. S. 2 2
T. T. 2 2
S. C. C. 0 4
M. D. R. 0 4

League II
P. G. D. 3 0
S. A. E. 2 0
K. S. 2 1
S. A. K. 3 2
L. C. A. 3 2
S. P. E. 1 3
K. D. R. 0 2
A. C. M. 0 4

Following are the results of the games played during the past two weeks:
S. C. 18-T. T. 11
Both teams showed strong defenses and, as a result, neither squad could do much scoring. The Sig's "Cheer" Podd was the main threat of the game, scoring 12 of their 18 points. Al Keagan and Paul Burke were the main stars in the Fighting Table. S. A. M. 74-M. D. R. 13
The Sammies went with a half time score of 40-4 as the MDR boys just couldn't seem to settle down and face the fast passing attack which the opposition showed. Miller, Seigel, and Friedman just couldn't seem to get their heads in the game.

Garro-Hernandez a Natural
Captaining the West Virginia outfit is the fast, hard-hitting Crispin Hernandez. Last year Hernandez suffered his first intercollegiate loss at the hands of Frankie Garro. This year Frank also holds the position of captain on the Bucknell squad, and the match between these two boys might very well prove to be one of the finest matches of the year in the Davis ring.

Cochs Joe Reno will be depending upon two other Bison rugmen to bring home a win against the Mountaineers. These two are the 155-lb. Cy Trecartin and the 176-lb. Frank DeAngelis. Both these boys have similar records in that they've both won two matches and had one draw.

However, judged on their last performance against C. C. N. Y. both seem to be coming along in great shape and may prove to be consistent winners. Trecartin will be facing a southpaw this Saturday night, and he comes up against West Virginia's John Haines.

FroshWin Another League Contest; Bow To State FIRST BOUT TO START AT 8:00

By Ed Edmunds
The mid-year exams saw the fraternal life for a few days in the campaign for hoop honors, however, this past week the 1-M cagers got rolling again and put on some really fine exhibitions.

In League I the Sammies and Phi Psi's are showing up well and will probably battle it out to the finish. In league II, the Phi Gans, Lambda Chi Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Sigma are all battling it out for the semi-final berths.

The League Standing up to and including Tuesday night's games are as follows:
League I
S. A. M. 4 1
S. C. 4 1
P. K. 2 1

Hilda Wants To Know Why The Diamond Stars Should Take A Salary Cut For The Owner's Sake

by Hilda Lashliver
The annual baseball game of front office with pen sipping up to the big, coy ball player and trying to catch him off base, has begun again, but this year we have an added touch to the contract negotiations.

Many of the baseball owners have suggested that, because of the war and war sacrifices made by countless people, the ball players should be willing to accept lower-figure contracts than those they would normally harbor. The bewildered player has said that it would be highly ungrateful of him to demand an increase of 1941's total while millions of men are slaving away for $21 a day, once a month. All sorts of clauses and conditions have been inserted by some clubs. All these are designed to give the player less in cold cash.

Not all clubs are doing this; not all admit they are doing this. But it is consistent. The business offices point to the war effort of the United States and beg off on their players, but what happens to the money saved? There are doubts that it is being sent to the U. S. Treasury. It probably isn't going anywhere, just staying where it is, in the offices of the clubs.

All baseball owners came out for a continuation of the full baseball season as a relaxation for millions. The President congratulated them, and many of them have decided, after 22 years of running up and down a football field, that enough is enough. He can't run now, anyway; he's on crutches.

Mussermen Face Lebanon Valley

Mussermen Seek Second League Triumph Over 'Flying Dutchmen'

Tonight, Mal Musser's charges will oppose Lebanon Valley's Flying Dutchmen on the latter's home court in quest of another mark in the win column, and their second victory of the season over the Amnville five. Due to the conflicting date with the Junior Post-week-end, the authorities have revised the schedule and moved the game up from Saturday night.

In their last battle against the Lebanon quintet, the Bison ran up 57 markers, inflicting a heavy defeat on the Dutchmen crew, who scored 44 points. The home team will be out to avenge the shattering they received on the Davis Gym floor, but the Mussermen are out to win ball games, making the perfect setting for a hard-fought ball game.

The Bucknell crew will start with Ed Glass at the pivot position, and speedy George Haines and Red Snyder as running mates at the forward spots. Bob Keagan will hold down the guard position, but the other guard position is not definite. In all probability, Tom Burke, a newcomer to the outfit, will receive the nod for the starting assignment. Tom gave a good account of himself in the last Gettysburg contest, tallying eight points and playing good defensive ball.

New Airplane Motor Developed

Lexington, Ky.—(AP)—Development of a radically different type of airplane motor, more efficient than any now in use, has progressed to a marked degree and we are confident that the final objective is well within sight with all major problems solved, says a report on University of Kentucky College of engineering defense activities.

Dean James H. Graham, reporting to the board of trustees, revealed the development began with a complete reworking of a principle of valve construction that had been an accepted practice for two decades, and the making of a fresh start for "a superior solution of the problem."

Although a certain amount of research work had been done elsewhere along the same general lines, it has been "within the college, under the supervision of Prof. A. J. Meyer, and especially within the facilities of the Warner-Gren aeronautical research laboratory," the report said, that this search and development has been most expedient.

The new motor, since it uses less gasoline, should reduce the amount of fuel a plane will have to carry, thus increasing its weight-carrying capacity and making longer flights possible, the report points out.

The National Rifle Association has estimated that, with the range facilities and qualified instructors available in the United States, a million men a month can be given the basic training so necessary to the development of effective military riflemen. This training is of incalculable value to the national defense effort, and often aids the person who has received it in obtaining rapid promotion or special duty assignments upon entry into the military service. The first is the protective aspect, since the courses will be offered to university employees and certain picked students who are to be trained for the protection of their fellow classmates. The second aspect is that of instruction, which is being offered to the students free of charge and is purely a voluntary undertaking which they can accept or reject as they see fit.

Dean Shimer and Fred Schura both stressed the importance of Civilian Defense in the days to come and Dean Shimer declared that it is the duty of the college student to know as much as possible about the peoples and the countries of the world.

The training program will get underway Saturday with the first class in First Aid at 11 o'clock in the Laboratory Building for sophomores. The first course in fire defense will be given by Wm. C. Marsh next Tuesday at 4:30, also in the Lab. Building. All the courses are still open to registration.

Carl Sandburg is the most popular of living American poets, according to a survey of University of Kentucky English students.

Every Saturday during the fall, New Haven's open street cars, otherwise unused, are wheeled out of the barns to handle Yale football crowds.

A REPORT

Editor's note: The following article is the result of a telegraphic poll conducted by Richard Himmell, a staff member of the official newspaper of the University of Chicago. Because "The Bucknellian" was a participant in this poll, and because the facts herein are of immediate concern to all male students at Bucknell, we print the report below.

The results of "The Daily Maroon" telegraphic poll of 72 college and university student editors indicate clearly that the average male undergraduate is badly prepared for his inevitable life in the armed forces of his country and that American educational institutions are giving no evidence that he will be any better prepared in the near future. This poll aimed to determine how much pre-induction military training is available to college men and whether the character of this training is such that it will give these men special Army qualifications, leading eventually to a commission.

R. O. T. C. "IMPOSSIBLE"

College editors report that universities and colleges introduced vast changes in the curriculums after Pearl Harbor and the tabulation of the poll reveals that over 74 new "defense courses" have been reported by these 72 schools. There are reports from several schools that requests have been made to the War Department for ROTC units by non-ROTC schools and that several ROTC institutions have asked that the size of their units be increased. The War Department replied that limited facilities made it impossible to establish new units or make substantial increases in the sizes of the units already established.

Pre-induction military training is of two kinds, basic training and specialized training. Into the classification of basic pre-induction military training fall Reserve Officers Training Corps and similar devices to teach military fundamentals. Most of the courses listed by college editors as "defense courses" fall into the specialized pre-induction military training classification since they are concerned with specialized Army techniques.

SMALL NUMBER AFFECTED BY R. O. T. C.

ROTC is in this basic classification because about 75 percent of its man power take only the first two years of this training. The first two years of ROTC is known as the "basic" course. Completion of this course does not make one eligible for a commission in The United States Army. The "advanced" ROTC, given in the junior and senior years, has a limited enrollment imposed by the War Department. Only about 20,000 of an estimated 650,000 men in the institutions of higher learning in the country are accommodated in the ROTC "advanced" course. It is well to note that only at the completion of the "advanced" course are men eligible for commissions.

"Defense Courses" reported to the Maroon are of three types: specialized pre-induction military training best exemplified by the ROTC, "civilians" courses which have a definite military implication; courses in "fire fighting" and "knitting" would fall into a general civilian defense classification; and war industries training courses which such courses as "Personnel Administration" and "Industrial Microbiology."

Immediately after Pearl Harbor, students exerted pressure to get some kind of basic military training in cases where there was no such training available to them. College editors from Ohio Wesleyan University, University of Redlands, Christian University, University of Wisconsin, University of Redlands, University of North Carolina, Boston College, and Temple University report that their schools have petitioned the War Department for ROTC units, but the War Department replied that no new units would be established.

COLLEGES MUST ACT

Colleges and universities are faced with the problem of either giving their students no military training or establishing such training themselves since the War Department gave no evidence that it planned to do anything about it. In most cases the schools chose to have no basic military training and offer their students instead a counter-irritant, "defense courses." The student pressure was temporarily ended when schools all over the country expanded their curriculums to give vital "defense courses," and men all over the country began to become experts on "Morale Course," "News-paper Chinese," "Military Communism," "Military Mathematics," "Truck Driving," and other specialized Army techniques.

Only three schools successfully attempted after Pearl Harbor to get some kind of basic military training. Sylvan Meyer, editor of the Daily Tatler, at the University of California, reported that the University of California had organized a "voluntary two semester course in military fundamentals using the ROTC manual." William Grossman of Muhlenberg College reports that voluntary basic training is available through a local cadet platoon. In the Daily Maroon are found records of The University of Chicago's pre-induction military training which has been functioning under the direction of the University's Institute of Military Studies since the Autumn of 1940. The institute reports that the enrollment in their basic course quadrupled after Pearl Harbor.

That the college men have no evidence that it planned to do anything about it. In most cases the schools chose to have no basic military training and offer their students instead a counter-irritant, "defense courses." The student pressure was temporarily ended when schools all over the country expanded their curriculums to give vital "defense courses," and men all over the country began to become experts on "Morale Course," "News-paper Chinese," "Military Communism," "Military Mathematics," "Truck Driving," and other specialized Army techniques.

ACADEMIC TRAINING DOESN'T MAKE SOLDIERS

A statement by Lt. General Ben Lear of the United States Army is the best substantiation of the fact that the college man's first cry for basic military training was the right cry. In an editorial which appeared in The Chicago Daily News on February 7, General Lear, in response to a query from a parent asking why his son wasn't an officer when he had had a college education, said: "Academic training is not of itself sufficient to make a soldier. These college trained young men in most instances have the physical and mental qualities of an officer, but because of lack of military knowledge they must join the greenest recruits." It is sad experience to see a man after man with excellent academic qualifications go into rear ranks because of his complete lack of education which the Army requires not only for qualified officers, but for competent non-commissioned officers.

"The main 'defense course' which swept the country was of the physical conditioning type. Almost every school in the country reports some kind of emphasis on physical conditioning. That physical conditioning is an insufficient substitute for basic military training is clear on two counts. First of all it is clear that being in fine physical condition will not make a man a good engineer unless he has had an engineering training. It cannot be expected that a fine physical condition will make a man a good soldier unless he has had some military training. It is true that being physically fit will increase the learning capacity of something like military drill, in that the trainee will not fall over from exhaustion at the third time the command 'to the rear march' is given. At best, physical conditioning can only be a prelude to military training. It cannot be a substitute. The second count on which physical conditioning is insufficient is evidenced by the fact that several college editors report that student interest is petering out in these courses, and close order drill and bayonet movements have been introduced to vitalize them.

COLLEGE MILITARY TRAINING "SKIMPY"

The main argument used in favor of physical conditioning in the colleges is that proposed military training is "skimp." To quote Editor Campbell of the Columbia Daily Spectator. The same school that on December 12 reported 400 men petitioning for basic training reports on February 4, "No student pressure for basic military drill because of the skimminess of such training." President Francis Bliss Snyder of Northwestern University has been quoted as saying that this University would concentrate on physical conditioning because of a misguided opinion of military training. "What seems to be in the minds of the people concerning this type of training is the Student Army Training Corps of World War I."

On August 10, 1941, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University in his annual report to the alumni said: "It is highly probable that before long something like the Student Army Training Corps of the First World War will be introduced into the high schools and colleges of the country. We can only hope that what is introduced will be as little like the S. A. T. C. as possible. That organization was the distaste and disrespect of both educators and military men."

MANY NEW LANGUAGE COURSES

College editors also report that their schools are teaching Japanese Portuguese, "Military French," Russian, Arabic, Italian, Turkish, and classes in cryptography have already been introduced in two schools and similar courses are slated to appear in six more curriculums. Psychology departments have taken on significance by offering "pre-service" training in "Military Psychology," "Propaganda Psychology," "Morale Psychology," and the "Psychological Causes of War."

DEAN PAGE TO ATTEND TRAINING CONFERENCE

University of Chicago Holds Pre-Induction Training Conference Friday

In keeping with Bucknell's extensive defense program, Dean Ralph E. Page will go to Chicago to attend a Conference on Pre-Induction Training to be held at the Institute of Military Studies of the University of Chicago. Beginning at 10:00 a. m. tomorrow and concluding at noon, Sunday, the Conference will hold morning, afternoon, and evening sessions.

Four questions confronting American education today are more pressing than that of pre-induction military training in these colleges and universities which do not have R. O. T. C. units. In this connection, the conference will review the diverse pre-induction military training and other defense courses now in session at the various colleges and universities.

Dean Page will submit a report to a committee at Bucknell University upon his return on Monday.

'Sinfonietta' To Be Artist Presentation

Group From Wilkes-Barre. Consisting of 24 Pieces, To Be Here March 4

The Bucknell University Artist Group will present the Wilkes-Barre Sinfonietta, a featured string orchestra under the direction of Dr. Paul Gies, as its final presentation of the season.

Regarded in musical circles as one of the most outstanding groups of its kind, the Wilkes-Barre Sinfonietta has been founded in 1937 and is composed of 24 musicians, all accomplished players of stringed instruments. For the past several years, the instrumental portion of the organization has taken part in the Bach Festival in Wyoming Valley and has won considerable praise for its musical contribution to the event.

Dr. Gies, conductor, and a member of the Bucknell University faculty, has been responsible for much of the Sinfonietta's success. Under his guidance the organization has become foremost in the music realm throughout the East. The group has been invited to give a cross section of the complete stringed art from Bach to the modern composers as one of its many outstanding exhibitions during the last few years.

First Aid Course Enrolls 400

Approximately 400 students are enrolled in the First Aid Course being sponsored this semester at the University by the United States Office of Civilian Defense.

Classes for the course which will continue for ten weeks began last Saturday. Dr. Lester P. Fowle, resident physician at Bucknell, will lecture the group each week after which the group will be broken into small classes which will receive practical instruction.

Instructors for the course consist of members of the Bucknell faculty and administrators who have received instructor certificates from the Red Cross following an intensive training program.

Thief Loots Five Houses To Net 130 Dollars

Sigs Lose Most Heavily; Lambda Chi's Lose 35 Dollars

by Bob Kriz

Another wave of looting swept five fraternity houses early yesterday morning with a total cash loss of approximately $130, following on the heels of a similar smash robbery four months ago, when $180 were stolen from three houses.

According to the scanty clues that the men in the houses can furnish, the rilder evidently sneaked in silently around 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning as the inhabitants of the houses slumbered in their sleeping rooms, totally unaware of the vandalism.

When Bob Steamer, Sigma Chi, awoke at 6:30 and went down to his room on second floor, he was struck with the sight of his badly ransacked room, lights turned on, top drawers pulled out, and $27, mostly collected from sales of the Victory Canteen, taken from his wallet. It was not long before he aroused his brothers, who aggressively reported having lost almost $80 by the pillaging hand of the thief.

Most probable means of entrance in all cases was by way of the front door, which in all houses remains unlocked continuously. Dean Page, upon hearing of the misfortune, remarked that fraternities may have to work out some system of locking doors at night.

"They have been told at least four times to exercise greater care," said the Dean of Men, "in preventing a recurrence of these plunderings. With the depositing facilities made available on the Hill by Mr. Rank, treasurer, and with banking hours extended continuously, Dean Page, upon hearing of the misfortune, remarked that fraternities may have to work out some system of locking doors at night.

It seemed strange to Fritz Meyn at the Lambda Chi Alpha house to come down in the morning to discover the lights brightly lit; he fixed his gaze on table tops and drawers that had been stripped of paper money and loose change which had been within easy reach of the prowler. Here, too, the thief rummaged through top drawers and pilfered pants pockets.

Ruth Chamberlin Rules As Junior Prom Queen Of 1942

Slender Brunette
Active On Campus;
Dance Big Success

by Puff Lindemann
"I was speechless," said Ruth Chamberlin, when asked to describe her feelings last Friday night when she was named Junior Prom Queen for 1942.

A tall, five-foot seven, to be exact slender brunette, Ruth was dressed in a pale blue, off-the-shoulder gown of silk jersey and tulle, set off with gold accessories and elbow-length white gloves. Her crown was a diadem of gold (cardboard, due to the defense effort) studded with several white carnations and a white gardenia set in a red "V".

The queen, a member of Kappa Delta sorority, comes from Newark, New Jersey. She is taking the secretarial course, and intends to become a private secretary after graduation.

Ruth is very active on campus. She is social chairman of Kappa Delta, assistant manager of the Christian Association Handbook for 1942, and a member of the business staff of the "A" agenda. She is counselor to ten freshmen girls in Larson Hall, a member of the Bucknell color guard, secretary of the Junior class, and treasurer of the Junior women.

As to sports and other hobbies, Ruth numbers basketball and archery among her favorite pastimes. She is reading, crossword puzzles ("Just crazy about 'em"), and knitting for the Red Cross, as her less strenuous occupations.

Pi Beta Phi Sponsors
Annual Dinner-Dance
This Saturday Night

The members of Pi Beta Phi will sponsor their annual formal dinner-dance this Saturday evening from 6 to 12. The dinner will be served at the Hotel Lewisburg followed by dancing in Tustin Gym. The money which is usually spent on decorations and programs will be donated to the Red Cross. However, the dance will feature a black and white theme, using decorations from a Pi Phi rushing party. Top hats will carry out the theme, with a large black wooden hat as the central decoration. Cakes for the benefit of the Red Cross will be sold at a black bar. Art Wendel and his orchestra will furnish the music. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayden, Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Musser, and Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Sauvain have been invited to act as chaperones.

Annabelle Shepler is in charge of the dinner and Sally Delfenderfer is handling the arrangements for the dance. Charlotte Gans, Kitty Windsor, Peggy Gandy, and Jean and Jane Salisbury are on the dance committee.

Senior Ball Will Be Held In March

Plans for the Senior Ball, to be held sometime in March, are being completed. Gil Unruh, senior class president, recently disclosed the reading, cross-word puzzles ("Just crazy about 'em"), and knitting for the Red Cross, as her less strenuous occupations.

Booster Club Dance
Follows Game Tomorrow
Night In Davis Gym

Three years ago when the Booster Club was formed on the Bucknell campus, as a sub-committee of Torch and Scroll, its main aim and purpose was to foster school spirit among the students and alumni.

Since that time the Booster Club has been functioning almost independently of the main body. In years past, the club has centered its attention upon arousing the spirit of the student body during the football season. This semester it has been devoting every effort to giving the variety basketball team the spirit and operation that it deserves from the student body.

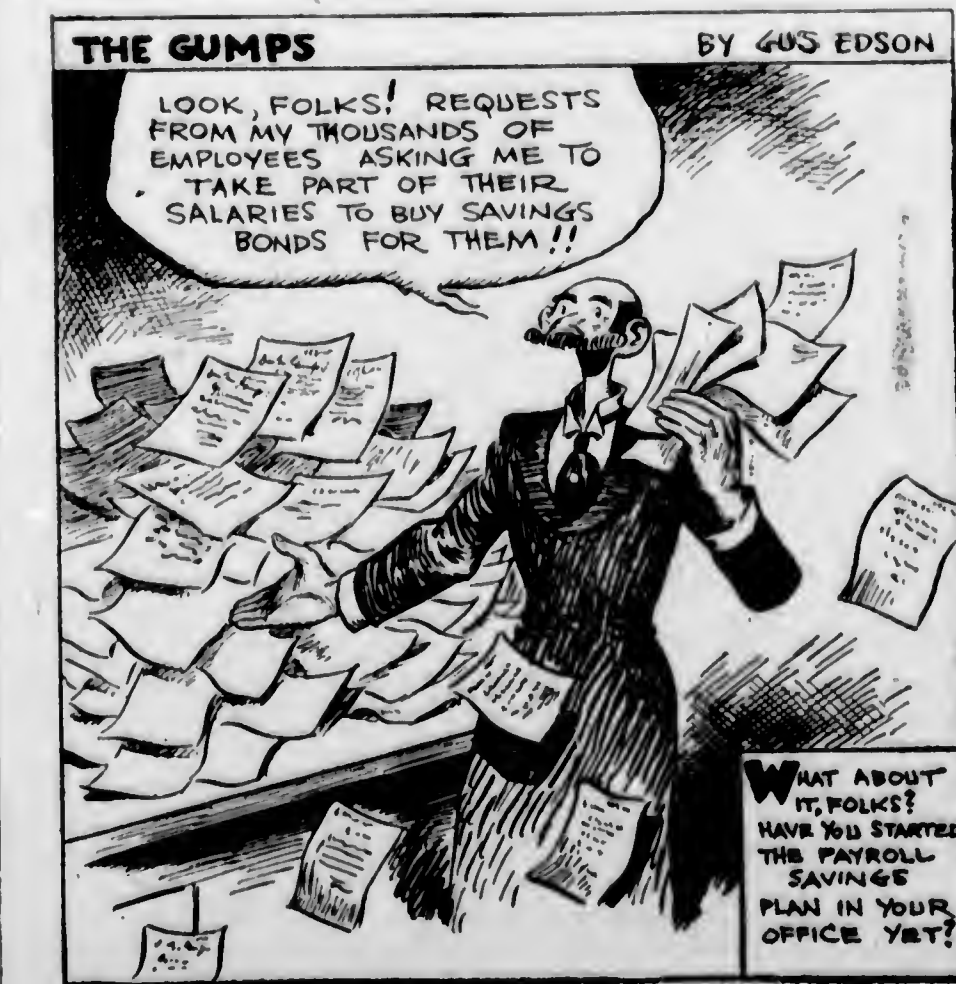

The first step that the executive committee took in this direction was the reservation of the seats at the mid-court for all members. The club then urged the captain of the cheerleading squad to have members of the squad present at all home varsity games.

The most recent attempt made by the Booster Club in this direction was the dance tomorrow night at the Davis Gymnasium, following the varsity basketball encounter with Ursinus. This dance will be free for all, with the Bucknellians supplying the musical entertainment. The Booster Club has invited the delegates of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Student Government Association Convention to attend the dance, as its guests.

Co-op House Holds
Open House Saturday

The members of Cooperative House hold an open house Saturday, February 14, for all girls interested in coming into Co-op House next term. The visitors were shown through the house, and tea, cookies and Valentine candy were served. A Valentine color scheme was used in the decorations, with red hearts in evidence, and white and pink carnations at the table center piece.

Jean Myer acted as social chairman. She was assisted by the girls in the house.

'Bucknellians' Play
For Defense Dance
Friday, Feb. 27

A dance which will help National Defense and at the same time provide an evening's fun is the aim of the Freshman C. A. Council which is presenting a Stamp Dance on Friday, February 27, from 8 to 11 o'clock in Tustin Gym. The music for this dance will be supplied by the "Bucknellians", who are donating their services.

As each couple walks into the dance, they will present their tickets of admission, a ten-cent defense stamp apiece. Tickets will be paid in savings booklets, and the filled booklets will purchase defense bonds for the benefit of the Freshman C. A. of ten years hence.

The dance is open to everyone. All girls will be granted $1.50 permission for the dance.

Big And Little Sisters
Of S. C. C. Will Hold
Social Hour Next Tuesday

An informal social hour will be the order of the day when Big and Little Sisters of the Student Campus Club will gather Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in Hunt Hall Rec Room to enjoy an informal social hour.

A variety program of skits, dances, and music will highlight the hour, with several of the girls parading their talents before the group. After this informal entertainment, refreshments, social dancing, and games will highlight the program.

CO-ED NIGHT

Once again, Co-ed Night, the Bucknell women's night to take the lead, appears on the social calendar. Contrary to previous rumors, Co-ed Night will not be held in February, but will occur late in March. The definite date has not yet been set.

A GUY NAMED STEVE.

Maybe it's because we can't see things through rose-colored glass or something, but Harold Stephenson's sense of values wouldn't permit him to leave Bucknell this week until he'd filmed every nook and cranny of the "200 acres"—perhaps his illusions of some 200 men and women which he gained in caricaturing them during his stay promoted in the movie project.

In other words, he evidently wanted something—delightful—to remember us by. So, he took the movies.

"Steve" as the collegians called him when they really got to know him, started his caricaturing at the Phi Kappa Psi house on the hill just two weeks ago today. So elated were the fraternity brothers who held forth alone on the knob, that they invited "Steve" back for the Winter Formal at the house Saturday night.

He came, he saw, and he caricatured. As far as his artistry goes, Steve is a past-master, but his realism in life has evidently been neglected, so much so that he perhaps forgot to persevere that timely booklet, "How to Win Friends and Influence People." It just can't be done by caricaturing.

But you can make money. He has made the rounds of most of the fraternity houses in his week's stay and all the cash buyers admit he has done a fine job. What's more, Steve's hobby, as he says, is caricaturing. "Maybe it's because I've seen so many funny faces," he explains.

Steve is quite at home with his small drawing board across his knees as he rapidly sketches color on paper to produce in about five minutes a caricatured likeness of his sitter.

To you folks who were somewhat dismayed with Steve's work, looking at it in "Do I look like that?" fashion, here's some consolation. Steve has made portraits of such actors and actresses as Constance Bennett, Wallace Berry, Joe E. Brown and Jane Withers, also Mrs. Roosevelt and son, Jimmy.

Besides the caricature, you also have an opportunity to join a select group of subjects. Why complain?

FIRST AID IN REVERSE
Gathering in Larison Hall the other evening to await their dates, several male collegians were convinced, via a demonstration of First Aid by two counselors, that the art of caring for the injured is purely a male assignment.

They have reasons, believe it or not. When the sweethearts flitted to put in their appearance on time (as many are so accustomed to do), one of the hospital counselors, meandering around with nothing to do, offered to show one of the "carriers" of First Aid rescue work to the assembled males.

Securing the voluntary services of a collegian from nearby Bucknell Cottage she proceeded to grab him after limb of the subject and hoisted the body up in the air with apparent ease. Then something went wrong with the mechanism and the subject came tumbling down to the floor with the operator falling on top of her.

If the young lady plans to play hostess in the future, she'd better resort to pinchole—oops, we're sorry—bridge.

RAKIN' THE ACRES.
From the topmost bigwig in the administration department down to the meekest frow, everyone got a big kick out of those Valentine greetings.

Those buckets of sand which we mentioned last week are in the news again. The girls in Hunt Hall decided the sand buckets would make excellent receptacles for cigarette butts—and it worked—until someone

S. F. C. Discusses Summer Activities

Proposals were made regarding the functioning of various interest groups during summer sessions when Student-Faculty Congress met late last Thursday afternoon in the President's House.

Prof. C. Willard Smith named several students who will be in charge of the arrangements for the Spring Festival. Charles Bond, Jr., '42, will act as chairman, Ruth McGuire '42 as secretary, and Jeanne Haynes '42 as treasurer.

The Women's Athletic Association submitted a report and each interest group presented its budget. Ruth Braden, secretary of the Senior Class, will assume the duties of the treasurer, who is no longer attending school.

Don Sholl '42 reported on the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Student Government Association convention which will be held here this weekend. In the near future new officers will be elected to the Student-Faculty Congress for next year.

Dr. LeMon To Give Vesper Recitals

With the first recital this Sunday, Dr. Melvin LeMon, continuing a tradition which he originated in 1933, will present vesper organ recitals in the Baptist Church each Sunday during Lent from four to five o'clock.

The programs each week in addition to one or two organ classics will feature a large proportion of organ music which is comparatively familiar to the public. Assisting in the programs will be vocal choruses, glee clubs, and quartets.

Dr. LeMon's selections this week will be highlighted by Saint-Saens' "Benediction Nuptiale," Widors' "Toccata from Fifth Organ Symphony," and "Ave Maria" by Arcandell.

In addition to Dr. LeMon at the organ, this week's program also includes the Sacred Chorus from the Girl's Glee Club and the Freshman Women's Quartet. The Sacred Chorus will offer "Infantumque" by G. Rossini while the quartet will present "Lift Thine Eyes" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Speaking Contest Is Open To All

The Bucknell University chapter of the International Relations Club will send a six-member delegation to the Sixteenth Model League Assembly of the Middle Atlantic Division at Bryn Mawr College, March 29 to 31.

The general subject of the Assembly will be the period of transition immediately following the war, before the new permanent world organization is established.

Students Will Orate at Four O'clock on Monday in Literature Lounge

All Bucknell students are eligible to participate in an extemporaneous speaking contest to be held in the Literature lounge next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, for orators by G. Rossini while the quartet will present "Lift Thine Eyes" from Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Each speech, based on the speaker's general knowledge of the question and any specific preparation he shall have been able to make during the afternoon, must be limited to not more than five minutes. Five contestants will be chosen; those will represent Bucknell University in a regional contest at Penn State College during March.

A REPORT...

Other courses that were reported to The Daily Maroon are courses in "The Sociology of War," "The Economics of War," Naval History, "Military History," and courses in navigation and meteorology are standard in almost every curriculum. Highly specialized skill courses have heavy enrollments. College men being trained in "Quick Computation Methods," "Ballistics," "Electronic Chemistry," "Pacific Geography," "Military Cartography," "Aerial Photography," "Practical Telephony," "Ship Drafting," "First Aid," "Stress Analysis," and "Truck Driving."

PRESENT COURSES LACK SUPERVISION

In answer to the student and public demands for pre-induction military training, the educational institutions have offered these courses, but what they have not offered is any assurance that the men taking these courses will ever have a chance to use what they learn in the Army. These courses are given entirely without Army supervision, and for the most part without Army consultation. They have been instituted by the colleges and universities themselves in their hasty effort to provide some kind of war training.

Clearly then, certain vital factors have been overlooked by American educational institutions by going all out for defense which are not only mis-training and inadequately training students, but are endangering the life of the institutions themselves. Non-ROTC schools have overlooked the fact that specialized training is of no value unless it is accompanied or preceded by basic military training. Both ROTC and non-ROTC schools have overlooked the fact that they are giving specialized subjects without having any assurance that the men they train will ever be able to use this training in the Army or Navy.

The task of the average male undergraduate today is to achieve the highest possible military effectiveness, both for his personal satisfaction and advancement, and for the general effectiveness of the United States in winning this war.

To this average student three things are important. First, his college education; second, a sound basic pre-induction military training; and third, some assurance that any specialized pre-induction training he does receive will be utilized by some branch of the Armed forces. The institutions are making it easier for men to complete their requirements for a bachelor's degree by using various devices to speed-up the curriculum; consequently, men will soon be able to graduate a year or two earlier than they would normally. College editors from the following schools report some kind of an accelerated graduation plan: Bucknell University, Temple University, Williams College, Colgate, Oberlin, Carleton College, Amherst, Northwestern University, Notre Dame University, University of Redlands, De Pauw University, Wesleyan College, Ohio Wesleyan College, Columbia University, Yale University, The University of Michigan, and The University of Chicago.

Students equipped with ROTC or similar training may disregard the problem of getting basic training. It is the non-ROTC students that must find a means to get this kind of training if they expect to enter the Army with qualifications equal to those of an ROTC school graduate.

ARMY AND SCHOOLS MUST COOPERATE

There must be a close cooperation between the Army and educational institutions to standardize "defense courses" before the college men can have any assurance that his specialized training will be utilized.

The Daily Maroon has conducted this poll to inform its readers of the general picture of pre-induction military training in this country. It was made possible through the cooperation of 72 leading college editors. The Maroon believes that one of the purposes of the student newspaper is to keep college youth informed. It is therefore making this report available to the college editors who cooperated in conducting the poll in the belief that college men with the correct training can give their full value to winning this war the quickest way possible.

VOLTS AND VITAMINS

THE General Electric X-ray laboratory recently moved a large number of apple and other fruit trees, berry bushes, and tomato and string bean seeds into the confines of its workrooms.

There, under an X-ray machine, these various specimens of flora were bombarded with 1,000,000-volt X rays. They were returned to the New York State Experiment Station at Geneva for planting and subsequent observation of the effect of the X rays upon the color, size, flavor, quality, resistance to disease, and other characteristics of the fruit and vegetables.

Variations and mutations are to be expected when living plant cells are subjected to bombardment with X rays. Under forced circumstances, effects of the 1,000,000-volt treatment on seeds may be observed within a few days, but, for the young trees and berry bushes, the full effect will not be known for at least five years.

UNDER ONE ROOF

THE General Electric Company has a leased-wire communication system which functions as smoothly as if all G-E branches were housed in a single building.

During the year past, a total of 379 miles was added to the leased-wire communication system to help speed the handling of contracts. A network of 11,565 miles is now available for telephone and teletype messages.

The telephone network covers 5675 miles and serves 17 key industrial cities in the East and Middle West. It contains 37 individual wires, many of which can be interconnected for greater flexibility and coverage. The teletype network comprises 4822 miles of full-time circuits and 1113 miles of part-time circuits. Thirty-one cities are served directly, and many others are served indirectly.

Bucknellians Leave On Debating Tour

Debaters Go To Washington From Feb. 28-Mar. 2, Harvard on Mar. 13

James Whyte '45, Melville Hopkins '42, Anna-Marie Poeschel '43, and J. Warobak '44 were named last night at the meeting of the Debating Club to represent the Varsity Debating Team on its trip to Washington from February 28 to March 2. The four debaters will visit different projects showing the national war effort.

Also announced last night were the names of the two debaters to go to New England, Cullen Shijima '44 and Sidney Apfelbaum '42. The climax of their trip will be a debate against Harvard University March 13 to 17.

The debate program of the varsity debating team, according to Prof. Robert T. Oliver, forensic director, is to be built primarily around forums and will consist of six principal events:

1. The trip to Washington.
2. The National Intercollegiate Radio Debate, presented by the American Economic Foundation, for which briefs are to be submitted by March 1.

3. The trip to New England.
4. The Varsity Debate Convention at Penn State in which the entire squad except the two men to go to New England will participate. This meeting is to be held March 10.

5. District Discussion Contest on "Inter-American Affairs" on March 14 at Penn State, for which representatives will be selected within a week.
6. April 17 and 18, a Mid-Eastern Convention of Tau Kappa Alpha, National Honorary Forensic Society at Albright College in Reading.

In debating, and after-dinner speaking will be on the program. B. U. has won first place in each in the past. The debaters for this event are to be selected in the near future.

Freshman and Varsity debating teams are working together to produce a forensic program of forum discussions instead of the regular debates. The forums, which have proved of quite popular, will be held during this next semester at various high schools and at a two-day convention booked at State College on April 10 and 11.

According to Prof. Robert T. Oliver, forensic director, all of the questions that had been planned for debate were eliminated by the war. A debate on vital questions would stir up the people and result in a general lowering of civilian morale. "The time for debating is passed," said Mr. Oliver. "Now it is the time to see how we can cooperate with our government."

Two experimental forums presented by two freshmen groups have already been held at Montandon and Watonson High Schools, and have been received with great enthusiasm.

Such a forum consists of the presentation of four speeches and the entrance of the audience into the discussion afterward. At Montandon High School forum the discussion lasted twice, but the enthusiastic audience still stayed on. At Watonson the program was supposed to run for one hour; instead it continued for an hour and a half.

The topic of the Montandon High discussion was "Youth's Role in the War." The Bucknell representatives were David Johnson and Owen Dinger, while William Pomerantz and Eugene Bischoff represented Penn State.

"What Sort Of Peace Do We Want After This War?" was the question asked at the Watonson High School discussion. Gaylord Greenlee of Penn State gave the background of the problem as "the Versailles mistake, and the problem of returning all nations to a pre-war status."

"The victorious nations should unite their armed forces and 'police' the rest of the world," said Betty Jane Middleworth of Bucknell. "There should be a world union of all the nations," was the subject of the speech by Letrick Harris of Penn State.

Kenneth Clarke of Bucknell spoke on "No union will work the computered nations should be dismantled and fair distribution of this country's raw materials should be provided."

"This can be the most fruitful and significant year in our forensic history," said Dr. Oliver, "if it demonstrates that debate is real, not merely academic; if it proves that our forensic programs are geared to life, not merely to tradition."

He stated that it depends on whether the members of debate squads, whether as debaters or as directors, prove to have the flexibility of mind and the steadiness of purpose to forge ahead fearlessly by whatever means are best suited to the situation. This is our chance, a Federal Union of Nations be Established."

INTRAMURAL DEBATERS!
Intramural debating will be resumed February 26 where it left off. Question will be "Resolved: That after the War a Federal Union of Nations be Established."

SPORTS

SHADE LIVES

by Morty Silberman

Now that it has become generally known that Jim Reichert has had to leave Bucknell because of his poor scholastic work, we may once again expect the usual holler and cry that arises from certain members of the student body whenever an athlete of Reichert's caliber is "busted out" because of his grades.

There seem to be two definite schools of thought on the campus regarding the dismissal of outstanding Bucknell athletes, and in this respect I don't think that the Bucknell student body very greatly differs from the trend of opinion as is found on leading college campuses throughout the country.

On the one hand, there is that group of students that very strongly believe that in the case of athletes of superior ability the University authorities and the professors themselves should be more lenient in their grading, and that the profs cannot and should not expect members of athletic teams to come through with work equal to that of the other students. They present two reasons in support of their argument. First, they say that a varsity athlete does not have the same amount of time to prepare his work as does the average student. It is maintained that because of the numerous hours which they must devote to practice and to making trips to other schools, they cannot be expected to get their work done efficiently, if at all. Secondly, this group maintains that the University has a sort of obligation to the students and to the school itself to keep these athletes in school even though they may slip below the line at times. Here they say that the University goes to a lot of expense in giving these men athletic scholarships and other forms of aid, and after building them up for a year or two they turn around and drop them without reaping any dividends on their investment. This may sound quite reasonable, but it is surprising to learn how many students actually feel this way about the matter.

That fairly well sums up the sentiments of one group on this campus, as well as on numerous other college grounds, regarding this matter of athletic scholastic requirements. But for a quick look at the other side of the controversy.

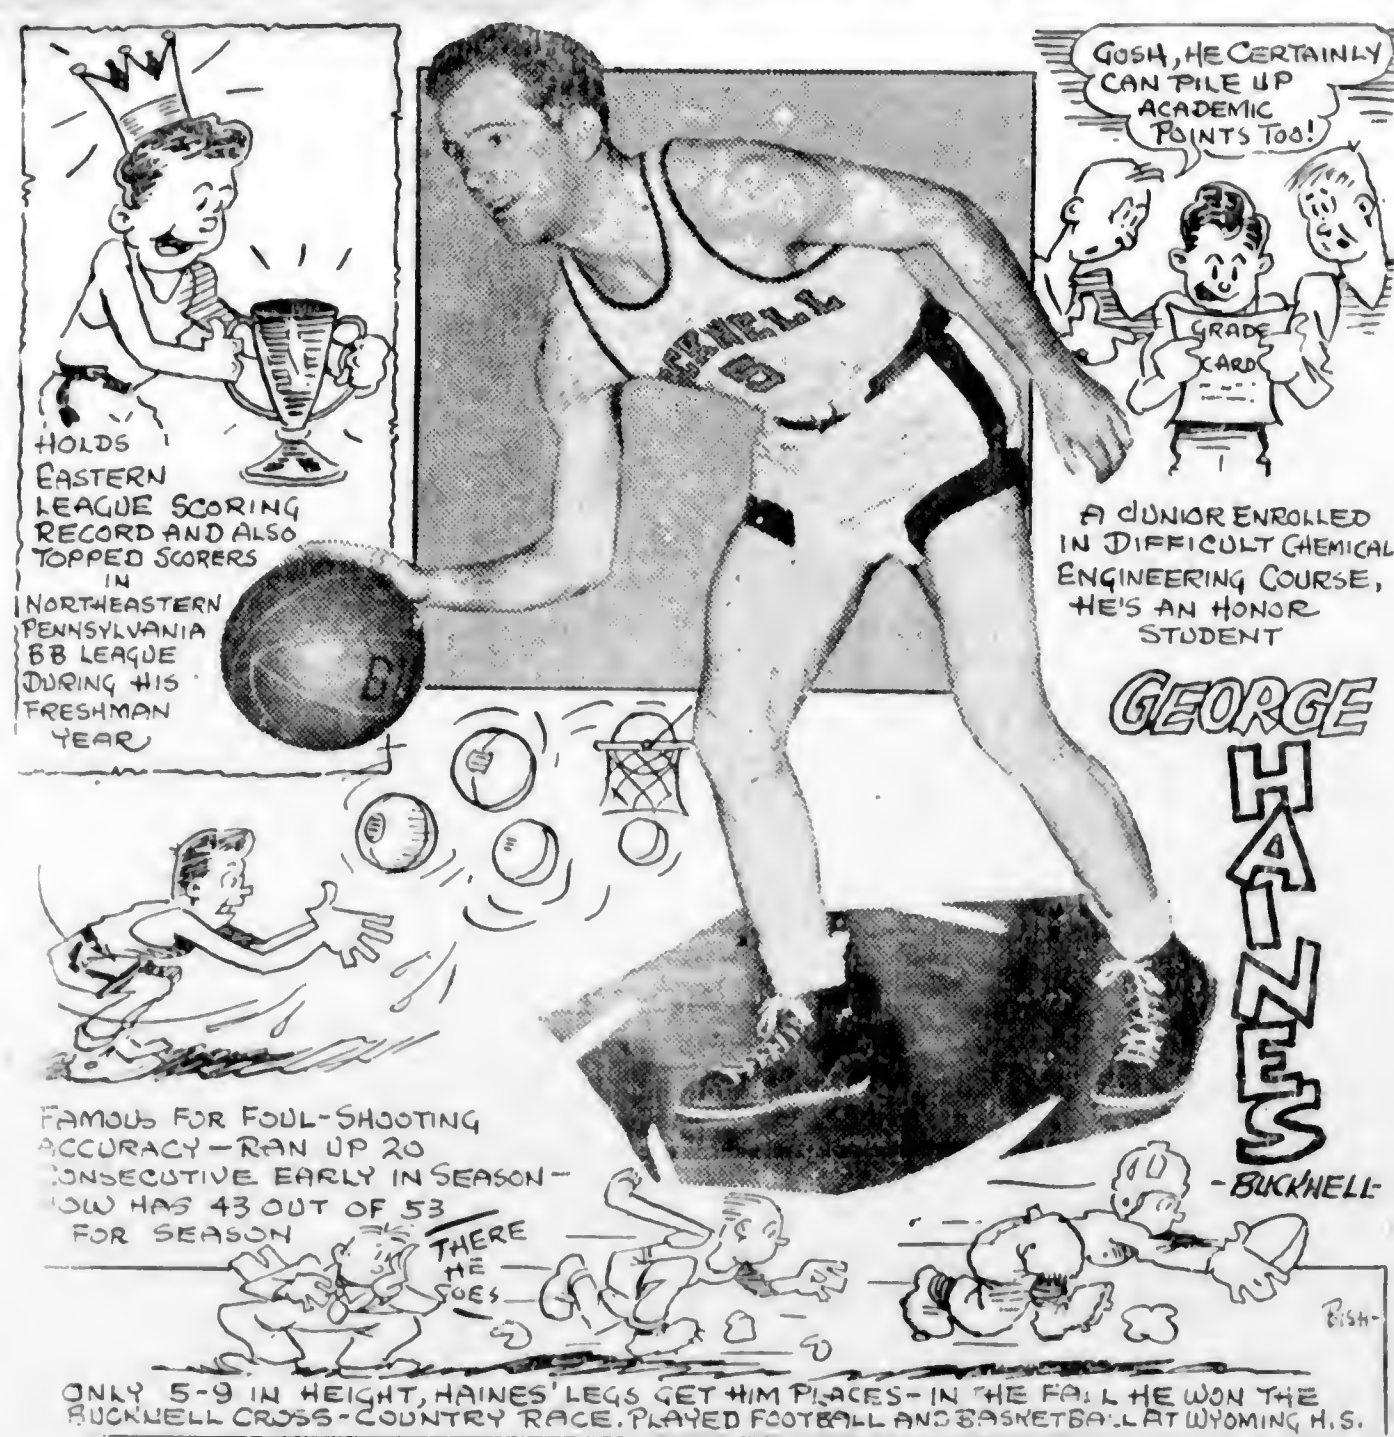

In this second school of thought we find the dominant opinion to be that college athletes should be held to the same standards as the other students. This is the University's scholastic requirements in the same manner as any other college student. They maintain that if a student is unable to live up to the University's scholastic requirements in the same manner as any other college student, he is not worthy of the scholarship in that the University is offering him a four year education at a greatly reduced price, and that in return, not only must the athlete perform well on the athletic field, but he must also show initiative enough to do possible work in his studies, which is supposed to be his primary reason for being in college. In line with this, this group is often heard to say something to the effect that "we don't want any tramp athletes around our school," or "let's not make this a haven for dumb athletes," or other statements implying the same thing. Perhaps this may be putting it too strongly, but I have already heard expressions of this nature on more than one occasion.

Well, there you have the two sides to the argument. Perhaps these are the extremes of the two opinions and maybe there is some half-way measure between them that might be satisfactory to both groups. But I'm not writing this with the intention of introducing any new radical policies to supplant the present athletic set-up here at Bucknell. I believe that the University's present policy, with the exception of a few minor details, is quite satisfactory to the great majority of the students and that not a few of them feel that the right thing was done in the case of Jim Reichert.

There is no denying the fact that Reichert was a very fine athlete. He was one of the most promising football prospects to come here in recent years. Aside from starting on the Freshman football squad last year and showing true signs of brilliance during this past grid campaign, Jim was also the intramural heavyweight crown in wrestling and boxing in his freshman year and this year had won himself a position on the varsity basketball team. He was a promising future. He has nobody to blame but himself for his having had to leave school. He had been warned and advised constantly by Al Humphreys, by Dean Pape, by his friends and teammates to get his scholastic work and "stay on the ball." But it all seemed to have fallen on deaf ears. There is no doubt whatsoever that in an athletic sense Bucknell has suffered a loss with Reichert's dismissal, but I definitely feel that if the University hopes to maintain the fine name it already has and continue to strengthen itself, it must continue to abide by the policy under which we are at present.

Bison's Expect Stiff Opposition From Bear Five

Rapidly Improving Mussermen Will Be Seeking Third League Triumph

BOOSTER DANCE TO FOLLOW GAME

With an entire week's lay-off behind them, Bucknell's varsity basketball team will swing back into action tomorrow night in Davis Gymnasium. The Mussermen will be meeting the invading Ursinus Bears, with the game scheduled to get under way at 8:00 o'clock.

The Orange and Blue quintet will be favored in tomorrow night's contest. Mal Musser's varsity crew has shown a vast and definite improvement in their last two encounters. Against the fast-stepping Albright team last week, after a poor first half, which saw the Lions take a 14-point half-time lead, the Mussermen started to roll in the second half and came within three points of upsetting the Reading team. On the following night the cagers traveled to Lebanon Valley. Again they had a last first half, leaving the court at the intermission trailing by one point. But they started to move in fine fashion in the second half and won out easily by a count of 47-29.

The game against Ursinus tomorrow will mark the first meeting between these two teams this year.

The Bears have a poor record to show for the season thus far having won one contest while losing seven. But it is interesting to note that in their last two games they have come along very fast and may cause the B. U. five a considerable amount of trouble.

The main contributing factor to the improvement of the Ursinus team is the addition to their squad of a number of freshmen. A new league rule, permitting a team to make a freshman eligible for varsity competition to replace any varsity member who has gone into the military service, is believed to have aided the Collegeville team considerably. They have already added a number of freshmen to their squad, and their action tomorrow night will be closely watched.

The score tells the story of this contest with Brogan and Wilkerson featuring the scoring column. Wagner and Klaus tried in vain to stop the avalanche of shots but it just couldn't be done.

The Samnies really fought for this victory as the Training Table boys did at the half time 17-14. The third quarter showed a change in the score as the Samnies led by Jerry Meltzer went out in front and stayed there until the final whistle.

S. C. C. vs. A. C. C.

Trail at the half, the S. C. C. team returned and let loose a powerful attack, vanquishing the Alpha Chis to a tune of 27-22. In the first half it had looked as if it would surely be an Alpha Chi victory, but sparkling with the powerful combination of Eleanor Hudson, Jean Shale, and Sybil Haire, the S. C. C. had little difficulty in vanquishing the foe.

IAROCCHI SETS NEW SCORING RECORD

With but one more week of competition remaining before the semi-finals get under way, the intramural basketball league races are at the present pretty well tied up with the semi-finalists in each league still undetermined.

In League I, up to and including the games played this past Tuesday night, it seems to be a three way race between the Samnies, Phi Piss, and Sigma Chis. There will undoubtedly be a play-off here to determine the two league representatives in the semi-finals.

In League II, the S. A. E.'s still remain undefeated, while the S. A. K. team as a result of their having defeated the Phi Gams have placed themselves in a threatening position for a semi-final berth. The Phijs and Kappa Sigas both have three wins and one loss.

The outstanding happening of the week's competition was S. A. E.'s Nick Iarocchi's record-breaking 32 points which he tallied last Tuesday against the A. X. M.'s.

The league standings up to and including Tuesday:

LEAGUE I	W.	L.
S. A. M.	5	1
P. K. P.	4	1
S. C.	4	1
D. S.	3	3
T. T.	2	3
S. C. C.	0	5
M. D. H.	0	5

LEAGUE II	W.	L.
S. A. E.	3	0
P. G. D.	3	1
K. S.	3	1
L. C. A.	4	2
S. P. H.	2	4
K. D. H.	0	4
A. C. M.	0	5

S. P. K. 29-K. D. H. 23

A close contest with the Sig Eps having a slight edge, as they pulled away in the last quarter. Sanders kept the Market Street lads together, but with Keogh dropping 7 field goals and one foul, the losers were left behind.

P. E. F. 81-M. D. R.

The score tells the story of this contest with Brogan and Wilkerson featuring the scoring column.

Wagner and Klaus tried in vain to stop the avalanche of shots but it just couldn't be done.

S. A. M. 46-T. T. 34

The Samnies really fought for this victory as the Training Table boys did at the half time 17-14. The third quarter showed a change in the score as the Samnies led by Jerry Meltzer went out in front and stayed there until the final whistle.

S. C. C. vs. A. C. C.

Trail at the half, the S. C. C. team returned and let loose a powerful attack, vanquishing the Alpha Chis to a tune of 27-22. In the first half it had looked as if it would surely be an Alpha Chi victory, but sparkling with the powerful combination of Eleanor Hudson, Jean Shale, and Sybil Haire, the S. C. C. had little difficulty in vanquishing the foe.

Hilda Finds That All Faith In Simple Humanity Is Not Gone

by Hilda Lablauer

There are some little items which crop up in this magnificent realm of educated muscledom that are too good to be ignored. Completely insignificant, they possess an indescribable note of unawareness surely needed in today's world of rising Sun blizzards.

We have two on hand this week. Number one is that fact that, in this year of our Lord 1942, the National League Baseball Club of Philadelphia has abbreviated its name. From 1883 to 1942 the team has been known as the Philadelphia Phillies.

On the ice we notice that the Rangers have gone 50 games without suffering a whitewash. They broke their own record back in the 70's, and now continue to maintain their National Hockey League leadership and keep the disks flying.

"B" Club To Hold Dance In Tustin Gym March 7; Affair Has Sports Theme

Tustin Gymnasium will be the scene of the B Club dance, to be held Saturday, March 7, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock. The "Bucknellians" will play for the affair.

In keeping with the sponsorship, the decorations will feature an athletic theme, with various sports represented. The members of the athletic department and their wives will act as chaperons.

Richard Eldridge is chairman of the dance committee, assisted by Bob Shaffer and Bill Carson.

Admission will be $7.50 per couple.

George Good To Wed Clara Mae Peterson At Altoona This Sat.

George Good, Phi Gamma Delta '41, will be married to Clara Mae Peterson of Altoona on Saturday, February 28, in the Broad Avenue Presbyterian Church in Altoona, Pa.

Dr. Melvin LeMon will play for the wedding, while Lee Rank 42 and John Kingsbury 42 are included in the social party, in addition to the groom's brothers, Roy Good 44 and Dave Good 45, both Phi Gammas.

D. Z. Pledges Conduct Dessert Party Monday With Patriotic Theme

The Delta Zeta pledges acted as hosts to the pledges of the other societies at an open house Monday afternoon from 6:45 to 7:45 o'clock in Hunt Hall Rec Room. The affair was a desert party and featured a patriotic theme. Entertainment was supplied by dancing to a "Big" together with bridge and other games. The refreshments were served buffet style, with lollipop hatches on the bill of fare.

Ruth Smith headed the committee on arrangements for the affair, assisted by B. Dulany, P. Reynolds, R. Gannon, B. Bolton, M. Bachman, A. Selt, B. Walter, D. Hall, Winkler, B. Middleworth, and R. Lynn.

A CORRECTION

A correction is noted in the list of Air Raid Wardens for the Sem published last week. Xenodice Geschwind and Virginia Cushing will act as the representatives from the Van Gundy house, instead of the girls named formerly. Audrey Bishop will be the Warden at the Walker Street house, Karen Nelson will serve in Larison, and Martha Lloyd and Sylvia Russell will be Wardens in Hunt.

Mashed potatoes with their jackets on is a regular feature on the menu of 300 University of Idaho students who live in two men's halls on the campus. The students maintain leaving the jackets on gives the potatoes an improved flavor and an "interesting, pepper-flecked appearance."

The United States Navy band in a recent performance at Clemson College played "Tiger-Rally," a pep song composed by E. J. Freeman, Clemson engineering professor.

Rec Room Reopens; Committee Requests Observance Of Rules

The Rec Room in Hunt Hall has reopened once more for student use, with the stipulation that the house rules posted on the door leading to the Rec Room be obeyed. The room, which will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. o'clock, has been resupplied, and additions will be made to the equipment if the students can keep the need for resupplies down. At present, the committee is trying to arrange for the purchase of a shuffleboard court.

Each week, a check on supplies will result either in a resupply of the material lacking, or the need will go unsupplied. Since the room is supported by money from the Coca-Cola machine, this system of resupplying cannot be carried on too extensively.

The Rec Room is under the sponsorship of Mortar Board. Jane Shouder, Ruth Smith, Martha Lloyd, and Robert Shaffer constitute the committee in charge.

W. A. A. Honors Members At Banquet At Sem; Three Women Win Keys

Eligible members of the Women's Athletic Association were honored last night by the organization at the W. A. A. banquet in the Sem dining room. Forty-one W. A. A.'s were given out, eleven numeral awards were presented, seven E's, and, to the three women eligible for the thousand point award, keys were given. Formerly, sweaters were awarded to the women numbering the thousand points.

Dorothy Davis '43, winner sports manager was in charge of arrangements for the banquet. Audrey Leipzig '42 is president of the organization.

Peggy Linaberry Is New President of Delta Phi Alpha

Peggy Linaberry was elected president of Delta Phi Alpha, German honorary fraternity, at a meeting of the society Monday evening in Dr. Ernst W. Meyer's home. Robert Leslack was elected vice president, Margaret Moson, secretary, and George Burns, treasurer.

Dr. Meyer provided the entertainment, reading a poem in German, and commenting on it. The poem was entitled, "Das Lied Von Der Glocke." Refreshments were also served.

A Sinking Of Pearls Disrupts Classroom Activities At Michigan State

Prof. O. W. Wilson found the going a little difficult in his Michigan State College Science class.

The recitation first was disrupted when a coiled string of pearls broke and a 20-minute search was instituted for the beads.

No sooner had order been restored than the classroom door opened. A young man stepped in, calmly surveyed the students, spied a coiled and threw her a candy bar. Then he turned and walked out.

Class was dismissed.

Even though studies have been concentrated in bigger doses in order that colleges may co-operate with defense plans, Bucknellians still seem able to have quite a lot of fun around their campus. At least, lots of things have been happening during the past week.

Phi Mu Marilyn Eppley '43 spent the weekend at the University of Pennsylvania as the guest of Bob McWhorter. June Rhodes '42 entertained Bill Schultz '40 and Nellie Dean was visited by Harvard Griffith, also of the Class of '40. Jean Volmer '44 was pledged to Phi Mu on February 5. Mini Puschell '44 spent the weekend at her home in Coopersburg. Hope Wolman '44 entertained Mary Elizabeth King from Short Hills, N. J., over the weekend. Betty Baldwin '44 entertained Fred Brook from Penn State. Anne Novotny '45 spent the weekend at Ohio Wesleyan houseparties. Mariel Otto '45 entertained her cousin, Florence Nelson, from New York City.

Dick Baerston and Johnny Jones, from Hershey College, attended the Pennsylvania Student Government Convention at the campus this weekend, and stayed at the Lambda Chi Alpha House. Pete Tras, ex-'43, again returned to the chapter house for the weekend. Pete still has two more weeks furlough from the Army. Jimmy Oakes and Johnny Nelson, from Penn State, were guests of Bert Waters '41. Chair Thomas '44 and Wally Halter '45 visited the Lambda Chi House at Franklin and Marshall. Bill Thomas '43 spent the weekend at his home in York. Gene Cowell '44 was the guest of Miss Ann Northwood at the Wilson College Junior from in Chambersburg. Jack King was visited by Jean Levan '46. Walt Noll '44 entertained Betty Miles at Sunday dinner at the chapter house. Herb Jordan was best man at a wedding in Philadelphia.

Phi Beta Phi's Mary Foley and Frankie Rice entertained Jack Joranson and Dave Smith of Lehigh this weekend. Ellen Vichover, ex-'42, who is now a student at Swarthmore College, returned to the campus for the Phi Phi dinner-dance. Jane Snyder, a former president of Phi Phi, returned for the dance and visited her sister, Louise Snyder. Barbara McDermott visited her parents in Woodward, Jeanette, this past weekend. Jean Thompson entertained her mother and her sister, Pat Thompson, over the weekend, and Annabelle Shepherd entertained her mother. Mr. and Mrs. Saurber visited their daughter Betty Sunday afternoon. Penny Naumann and Betty Baldwin had guests over the weekend.

Tri-Belt Roth went to her home in Hollidaysburg for the weekend. Billie Poling is at her home in Philadelphia after having an operation performed on her finger. Ruth Braden entertained guests over the weekend. Nancy Sherrer spent the weekend at her home in Williamsport.

Delta Sigma held formal initiation ceremonies Saturday evening for Drew Macdonald '44, and pledging ceremonies on Tuesday evening for Hiram Mann '43. Alumni returning for the weekend were Dr. Fred H. Igler, who was on campus as a guest speaker for the P. I. S. G. A. conference; Dr. Frank G. Davis; Harvard Griffith; John Zeller; and Joseph Kern, former member. Conference houses for the weekend were Harry Mitchell and Don Catell, both from Indiana State Teachers College. Dinner guests Sunday were Florence Overton, Betty McAninch, Jacqueline Oerth, and Barbara Eickes.

Thursday night, February 19th, the "Brownies" of Larison Hall gave an Hawaiian "rushing" party for Ruth Burnett, Emily Josef, Molly McCabe, Charlotte Grass, Flo Overton, Martha Shipman, and Connie Campbell, who were pledged that night. Refreshments were served.

Kappa Sigma entertained the following guests over the weekend: Prof. and Mrs. W. T. MacDonnell, Mr. Walter S. Vanderbilt, New York City; Mr. Charles Wall, Philadelphia; Miss Marion Coll, Philadelphia; Miss Jean Eiken and Betty Camera, representatives attending the Student Government Conference held on campus this weekend. Other guests included Miss Mary Shindler, daughter of Erie and Mr. Halden Leach of Tomsen, Maryland. Student guests from Drexel were Mr. Stewart Nicols and Mr. Erving Bickley, also attending the Student Government Conference. Miss Clara Jean Walton '43 was the guest of Bud Ashby for Sunday dinner.

Delta Zeta Helen Coughlin '42 visited her home in Millburn, New Jersey over the weekend. Rita Shinnick '44 went home for the weekend and Ruth Bolton '44 went to Penn State.

Kappa Delta Margie Strouse entertained her parents over the weekend. "Ting" Stager of Natchez, N. J., was the guest of Frankie Olson. Betty Bush was visited by her sister Molly of Mt. Airy, Pa. Jean Acker visited her home in Stroudsburg, Pa. this weekend. Last week Jimmy Sorotore entertained her family. Marguerite Krashevich '41 visited the chapter last weekend. Kappa Delta held second Degree initiation for Dorothy Russell and Catherine Kuster Tuesday, February 17, in the suite.

Alpha Chi Penny Wood spent the weekend at the home of Ensign A. K. Bowers of Berwick, Pa. Janet Hosen entertained Walt Choke, ex-'42. Mary Hamlin was visited by her parents last weekend. Marian Shaffer entertained her mother on Sunday.

The collected stamps will be used to buy defense bonds for the benefit of the class of '55 which is the year in which the bonds will matriculate. All girls will be granted 113.90 pennies for the dance.

Booster Club Gives Dance In Davis Gym After Game Friday

The Bucknell Booster Club dance was held in Davis Gym last Saturday night following the Bucknell-Ursinus basketball game. The "Bucknellians" and an am very much interested in those Bucknellians who are in the armed forces.

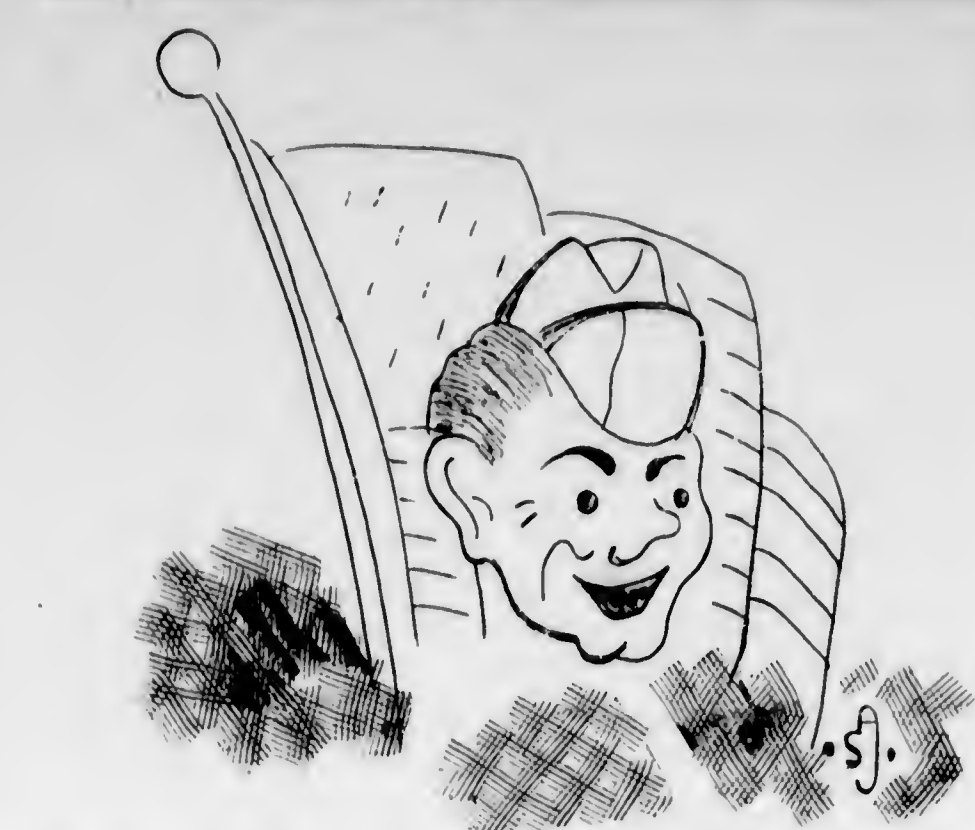

Within five days, I expect to leave for foreign service. I am not permitted to divulge my assignment or destination but shall write you at some future time regarding my whereabouts. The 6th will shortly relieve me from assignment. I am sure that we shall someday meet again.

Will you kindly extend my personal regards to Mrs. Brown and Forrest Jr., as well as to Dr. Matz, Bissoe, Peterson, and Burgee when you see them. You have my every good wish.

January 27, 1942.
Just a line to express my appreciation for your kindness in forwarding me the letters and bulletins regarding the Association. Please let me assure you that I enjoy reading every one of them. I receive The Bucknellian and am very much interested in those Bucknellians who are in the armed forces.

Once again there comes word from Bill Bobb, down in Victoria, Texas.
January 26, 1942.
Dear Friends of Service Council.

Again I am acknowledging a letter from the Service Council, Bud Eisman this time and a friendly note from Jeanne Haynes, concerning a friend, John Jones. I appreciate every letter and piece of literature that I receive from Bucknell so much that I want to reply immediately—always thinking of getting the next Bucknellian or Service Council circular letter.

I would like to call your attention to my correct address, however, as most of the mail I've been receiving from the school has first gone to Randolph Field. My correct address is as follows: Sgt. William T. Bobb, 9th School Squadron, ACAFS, Foster Field, Victoria, Texas.

Notice two changes? Well, I'll call your attention to them just so there won't be any mistake. First, the field here at Victoria has been named Foster Field and secondly, I was promoted to the grade of Sergeant on the 12th of this month.

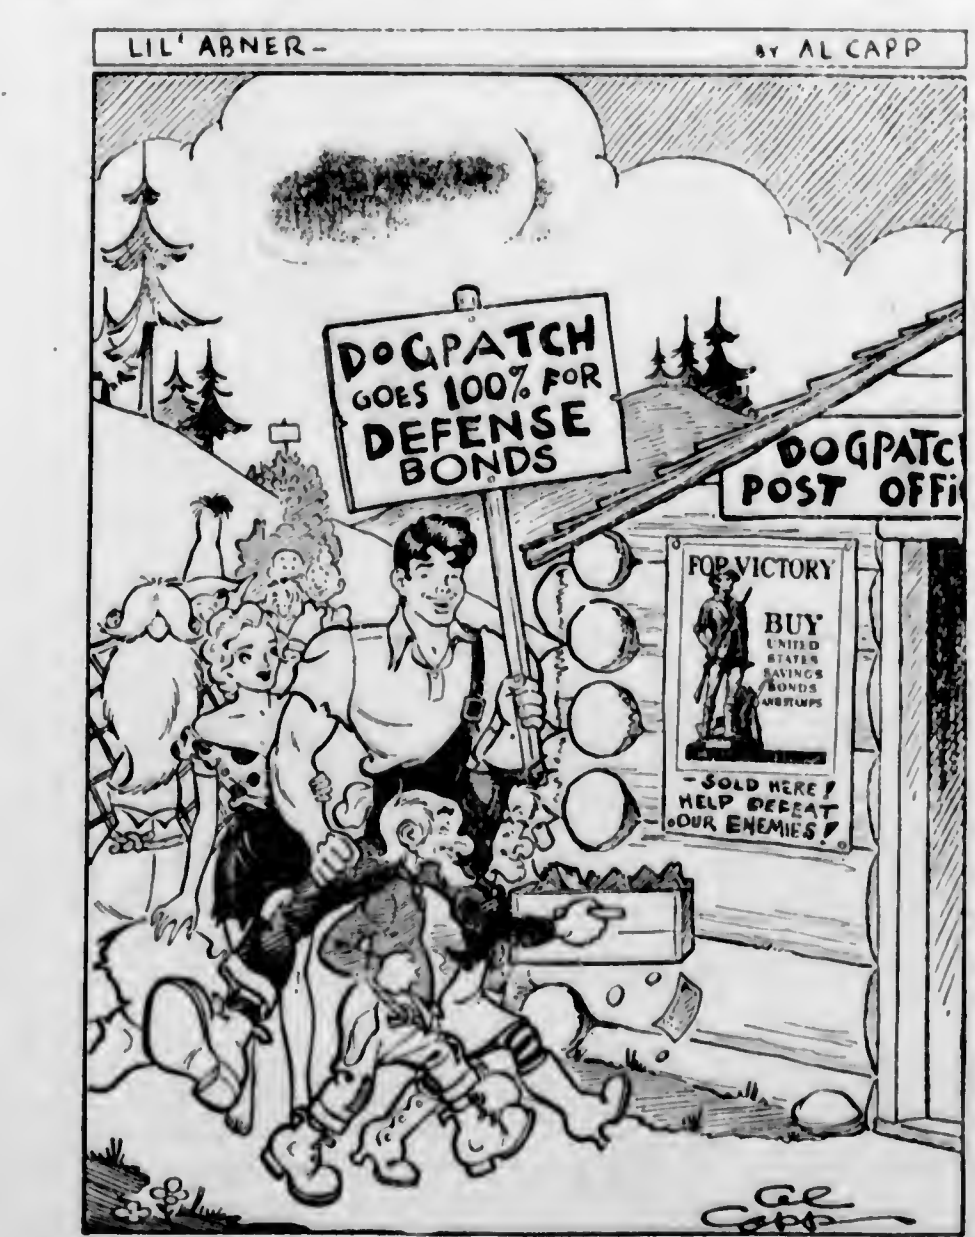

I haven't had a furlough since my induction into the army and I can't expect one now, but if miracles do happen, I most certainly wish that my furlough would happen around the 10th to the 20th of February. Yes, Will Bradley is the reason!

My first semester of night school has been completed and I've taken the exam in Accounting 214 (I'm not sure of the exact course that this corresponds to at B. U.) and somehow I managed an "A."

In reading Bill Woods letter, I agree with him in his opinion of the "Lone Star State" and that's putting it mildly.

Guess that's all for this time and in the meantime I'll be waiting for next week's issue of The Bucknellian. Thanks for all that you've done.

Sincerely,
Bill Bobb.

L'Agenda Adds To Hall Of Fame

Two Tie Votes Cause Upset In Previous Plans; 14 To Be Honored

For the first time in the history of the L'Agenda, a tie vote for eighth and fourth places, respectively, in the men's and women's selections for the Hall of Fame of the Class of '42 has necessitated the addition of two extra seniors into this group of immortals.

Because the vote for the last place in each division coincidentally was exactly even, there will appear in the 1942 edition of L'Agenda an extra character in each division. There will be 14 seniors featured, nine men and five women, instead of the usual twelve, eight men and four women.

Editor Eisman announced that the members of the Hall of Fame will appear in cartoon reproductions, instead of the usual photographs that featured Hall of Famers in past years.

Caricaturist, the traveling cartoonist, who toured the campus last week, drawing likenesses of over 200 Bucknell men and women, will be honored by the use of many of his works in this year's Hall of Fame. The novel idea of using these caricatures was forthcoming from the editor, who, when asked to name the members in this year's Hall of Fame, stated that the usual practice of not announcing the winners to the student body until the date of issuance, would again be the policy of this year's L'Agenda staff.

B. U. Concert Band Begins Rehearsals

Band Prepares New Works For Spring Concerts; Stickney Directs

With the second semester well under way, the Bucknell Concert Band has resumed its regular Wednesday evening rehearsals under the direction of Professor Stickney.

Looking forward to the many Spring appearances of the organization, the Band is preparing new works for performance not only at the annual Spring Concert, but also in anniversary at Hunt Hall living room of twelve concerts. Among the new works now in rehearsal is a Cowboy Rhapsody comprised of familiar western folk-songs. Also being rehearsed is an American Rhapsody, using "American the Beautiful" as its main theme with snatches of "Pop Goes the Weasel" and other truly American tunes making themselves evident in the course of the composition; the tuneful melodies of Herbert's "Naughty Marietta" have also been taken to the already large repertoire of the band.

This year's band is composed of 46 picked campus musicians and represents the most complete ensemble yet to be presented to the students and friends of Bucknell. In spite of the departure of several members of the group into the ranks of the armed forces, it looks forward to a most successful season. The dates of concerts will be announced soon.

Professor Stickney has asked that students desiring request numbers to be played at the twilight concerts to give their requests either to him personally or to any member of the Concert Band.

Opening with two Bach selections, "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" and choral preludes, Dr. LeMon, assisted by Hazel Gravell, soprano, will present his second organ recital on March 1, of vesper music in the Lewisburg Baptist Church.

Miss Gravell, a graduate of Bucknell, has studied at the Eastman School of Music and has also pursued intensive study in New York. She will offer two selections, Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer" and "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod.

Dr. LeMon will conclude his program with organ classics and organ transcriptions from the romantic school of composers, namely Tchaikovsky, Gounod, and Massenet.

THEATER GUILD GIVES PLAY NEXT MONTH

"Family Portrait" Is Title Of Next Production; Faculty in Cast

Rehearsals of "Family Portrait", a Lewisburg Theatre Guild play to be presented late in March, are now in full swing with five Bucknell faculty or administration members in the cast.

Prof. Frederick Parker, in the part of Mathias, a business man, will vie for leading parts with Mr. Ward Gage, who plays the role of Eben, a peddler. Miss Lucille Georg, technician in Ziegler Infirmary, plays Mary Magdelene. Dr. Foote and Miss Libby Dyer also have parts.

The play is being directed by the Reverend Junkin of the Presbyterian Church in town, and will be given in the Lewisburg High School. It was first produced at the Monaca Theatre on Broadway in 1939, with Judith Anderson in the leading role. Taking for its theme Christ's words, "A prophet is not without honor, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house," the play "Family Portrait" revolves about an ordinary family of any period, which acts and speaks as we do today.

It is a dignified story about the family of Christ, encompassing the last three years of His life, but never introducing Him on the stage. It shows the typically human reactions of the brothers when He leaves them during the building season and depicts the working force. It portrays inkeepers who think of Jesus' popularity only as a good influence on their business. Thus the plot is spun around the people who played some part in the life of Jesus.

LeMon Addresses Bucknell Alumni

Speaking on the subject "Transcribing Folk Music," Dr. Melvin LeMon of the Music Department will address the Lancaster County Bucknell Alumni Club tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. club room in Lancaster.

Emphasizing the problems in the recording and transcription of American native folk tunes, Dr. LeMon will illustrate his address with recordings of miners' songs.

Russell K. Appleby '37 is president of the Lancaster County Bucknell Alumni Club, while Mrs. William J. Poorbaugh '35 is secretary of the organization.

Robert Fulton, a sophomore at Boston University, is working his way by teaching modern dancing during his spare time.

B. U. Music School Presents Recital

With Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in C Major" and an organ solo by Nonette Geschwind, the Bucknell University School of Music opened its student recital Wednesday afternoon.

Vocal soloists included George Burns, tenor, singing "Caro Mio Ben" by Giordani; Warren Dunning, tenor, who offered Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Schumann's "Thou Art a Tender Blossom"; Sylvia Russell, soprano, presented Sieber's "Butterflies" and "The Wren" by Benedetti.

Under the sponsorship of President Marts, the Bucknell University Research Group, formed about three years ago, is an organization whose aim is to further research among Bucknell's faculty.

IT DOESN'T ADD UP

Specialized courses in civilian defense work on the campus will soon turn out a number of college men as qualified firemen, air raid wardens, bomb squadmen and rescue squadmen as a measure of preparation in the national emergency program.

It's all very excellent but somehow we can't help thinking of recent campus events, while underrating in their very nature, have been somewhat neglected. First, the fraternity rubbers—no promise of arrest, what's more not even the slightest indication of an investigation. Secondly, thefts of books from men's dormitories, under investigation—still no report. Lastly, repeated reports of valuables missing from the girls' dormitories.

And those keys to Hunt Hall—they finally turned up, but by that time nearly 75 innocent keys in that dorm had paid the penalty of a man-campus.

HERE AND THERE

The Phi Delta Saturday night had everything, including pretty, delectable, 11-year-old Patty Thompson who came all the way from Vandergrift to serve as receptionist for the affair. That was not all, however, for top-flight terpsichorean artist herobouts found their dancing laurels shaken when Patty, sister of Janis, junior coed, decided to step out for a fling around the Tustin floor. It was a grand exhibition and the guys and gals learned a lot and enjoyed it immensely.

Usually, the Artist Course presentations on the campus are followed by no end of praise from the audience—but it doesn't stop there. The students who neglected to attend have their cry and it's undoubtedly one marked by deep mourning. So, here's fair warning about the final presentation on the Artist Course series, Wednesday evening, March 4, at 8:15 o'clock in the Lewisburg High School. The Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Sinfonietta will be featured in a concert which this week won praise from hundreds of concert-goers in principal cities throughout Northeastern Pennsylvania for its wealth and musical efficiency. Dr. Paul Gies of the Bucknell music department is the conductor.

Besides showing the P. I. S. G. A. delegates that Bucknell has something to offer, the Booster Club provided a thoroughly delightful evening for Bucknell students following the Friday night basketball game. There would undoubtedly have been a packed house if that stag line had been advertised beforehand.

KEEP 'EM MOVING

If you are walking these days to save time, you are doing yourself a great favor, according to John D. Plant of the Bucknell University physical education department, who says that walking offers one of the finest all-around methods for body exercise.

"Walking," he states, "helps in developing posture, strength, agility, and speed and brings one out-of-doors into the sunlight and fresh air."

He adds, "Walking is one of the first forms of exercise we learn in life and there's every reason in the world why we should continually practice it at all times. In babies, it helps to develop muscles and limbs, and in adults, walking can be put to work in strengthening these organs of motion."

Mr. Plant speaks from a practical as well as theoretical point of view for on the campus he is known as an avid follower of the art of walking. He longs for the day when walking will return to occupy the important role it did in an era gone by.

"A return to walking means the American's return to good health and no better time than the present can be found for an application of this principle," in the opinion of Mr. Plant.

Letters to the Editor

(Ed. note: This is a letter written to the News Editor of "The Bucknellian", from his brother, Jack Kriz, in the Far East. The writer, graduated from M. I. T. this past June, is now employed as an engineer with the Standard-Vacuum Oil Company of New York, in Batavia, Java. It is probable that Mr. Kriz is now located somewhere in Australia.)

Baffles Hotel,
Singapore, Straits Settlements,
Sunday, December 7, 1941.

Dear Bob,
Sunday in Singapore seems to be pretty quiet, at least here at the Baffles. I've done nothing today, since rising at half-past ten this morning, but sit around, read the Straits Times, and smoke my pipe. Here in the shade, with a ceiling fan keeping a nice breeze playing over me, I'm just comfortably cool in my shirt sleeves. Honestly, I've almost forgotten already what cold weather is like.

I came down from Hong Kong on a tiny little 2000 ton coastal steamer that carried about two dozen passengers. Although small, the vessel was new and very comfortable, and the food actually a good deal better than that on the new captured S. S. President Harrison from San Francisco. The first two days out of Hong Kong the sea was terribly rough; we were on the tail end of a monsoon, I was told. Practically all the passengers were sick as dogs, but I managed to come through the rough weather without having to lean over the rail even once. There were a couple of times, however, when I felt a bit upset and had to summon up all my willpower to keep from feeding the fishes. Even some of the officers weren't feeling up to snuff, so you can believe me when I say that little ship tossed around just like a cork. At times it rolled so much it was almost impossible to eat; the plates were sliding all over the dinette table. Nelson and I were the only Americans on board; most of the passengers were British, and there were a few assorted nationalities, French, Danish, etc.

So far my baggage has all remained intact, nothing lost or broken. I'm afraid, though, that that trunk in which I have my books packed doesn't have much life left in it; it sure has taken a beating traveling all the way from the East Coast of the United States. By now I am a past master at packing and unpacking, checking on my baggage, going through customs, and so on. Traveling nowadays involves a terrific amount of red tape with the police and government authorities, but all that red tape is necessary and has good reason behind it. Everywhere I go they fill it up with more stuff. I think I've had it stamped at least five times since I came into Singapore, and I'll have to have it stamped another couple of times before I leave. Unless a man is traveling on government business or on important defense business for some big firm, I don't see how it would be possible for him to get permission to travel at all. But as I said before, the present world situation makes all these restrictions vitally necessary.

Our office has called Batavia to get permission for me to enter the Indies, and the Dutch Consulate is also working on the matter. Unless something goes amiss, I ought to obtain a labor permit and an X. E. I. visa in a couple of days. I hope I got to Java soon, because I'm anxious to get down to work and start the old life going.

Here comes my boy with tea and cakes. Excuse me a moment; I'll be right back.

Ah, that was just what I needed! Now, with my pipeful of Prince Albert burning nicely, I feel in perfect form for a session of letter-writing. A glance at a map will show you that Singapore, capital of the Straits Settlements, is practically smack-dab on the equator. Someone told me yesterday that the year-around average temperature is something like 85 degrees Fahrenheit. That sounds a bit high to me, but there's no getting away from the fact that Singapore is by no means the coldest place on earth. Honestly, though, it's more pleasant here than it is on a warm day in New York, at any rate that's the way it seems to me. The sun is very hot, but in the shade it's OK. If I stay in the sun too long, however, I begin to get a headache, and for that reason I wear a pill helmet whenever I have to expose myself to the sun's rays for any length of time. Another thing—I'm beginning to learn not to rush around as much as I did back home. Out here you just have to take it easy, and if you don't, people stare at you as if you were a lunatic. Which you are.

Well, it looks as though hell has broken loose at last, doesn't it? As far as (Continued on page 8.)

Bucknellians Attend A.I.E.E. Meeting

The Bucknell Student Branch of the A. I. E. E. was represented by both student and faculty members at the Bloomsburg meeting of the Lehigh Valley Section of the A. I. E. E. last Friday.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Samuel J. Rosch, Manager of Insulated Products Development of Amcon-Wire and Cable Co. His subject was "Electrical and Chemical Research—Its Place in War Economy."

Bucknell was represented by Prof. G. A. Ireland, Prof. J. B. Miller, Prof. H. A. Shaffer, Mrs. Harl Scheerer, Stanley Marshall, George Calp, Raymond Young, Marian Eugene Cook, Blaine Lewis, and Arno King.

The entire conference will return to the campus on Sunday. Dean Wilson will then speak in Student Church on the subject of "Through Faith to Victory."

Peggy Faust, chairman of the inter-racial committee of C. A., is co-opting with the chairman of the workshop group, Janet Leach and Douglas Passage, in planning the program for the weekend.

Constantin Sahal '44 Bucknell student from Lima, Peru, was the featured speaker at the February meeting of the Union County Chapter of Federal Union held at the President's house last Wednesday evening at which 32 persons were present to hear discussion on South America's attitude toward Federal Union.

The speaker said that the general feeling of the Latin and South American countries was one opposed to the organizing of a Federal Union if they were not included, and that imperialism would result from excluding their countries from such a plan.

Bucknell students and residents of Lewisburg and Union County are both active in the local group. President of the Bucknell student organization is Ben Wasserman '44 and secretary-treasurer is Helen Coughlin '42. Miss Martine Georg, instructor of economics, is president of the town and county group; Prof. Cyrus H. Karaker is secretary.

Dean and Mrs. Wilson are bringing some of the colored students from Lincoln University to spend the weekend with a group of Bucknell students at Cowan.

Prof. Blanchard Gummoe will return to Bucknell at the end of this week to resume his position at the head of the Art Department. Mr. Robert Laster, who has been substituting for Prof. Gummoe, will return to the Army since his draft number was subject to call in the near future.

Prof. Gummoe had taken leave of absence from the University this year to continue his studies in art at the Research Studio in Maitland, Florida.

Recently he received the first prize for oils in the Harrisburg Art Association's exhibition for his painting, "Encounter." This was regarded as one of his finest works in oils.

The annual Baccalaureate service has been scheduled for Friday evening, May 22, with all other Commencement festivities listed for Saturday, May 23, when the traditional alumni reunions will take place.

Bucknell's 92nd annual Commencement will be held in Davis Gymnasium on Saturday afternoon, May 23, having been advanced two weeks from the date originally announced before the University decided to accelerate its program.

The list of the air raid wardens for the fraternity houses has just been followed by Dean Page's office and is as follows:

C.A. Host To Dean At Cowan Seminar

Dean and Mrs. Frank Wilson and a group of colored students from Lincoln University will be the guests of the Christian Association Inter-racial group and of the worship seminar group at Cowan this weekend.

An informal program of recreation has been planned for Saturday afternoon so that the group may become better acquainted. This will be followed in the evening by a discussion led by Dean Wilson on "The Bible and Other Literature in Worship."

Sunday morning Mrs. Wilson, a graduate of the Juillard School of Music, will discuss "Music for Worship," and lead a worship service.

The entire conference will return to the campus on Sunday. Dean Wilson will then speak in Student Church on the subject of "Through Faith to Victory."

Varsity Dribblers And Punchers Face Stiff Tests This Week

Mittmen Batter Indiana State Teachers 6-2

Trecartin and Syme KO Opponents in 155 and 135-Pound Classes

SHEFFLER, DeANGELIS, GARRO, AND SZOT WIN

By Joe Heuer

The Bucknell boxing squad chalked up its second win of the current campaign when they defeated the Indiana State Teachers College boxers last Saturday night in Davis Gym.

The Remenoms, with victories by Sheffield, Syme, Garro, Trecartin, DeAngelis, and Szot, won the match by a count of 6-2. Syme and Trecartin won via the K. O. route, while the latter and DeAngelis remained in the undefeated ranks for this season.

In the 120-lb. class, Ira Sheffield, who dropped from the 125-pound division, represented Bucknell. Sheffield had things pretty much his own way throughout the tussle with his Indiana foe. Using a sharp left jab and a strong right hook he piled up an early advantage which his opponent's last round rally failed to overcome.

Dave Gold stepped into the ring for the first time to represent the Bisons in the 127-lb. division. The Lewisburg boy put up a good fight, but his opponent's experience proved to be a little too much for him to cope with, and Joe Reno halted the bout midway through the second round after Gold had gone down twice.

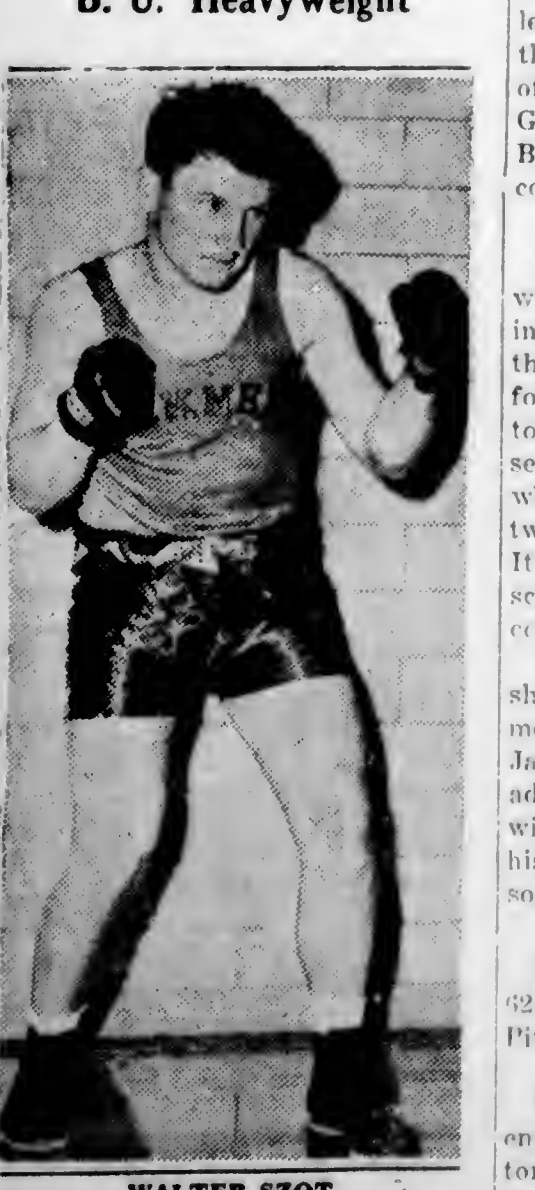

Syme K. O.'s foe Jesse Syme, fighting in the 135-lb. slot for the B. U. punchers, showed a vast improvement after his early season performance. After a fast first round in which Syme shaded his Teachers foe, he really went to work in the second round, and the referee stopped the bout in this round awarding the Bison a win on a TKO.

Another point was marked up for the Remenoms as Captain Frank Garro decisively outboxed his 145-lb. Indiana opponent. After a slow first round, Frank took the aggressive and dropped his foe to the canvas in this round. The decision went to Frankie by a very wide margin.

Cy Trecartin kept his undefeated record intact when he registered a lightning-like TKO over 145-pound Teachers rival. The fight was halted toward the close of the first round after Cy had battered his foe into the canvas with sharp rights and lefts swung from all angles.

Bucknell Varsity Shows "Net" Result of the Game

Winning basketball games means getting points and Bucknell's varsity five gestures basket-ward in a demonstration of how it's done. Reading clockwise are: Robert Keegan, Rochester, N. Y.; Joe Culbertson, York; George Haines, Clarion; Robert Snyder, Sunbury; and Edwin Glass, Dormont.

Haines Tallies 31 Points As Bisons Rout Ursinus 50-33

Dribblers Employ Speedy Offense in Scoring Third League Win

By Sy Berger

Hitting the mark for ten field goals and dropping in eleven shots from the penalty stripe, speedy George Haines ran up 31 tallies to pace the Bison quintet to their third league victory, as they downed Ursinus 50-33.

Gemma Delta basketball meeting, the fair-haired junior won the applause of all, as his shots ripped the cords for the second highest game total of the season.

From start to finish, the Musenoms showed their heels to their outclassed foe after overcoming a 2-0 advantage held by the Collegeville team. The game started off very slowly with neither team being able to find the mark. The Bucknell lads missed innumerable chances under the basket, but Ursinus' weak attack was a great help. Finally, Haines matched Heckman's set shot with two foul tosses and went on to chalk up a goal and another foul to give the Lewisburg counters a 5-3 lead at the end of the initial stanza.

Ursinus managed to salvage seven markers in the second period, but the Bisons showed their power and ran up 16 tallies to hold a 21-10 halftime lead. George Haines netted ten of the 16 points, thus accounting for 15 of the Bison's first 21 markers. Ed Glass dropped in three points and Bobby Keegan's set shot from mid-court added two more.

Keegan Finds the Mark The second half was all Haines, with Bob Keegan playing a supporting role for the Bisons. Hutchinson, the Ursinus captain, was runner up for the game's scoring honors with a total of 14 points, second only to the sensational Orman and Blue forward who hooked in 16 points in the final two frames to annex his great total. It's interesting to note that George scored only two points less than the combined efforts of the Ursinus outfit.

Bob Keegan dropped in a long set shot and two one-handers to add six more markers to his game total, while Jack Dedrick rung up two baskets to add four more points to the Bison win. Joe Culbertson hit the mark for his lone two-pointer before the personal foul rule caught up with him.

Intramural Quintets Battle In Finals Tomorrow Night

With many thrilling encounters in league play, and victory in the semi-final playoffs behind them, the two Greek quintets who have battled their way to the finals will take the Davis Gym floor tomorrow evening at 8 in the initial frames of the 2 out of 3 playoff in quest of the 1942 Intramural basketball championship.

The Sammies and the Sigma Chis finished in a deadlock for their league lead as did the Phi Gams and Kappa Sigs. On the toss of a coin the semi-final contests were determined with the Sigma Alpha Mu crew playing the Kappa Sig courtmen and the Phi Gamma Delta basketball meeting the Sigma Chi dribblers. These clubs met last night, but due to the "issue deadline" we cannot print the outcome of these battles.

Each of the four teams entered the semi-finals with distinctive records, the Sammies lost but one game and that was to the Sigma Chi, who suffered their lone defeat at the hands of the Phi Psi's, who were taken into the Bisons' net.

I-M Grappling Starts March 9

Wrestlers Must Follow Training Program To Be Eligible

With the intramural wrestling tournament just a little more than a week in the offing, Davis Gym these days is the scene of many an ambitious wrestler trying to round himself into a man who will be eligible to compete. Every man wishing to participate in the tournament this year must do at least six supervised practice periods, three of which were to have been done this past week and three which must be done this coming week.

The tournament will take place on March 9, 10, and 12. On March 9 and 12 the matches will start promptly at 4:30, and on March 10 at 7:00 p. m. Contestants will be required to weigh in every day of the matches.

The weights are as follows: 121, 128, 136, 145, 155, 165, 175, and unlimited. All former champions except the unlimited must wrestle in at least one weight division higher than the one in which the title was won. No overweighing will be allowed.

The defending wrestling champion this year will be the Sigma Chi, who once again are expected to have a very strong outfit to defend their championship.

Cagers Meet Muhlenberg In Gym Tonight; Boxers To Scrap With Michigan State On Monday

Renomen Hope to Avenge Spartan Defeat of Last Season

VISITORS AGAIN HAVE STRONG TEAM

By Morty Silberman

Bucknell's basketball and boxing teams both meet very stiff tests this week.

The cagers are to meet the undefeated, league-leading Muhlenberg quintet in Davis Gym tonight at 8 o'clock, while on Monday night the Bison punchers will trade blows with the mittmen of Michigan State in Davis Gym.

Tonight when Mal Musser's court squad faces off with the Muhlenberg Mules they will be attempting to snap a 13-game winning streak held by the Allentown team, and at the same time they will be out to revenge an early season 44-42 defeat handed them by the league-leaders.

The Mules are the only unbeaten five in the league race and seem practically assured of gaining the championship of the loop. The Bisons, on the other hand, are far out of the running for the crown and would like nothing better than to hand the visitors their first league loss of the year.

On Monday night, Joe Reno's 6-2 win over the punchers of Indiana State Teachers College, will attempt to make it two straight triumphs when they take on the battlers of Michigan State College.

Last year the Bison mittmen traveled to the Spartan lair in East Lansing, Michigan, only to be shaded by a 5-3 count. Not much is known about the State squad this year, but in all probability they'll once again have as strong a team as they have had in past years.

Heine May Fight 165 The B. U. line-up will probably be the same as the one which represented the Bisons against Indiana, with the possible exception of the 165-lb. class where Bill Heine may replace Jim Scheussler.

Battling in the 120-lb. division will be Ira Sheffield, who previous to last week had been fighting in the 127-lb. slot.

Dave Gold, making his first ring appearance of the season last week, will again be in there for Bucknell at the 127-lb. weight.

Jesse Syme, who seems to have found his stride after a weak start, will be swinging for the Renomen in the 135-lb. class.

Captain Frankie Garro, who has suffered but one loss in two years of intercollegiate boxing, will be in there again for the Bison squad at the 145-lb. weight.

Unbeaten this year, Cy Trecartin, will be out for his fourth win of the season in the 155-lb. class.

The only other Bison puncher undefeated this season is Frank DeAngelis, who seems to be improving with each succeeding match. The little footballer will again don the mitts for Reno this Monday evening.

Wal. Scot, another footballer, will again be Joe Reno's choice for the heavyweight assignment. Scot, in his home debut last week, shaped up fairly well against his Indiana opponent when he beat.

Fair Record Thus Far The Renomen's record thus far this season might be considered fair, or perhaps slightly above that. In five contests they have won two, lost two and tied one. Their two losses have come at the hands of Army and C. C. N. Y., while they have beaten Leek Haven and Indiana Teachers, and tied West Virginia.

With a record of 13 successive wins, eight of them in league competition, the cagers of Muhlenberg College appear to be well on the road to the championship of the Eastern Pennsylvania Basketball League.

The Mules, who will be seen in action here tonight, have four more games remaining on their schedule, but if they are successful against the Bisons tonight and against Albright this Saturday night, then they will have virtually clinched the crown.

The nearest that the Allentown team has come to defeat in the league this season was in their first meeting with the Musenoms when they eked out a last minute 64-62 win.

The league standings are as follows:

Muhlenberg	8	0	435	311
Albright	6	2	448	309
F. and M.	6	2	362	355
Gettysburg	6	3	354	345
Bucknell	3	6	446	410
Lebanon Val.	1	8	348	324
Ursinus	1	9	405	463

GEORGE HAINES (Chair Bee) Schiller, Harry Reynolds, Nick Iarocci, and Forrest Chilton.

No entries will be accepted unless the man wishing to play enters his name with Mr. Reno at the Davis Gym office.

Because of limited space and time, all games must be played on schedule. There will positively be no postponements. A game or match must be played according to schedule for forfeit.

The annual football shooting contest will be held next Friday, March 6, from 4:30 to 6:00 p. m. Members of the varsity basketball teams are eligible for this contest.

Perhaps some readers of this column (all two of 'em, my mother and I) think that I've been giving too much of a build-up to George, but I really don't believe that myself, and doubt whatever in the minds of practically all Bison cage followers that he is the finest basketball product that Bucknell has had in the last decade, and possibly of all time.

If there's any doubt in your mind as to his abilities just ask any member on the squad who has seen him in action and then you'll really hear the adjectives flow.

You know there was quite a rumormongering at the beginning of this season at Seton Hall in regard to jealousies arising over the headlines and publicity that their ace, Bob Davies, was getting. As a result they refused to pass him the ball in a game, trying to "freeze him out" of the limelight. Well the result was a steady downfall of Seton's basketball fortunes. I don't know what kind of boy this Davies is personally, but I mentioned it here to show how utterly foreign an attitude of that would be to our own team.

Team. George is undoubtedly one of the best-looking boys on the squad. There isn't a man on the team who has anything but a good word for him. He's a quiet, modest fellow, who enjoys his game as much as the next one, but once on the court he's strictly business. Every member of the squad realizes the value of George to the team's fortunes, and they are not forgetting for one moment that without him they'd be a pretty bad team. And for that reason, and because they think so much of him as a fellow, you'll notice that in every game there isn't a man on the team who doesn't attempt to "feed" that ball to him as often as they can.

After the game is over and they are out in the lockerroom that "B-B Eyes" has tallied 20, or 25, or 30 points, or whatever it happens to be for the night, well it seems to them that they've even overdone him. That's just the way they feel about him.

Just as soon as he winds up his coaching activities with the Frosh basketball team for the year, which will be in about two weeks, Johnny Starnsky will assume his post as Bison basketball mentor which he has held quite successfully for the past few years. Once again Johnny will start his pre-season training with the boys by heading South (well what it is only the South end of Davis Gym, it sounds good to the outsiders). After about two weeks of exercising and warming drills he'll take the squad outside to get down to the real thing. Not too many of last year's squad are gone and prospects for a good year are really bright. Returning is Bob Keegan, who at present is playing some fine ball on Mal Musser's court.

Bob, only a sophomore, was the leading hitter on last year's nine and proved to be quite a versatile ball player. He has shortstop, and also took a turn at pitcher. This Spring will probably find him at shortstop, with an occasional pitching assignment thrown in at him. Phil Starnsky, the No. 1 moundman, will be burning them in again this year. However, there is a slight possibility that Uncle Sam may call for the Lewisburg boy before the semester is over.

If this happens then the Bison nine will have to depend on the throwing arms of Stan Bear, and two high-velocity freshman twirlers, Bill Traider and Frank Burns, both members on this year's freshman court team. Also returning to the diamond are Will Runk, Johnny Bachman, Stan

The Immunization Situation

Last week the Student Board of Health completed a difficult and complex study which revealed that nearly 90% of the student body at Bucknell needed various types of immunization.

Following a carefully constructed plan they released this information to "The Bucknellian" and urged us to give the news the fullest possible prominence. This we were glad to do, and in last week's issue of the paper the story was featured on Page One, a blank for the enrollment of students in this Emergency Immunization Program was provided in a convenient place on Page Four, and everything was done to draw attention to this important program.

The results were far from satisfactory and the lethargy and disinterest of attitude on the part of students can be named as a major cause. Immunization against the dreaded disease of smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid, and a check-up on T. B. are all sensible during peace time. During the hazardous days of a nation at war immunization is a vital and patriotic necessity.

It has been shown that women are, in the main, most likely to be affected by epidemics, because disease amongst civilians often reaches its peak during times of national strife. The men will be protected by the army and navy health program, and if they do not volunteer for the services of the program at Bucknell, they probably have good and valid reasons.

Yet the fact remains that out of 150 women in college now, only about 200 dedicated their willingness to participate in such a campaign. What is back of such an attitude of disinterest? Surely it cannot be because the members of Bucknell are ignorant of the dangers of the diseases for which inoculations are being given.

Dr. Rice has voiced the right cause when he has mentioned the slight disability may result from one or more of these injections, a headache, perhaps, or feelings of weakness, and this will probably be disastrous to the namby-pamby type of individual who has

WHOA, GANG (There's Too Much Doing Here)

Let's go back to the middle of last month. On January 15 Bucknell University's war-time program was inaugurated. The procedure of events to help in the national defense efforts was then shaping up and students were reminded by President Marks that sacrifices would be necessary. Every student on the Bucknell campus was called to attention.

Of course, those sacrifices meant a semi-slack in extra-curricular and social activities, but the concept of individual opinion was "all-out"—affirmatively.

Everyone was pleased, everyone smiled, everyone reminded fellow students that the time to "cut" had come. Compared to the sacrifices which millions of persons are making all over the globe today, the cancellation of a tea, club gathering, or mid-week hop would seem a natural procedure rather than a privation.

But sometimes went right ahead and arranged a multitude of meetings, conferences, forums, socials and so on. Then the defense courses got underway and students began running around in circles. Here is the peculiar part about the whole hop would seem a natural procedure rather than a privation.

Bucknell University with an enrollment of close to 1000 students cannot carry on activities equal in number to our college neighbors at Penn State. We forgot all about that, went into high gear, found the going a bit tough, coasted for a while, and now we've shifted back into low.

Not voluntarily, however. It had to be made compulsory and last week the members of the Administrative Council assembled to take action—and this time there'll be action.

The measures are of far-reaching effect. They are designed to cancel the cancellation of all activities, nor would it be fair to expect students to give their all week after week to this society, this drive, this special class, etc. There must, therefore, be a compromise of some sort.

The Student-Faculty Congress, which forwarded suggestions to the Administration Council, took every phase of activity on the campus into consideration before submitting the recommendations which carry the weight of student support. And the Administrative Council replied—okay!

There are some activities and social events that are worthy and there are some that are not, a moment's thought will help any collegian distinguish between the good and the bad. In these days when drime upon drime are being poured into the pockets of the nation, the least to be expected is that unnecessary activities will be forgotten or cut partially.

Pin-pleasure, honorary and professional fraternities are to be limited to one meeting per month; the post-exam jubilee is "out"; and the Spring Fling is taking the same route. Productions of Cap and Dagger will be "tuned" down; intramural athletics will be reshuffled; pledges will not be forced to attend extra-curricular events; and debate and musical affairs will be nipped fifty percent.

Most important, the academic committee of the Administrative Council, with the purpose of checking on burdensome extra-curricular work, will be asked to interview students who are finding it difficult to maintain average scholarship.

What students should remember is that the instructions for a cut in ex-

News Of Men In The Service

by John Hush

A most interesting letter was received from Walt Babitt, Sigma Chi, 40, some time ago, and herein are printed excerpts from that letter.

Hq. & Hq. Squadron
10th Air Base Group
Windsor Locks, Conn.

Dear Bucknell Friends:
As I write this seated on my comfortable army cot (?), I feel very embarrassed for not having written much sooner. To the Bucknell Service Council I send my sincerest thanks for your thoughtfulness and many appreciative gifts.

I'm waiting for word from my application which I made about two weeks ago for an appointment to Reserve Officer's training. I'm applying for the Quartermaster branch in the Air Corps as my first choice and the Signal Corps secondly.

I can honestly say I've enjoyed these six short months in the service very much—much more than I had thought I would when I enlisted in June. I was sent to Fort Dix and Savannah, Georgia, for my recruit training and on August 13, I arrived with 200 others via troop train in Windsor Locks. I joined my original group, Hq.—57th Pursuit Group, and began work as a clerk in the headquarters office. Then I got a big urge for photography, and since that squadron didn't have such a department, I was sent to the 1st Squadron of which I am now a member. Our unit is composed of eight fine fellows headed by a peach of a lieutenant who lives only a mile from Lewisburg. He's been very helpful to all of us and we're for him 100%.

Our work, since we are the Base Liaison, consists mostly of ground work such as the taking of office portraits, photographing base buildings and identification pictures of both enlisted and civilian personnel. We have six cameras on hand now with aerial equipment arriving every day so we have every reason to believe that our work may include aerial photography before long.

I have quite a few contacts here in the Army with Bucknell. I've been receiving the Bucknellian and the Alumni Monthly periodically, and several of my fellow Bucknellians have written to me quite often. I received a fine letter from Forrest Brown a couple days ago, and he's next on my letter list. And in addition, the Service Council has been sending its list of Bucknellians in the service and those addresses have been a big help to me and I'm sure they have been to many others too. It has meant a great deal to me to be able to correspond with all my friends.

WANT TO WRITE A LETTER?

One of the best springboards for editorializing is the letter-to-the-editor. The college editorial writer regards such personal communications as one of the best media through which to ascertain what his fellow students are thinking about, what they like, and what they do not like.

Letters to the editor of The Bucknellian have not been very abundant of late. Just why the student body should make stamp-signing, we do not know, but if you send a vigorous, worth-while Bucknell newspaper, you can help us out by reaching for the typewriter and borrowing a stamp.

After all, it only costs two cents to mail a letter to a point within Lewisburg. And The Bucknellian, of address in the University Printing Company, 12 North Fifth Street, letters need not be signed if you give the editor the epistle directly and she knows who wrote it. All other unsigned letters will be, unfortunately, thrown out. Can Bucknellians, how about a controversy?

Here is Miss Dorothy May Condon—elected by members of Uncle Sam's army as the most beautiful girl writer to a soldier. She is proudly holding a Parker Pen and pencil set, which she says, "Will keep me inspired to write more letters."

Letters

March 1, 1942.

To Editor of the Bucknellian:
On the masthead of The Bucknellian it is stated that "Anonymous contributions will not be published. Names will not be published if confidence is requested." Yet, on the same page in the February 26th issue, a letter, the contents of which I heartily agree with, is published when the writer admittedly failed to sign his name. Are these the best of newspaper ethics?

Sincerely,
(Signed) Phillip R. Hauser.

Ed. Note:
The writer of any letter who wants his name kept in confidence and not printed with the letter must make his identity known to the editor. In the case cited above, as in many others, the writer handed the piece in question to the editor. (personally).

NUMBER 22.

Kirkpatrick To Talk Of War

And Chemistry

Director of Publishing Co.

To Be Guest Speaker

Of B. U. Engineers

BASES LECTURE

ON EXPERIENCE

When Sidney D. Kirkpatrick, recognized as one of the top men in chemical industrial circles, speaks on campus March 20 on the role of chemistry in the war, he will use a background of experience for his talk on service in his field.

Now a consultant editor and director of McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, a person specializing in scientific texts, the speaker, a graduate of the University of Illinois, started his career in 1916, working with the Illinois Water Survey. A year later he became affiliated with the U. S. Tariff Commission first as chemical adviser and then as a special expert.

During World War I, Mr. Kirkpatrick served in the A. E. F. as 2nd lieutenant and later 1st lieutenant, second class, from 1918 till the end of the war, at which time he assumed the duties of chemical adviser in the American Commission to Negotiate Peace.

Member of the national honorary engineering society, Sigma Xi, he was awarded the silver anniversary medal in 1932 of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, of which he is now president for 1942.

The speaker has also been connected with the American Electrochemical Society and American Chemical Society.

In 1921 he joined McGraw-Hill, in which he is consulting editor on a chemical engineering series of text and reference books.

While countless publications have appeared and disappeared during Bucknell's ninety-six years of history, two outstanding publications, which were prominent features in the past, remain today as products of Bucknell's progress and as guides to the future. This is the tale of the yearbook, L'Agenda, and the campus weekly, The Bucknellian. As the latter this week celebrates its 45th anniversary, L'Agenda this year is unofficially celebrating a birthday too.

Literally, but not officially, L'Agenda this year will be the 30th Bucknell annual to roll off the presses. The publication made its debut in 1889; thus the 1939 edition was termed the 50th anniversary issue. However, from the years 1889-1909, no L'Agenda was published, a fact falsifying the 1939 assumption that that year's was the 50th volume. While 1939 presented the official anniversary is, the 1942 edition will actually be the 50th Bucknell yearbook.

The yellow pages of the first L'Agenda unraveled a great Bucknell story. It is interesting to note that for the greater part of its history, it was published by juniors and principally for juniors, seniors receiving a little of the lineal. Only in recent years has the annual become a senior publication.

The first L'Agendas and early editions are indeed far from bearing resemblance to the more recent publications; pictures were not found in yearbooks in those days. The books instead featured drawings, cartoons, and prose. In fact, the early numbers bore resemblance to a glorified magazine featuring sketches, special articles, jokes, and humorous writings as, for example, a paraphrase of Plato and Aristotle as found in one of the early editions.

Mustachios are the Rage

At the turn of the century, L'Agenda presented its first larger book and the first real evidence of photography in any proportion.

Then, too, came the sophomore cantillation in its earliest form, Bucknell's underlining basketball. Most striking, as recorded on the musty pages of the early L'Agendas, was an organization formed by several of the Joe Colleges of the era known as the Lovers' Union, the purpose of which was mutual consolation in times of disappointment.

When the lavens, steps, and benches on campus are strewn with leavies students the day next May when the L'Agenda is distributed—a day that everyone lets his assignments slide in preference to thumbing through the pages, the book—the Bucknell yearbook will be shorn of its lavender and old lace. A streamlined version will have taken its place.

White House Luncheon

At the formal luncheon at the White House Friday, Mrs. Roosevelt personally welcomed the delegates, and all got to know her even better.

Dr. Ruth Seabury

Speaks In Chapel

Dr. Ruth Isabel Seabury, Educational Secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Boston, spoke this morning in chapel on "The Things We Can See."

Miss Seabury was one of the 47 American delegates to the 47th World Meeting of the Church in Madras, India, in 1938 and visited the Board's fields in the Near East and India in the three months preceding.

As an author specializing in books of Christianity, she has written one popular reading book, "Dinabandhu," a background story on India. Her latest publication is "What Kind of World Do You Want?" a discussion of the action pamphlet on world order.

Dr. Seabury, an ardent advocate of world peace, believes that the foreign missionary is the best emissary of friendship America has today. Christians in the World Christian Community have for 250 years done the same work that eventually will result in a just and durable peace if it is not done by force.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1942.

Soiree, Chaperones Typify Early Social Life Of B. U. Coed

by Puff Lindemann

With the first hint of spring in the air, Bucknellians' fancies lightly turn to thoughts of Senior Ball and spring houseparties, for although the defense effort demands the curtailment of most social activities, these two traditional functions, along with various small parties, remain to highlight the lives of Joe College and Betty Coed.

Pennsylvania Zeta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon celebrated the 49th anniversary of the founding of the chapter last Saturday evening, with a banquet at the chapter house. Alumni returning for the affair were: Leroy Butler '27, William Chasman '26, Henry Holter '24, Lee Lybarger '28, Preston Davis '28, Lloyd Trimmer '28, William Miller '26, Edward Jones '28, Robert L. Rooke '23, James A. Tyson '41, Fred Moore '22, Walter Ross '20, Ralph Koser '20, Pete Parsley '41, Jack Gault '29, Richard Hertz '30, Jack Elmer '40, Ralph A. Tyson '41, and Edwin James Frith '38. Charles Messerell '42 and Forrest Chilton '43 journeyed to Scranton over the weekend to be present at a farewell party given for Sidney Grabowski '43, who is leaving for the Army early this year. C. Martin Neff spent the past weekend in New York City.

Phi Mu's Betty Baldwin '41, Mimi Pinesch '42, June Rhodes '42, and Bobbie Hawkins '41 spent the weekend at their respective homes. Hope Wahms '41 spent the weekend at Buck Hill Falls, together with Mary Eppley '43 and Meg Weston '41. Elsa Larsen '41 visited Marie Grabowski for the weekend. Ruth Howells '43 visited her parents in Steelton, Pa. Jean Kuehly '42 spent the weekend in Baltimore. Phi Mu held its Faculty Day Service in the suite Wednesday night. It was the nineteenth service. After the service, which was attended by the local alumni, a coed was held. Recent alumnae attending were Betty Hitchcock '41 and Lou Rasmussen '41 both from Geisinger Hospital in Danville. Betty Jayne Keim '43 entertained Robert Hooper of Reading.

Phi Gamma Delta held a bridge party-buffet supper Saturday afternoon. Jeanne Greenig and George McCall won the prizes for best scorers. James Kennedy '44, Roy Good '44, and Dick Brown '45 went home for the weekend. Paul de Benedictis '41 was visited by his brother, John, Sunday afternoon. Gene Matthews '41 was pledged Tuesday evening.

Phi Madeline Morgan '43 went home for the weekend. Peggy Gundy '43 and Jack Speer '41 went to Peggy's home in Altoona to celebrate Peggy's twenty-first birthday. Louise Sheder '45 attended the wedding of Dickinson Friday night. Peggy Waide '41 attended the wedding of her sister on Saturday. Jean Alston '41 was back on campus for the weekend. Charlotte Grass '45 and Bettie Eichberg '45 spent the weekend at their homes. Betty Grim '42 entertained Michael Reed Saturday night.

Phi Psi's Richard Lank, John Yost, Glen Jones, William Turner, Ed Dudson and Russ Owens, all of '42; Dan Leinhardt, Herb Shuert, Pat Wolfe, Stewart Whitman, all of '43; and Frank Burns '45 visited their homes over the weekend. Jack Rodgers '44 entertained Hope Weeks, who is on tour with the Rhode Island State University debating team.

Delta Zeta Iota Scanton '42 went to the C. A. conference in Buck Hill Falls this past weekend. Helen Coughlin '42, Ruth Bolton '41, and Betty Kaufman '43 visited their respective homes for the weekend. Hope Weeks, ex-'43, was a guest of Arlene Downs '43 over the weekend. LaVerne Fries '43 spent the weekend at Ursinus. The parents of Lita Shimock '44 and Joe-Jay Walters '45 visited the campus over the weekend.

Sig Epi William Morton '41, who is now working for General Electric, visited the house over the weekend. Paul Padick '43, Blaine Lewis '43, John Rauch '43, Ned Warner '42, Salsus Gardner '42, and Dave Griggs '42 spent the weekend at their respective homes. Plans are being completed for the Big Bassel to be held Senior Ball weekend.

Tri Delta Mary Forrest '43, Dorothy Lutz '42, and Jane Coltervahn '42 spent the weekend at the conference in the Pocomos. St. Richards '41 and Peg Goldsmith '45 spent the weekend at College. Maggie Gill '45 went to Swarthmore for the weekend. Betsi Laner '43, Betty Hyde '43, and Ann Mitchell held guests for the weekend. Billie Poling '43 came back Sunday after a two-week stay at home because of illness.

Sigma Chi's Dick McKeehan '44 and Bob Keegan '44 spent the weekend at their homes in Rochester. Paul Waldner '44 drove to his home in Ashland, Pa., and Les Linbeck '45 and Bud Crouse '45 spent three days at their homes in New Jersey. Jim Ham '44 and Bill Palmer '43 have been intern in the infirmary with cases of the measles. Frank Cannon, ex-'43, is now stationed at Camp Wheeler, Georgia.

Phi Tau chapter of Kappa Delta held initiation in the suite last Tuesday evening for Dorothy Hamell '44 and Kay Kuster '44. Last Saturday the K. D. seniors held a bowling and movie party. Last Thursday evening the pledges held a bowling party. On Saturday afternoon K. D. "little sisters" entertained K. D. "big sisters" at a roller skating party at Milton. Marion Hack '43 visited her home in Shamokin with Janie Griffith '43. Eleanor Bendell '41 visited the chapter last week.

K. D. R.'s Jack King '42, Clifford Manella '42, James Helt '43, Bud Westman '43, Bink Huff '44, and Bob Kohle '44 spent the weekend at their respective homes. Al English '43 entertained Phil Saunders '45 at his home in New Berlin on Sunday.

The "Brownies" of Larson Hall held a birthday party for Emily Josif '45 last Saturday night in the Brownie suite.

S. A. M.'s Jack Friedman '44, Sandy Finkelstein '44, and Mary Gerla '45 spent the weekend at their homes in New York City. Matt Rosen-garten '42 was at his home in Yonkers this past weekend and Merle Se-herman '42 visited his home in Wilkes-Barre. The Sammies entertained John Koshier '44, Curtis Clump '44, John Anthony '42, Don Hopkins '42, William Bowen '45, and Dick Gray '42, all of Delta Sigma, at an exchange dinner last Thursday evening. Mel Sommer '43 and Owen Diringer '45 were guests of the Hiller Foundation at Penn State last weekend. Jack Denholtz '45 and Hal Colman '45 visited their homes in Newark last weekend, as did Gerald Levin in Philadelphia, Harold Stiefel in Downingtown, and Harold Cohn '45 in Reading.

Alpha Chi Omega initiated Dorothy Heller '44, Ginny Thompson '44 and Frances Willhite '45 on Saturday, February 21. Ina McNabb returned to the campus for the weekend. June Ireland spent the weekend at her home in Ventnor, N. J. Ensign A. K. Bowers was the guest of Penny Wood on Thursday. Dotie Lee Grounds spent the weekend at her home in Roaring Spring.

PHI ETA SIGMA
Fresh candidates for Phi Eta Sigma will meet in the Presidents house at 7:30 tonight.

Isabella Harris Weds Ensign Acker At Scranton Saturday

Isabella Harris, ex-'42, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reese Harris of Scranton, was married to Ensign William Acker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Acker of Scranton, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Scranton. The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and lace with a lace wedding veil, and a coronet trimmed in orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white calla lilies.

Mrs. Jesse Overton, of New York, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Reese Harris, Jr., of West Hartford, Conn., the bride's sister-in-law, were matrons of honor. Miss Ann Williams of Scranton was maid of honor, and Jean and Jane Salisbury '42 were included in the wedding party. The attendants' gowns were blue chignon and their bouquets were pink calla lilies. Herbert Merrick, Pittsburgh, was best man for Ensign Acker.

The church was decorated with three large arches of evergreens and the altar, flanked in evergreens, was outlined with candelabras. A reception at the Century Club followed the wedding. Evergreens and spring flowers carried out the decorative scheme.

The couple are now taking a southern trip, and upon their return will live in Bay City, Michigan, where Ensign Acker is stationed. Isabella is a member of Phi Eta Sigma sorority and a niece of Dr. Mary Harris, trustee. The groom is a graduate of the Taft School and Princeton University, 28.

Sally Diefenderfer, Doris Green, Barbara McDermott, Maurine Hobbs and Alice Zindel, Phi Psi's '42, were guests at the wedding.

Social Life Today Highlights Dancing, Once Outlawed On Campus By Administration

Editor's Note: The author is greatly indebted to Mrs. Evelyn Gundy for much of the material in this article.

by Betty Miles

The Bucknell coed has come a long way from the seminary, old lamps, and nice that reportedly harassed her in years gone by. Mrs. Evelyn Stanton Gundy, Bucknell's first dean of women, can recall many vivid memories of the early days of buckled and chaperoned maidens.

Chaperones in the late '30's and early 1900's, were inevitable and inescapable. The well-bred young ladies of the seminary never dared venture forth with their caller unchaperoned, and social functions were usually attended in groups. The chaperon was a teacher, always one in good standing. Saturday night was the night set aside for dating, and the young ladies entertained callers from just after dinner until 9:30 o'clock.

Soiree was Big Event

The big event of that era was the Soiree. The affair, which was held in the sem, was managed by the seminary residents. Every year, a committee was appointed to ask Mrs. Larson to wear her handsome black velvet dress to the Soiree. Mrs. Larson, although aging and less agile than formerly, considered the request quite an honor, and each year, graciously complied.

The president of the university was always invited to the Soiree. A grand Soiree was held in 1930.

On the same evening in Larson living room the members of Delta Zeta sorority will hold an open house. Kay Lauer is chairman of the dance, for which music will be provided by a nickelodeon hired for the affair. Helen Coughlin is chairman of the decorating committee. The chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, and Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Logauit.

Prof. V. A. McCrossen Speaks At A. A. U. W.
Hunt Hall living room, was the scene of the A. A. U. W. meeting Monday night, at 7:45 o'clock. Prof. V. A. McCrossen, the guest speaker, delivered a talk on "Bourgeois and the Spirit of the Revolution."

Mrs. Miller Johnson and Mrs. V. A. McCrossen were in charge of the program.

J. J. NEWBERRY CO., Lewisburg, Pa.

Since the founding of Bucknell University in 1846, Bucknellians and the members of the faculty and the administration, have been subjected to the influence of war four times. Each of these history-making episodes had its pronounced and definite effect on the individual student as well as the entire school. In reading of great battles and heroic acts, students were naturally affected by these wars and the word "war" was the subject of all conversation. Enrollment of the university dropped considerably as the men went off to fight, and many new courses were offered to the students who remained in school. Thus, also, the administration felt the great influence that war can have on an individual, a school, and a nation.

In each of these wars, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War, the World War 1914-1918, and the present raging conflict, the university has made demands on the students, and in turn, has had demands made on itself from the armed forces of the country. The students were ready to comply to these demands and prove themselves admirably, as did the university when called to the service of the country. Once again this call has come, and once again students and university alike have responded, individually and together, as Bucknell University and its students go forward to support their country.

Spanish-American War
Little is known of the university's connection with the Spanish-American War, but it is believed that the all-out effort for defense in the Civil War served as a precedent to be followed. En masse, the university turned out for the Civil War and the World War of 1914-1918, and now we of the college generation are witnesses to another all-out defense plan that is nation-wide.

We learn from an old Bucknellian (Sept. 6, 1929) that "The university closed its doors only once. That was in 1863 when Pennsylvania was invaded by Lee's army. Bucknellians rose to the emergency and the professors and students formed a company which helped check the advance of the southern troops." The Bucknell Emergency Company was organized in June, 1863, and immediately answered the call "The Militia is called out." In three days the enlistment for men in the Bucknell Academy had been filled, and on the morning of June 17, 1863, the Bucknell University marched through the streets of Lewisburg to board the train at Montandon. Two and a half days were spent in Harrisburg, during which time the entire company of 75 men was mustered into the United States service. Also at this time the officers were elected to lead the company. T. R. Jones '92, was elected captain. D. M. Keble, first lieutenant; and Prof. Charles S. James, mathematics teacher, second lieutenant. After complete organization the Bucknell Emergency Company became known as Company A of the 28th Regiment.

At Fort Washington, across the river from Harrisburg, the company received all their equipment and here they prepared to defend the Market Street bridge and the city of Harrisburg from invasion. Shortly after this the 28th regiment was ordered to the front, but Company A was detached from the regiment at this time and sent eight miles up the river to guard a second bridge above the city of Harrisburg.

Bucknell, Company A
Stationed here a week, Company A was soon ordered up near the front to help chase the confederates from the valley. They were to meet their regiment at Carlisle. Upon reaching Carlisle, the company, as part of the 28th regiment, went on to Shippensburg, Chambersburg, and Hagerstown, Maryland, following the enemy retreat down the valley. Hagerstown was the farthest south the Bucknell men went during the course of the war. On their return to Harrisburg the company was dismissed from service and the students and professors returned to Bucknell for a war time commencement.

S.C.C. Meets Tuesday In Hunt Rec Room
The Student Campus Club held an informal meeting on Tuesday, March 10, in Hunt Hall Rec Room, from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Following a business meeting, Prof. William Smith read poetry. Nancy Patterson played the piano. Mary Jane Dilts sang several selections, and Evelyn Groszklaus rendered a ballet number.

Mary Gros was in charge of the affair, assisted by Corinne McDonald. Frances Waters handled the refreshments, while Marion Murchinson was responsible for the entertainment. Miss Helen Thornton and Prof. F. B. Parker acted as advisers.

SERVICE NEWS

Far different than the relationship between the university and the Civil War was the World War and its widespread sway and effect on the college. Although the war, with its air, sea, and land battles, was not close to the school as the Civil War, Bucknell still felt the great influence that it had in making, for in France there were two Ambulance Units, composed wholly of Bucknell men. They were carrying on their tedious work under heavy gun-fire. Both Ambulance Units 524 and 525 were cited for meritorious service. Ambulance Unit 525 received a special citation from the French General Petain, and individual members of this unit were awarded the French croix de guerre.

Three separate citations were awarded to Ambulance Unit 524-525. One by the General commanding the 3rd division, and the last from the chief in command of the Ambulance Service. On the home front the university, with a much decreased enrollment, was still continuing its courses of study. The engineering school increased its enrollment for the war was demanding more engineers in the army and in the defense industries. Just as it is doing today. This spirit has come, and once again students and university alike have responded, individually and together, as Bucknell University and its students go forward to support their country.

Spanish-American War
A Student Army Training Corps was organized on the campus. The S. A. T. C. was organized to give college men some knowledge of the military life. These men were housed in college dormitories. Their classes consisted mainly of the prescribed army courses. All discipline over these men was strictly military. This organization had a maximum enrollment of 300 men.

May 1, 1919, saw Ambulance Unit 525 return to Lewisburg in a body. President Harris accepted the honors that were bestowed on this unit in France. A great celebration was held which furnished the union of the town people and the college. Of these men that returned with this unit, Dr. W. C. Bartol said "The university has a liberal education for the men who went. It enlarged their views, made them more-minded, and enriched their character." It turned "leads into a manly type."

Today, as three before, Bucknell University is sending its sons to fight to win a conflict that has now enveloped almost the entire world. The university has been called upon to give a service to the nation, and the individuals, both students and faculty, connected with the college have also received their individual calls to serve.

Emergency Program
In answer to government requests the university has speeded up its curriculum, it has instituted many types of defense courses for students and faculty alike, and has also introduced new courses in the curriculum based upon the present crisis.

Many of the individual students have left their school to answer the call to the colors. Through the draft Street bridge and the city of Harrisburg from invasion. Shortly after this the 28th regiment was ordered to the front, but Company A was detached from the regiment at this time and sent eight miles up the river to guard a second bridge above the city of Harrisburg.

Stationed here a week, Company A was soon ordered up near the front to help chase the confederates from the valley. They were to meet their regiment at Carlisle. Upon reaching Carlisle, the company, as part of the 28th regiment, went on to Shippensburg, Chambersburg, and Hagerstown, Maryland, following the enemy retreat down the valley. Hagerstown was the farthest south the Bucknell men went during the course of the war. On their return to Harrisburg the company was dismissed from service and the students and professors returned to Bucknell for a war time commencement.

45th ANNIVERSARY

Letters Of Congratulations Sent To Staff

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS
Office of the President
AUSTIN
March 7, 1942.
Editor-in-Chief, The Bucknellian
Bucknell University
Lewisburg, Penna.

I have your letter of March 4 telling me of the plans that you have for the anniversary edition of The Bucknellian and inviting me to send a message for this edition. I appreciate this invitation very much, and I am very happy to comply with your request.

These are extremely difficult days for all of us and we are all being called upon to make unusual sacrifices in order that we may make a supreme war effort. I am happy to know, however, that you are trying to carry on the traditions of the university and to maintain them in spite of the necessity of retrenchment. I think it is desirable for us to do this in as dignified a manner as possible, and I believe it is desirable for us to keep up our morale, and I believe that one essential way of doing this is to carry on as many of our traditional and normal activities as possible.

Very cordially yours,
Homer P. Rainey, President
March 6, 1942.

DR. HOMER P. RAINEY

To The Bucknellian:
Immediately one question comes to my mind when I think of the Bucknellian—do you still have a headline that counts to thirteen? When I helped run the Bucknellian, that particular headline was my pet peeve and I hoped against hope that when I got out in the world, I'd never run into such a stubborn counting head again. Naturally, the favorite heads on the Buffalo Courier Express are those that count to thirteen and one half. I know other things are pretty much the same—the things that really count at the Bucknellian because I spent a few hours in the office when I visited you three weeks ago.

I warmed my heart to see the office still where it used to be, still looking a telephone (those handsome maple chairs almost make up for that) to see Bill Kauffman still setting type near the window; and to hear Mr. Britton tell a story a mile or so.

I've tried my best to remember high spots from my time and naturally can't think of a thing, although I spent most of my waking time at the Bucknellian office for a couple years. It seemed the most natural thing in the world to be back there recently.

On the Buffalo Courier Express.

with at Bucknell. We are trying as rapidly as we can to fit the University as completely as possible into our national war effort. At the same time we are struggling to maintain the quality and efficiency of our entire University program.

I should like to urge the students of Bucknell and all the youth of America to strengthen their faith in the ideals of our country and its institutions and to devote all of our abilities and energies to the preservation of our democratic way of life. There are two ways in which we must defend our democracy. The first is to make ourselves as physically strong in the instruments of modern warfare that no power or combination of powers can successfully overpower us. In the second place, we must build up the spiritual foundations and the unity of our people to such a point that we are able to preserve our democracy against socially disruptive forces from within. I believe that a nation cannot depend upon physical preparedness alone to preserve it.

Very cordially yours,
Homer P. Rainey, President
March 6, 1942.

The Bucknellian's observance of its anniversary is a tribute to me just how fast time flies. It has been almost nine years since I graduated from college.

Looking back at my college days, I realize now more than ever that Bucknell has no better historian than its student newspaper. The Bucknellian staff is charged with the responsibility of keeping that record.

Your job today amounts to a priceless privilege when you realize you are the men and women putting down in black and white for posterity the life of your college during one of the greatest crises in our nation's history—a time of war and catastrophic world events.

These things dwarf to insignificance the events we considered really important during our four years on the Bucknellian staff—the depression and the heated campus campaign that kept pace with the national election when President Roosevelt was elected for his first term, the inauguration of the University, the disastrous fire which ruined Old Main and the honor

Those are some of the things we were recording a decade ago. I'm proud to have had the opportunity of serving as the editor of The Bucknellian, and I'm sure that's the way you feel about it, too. My experience on the staff, I'm convinced, helped immeasurably in preparing me for the work I am doing today.

What Can One Person Do?

Everywhere in the country, college people are seeking places in the gigantic war struggle. One notes legislators scanning the papers, worried over the news, wondering where he can serve, asking what is the meaning of it all.

There is little one can say to the student who has not yet answered the last question. This type of problem must be worked out by the individual, so it is to the people who want to help but don't know where to begin, that this editorial is addressed. We believe that although this is the 45th anniversary of the founding of "The Bucknellian", a newspaper should be in the main, editorially ask and answer questions, and in keeping with our policy, this we will attempt to do.

Bucknell students, who are confused as to their contribution in the war effort, should first of all realize that their cause is not unique. College students everywhere are reacting in many ways to the war. Some immediately join about six more organizations than they can serve effectively. Some sit around and deplore the times. Many mis-guided men, under pressure from unintelligent parents, quit college to volunteer, contrary to specific advice from Selective Service officials.

In these days, as in any other time of crisis, students are prone to depreciate their personal part in total war. They say repeatedly, "What can one person do? I have no skill. It's the group that counts, not the individual."

Thinking of this type is all too prevalent. It is understandable in the first months of war, but about now Bucknell men and women should be finding their place in the giant mobilizing of man and woman power. There are a score of courses available here now that will train one for useful work. These include languages, laboratory work, chemistry, the many branches of engineering, mathematics, physics, economics and business. The Bucknell Civil Defense classes offer specific opportunities for service.

It was brought out at the International Student Service convention in Washington this weekend by Dr. Francis Brown, Consultant to the American Council on Education, that 25% of American college women are taking courses non-essential to winning the war. Here is where Bucknell women can take hold. A major in one of the eight fields mentioned above would be very useful. Another convention speaker, Mr. Aubrey Williams, Administrator of the N. Y. A. stated, "All that the colleges can give is needed." He intimated that 15,000 engineers are needed beyond the present supply.

There is much to be done, and it is the duty of us all to ask, "How best may I serve?" In the answer of the individual this country will find eventual victory.

Meeting of Federal Union

The Union County and Bucknell chapter of Federal Union will hold their next meeting at President Mart's home on Monday, March 16, at 7:30. This meeting will be an unusually interesting one, because of a panel discussion on the meaning and purpose of Federal Union. The members of the panel will be Miss Martica Georg, and Professors Lohman, Peterson, and Karaker. After the panel, there will be a general discussion of the subject.

Marta And Rach Send Congratulations

March 6, 1942.

Editor-in-Chief
The Bucknellian
Lewisburg, Penna.

Please accept the congratulations of a former editor upon the occasion of the anniversary of the founding of The Bucknellian. The years are not so long since 1897 as to mean that I cannot, with considerable nostalgia, share the pride of the staff which is bringing the paper through another successful year.

I hope that those of the current staff who are planning actively to engage in newspaper work following their graduation from Bucknell are taking full advantage of the opportunities for intimate contact with all of the phases of newspaper work afforded by The Bucknellian. There is really very little about a big newspaper that is not done at least on a small way on The Bucknellian. The great difference in your favor is that on a big paper, a reporter, for example, may not see the composing room from one month to the next, and the press room from one year to the next. Yours is a rare chance to obtain at least a working knowledge of the whole newspaper plant, and that is an asset the value of which cannot be overestimated.

You asked me to state what my activities have been since I left Bucknell. They may be stated simply, and in each of them I might say that I have found newspaper work to have been all of the zestful, exciting, and satisfying things I had hoped it would be.

From 1934 until March 1936 I set up and operated the Lewisburg News Bureau, an agency which at last reports still was prospering under its present management. I was with The Associated Press in the Philadelphia bureau from March, 1936 until January, 1937, resigning to accept a position with The Philadelphia Inquirer as a rewrite man and general assignment reporter. I remained with The Inquirer until July, 1941, when I resigned to take charge of the Philadelphia bureau of The New York Times, the position I hold today. I am now responsible for the Times' coverage of all important news in all of Eastern and most of Central Pennsylvania, and in parts of South Jersey.

It has been fun—a whole of a lot of fun—but nothing has happened since 1934 to give me greater satisfaction than I used to have every Thursday afternoon in Lewisburg, when, snuggled with ink, weary-eyed from lack of sleep, and with fingers crossed as of the Procy's reaction to that leading editorial, we watched the old flat bed press in the University Print Shop jump and heave and wheeze and snort as another issue of The Bucknellian came to life.

Sincerely yours,
Walter Rich

Editor-in-Chief,
The Bucknellian,
Lewisburg, Penna.

I am glad to get your letter of the 4th and to learn of The Bucknellian's plans for the future. I am sure the paper will continue its excellent service to the students and faculty of Bucknell even though the war requires reducing the number of pages.

One of my pleasantest duties at Bucknell during the six years I have served here has been my weekly conference with The Bucknellian editor. Friendships gained in this way have been lasting in their quality, and I second to respect and admire the students who have been editing our paper.

Bucknell without The Bucknellian would be unthinkable. Keep the flag flying on the Bucknell masthead!

With kind regards,
Yours sincerely,
Arnaud C. Maris,
President.

wondering what they can do for the war effort. At present the girls are knitting for the Red Cross, and both sexes are spending much time on Defense courses. Very often the thing which is most important seems simplest and calls for the least effort—of course I am thinking of your grand immunization scheme. This is one of the most helpful things that the Bucknell student can do, not only to save themselves from great pain if there should be an epidemic here, but so that they themselves would not be adding to the chaos of such a situation.

L. E. Theiss States Bucknellian Function

by Professor L. E. Theiss

What can the Bucknellian do to help in the present emergency? Before we answer that question, it might be well to ask what a community newspaper, like the Bucknellian, ordinarily does, and what its real function is. Stated in the briefest possible way, the answer is that a community newspaper is the chief morale builder of its community. It does what no other agency in a community can do: it builds community feeling, community consciousness, esprit de corps.

How? By acquainting all parts of a community with all other parts; by acquainting all citizens, so far as possible, with all other citizens; by envisioning a better community and working toward that end in every journalistic way; by advocacy of any given project, by interviews, through photographs, by cartoons, with editorialial special articles, and other journalistic means. It exposes what is undesirable, points the way to things more desirable, acquaints a community with its noteworthy features, points out neglected opportunities for betterment, and in general leads the way to a fuller and better community life. And because the community newspaper is the one meeting place for all minds in the community, it has potentialities possessed by no other agency in the community.

The Bucknellian, by endeavoring to measure up to these potentialities,

You have at least one huge advantage over those of us who worked on the Bucknellian during the thirties. Back in those days, I am sorry to say, it was our policy to concentrate almost exclusively on what happened in the little world bounded by the state highway, St. George Street, the railroad and South Sixth Street. We editorialized about the Hill, not Hitler, about the loss of a football game, not the sack of Nanking. The changing times have wiped out, I am sure, this narrowness of vision.

I'm still on familiar terms with a typewriter. At present I'm using it to hammer out, not editorials, but a doctoral dissertation in English at Northwestern.

You asked for reminiscences of college days. Perhaps this is as good a time as any to confess that it was Harvey Travis, '35, and I, who one winter night back in 1937 when the front page refused to allow itself to be made up, tossed a typewriter through the office window. (The typewriter survived, but the window didn't.) The broken window was quite a mystery around the printing office for some time, but now it can be told.

I shall look forward to seeing the anniversary issue.

Sincerely,
Robert Streeter.

PICTURE PAGE: "THE BUCKNELLIAN GOES TO PRESS"

ROBERT KRIZ, '42, News Editor, is shown making out the weekly assignment for Dr. Theiss' journalism classes. The assignments are handed back to Kriz, and copy read before being set up on the linotype machine. The News Editor makes these assignments to correspond with the past and future activities on campus organization.

This year the task of handling news stories has been greater than ever before in the history of the paper, as there have been over eighty extra-curricular activities to report.

In addition to this large number of events, there has been the Service News to cover, and stories concerning the new defense courses.

ALL THE PICTURES ON THIS PAGE WERE TAKEN BY STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER BILL THOMAS.

JEAN SHALE AND MORTY SILBERMAN, class of '43, Managing Editor and Sports Editor respectively, work together in placing stories on the make-up sheets (dummies) and selecting the proper headlines to be used in accordance with the importance of the story.

The file in the background is used to hold the numerous cuts, these are saved for future publications, or for reference. The long work table is usually covered with paper as the galley sheets are cut up.

The heads on "The Bucknellian" are modeled after those in the "New York Sun", although the current trend of the make-up staff is towards flush left and simplified headlines.

PAT SALMON, '43, BERT WATERS, '44, and BOB FINKERNAGEL, '45, work together in the capacity of Assistant Managing Editors, writing the specified headlines, re-writing, and taking care of last minute stories.

The assistants spend most of Tuesday night, Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday night making up the pages. Half of this work will be cut with the inauguration next week of a regular four-page edition "for the duration."

This practice is in line with the ruling and specific recommendation passed a few days ago by Student Faculty Congress. At this time all campus activities were cut 50%.

JEANNE ROCKWELL AND CHARLES JONES, Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of the paper, check the balance of advertising and news before the paper goes to press. They also confer on the amount of money to be spent for mats and cuts to be used in the following week's edition.

This year has been the occasion of much controversy over the budget for the paper, and in spite of decreased advertising and increased enrolment, the per capita allowance for the newspaper has been set at approximately 84c.

This issue is the second special edition put out by the staff this year, the last one was published the Thursday before Homecoming, and contained a full picture page of sports cuts, and group photos of the students and faculty planning the gala weekend.

MR. C. WILLIAM KAUFFMAN, second figure from the left, is now the owner of the re-organized University Printing Company. He replaced Mr. Chas. M. Schuyler, a veteran printer in this region.

Other members of his printing plant are Mr. French M. Britton, long an associate of Mr. Schuyler, and a new worker, James Oberdorf.

Past editors and staff members of "The Bucknellian" will recognize the old "flat bed" press in the background as the one used in their collegiate days. The press is nearly a half century old and is still giving good service. The linotype, according to the operator, Bill Kauffman, is the only one of its age equipped with a cigarette lighter.

TED GROSVENOR, '43, takes charge of the Bucknellian as soon as the paper comes off the press. He and his assistants count out the papers sent to campus dormitories and fraternities, and mail copies to outside subscribers and commuting students.

The paper is now sent out to a list of about 2,000 people. This includes faculty, students, exchange papers, and advertisers. The Service Council of the C. A. sends about 200 more to former Bucknell men now in the armed forces of the nation. The circulation staff has been hampered this year in that a number of its members have been taking the Civil Pilot Training Program.

Immunization...

The United States given the opportunity to take such a practical step against one of the greatest hazards of war. I certainly hope that every single student of Bucknell will take advantage of this immunization offer. It is one very concrete answer to the question: "What can I do?"

Dr. Rice, through past experience in World War number I, is confident that there will be an epidemic of some communicable disease in the United States. Dr. Rice told students today that Hitler has set up a center of infection in Poland through his inhuman treatment of these people. An epidemic travels as fast as the swift transportation of the day, there is little doubt that it will soon reach the shores of America.

dance floor of Davis Gymnasium next week, the bandstand will also have something to offer. Kenny Sargent, one of the judges in the contest, is known as the Clark Gable of the Gray musical crew. Besides handling the Casa Loma vocals, Sargent took a mean fifth sax and has an ever-available million dollar smile in view at all times.

"Pee Wee" Hunt, another of the "pickers", also sings and alternates at the trombone. Hunt employs a southern accent and brings to Davis Gymnasium the bluest figure ever to grace a bandstand.

for an entirely new evaluation of the situation, of the newspaper's role in that situation, of the objects that are paramount and pressing as distinguished from those that might be merely desirable, and of the means to be used by the editor to accomplish these ends.

Seemingly the first necessity is for the college editor to comprehend the difference in the situation caused by the present emergency. If the editor can grasp the significance of habit and then look at what is happening on the campus, he may get a suggestion of great value to him in the conduct of the paper.

Newspaper Must Interpret

We have been overturning innumerable practices on the Bucknell campus in recent days. The result of all this is bound to be a great distastefulness in the minds of students. Can the college newspaper be helpful here? Certainly. The situation calls for interpretation, explanation of the reasons for many things, creative suggestions for days immediately ahead on the campus.

It calls for assuring and reassuring matter in the paper's columns. It demands content matter that will help students in every conceivable way—information, interpretation, guidance, inspiration. Whatever is necessitated by the emergency must be explained and made clear and its bearings pointed out. That will remove perplexity. Things that are being done to prepare students for the days ahead must also be explained and loyalty backed. Things that are advantageous to all, as personal inoculations against disease, or the acquiring of first aid training, and the like, must be made perfectly clear and the student obligation toward these things must be explained. Whatever is enlightening about conditions that may have to be faced in future, whatever may be of service to students in days ahead, whatever a student can do now to help himself tomorrow—all these things are in the end, builders of morale, for inevitably students must come to see that these things are being done for their benefit. News of those who have gone into service, such as the letters the Bucknellian has been printing, are useful to those on the campus as well as those in the field. They build a feeling of oneness between the two groups.

maintain and equip him.

In the group that met with Mr. William Patterson, Chief of the Apprenticeship Division of the Department of Labor, the student editors heard of the plans to retrain auto workers for airplane factory work and means were discussed of setting standards for defense workers.

Selective Service Official Popular

By far the most questioned man of the weekend was Major Earnest Culligan, Public Relations Officer of the Selective Service. The text of his speech was that men should not enlist but should stay in college as long as they could.

Mrs. Roosevelt gave the final speech of the conference Saturday night. She brought out in her talk "The Future of Government Youth Programs" that the government touches everyone, especially young folks, and we, as college people, owe it to our community to become better acquainted with national legislation of affairs.

descendants now scamper over the campus, to replace the red squirrels, which were formerly the representatives of the Class Rotunda on campus. The red squirrels, which were wild and destructive, had to be killed to make way for the more sociable greys, for the two do not live in harmony.

Bucknellian Named

An overwhelming vote of the Student Body on November 8, 1915, changed the name of the Orange and Blue to The Bucknellian. Other names were Bucknell Weekly, Bucknell Mirror, Bucknell Breeze, and Bucknell Spirit. We can be thankful that the last two were definitely voted down.

When the World War involved the United States, two great headlines appeared in The Bucknellian: "Bucknell Cancels All Athletics", on May 21, 1917; and on June 4 of the same year, "Ambulance Company Leaves Tomorrow, Bucknell Credited With 2 Companies."

The three important headlines of 1923 included that of March 21, "Moose McCormick New Athletic Director"; September 17, "Enrollment Passes One Thousand Mark"; and November 12, "Ten Thousand See Bisons And Lehigh Battle To Tie."

Navy Defeated

On November 18, 1925, "Bucknell Defeats Navy Team, 6-0." In this same year two of Bucknell's most notable men died: On April 7, "Bucknell Loses Great Educator", Dr. John Howard Harris, former president; and in the October 7 issue, "Bucknell's Most Notable Athlete Dies", which carried the obituary of Christy Mathewson, "the Big Six", noted as one of the best stories ever to be printed in the school paper.

December 1, 1927, "A. A. U. Grants Place To Bucknell On Approval List." March 3, 1932, "Ex-President Hill of Bucknell Dies." On March 19, 1936, the following streamer head with two decks of two-inch-high print flamed across the top of Page One: "Boating Flood Rages Over Bucknell Campus." An extra was printed on April 7, 1938, with the banner head: "Marts Takes Presidency."

What will be the outstanding event of this school year has yet to be decided, but so far the head of January 15, 1942: "War Time Program To Be Inaugurated At Bucknell" seems most dynamic.

Bucknell Journalism Ab Initio

In our time, Dr. Theiss has raised a generation of the Fourth Estate, and many distinguished journalists have found their inspiration and excellent training under his guidance and through the laboratory of the Bucknellian office. He was always a teacher who spoke with authority, both as a prolific and successful newspaper and magazine writer. Like the tyro of the late Dr. Lowry and out of the same home, his books for boys, specializing in modern heroes for our youth, are known wherever English is read, wherever fiction, based on accurate accounts of real life, is fascinating for old and young alike. Truly, Dr. Theiss knows whereof he speaks, a knowledge from innumerable assignments, and as a reporter and editor of note in the metropolitan field.

The two literary societies of Bucknell, Theta Alpha and Eupia, were joint parents in the early life of journalism on the hill. Between them they published and edited the College Herald. However, there was so much rivalry and friction in these two editorial groups, that it became necessary for a newcomer in the field to supersede the old College Herald, after a decade or two.

The first issue of the Bucknell Mirror started in February, 1882, and after 1883 it was issued twice a month and its editorial offices elected twice a year. It was a 26-page magazine of small size and its contents were mostly criticism, reports on lectures, articles on science and a few stories.

The Commencement News was established in 1887 and the L'Agenda in 1889, both of them managed by our first Registrar, Billy Goetzinger, Dr. Harris' right-hand man in all respects.

Dr. Raymond West, a prominent clergyman in the Baptist denomination and a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, was the first editor of our yearbook. It was a masterpiece and a success in every way, yet no other group had initiative enough to follow its precedent until four years later. Under a good Democratic President, Grover Cleveland, Bucknellians took heart again and since 1893, not an issue has been missed. Of course Bucknell never got into long pants until Dr. Harris arrived. Under this great pedagogical tutor, a new and larger suit was needed every year and journalism like everything else reached maturity and prosperity.

The Orange and Blue was born in 1897 and like its successor, the Bucknellian, it was clothed in weekly dress. It has had a very distinguished career, has won many honors and many of its editors have become notable alumni.

In other words, all students are as God made them and often times a great deal worse. By their fruits ye shall know them and the scribe and the journalist are the recording angels, without fear or favor. For that which is done in secret shall be exposed in the headlines. For the honest editor will give you the truth and the truth shall make you free.

Women's War-time Work Co-eds Drive Ambulances

A course of intensive study in automobile emergency repairs for college girl lieutenants of the British and American Ambulance Corps, commissioned to form units in their respective colleges, was inaugurated recently in New York. The course is designed to equip the girls not only to handle any emergency motor trouble, but also to drive ambulances, handle the loading of sick and wounded and care for them in transit. Units have already been formed at several eastern schools.

Getting their first lesson in mechanics, Polly Kirsten of Bennington College, Diane DuBois of Finch Junior College, Lay McLaughlin of Sarah Lawrence College, and Mary Louise Strong of Julliard School of Music find out what's under the hood.

Lieut. Diane DuBois, dressed for business in a "Jeep" suit, confronts the mysteries of the carburetor. The plan of study will be furnished all colleges where B. A. A. C. units are established.

Even rear-view mirrors have to be kept clean, Diane discovers. To complete course she must take two hours instruction a week for four weeks.

At her desk after class, Diane wears her official uniform as she goes about the business of organizing her unit and raising funds.

Time is short—April 1 is the contest deadline—so mail your photos TODAY!

1. All material must be sent not later than April 1, to: Salon Editor, Collegiate Digest Section, 323 Fawkes Building, Minneapolis, Minn.
2. Send technical data about each photo submitted. Give college year or faculty standing of the photographer. Information about the subject of the photo will be helpful. Any size of photo is acceptable, but pictures larger than 3 by 5 inches are preferred.
3. Enter your photo in one of the following divisions: a) still life, b) scenery, c) action and candid photos, d) portraits, e) "college life".
4. For the best photo a special prize of $25 will be awarded. First place winners in each division will receive a cash award of $5; second and third place winners, $3 and $2.
5. There is no entry fee, and each individual may submit as many photos as he wishes. Photos will be returned if adequate postage accompanies entries.

'Leathernecks' Get that Way in Classroom

It's just a step from the college campus to the Candidates' Class of the United States Marine Corps. After graduating from college most of the nation's youth is now required to enter some branch of the armed force. To give college men an idea of what is in store for them, Collegiate Digest presents here a picture-story of what they may expect if they decide to join up with the famous Marine Corps. The Candidates' Class is composed of selected college graduates and of meritorious men promoted from the ranks.

Just out of college, these candidates are back in the classroom tackling a map problem as part of their training as second lieutenants.

Marines prepare one of their light tanks for serious business. These tanks go wherever marines go, afloat or ashore, and help to give the Corps the striking power for which it is famous. The distinguishing blue Marine uniform is laid aside in favor of khaki when operations in the field are called for.

After finishing his work in the Candidates' Class, the Marine lieutenant applies the lessons he has learned to actual field problems. Here he makes himself at home in an observation post with his radio man who communicates to field headquarters by means of a pack radio set.

On land and sea and in the air is no idle saying in the Marine Corps. Young college men are given light training and operate the fighter, dive-bomber, transport, and observation squadrons that are a part of regular Marine units.

Face to face with marine life, students are eager to find book-learned specimens for classroom studies. Water here is 74 degrees year around so explorers are not chilled during immersion.

Three girls and a boy stalk marine life in the rushes. Each diver has his own shore pumper who knows that two tugs on the hose means "coming up". The 80-pound helmets weigh nothing under water; a push off the bottom brings the diver topside.

For real deep water diving this boat is used as a base for operating. Partner grabs the helmet's top as it breaks the water. Students often come up speechless with excitement.

UNDERWATER CLASSROOM

About 10 years ago, students of marine biology at the University of Miami, Fla., were permitted to make ocean dives to study their subject first hand. Some 200 students have since made more than 5000 descents to depths of around 40 feet. Professor F. G. Walton Smith, London biologist, conducts the class, as boys and girls walk through a dramatic mainland in a brand new world. Specimens gathered underwater are brought to the surface and carefully studied the following day in the laboratory. A recent session in the clear waters of Rainbow Springs (and a submarine porthole) made possible these pictures.

Entering the most unique classroom in the world, a class of students head for the water. Colleagues on shore pump air. Students say dive-time goes fast; rules say an hour is the limit.

Sign-talk lecture by Prof. Smith provides a realistic explanation of the air storage capacity of a turtle. Note the blackboard with study schedule and diagrams in back.

When class is dismissed air lines are reeled in and students bob to the surface. Students compare specimens which they have brought up. Jean Fitzsimmons displays a good-sized turtle which she captured.

Immunization Plan Starts Tomorrow

25 Percent of Students Register; Tests Given Daily Except Sat.

The collegiate immunization plan will begin tomorrow under the direction of Dr. Rice and Dr. Fowle, and before it is over a goodly number of the Bucknell students will have received protection against diphtheria, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, and will have been tested for tuberculosis.

In spite of the fact that the materials for the scarlet fever test have not arrived, the tests will start tomorrow at 10 o'clock, and will continue indefinitely. The schedule for the times when the tests will be given is as follows: 10-11:30 a. m. and 2-4 p. m. every day including Saturday. The tests and inoculations will be administered by Dr. Fowle and his staff, and the Student Board of Health will help with the clerical work.

Town Canvass a Failure

Due to the fact that the canvass in the town was a failure, all those connected with the college who registered in town can obtain their tests by paying one dollar at the cashier's cage in Roberts Hall, and taking the receipt to the infirmary.

"The registration for the tests has been rather small, only about 25 percent of the students have expressed the wish to have this economical and efficient means of protection against disease," said Dr. Rice. "Because of the low level of immunity, the campus will not be very well prepared for an epidemic, such as the influenza, one that swept the country during the last war," he added. The Bucknell campus was not spared from the ravages of this disease, and according to Dr. Rice the room which is now the Biology lab was converted into a hospital and was filled with cots. One of the men students died there of the "flu."

Bucknell Organizes Red Cross Branch

Bucknell now has its own branch of the Union County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The branch under the supervision of the Union County head chapter was organized recently at a meeting held in Dean Dyer's office. Dean Dorothy Dyer is the chairman of the branch, Robert Thomas is the vice chairman, Bernice Henry is the secretary, and Kenneth Herrold the treasurer.

The chairman of the various Red Cross courses which are now being offered on campus reported the set-up of the courses. Dr. Rice as general chairman of the Volunteer Special Services committee, directing the sub-committee responsible for the Nurses Aid course, reported that there was 22 enrolled in the course. Miss Spotts, chairman, heading the Home Nursing committee, reported that Mrs. Trinkel, a Red Cross nurse, was teaching two classes in Home Nursing.

Miss Garrison as Production Chairman has charge of all the knitting which will be done on campus. Prof. Bliese was appointed chairman of the Disaster Relief Committee. Miss Derr, head of the First Aid training, reported that all sophomores and approximately 80 upperclassmen were registered in the first aid courses.

The local chapter has its own treasury and has a system whereby it receives a definite amount of any contributions which may come from the campus, part of this contribution would go to the Union County Chapter, and part to the National Headquarters.

Keeping Pace With National Defense

Keeping pace with the nation's defense effort, Bucknell co-eds are taking a variety of programs to prepare themselves for any emergency.

Miss Margaret Barnhardt, dietitian for the Sen started the regular Red Cross Nutrition course last Wednesday night in the office to the left of Miss Henry's. Approximately 22 women are enrolled. The course consists of 20 hours of work, at the end of which time a certificate is issued. It is a preliminary to the canteen, or advanced nutrition, course.

The home nursing course, given each Thursday afternoon from four to six o'clock, and each Thursday evening from seven-thirty to nine-thirty. (Continued on page 4.)

'Sadie Hawkins Day', March 27, Is 1942 Version Of Coed Night

"All hillbillies what ain't in condition fur runnin' best start sprintin' now, cuz the gals is fixin' to ketch all the menfolk come a-sittin' 'Hawkins Day'," announced committee chairman Diefenderfer this week as W. S. G. A. made plans for Co-ed Night.

Sadie Hawkins Day, Friday, March 27, will feature many novel ideas in contrast to the traditional co-ed night. The co-eds will enter to every whim of the unsuspecting L11 Abners during the entire day and give them a rare treat by paying all the bills in the evening.

Banquet Cut

There will be no banquet in the Seminary this year. The Bucknell co-eds will again select a king to reign over the dance which will be held in Tustin Gym from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock. The decorations will carry out the hillbilly theme and a nickelodeon will furnish the music.

Sally Diefenderfer is in charge of the event, and the following committees were selected to assist her: publicity, Norma Schotland and Mildred Mellor, co-chairmen; Jeanne Rockwell, Ruth Zimmerman, Irene Lindemann, Alice Leusser, and Louella Hawk. (Continued on page 4.)

Defense Council To Broadcast Tuesday

To explain the importance of public health and physical fitness to civilian defense, the Defense Council will put on a program of questions and answers over WKOK from Bucknell Hall next Tuesday evening from 9 to 9:30 o'clock in which five faculty members will speak.

Bill Snyder '42, in charge of the broadcast, will lead off with a question to one of the speakers. These include Dr. J. W. Rice of the Biology Department; Dr. L. P. Fowle of Ziegler Infirmary; Dr. R. R. Legault of the Chemistry Department; Mr. Malcolm Musser and Miss Sylvia Derr of the Physical Education Department. While the general plan of the program is rehearsed, the specific procedure and questions will be shaped and posed as the forum goes along. There is no one central question about which the forum will revolve; rather, topics pertinent to health matters will suggest themselves in the course of the discussion.

Recognizing the cardinal importance of health in times of emergency, Dr. Rice and Dr. Fowle are presently engaged in furthering student health through the current immunization project and measures of the Student Health Board; Mr. Musser and Miss Derr keep one eye on the nationwide accent on keeping the body strong as

Roberts Hall Has Architectural Show

Now on display in Roberts Hall lobby till Thursday of next week, the photographs of gems of modern architecture, assembled by the Museum of Modern Art of New York and entitled "What Is Modern Architecture", illustrate the purpose, application, development and advantages of modern styles of construction. Diagrams and explanatory texts accompany the pictures.

Modern building designs are a new architecture in its own right, having developed through changed living conditions, new methods of construction, new materials, equipment, and even new health theories. On the one hand it meets the three conditions set down by Vitruvius, the Roman architect of 2000 years ago, namely, Firmness, Firmness, and Delight; on the other, it at the same time measures up to the three basic needs, which are Utility, Stability, and Beauty.

Function Dictates Design

The functions to which modern usage puts buildings shape in large part the architectural style they assume; for example, the schoolhouse, private dwelling, and apartment building are upshots of contemporary demands of our new way of living. Gradually whole communities are being laid out by designers as self-contained architectural units. Going into construction of modern structures are such materials as steel, concrete, glass, and synthetic building materials—plastics, for instance.

Wood, of course, remains an indispensable material for many purposes. Glass brick and plate glass now can replace cumbersome, opaque materials for walls and inside partitions because the structural frame of the building, not the walls, supports the weight. Result is more light admitting walls and more adaptable interiors.

Committee Curtails May Day Activities

Because of the international situation, the duties of the May Day committee have been rather curtailed, but since the committee is a standing one, a representative of the freshman class, Mildred Darlington, was recently elected to keep the group intact.

Nine women of the class of '42 were nominated for the frosh elections. One member of the freshman class is elected to serve on the committee each year, and in her senior year is chairman of the group. Those already on the committee include: Ruth Braden '42, chairman; Jeanne Haynes '43 and Mary Louise Trippie '44. Miss Derr and Miss Gail are faculty advisers for the committee.

Glen Gray And The Casa Loma Orchestra To Play For Senior Ball

Band Leader, "Pee-Wee" Hunt, and Kenny Sargeant Will Select Senior Ball Queen From Fourteen Candidates

by JOHN BUSH

Glen Gray and two of his musical escorts, "Pee Wee" Hunt and Kenny Sargeant, have been entrusted with the time-honored privilege of selecting the co-ed who will reign as Queen of the Senior Ball tomorrow night.

Fourteen charming young ladies from the senior class and their swains will promenade in formal attire and smart array before the Casa Loma trio as the highlight of the outstanding social event of the year on the campus.

Shortly before intermission, the 14 co-ed candidates and their escorts will form into a long line and march the length of the floor, couple by couple.

NEW DEFENSE COURSE SOUGHT BY BUCKNELL

Irland Asks Permission To Offer Class In Radio Communication

The University has applied for authorization from the United States Office of Education to offer an additional course in its defense training program, it was learned today.

Dr. George A. Irland, head of the engineering department, has requested permission to offer a course in the Elements of Radio Communication to train men to qualify as radio inspectors.

If authorization is received, classes will begin March 23 and will be conducted three nights a week for 10 weeks.

Offered tuition free, the course will cover principles of direct and alternating currents and audio and radio frequency circuits. Applicants for the course must be high school graduates with at least two years of mathematics. Bucknell students are urged to register.

Westinghouse Asks Speed-Up

Plans for the new course have been speeded at Bucknell following a request from the Westinghouse Electric Company for the inauguration this type of training in order to prepare men for position in the proposed Westinghouse Plant in Sunbury.

At the same time, two additional courses to supplement those already under way in the Engineering Building on the campus will begin under the supervision of the Bucknell engineering group. The courses are chemical engineering for production supervision and the use of surveying instruments and surveying field procedure.

Bucknell is cooperating with Penn State in the presentation of the latter two courses. Registration for the three courses listed above will be held at the Sunbury High School on Fifth Street, March 17 from 7 to 10 p. m. Applications may also be made at the engineering building on the campus here.

Concert Orchestra To Play In Chapel

The concert orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Charles F. Sweeney, will give its annual spring performance in chapel next Thursday. This appearance marks the beginning of the concert season for the band which, as soon as the weather permits, will hold spring twilight concerts.

It is an all student organization consisting of 46 members. This is the second year that girls have been permitted to join the group.

The program, planned to show the extensive repertoire of the organization, is as follows:
Lustspiel Overture — Kellar-Bela Pavanne — Morton Gould
Overture from the Student Prince — Romberg
Lady from Spain — Oweus
Alma Mater — Merriman

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUBS

The women's glee clubs will combine in giving a concert in Hunt Hall living room Thursday, March 26, at 8 p. m. Misses Frances Clark and Nancy Patterson will act as accompanists. The glee clubs are under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins. The public is invited to attend the concert.

PEE WEE HUNT

Then they will file along the raised bandstand where Messrs. Gray, Hunt, and Sargeant will make their observation of pulchritude.

Some Lucky Girl

The "first lady" chosen will be announced shortly afterwards by maestro Gray who will present her with a crown of red roses, emblematic of the Senior Ball Queen title.

Dancing at the formal soiree of the senior class will be from 9 until 2, the committee, headed by Gil Unruh, class president and Prof. Donald Stillman, class adviser, announced this morning.

The decorative scheme of Davis Gymnasium—scene of the affair—will be minimized and trimmings will be curtailed to comply with the wishes of the Student-Faculty Congress in their attempt to cut activities and expenditures fifty percent for the remainder of the semester.

However, the dictates of the student body promise an evening of social and dancing pleasure. To this end the committee has contracted for the music of one of the most popular orchestras catering to the thousands of collegiate dancers through the country. Glen Gray will bring the distinctive musical style and star-studded group of syncopators which has made his aggregation famous to the Senior Ball tomorrow night.

English Students Will Hear Guislain

Jean-Marie Guislain, a famous Frenchman of letters, will visit Bucknell on April 28 to address the World Literature students on the subject of Honore de Balzac.

While his primary purpose in coming will be to address the students, he will also speak to the members of the French classes. There are also now under way for a luncheon which will be held in honor of the French scholar.

Fraternities Feature Unique Themes At Dances Saturday Following Ball

Fraternity dances and open houses this Saturday night will complete Senior Ball festivities.

The Delta pledges will hold a "Denise-Toss" for the active Saturday night from 8:30 to 12 o'clock at the chapter house. Everything will be conducted in "backyard" fashion at this "Collegiate Informal," with extra through the back door, and the decorations contributing to the general theme. Informal dress will be the order of the evening, with the girls dressed in sweaters, skirts, and saddle shoes, and the men in typical college attire. A "vie" will furnish the music.

Prof. and Mrs. Donald Stillman, Prof. and Mrs. F. B. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Herold will act as chaperones. Carl Jones and John Mills are co-chairmen of the dance committee.

S. A. E.'s Hold Noddy Dance
A "Come As You Wish You Were" but ain't dance will be conducted at the S. A. E. house this Saturday night. Dick Munmy and his Six Deadheads will play for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Clinger will act as chaperones. Henry Munsel is social chairman, assisted by Henry Reed and John Pittsfield.

Phi Psi's "Shipreck Dance"
Phi Kappa Psi will hold its annual "Shipreck Dance" this Saturday night at the chapter house. The decorations and costumes will carry out the shipwreck theme. Kent Redgray and his orchestra will furnish the music.

Dean and Mrs. Ralph E. Page, Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Blawie, Prof. and Mrs. William Johnson, and Prof. and Mrs. J. A. Gathings will chaperone the affair. Stewart Whitman is the social chairman.

Phi Gamma's Conduct Buffet Supper
The Phi Gamma's will conduct an open house Saturday afternoon, followed by a buffet supper, and dancing to a "vie" in the evening. William Ramage is chairman of the committee, assisted by William Ringwald.

S. P. E.'s Feature "Big Rascal"
Sigma Phi Epsilon will hold a "Big Rascal" at the chapter house Saturday night. The dance will be informal. Lewis Phillips and his orchestra will play for the dance.

Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Burge and Prof. and Mrs. E. E. Cornelius will chaperone. Edwin Winkle is in charge of the dance arrangements.

Sigma Chi's Hold Spring Informal
A dinner at the Hotel Lewisburger will precede the Sigma Chi spring informal at the chapter house Saturday night. Spring decorations will carry out the theme. Ducky Geese and his orchestra will furnish the music.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Chandler will chaperone. Warren Lewis is the social chairman, assisted by Frank Garro, Allen Beck, and Robert Steamer.

GERBER RECITAL

Miss Margaret Gerber, soprano, will give a recital tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the Baptist Church auditorium. Miss Gerber will be accompanied by Miss Cathryn Birchard. The program consists of a number of folk songs and arias.

Dr. H.M. Evans, Noted U. of C. Professor To Address Faculty Here

The strange functions of the pituitary, known as the "master gland" in human physiology, will be traced by Dr. H. M. Evans of the department of Biology of the University of California in the annual open meeting of the Bucknell Club of the Society of the Sigma Xi in Vaughn Literature Building at 8 p. m. on April 17th.

The fourteen faculty members of the Club will welcome their friends to this lecture which will be of unusual interest to students of biology, chemistry, psychology, medicine and related fields.

Dr. Stewart announced that the researches in endocrinology are of such present day interest to all who wish to keep up to the progress of human biology that a large number of the student body and of the faculty will not miss this opportunity to hear an authority in this field.

A great many experiments described in recent years have demonstrated that the pituitary supplies a growth-control factor, for which a long search has been made. It is to Dr. Evans and his associates that modern science is indebted for the isolation in crystalline form of this particular product of the pituitary after about 20 years of research.

Betzi Lauer To Wed Tommy Decker, Now In Army Air Corps

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lauer, of Williamsport, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Betzi Lauer, to Tommy Decker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas Decker, of Elizabeth, N. J.

Betzi is a Junior and a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Tommy, ex-48, is a Phi Psi and is now in the Army Air Corps.

Alpha Chi, Kappa Delta, S.C.C., Delta Zeta, S.F.C. Hold Yearly Elections

At a recent meeting of the sorority, the following women were chosen as the officers of Alpha Chi Omega for the coming year:

President, Eleanor Greene; vice president, Lucille Lee Grout; secretary, Ruth Howley; treasurer, Estelle Howley; social chairman, Eleanor Goodrich and corresponding secretary, Mary Hamilton.

S. U. C. Elects
William Harrison is the newly elected president of the Student Campus Club. Jesse Syne will act as men's vice president, and Mary Decker, as women's vice president. Mary Louise Piper, secretary, and Joseph O'Brien, treasurer, round out the new group of officers.

The Kappa Delta sorority held elections Tuesday night for the coming year. The following women will hold offices: president, Ruth Chamberlain; vice president, Marian Hawk; secretary, Jane Griffith; assistant treasurer, Margaret Strouse; treasurer, Marcia Herrgesell; editor, Marie Frommelt; social chairman, Isabel Clark.

S. F. C. Names New State
At a recent meeting of the Student Faculty Congress, the following officers were elected: president, Walter Hoid; vice president, Bernard Heiler; secretary, Joanne Haynes; treasurer, Jean Richards.

D. Z. Holds Election
At the weekly sorority meeting last Tuesday night, the following girls were elected officers for the coming year: Dorothy Naugle, president; Ruth Smith, vice president; LaVern Fries, secretary; and Betty Colhaus, treasurer.

Sorority Opens Defense Stamp Drive; Marts Officers At Booth

President Marts opened the Alpha Chi Omega Pledge Defense Stamp drive today in the living room of Larion Hall at 12:30 o'clock after his appearance at Chapel.

The Alpha Chi pledges plan to continue this stamp drive for ten days, starting the nineteenth and ending the twenty-ninth of March. Stamps will be sold at lunch and dinner each day, and in the evening on all dating nights, in order that the men may participate in this drive. On dating nights the booths will be put up near the entrances of Hunt and Larion halls. The stamps will be sold for 15 cents and will be open from 7:15 to 8:30 p. m. for the students' convenience. There will be ten and twenty-five cent stamps sold, and with each stamp a defense stamp book will be given out.

Herrgesell States Handbook Progress

Marcia Herrgesell, editor of the 1942-43 Christian Association Handbook, announces that work has been started on the new edition, the staff to aid in its publication being headed by assistant editors Estelle Howley '44 and Bill Bowen '45, while Walter Noll '44 is acting in the capacity of business manager.

The content, shape, and size of this year's edition will be very similar to those books which have been published in the past. There will, however, be additional information on the first aid and defense courses which are being offered this year at Bucknell.

The Handbook for the new incoming freshmen in September will be released as usual just prior to the beginning of the fall semester. Copies will be sent to the freshmen just before they leave their homes for Lewisburg to begin their college careers. The upperclassmen, upon return to the campus, will obtain their copies at the time of registration. Some delay has been experienced by campus chatter that upperclassmen would not receive copies of the Handbook next fall, or for the duration of the war, because of scarcity of the paper supply. However, Marcia Herrgesell squelched this rumor when she said that enough paper had been ordered, months ago for the next edition to meet the needs of the next Handbook.

No changes will be made in the policy of distribution in order to accommodate that part of the Club which will have to wait until the fall term begins, when the upperclassmen return to the campus in order to secure their Handbooks.

Hopkins, Sholl Play Leads In Comedy

Don Hopkins '42 and Calvin Sholl '42 will assume the leads in Gettysburg, a comedy in three acts, which will be staged by Delta Sigma without any admission charges on April 19 in the Lewisburg High School as the opening feature of the fraternity's Founder's Day weekend.

The production is under the direction of Charles Bond '42, student director, and Dr. George Greogory, faculty director.

As has been customary in past productions, the musical features of the presentation will be the male portrayal of feminine roles.

Don Hopkins in handling the feminine lead will portray the character of Elizabeth Rimpleguy, while Calvin Sholl will be cast in the role of Dr. Stevens.

The cast also includes Bill Bowen '42 as Mrs. Rimpleguy; Don Sholl '42 as Douglas Rimpleguy; Bob Clarke '45 as Kitty; Stan Bear '43 as Donald; and Curtis Clump '44 in the role of Jennie, a servant. Don Shields will also understand for the feminine lead.

The main action of the play centers around a Brooklyn family of considerable means which manages to lose all its money through speculation, with the result that it faces numerous problems and consequences.

C. A. Voting Starts Monday; 8 Women, 9 Men Up For Election; W. S. S. F. Opens

All members of the Christian Association are asked to cast their ballots next Monday afternoon, March 23, for the new members of the executive committee for the summer session and the 1942-43 college year.

Ballot boxes will be placed in Roberts Hall for the men and in Larion Hall for the women. Voting will last from 1:30 until 5 o'clock. Sixteen persons have been nominated and twelve will be elected to the committee.

The eight women up for election are Janet Bold, Jeanne Haynes, Marilyn Eppley, Janet Leach, Marcia Herrgesell, Marjorie Strouse, Ruth Chamberlain and Virginia Cushing.

Men nominated are William Bowen, Jack Diefenderfer, Robert Frantz, William Griffiths, Walter Held, Walter Noll, Alexander Robbins and John Webb.

Eppley Heads W. S. S. F.
World Student Service Fund night will be celebrated in Student Church this Sunday evening. Agnes Hysmith of Penn State will be the guest speaker, and will present the aims of the fund.

Mrs. Chapin Gives Funds To Phi Psi

In memory of her father, the late Frederick Bortolotto, and her brother, Walter Bortolotto, Mrs. Mary Chapin Chapin has given $100 to the Phi Kappa Psi chapter here.

The money was given to the chapter room of the Phi Kappa Psi chapter here. The money was given to the chapter room of the Phi Kappa Psi chapter here.

Both Bucknell graduates, Frederick Bortolotto and his son were members of the Phi Kappa Psi chapter here. The elder Bortolotto graduated from Bucknell in 1872 while his son completed his education at the university in 1900.

At Bucknell, Walter Bortolotto served as manager of the Lambda Chi chapter. He was a member of the Lambda Chi chapter. He was a member of the Lambda Chi chapter.

Miss Marjory Bortolotto Chapin, daughter of Mrs. Chapin, is a member of the freshman class at Bucknell.

The World Student Service Fund and the good the fund has accomplished. Miss Hysmith, better known as Pete, was one of the personalities at the Pocomo conference who is best remembered by Bucknellians.

Marilyn Eppley and her committee working on the World Student Service Fund will have charge of the service which will be held as usual in Hunt Hall Living Room at 6:45 p. m.

Lasher wins War on Weather!

For years, telephone cable has been hung by stiff wire rings from its supporting strand. But repeated expansion and contraction caused by temperature changes sometimes proved too much for even the best cable sheath. Fatigue cracks developed near the poles—this meant leaks—possible service interruptions—expensive repairs.

Recently, men of the Bell System developed a machine that lashes the cable and strand together in such a way that the concentration of strains near the poles is minimized. The Cable Lasher has also proved a great aid in the speedy installation of some of the new cables needed for airfields, camps, bases and war factories.

There are many opportunities in the Bell System for men with the urge—and the ability—to do a job better than it has ever been done before.

News Of Men In The Service

From Louisiana, we hear this week of Wayne Stevenson, ex-42, who enlisted in Uncle Sam's army. Wayne has been located in three places since he enlisted: Camp Sills, Oklahoma; Fort Dix, New Jersey, and now Camp Claiborne, Louisiana.

Dear Bucknellian:
Once again this wandering 44th Division has gone on the move, and now we're really in the deep south. Because we're missing a lot of cold weather this move is greatly appreciated but there's also another angle. The last outfit here was the 34th Division. We moved here to replace them, and they are now in Ireland. I think you got the point.

There's a fair sized city—Alexandria—18 miles north of here, and after several visits, I became interested in their radio station—KALB—a 250 watt Transmitter. Even though it is small, there are 8 fully equipped studios, so another fellow and myself made quite a time running programs. The two of us are running a record program five nights a week, so it's not only a lot of fun, but a situation where I learn more about my trade.

Have received two January issues of The Bucknellian, by now well read and certainly hope they keep coming. I would have sent an address sooner, but changes are still being made, and where I'll end up is not telling. You see, this whole

From a U. S. Army Air Corps release we hear some news of James McFarland, Sig. Ep. ex-41.
Lieut. James M. McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McFarland, Jr., of 1001 Main St., Waynesboro, Pa., was graduated Feb. 20, 1942, from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School at Brooks Field, Texas, receiving the silver wings and gold bars of a U. S. Army pilot officer.

While at Brooks Field, Lieut. McFarland completed an intensive 10 weeks' course, and is now prepared to play an important part in the aerial defense of America.

S. C. C. Beats Pi Phis In Girls Basketball

Clinching the championship of League I and thus getting a crack at the final championship contest games, the S. C. C. sect led by Joan Shale defeated the Pi Phis by a score of 28-14.

The Pi Phis opened the encounter with heavy scoring and led at the end of the first quarter. However, a strong S. C. C. defensive halted the Pi Phi attack, and from then on S. C. C. dominated the play. Percy Wade, Pi Phi forward and captain, turned in a stellar role, while it was again the strong Jean Shale-Elinor Hudson-Sybil Hale combination that brought victory to S. C. C.

S. C. C. will encounter the K. D.'s during the next week to decide the final championship of the season.

Phi Psis Gain I-M Wrestling Trophy; Sigma Chi Second

Cadwallader, Brogan, and Benner Are Winners; Kappa Sigma Third

The 16 finalists battled it out last Thursday afternoon and as a result, three men managed to retain their titles and five others became new champions. Phi Kappa Psi took first place honors winning three first places. Sigma Chi followed close behind in second place, while the Kappa Psi finished third.

In the 121-lb. class the Sigs' Jack Pink became the new champ as he pinned the S. C. C.'s Bill Williams. In the 127-lb. match Charlie Brogan, the Phi Psi's last year 123-lb. champ, retained his title as he won a decision over Hank Marcelle after two grueling extra periods.

Another last year champion was George Jenkins who brought years has been taken by the Bucknell faculty in order to enable students to become physically able to serve America well and vigorously during the war emergency. President Marts announced. This new requirement includes women students as well as men.

President Marts explained to colleagues that the teachers in the University's physical education department are accepting these extra duties for patriotic reasons. He said, "The college is grateful to them for their consent to double their work in order that the youth of the Bucknell community can be better physically to meet the tasks which await them."

In addition, President Marts told the students that there will be no tuition charge for the extra hours of physical training.

"We have many strenuous months and years ahead of us," President Marts said, "in which we will need strong bodies and steady nerves and resolute hearts. Our students will be only half prepared for their duties if they are not ready with strong and healthy bodies. Today, more than ever, physical education is an essential part of education and we shall require all of our students, old and young, to devote three periods a week to building up our physical and nervous resources. Still Time To Sign Up

The possibility of such an epidemic breaking out here at the college is not a remote one, and the situation would be further complicated by the coming shortage of doctors. It is not at all unlikely that Dr. Fowle will be taken into the army as no other doctor could be gotten to replace him. It has been stated that the whole town of Lewisburg will be lucky to have two of the four medical men in this locality remain here.

"B" Club Presents
Burlesque Apr. 11

50 Male Actors Will Give Comedy; Proceeds To Buy Sweaters

"The Travelling Burlesque," a frothy comedy with more than 50 male actors, will be put on by the Varsity "B" Club on Saturday, April 11, at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium, from which proceeds will go toward buying B-sweaters for better winners in varsity sports. Admission is 50 cents.

Leading roles number about five or six and a lavish sprinkling of feminine parts, all assumed by male actors, is included throughout to season the burlesque with the necessary burlesque ingredient.

Although a veil of secrecy surrounds the theme, subject, and manner of handling the burlesque, it is known that it is designed to be an appropriate take-off on something, the dominant feature being an accent on hilarity. Run by production manager Frank Garro and Walt Wentz, '42, the comedy, which follows along vaudeville lines, marks the second annual burlesque staged by the B Club; it is intended that this kind of entertainment will continue in future years as the means of raising money for the sweater fund.

Music To Accompany

Several members of the "Bucknellians" dance band will supply accompaniment. Professors P. G. Sizel and C. F. Stieney are lending their help to the enterprise, the latter arranging musical details. Mr. John Platt is adviser.

Because there is still room for a larger supporting cast, Garro and Wentz ask that any male students of "decent" age, as they insist on phrasing it, see them immediately for parts.

Tobacco has been in session for two weeks in Bucknell Hall and fraternity houses. In addition to Garro and Wentz, in charge of overall production, other committee chairmen are Bud Vanderhill, business manager; Merle Clark, stage director; Jim Edgar, lights; Bill Ross, sound effects; Dan Caslen, programs; John Bush, publicity; Scotty Whyte, house manager; Harry Reynolds, Steve Skol and Jerry Kiselstein, script.

Rehearsals will then be held in the basement of Bucknell Hall, the property of Cap and Dagger. Fraternities or other campus groups which wish to use them, must see Stanley Marshall for permission.

Glee Club Enters
National Contest

The Varsity Glee Club, led by Mr. Melvin LeMon, has entered in the Pleasure Time National Glee Club Competition, run by the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co., makers of Chesterfield cigarettes and directed by the late Walter H. Hays, a well-known club maestro.

Over 160 college glee clubs, from 47 states, are entered in the competition, which is the first one of its kind into which a Bucknell Glee Club ever competed.

In the contest the nation is divided into nine districts with approximately 18 colleges and universities in each section. Bucknell is in a section which includes glee clubs from Penn State, Cornell, Penn. Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, and many others.

On Monday, April 6, each club is scheduled to make a recording of the three numbers which it has selected for entry. Our Glee Club will perform "Steady As You Go," a negro spiritual, which has been assigned to our district as the required number.

"Come Back, Soldier," the optional school song which must be performed in unison; and "Ave Maria," the number of our own choice.

The recordings will then be sent to New York City, where Mr. Waring and his committee of judges will listen to each set of records, representing each entry in the contest, and

Versatile Soph
Stars In C&D Play

Role in Musical Comedy
As Musician Fits Him
Like a Glove

Choreography director, actor, clarinetist, and dance specialty artist are the numerous roles which Bob Kimmel, '44, will perform in Cap and Dagger's coming musical comedy production, "Starbright," which will be presented Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 15 and 16, at the Lewisburg High School auditorium.

The versatility and technical skill which these roles require offer no problem to Bob. He literally started dancing when he learned to walk. His mother, who was formerly starved with the Zeigfeld Folies and later with Eddie Cantor, taught him all the intricacies of the art. In recent years Bob has danced in towns throughout the Central Pennsylvania area, and has assisted his mother in her dancing studio.

As a musician, too, Bob began his training at an early age. He took up violin in the first grade, and five years ago turned to clarinet. As saxophone and clarinetist he has played with orchestras throughout this section, and was given a chance at the University of Pennsylvania last year.

Bob's brother, Jack Kimmel '45, also carries on the musical talents of the family, but he "dislikes dancing intensely." In the orchestra for "Starbright" Jack will play both trumpet and piano.

Bob's featured role in "Starbright" is that of an orchestra leader. Tommy, the official of Dog Patch, feel it only fair that the heaviest tax should be placed upon that Sadie Hawkins who exercises the least exercise in the house. A nickelman will supply the music.

In addition to the committee printed last week, in deed, and an advisory committee have been added. Jane Thompson, Nancy Woolbing, Phyllis Adams, Mary Lou Piper, and Nancy Sherer constitute the decoration committee. Edna Larson and Jane Griffith, are in charge of admissions. Sally Diferderfer heads the general committee.

Dan Dorothy Dyer, Misses Sylvia Dyer, Helen Dodel, and Eleanor Gell, and Mr. Paul Hightower will chaperone.

Dr. Rice Is Happy;
Stork Delivers
Triplets to Myrtle

Dr. Rice and the biology staff finally ceased their long packing. Tuesday afternoon when Myrtle, the Bucknell sheep, gave birth to triplets, between 3:45 and 4:15 p. m.

As a general rule, sheep produce one April 15, a time, twins are rare and triplets almost unheard of. When there are three offspring, it usually proves fatal to the dam, but the last reports on Myrtle's progress were encouraging for recovery.

Myrtle, who originally came from the University Farm, has been a resident of Taylor Ames basement for the past year. If the mother and offspring live, the four will return to the farm. The sheep was brought to the university for the purpose of supplying blood for experiments carried out in connection with Bacteriology and Physiology by Dr. Rice.

Sheep are usually bred in mid-summer and produce their offspring sometime in March. These lambs were born under the height of the astronomical sign of Aries, the Ram. How their personalities will develop is a prediction for the astrologist.

Defense Stamps

The Alpha Chi Omega pledge defense stamp drive has been very successful up to date, having sold a total of 307 ten cent stamps and 57 twenty-five cent stamps, amounting to $4.95 altogether.

President Marts opened the drive at 12:30 p. m. Thursday in Larison Hall with his purchase of $5 worth of ten cent stamps. In the first hour of the drive the pledges made $13.00.

The stamp drive will continue until the twenty-ninth of March. Stamps are on sale at lunch and dinner each day. On dating nights the booths have been set up in both Larison and Hunt Halls, in an effort to obtain the participation of men students. Sales during Senior Week weekend were surprisingly high.

Ten and twenty-five cent stamps are being sold, and with each stamp a defense stamp book is given out. A committee of three pledges has been in charge of the drive: Chairman Dorothy Short, Jean Smith, and Ruth Burnett.

Haines Gets New Basketball Honors

Court Star Voted League's Outstanding Player And Placed On A.P. Team

George Haines, Bucknell's record-breaking Junior basketball sensation, has been named the outstanding player of the season in the Eastern Pennsylvania Basketball League.

This announcement came last week following the annual league meeting held each year in March. Present at the meeting were the coaches of all seven of the teams represented in this league. In considering their selections the following items are added upon: playing ability, sportsmanship, team play, and spirit.

Haines was the unanimous choice of these seven men. Hutchinson of Ursinus was a runner-up to the Bison for this honor.

FORTY MEN OUT FOR SPRING GRID PRACTICE

About 40 candidates for Bucknell's 1942 football squad have responded to Coach Al Humphreys' call for spring practices. Ten of the men reporting to the practice sessions are lettermen from last year's squad, while most of the others are up from last year's fresh team.

The practice periods are in their second week now and will continue on until near the end of April. Particular stress is being placed on conditioning drills and on the fundamental play of each position.

Al and line coach, "Bus" Blum, have been running the boys through some contact work this week, and most of the boys are showing up fairly well, with Magagna, Kazary, and Szot doing particularly good work.

Schechter Is New S.B.H. President

The Bucknell Student Board of Health held a meeting last Wednesday for the reorganization of the association. The election of new officers for the coming school year was also carried out.

Jack Schechter '43, was elected President by a unanimous vote. Jean Shook was elected Vice-President, and Harriet Ann Lynn, Secretary.

News Of Men In The Service

Last week in this column a letter was published from Wayne Stevenson, ex-'42, giving his address as Camp Claiborne, La. During the week information was given us informing us of Stevenson's move to a camp in Washington State near Mt. Rainier. As yet no definite address has been obtained.

This week a letter from Johnny Jones, S. A. E., informs us of his work since the time he was recalled into the service.

Dear Friends, I have just received my first copy of The Bucknellian, and the pages of loneliness that they bring back are more than made up for by the sweet memories that come rushing back as I read of the exploits of old friends. It seems as though it were only yesterday that I was a student on that "300 acres set apart," but here I've been back in the army for seven weeks.

I was recalled to active duty for George G. Meade on January 14, 1942. I was stationed at the Induction Station there for four weeks as a clerk. The work was interesting but not permanent. On February 14, I was transferred to this post and as luck would have it, I was appointed assistant to the Chaplain, a job that I had always hoped to obtain at some time or place in my army career. The work is more along my line, and there's never a dull moment. The Chaplain's office functions not only as a religious agency but also as a morale, athletic and recreational unit. It is our duty to map various activities for the soldiers in their spare moments, visit the sick, write letters home for disabled men, and to take care of their welfare in general.

The living conditions down here are something new to me. I used to think that living in a barracks was novel, but it's nothing compared to living in a tent. The tents are heated by a contraption that some call a stove, but actually it is a large fan that turned upside down. It took us quite a while to learn the trick of keeping a fire going all night without having to sit up and watch it. We have invented a device by which we can heat the tent in the morning without getting out of bed to draw the radiator cord through it all winter.

This latrine is in the process of organization and as soon as we acquire our full strength, we'll be showing off for parts unknown. However, at the present time I must say that the equipment they are issuing us, I'm not sure of the boys' from R. U. I've been in contact with some old Normans Emmert who is stationed at Station Hospital No. 2, Ft. Bragg, N. C., and Sgt. "Bill" Hobbs at Foster Field, Texas.

We're expecting an alert at any time so I'll have to close and get my things together. You'll never know how much I appreciate receiving The Bucknellian, thanks a million.

Sincerely,

W. S. S. F. April 6, Goal Set At $800

Marion Eppley, Chairman of the World Student Service Fund drive here announced today that the solicitation will start on April 6 and run through to the 7th.

This year the goal has been set at $800 and the money will be used as of other years, for student relief. Money may be earmarked for specific purposes: aid for prisoners-of-war, including our own in the Pacific; for Chinese student relief; for the World Student Christian Federation; for the Service Council here at B. U., or for the general fund.

In recent years over $300 has been raised on campus for the W. S. S. F., and a higher goal this year has been set because of the immense need.

from them will choose the winner in each district. The district winners will then be judged and all but the finalists will be eliminated. Then comes the finals and the ultimate winner. The finalists, according to Mr. Waring, will probably receive numerous radio engagements.

"Root For Them"

In an open letter to the student body of Bucknell, Mr. Waring urged students to get behind their Glee Club and "root for them, as you would your football team."

Reports have it that the collection is growing.

ENTERPRISING—

Rumor also has it that George Stackhouse, dean of paraphernalia at Davis Gym, is secretly training several boxers for appearances in local amateur circles. Mr. Stackhouse was a ring brawler at one time, having earned the title of "No. 1 Knockout Man" in the Bronx A. C.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES—

And speaking of boxing, we're reminded of a final recording before one of the recent Bucknell boxing engagements. It was "Heaven Can Wait."

Dedication...

Only once has Lexington been dedicated to a student, when in 1917 it was dedicated to the memory of a classmate, Elmer Smith Pettit. The 1919 dedication was to those of the class who had died in the service of their country.

With these few exceptions the yearbook in the past has mainly been dedicated to Bucknell personalities. It was dedicated twice to Dr. George Benedict Lawson, Dr. H. W. Phillips, and Dr. John Howard Harris, single dedications have been made to campus figures such as Penn. Amos C. Marx, Professor Benjamin Williams Griffith, Lewis Edwin Theiss, Norman Hamilton Stewart, Paul George Stolz, and Frank Eugene Burpee.

In 1932 the annual was dedicated to alumni in general, especially such famous persons as Paul Altohouse '12, renowned Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera; Tackler Howard Bliss, ex-'13, sixth general in the history of the United States and Chief of Staff of the Army during World War I; David Jayne Hill '74, former president of Bucknell who climaxed his career by serving as Ambassador to Germany; Lewis Columbus Hybert '05, missionary, decorated by the Chinese government; Rush Kress '09, vice president of S. H. Kress and Company, one of the leading merchandising establishments in the country; Christy Mathewson '02, pitcher with the New York Giants and one of the most famous athletes of all time; John Walls '08, president of the Safe Harbor Water Corporation, engineering in charge of erecting the $20,000,000 dam at Safe Harbor; and Samuel Lewis Ziegler '80, noted optometrist and inventor.

Dr. Henry Gilman, professor of chemistry at Iowa State College, has been re-elected Councilor-at-Large of the American Chemical Society.

College students today are two inches taller on the average than students 10 years ago.

They Want That Way—Interesting enough in a general sort of way is the public's compliance with President Roosevelt's request that we become demoralized. There is admittedly no sharp line of demarcation to indicate where we abandoned the defense attitude, but it does seem rather evident that the public as such is fast becoming accustomed to a new line of thought.

In addition to directing these numbers, Bob will do a ballet with Evelyn Grusklaus, and a Boogie-Woogie specialty with Dorothy Hartz.

Other featured dancers in the musical comedy are Nancy Byck, who will do a ballet; Louise Snyder and Fritz Meyn, who will do a jitterbug number; and Jane Nagro and her partner, who will perform a burlesque on waltz. The remainder of the dancing chorus, which Director Kimmel describes as "a very lively chorus" includes Betty Miller, Louise Stead, Anne Novotny, Barbara Russell, Jane Zell, Valerie Kendall, Jean Watta, Jane Gallien, and Herbert Harper. Boys who wish to dance in the chorus may still see Bob Kimmel for tryouts.

Food Poisoning Strikes Sem And Fraternities

Milk and Water Not Cause For Prevalence of Enteritis Bacilli

PHI GAMM ARE FIRST VICTIMS

Sweeping the college suddenly last week, an epidemic of enteritis, food poisoning, took as its victims 119 girls in the Sem and most of the men eating at five fraternity houses. Analyses conducted by Dr. J. W. Rice of the Biology Department, show that milk and water are not responsible. One of the obstacles in the search of the cause is the difficulty of obtaining samples of the tainted food, which was discarded.

The enteritis bacilli made their debut Monday night at the Phi Gamm house, where most of the men came down with the characteristic vomiting spasms. The Sigma Chi's shared their misery of the next night, then the Lambda Chi and soon the Sig Eps. The Professors on Friday morning, wondering at the conspicuous absence of a high percentage of girls in their classes, learned shortly that the epidemic had struck the Sem the night before.

The Student Board of Health is sending representatives to the dormitory and fraternity houses to inquire what food had been eaten in (Continued on page 4.)

Bucknell To Have Sunrise Service

Easter Sunrise Service will be held this Sunday at 6:30 a. m. in the Orchard which overlooks the Susquehanna River. Students will be able to watch the Easter sun rise over Montour hill.

The Rev. Thomas Beddo Richards will be the speaker at the service, which is presented by the Lewisburg Federation of Churches, the Lewisburg Ministerium, and the Bucknell Christian Association.

B. U. Will Offer Home Management

Men as well as women students will be admitted to a new course in home management to be introduced here at the start of the next term which begins June 8. It was announced today.

Dealing with fundamentals of modern home making, such as lighting, shelter, clothing, and food, the course will also survey the social and psychological problems of family life. Mrs. Dyer will be the instructor. Other new courses created to meet the new situation and listed for the June term will include Emergency, Community, and Military Hygiene, Business Management, and Economic Problems of Modern War.

Dr. W. H. Eyster will provide individual instruction and assistance for students interested in defense gardening and Prof. William H. Schuyler will teach a course in photography designed to train students in making of photos, with emphasis on techniques of value in wartime, especially in aviation and map-making.

Haines Makes All- State Court Team

Court Star Is First Player In School's History To Receive This Honor

George Haines, Bucknell's great court star, has been selected on the All-Pennsylvania basketball team. This marks the first time in the school's history that a Bucknell basketball player has been accorded an honor of this sort.

Haines, who this year not only established a new Bucknell scoring mark with his 324 points, but also broke the Eastern Penn. League scoring mark, was the only member of the All-State team standing under six feet nine inches. However, what the B. U. ace seemed to lack in height he more than made up for with his amazing speed and aggressive play around the offensive backboard. In one game this season he tallied 37 points, while in two other contests he went over the 30 mark with 31, and 32, point games.

The other four members to make the All-Pennsylvania team were Pete Pasko of East Stroudsburg, Herky Baltimore of Penn State, George Seneky of St. Josephs, and Stan Cope of Swarthmore. Only one other player from the Eastern Penn. League, of which Bucknell is a member, was selected on the first five all-state teams, that being Dick Shollenberger of Albright.

Alpha Chi Stamp Drive Nets $72

The Alpha Chi Omega pledges concluded their defense stamp drive with a bang Sunday when they sold their five-hundredth stamp. Their sales for the ten-day drive consisted of 150 twenty-five cent stamps and 150 ten cent stamps, giving a grand total of 500 stamps worth $72.50.

Dorothy Short, chairman of the committee in charge of the drive, and Betty Whipple, president of the pledge group, felt that they were greatly indebted to President Marks for getting the drive off to such a good start on March 19, when he made the first purchase at the opening of the booth in Larson living room.

The pledges set up the booth and made numerous signs advertising their sale of the stamps. Absolutely no profit was made from the sale of the stamps. Booklets were issued with each purchase and the pledges hope that those who started filling them will not lose interest in keeping up their purchases now that the drive is over.

Red Cross Receives $71 Proceeds From S. Hawkins Dance

The proceeds, amounting to $71.44, from the Sadio Hawkins Day dance last Friday night in Tustin Gymnasium, will be turned over to the Red Cross. Gil Unruh '42 was crowned the "Women's Chere," by Miss Sylvia Derr.

A general rural atmosphere prevailed at the affair, with the co-eds and their dates dancing to music from a nickelodeon. Miniature haystacks flanked the sides of the gym. Sally Diederfer '42 was chairman of the committee in charge of the dance.

Mr. Elliot Speaks At C. A. Dinner

The last meeting of the Christian Association was held Thursday evening, April 2nd, at the Lewisburg Inn. Roland Elliot, chapel speaker who is treasurer of the World Student Christian Federation and recently returned from Europe, spoke to the group on "The Role of the Student Movement in the Present War."

Mr. Forrest Brown presented the Senior Awards.

A 15-weeks' term for engineering and chemistry students will also get under way on June 8 and will be required of students in these courses.

In addition, the University will offer twelve-weeks' courses in biology, chemistry, English, and physical education. These will also start June 8.

Comedy To Have 14 Songs: Vary Form Operetta Style To The Blues

An original score of fourteen songs, written by Gene Nicolait '42, and arranged by Dr. Melvin LeMon of the Bucknell School of Music, will be featured in "Star Bright," the original musical comedy which Cap and Dagger will produce on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, April 15 and 16, in the auditorium of the Lewisburg High School.

The musical style of the numbers varies from the operetta style of "Dream Waltz" to the blues ballad, "Loneliness Stia Across the Table from Me"; from a patter song, "The Workings of a Woman's Mind" to "Boogie Woogie Rattle in My Bustle." One of the most unique numbers is that entitled "Pay the Piper," which Dr. LeMon has arranged for a jitterbug number, a ballroom waltz-burlesque, and a fast tap specialty.

Of these, George Burns '45, from Me; from a patter song, "The Workings of a Woman's Mind" to "Boogie Woogie Rattle in My Bustle." One of the most unique numbers is that entitled "Pay the Piper," which Dr. LeMon has arranged for a jitterbug number, a ballroom waltz-burlesque, and a fast tap specialty.

Dr. Herman Rauschnig, one-time confidant of Adolf Hitler and author of the widely known book "The Revolution of Nihilism" will speak on "The Secret Aims of National Socialism" one the Bucknell University lecture series here April 27.

Dr. Rauschnig, who arrived in England in March, 1940, is the former President of the Danzig Senate, and is probably the best informed critic of the German National Socialism Party alive and at liberty today.

Dr. Rauschnig has brought to America a unique slant on the present war, knowing as he does the internal affairs of Germany as well as the actual immediate conditions in the British Isles.

Greeks Hold Ball Friday, April 17, In Davis Gym

On April 17, Bucknellians will be feted to a new event in the history of the university, when the Interfraternity-Interscholastic Ball is held in Davis Gym. Plans for the dance are now under way. The Social Committee of Bucknell is responsible for arrangements for the dance.

The dance will be a formal one, and the girls may ask the boys, or the boys may ask the girls. It is hoped that it will be possible to get the Campus Owls from Penn State to supply the music. This all-campus dance has been planned in an effort to cut expenses of the fraternities and sororities so that they may be better able to aid in the war effort.

Tri Delts Conduct Open House Sat. In Hunt Rec Room

The members of Delta Delta Delta sorority conducted an open house in Hunt Hall Rec Room, Saturday afternoon, March 28. The sorority president, four officers from each fraternity and the Student Campus Club, and Miss Gertrude Garrison, house mother at Hunt Hall, were invited. Mrs. P. H. Dowdell of Milton, alumni and social adviser of Tan chapter, chaperoned the affair.

FIELD TRIPS CONCLUDE NURSERY DEFENSE CLASS

Mrs. Meyer Nimkoff and Miss Greta Garrison are in charge of the Nursery School Defense Class being conducted every Thursday night from 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock. There are approximately 20 women enrolled in the course. The course includes lectures on child psychology, a study of games for children and the equipment suitable for use in a nursery school, and a discussion of the rhythms, songs, stories, poems and books for children of that age. A series of field trips complete the course.

THURSDAY, APRIL 2, 1942

The Queen is dead—long live the Queens! So goes the modern slogan as applied to the Bucknell campus, for with the Spring Festival and May Queen removed from the picture for '42, we have only the pleasant memories of the crown princesses of recent years to us. There's Ruthie Chamberlain, ruler of the Junior Prom; Dixie Green, occupant of the '41 Club throne; and Betty Herrmann, female monarch of the Senior Ball.

And about those other lovely ladies—especially the coeds in the Senior Class—the L'Agenda is your guide. George Petty, Esquire modeler of feminine forms, will provide the answer shortly and its really all-inclusive.

Husiest man on the campus this semester is Dr. Melvin LeCom, who, in addition to his professional duties, is primarily the Men's Glee Club for the Fred Waring contest, and directing Gene Nicoletti's musical score for the Cup and Dagger production of "Star-bright." All of which may explain the fact that he recently walked into his studio, put his rubbers on the desk and his overcoat on the floor.

Incidentally, we spotted Professor William McEae leading a band of several collegians "warming up" for the quad basketball game the other afternoon. The genial piano instructor, really showed the boys he can manipulate the white pellet as well as the piano keys with those nimble fingers.

How they do toss the anatomy around in those first aid classes! Heard court reporter Mueser query one of the instructors recently, "Say, do you wanna take a leg today?" Of course, he was referring to a demonstration of first aid on a broken leg, and the reply was in complete harmony with the question. The instructor barked back, "I had a leg last week, I think I'll take an arm today."

We told you all along—that we need a parade! President Marts believes in it too, and we think it would be mighty fine if town and gown got together in a marching demonstration to show what is being done hereabouts in civilian work. Dr. Marts has suggested the idea to the entire state and points to April 6—Army Day—for everyone to fall in line. Market street—here we come!

Our modern Julietts do a complete turnabout and take to climbing the ladders themselves Tuesday night. It's not patterned along Shakespearean lines, just a simple drill in fire-fighting.

What To Do In An Air Raid

SAFETY SHELTERS

No Air Raid shelters as such or curtain walls are being considered at this time. However, many of the buildings on the Campus are considered as offering sufficient protection, if used with discretion. Some are not thought of as providing dependable shelter in case of an actual air raid, but all of them are as safe as most of the homes in the town.

There are two general types of bombs which have been in general use in other countries during this war and either one or both, are expected to be used here.

One is a small incendiary bomb which is dropped from a considerable height and in large quantities. These have a considerable penetrating power and may be expected to go through an ordinary roof and one floor below the roof, before they have spent their penetrating force. These instruments render the upper floor of any building unsafe as a shelter.

The other is much larger and explodes either in the air, or after hitting the ground. They are of two or more kinds and vary in size and power. When they explode they create a sideways pressure and throw fragments of steel and burning materials in all directions with great force. It is the action of this type of bombs that causes the ground floor of a building to be unsafe.

For the reasons discussed above, both the ground floor and the top floor of any building is unsafe as a shelter. Our conclusion is, then, that no two-story building, except one with a concrete or heavy steel roof is suitable for an air raid shelter.

All buildings on the college grounds which have not more than two stories above the ground should be evacuated as soon as the signal is sounded and the occupants should seek refuge in one of the larger and taller buildings. Such buildings as Larison Hall, Harris Hall and Hunt Hall on the Woman's Campus, are safe on all floors except the ground floor and the top floor, but, care should be used not to congregate directly in front of a window. The corridors are the safest parts of these buildings.

SAFE AND UNSAFE BUILDINGS

On the Men's Campus, Old Main including East and West Wings, East College and West College, are perfectly safe with the same precautions as mentioned for the buildings on the Woman's Campus. Do not trust the ground floor or the top floor of any building.

The Engineering Building is probably the safest building we have on the Campus and all parts of it may be used, except the top floor and basement which presents but little protection against incendiary bombs. The Literature Building, being a two-story building with only a thin roof and plaster ceiling above the floor, is not to be considered safe from incendiary bombs and the first floor contains too much glass to place it in the safe class so far as explosive bombs are concerned. The ground floor and the top floor, but, care should be used not to congregate directly in front of a window. The corridors are the safest parts of these buildings.

Tustin Gymnasium is totally unsafe in all parts and should be immediately evacuated in favor of the Service Building which is safe throughout with the exception of the top floor. The New's Gymnasium is safe except from incendiary bombs, but they would probably penetrate the roof and drop to the playing floor. The safest place in this building is under the steel bleachers and back from the outside walls.

Bucknell Hall is unsafe and very little can be said in favor of the Chemical Laboratory, largely because of the large amount of glass contained in the outside walls.

In case of an Air Raid Signal, it is recommended that those in the Walker Street House, the Owens House, the Dunkle House, the Gundry House, and the Faculty House, take refuge in Hunt and Harris Halls.

Those in Music Hall, the Martin House and 518 Saint George Street should evacuate in favor of Larison Hall.

The Woman's Dining Hall is safe, except for a direct hit on the roof, but it would be well to stay out of the building.

GENERAL DUTIES TO PERFORM

In case of an Air Raid, the towers on top of East College, West College, and Larison Hall, would make excellent watching stations as nearly every building on the campus can be observed from one or more of these positions. The towers would provide a fair degree of protection to the watchers.

In case a warning signal is sounded, all teachers and students should immediately take refuge in one or more of the buildings considered as safe. Everyone should remain inside one of the floors between the ground floor and top floor of the building and keep away from directly in front of the windows, until the active raid is over.

The only exception to this rule would be that all those assigned to active duty should take their places at the stations to which they have been appointed and begin their duties at once. Others may assist but under the direction of the appointees.

On the University working force there are a number of active firemen and fire police belonging to the Lewisburg Fire Company. These men will be assigned to duty at the College. In addition to these seasoned firemen many of our janitors and other employees are well advanced in an auxiliary fire school and will be assigned as special firemen in and about the buildings where they are regularly employed.

Further supplementing these men will be a number of students appointed by the Air Raid Warden for each building. These men or women, as the case may be, will take charge according to their appointment until the workmen or firemen get to the building after which they will take charge and the students will assist wherever possible but under the directions of the Firemen and Police Officers.

In all cases, the janitor in charge of the building will be expected to be on hand as soon as he can get there and, as he is responsible for the building, he will be in fact and general supervisor until relieved by the fire or police warden.

FOUR SPECIFIC APPOINTMENTS

In all buildings the appointments will be made with specific duties falling into four classifications.

(1)—Fire Service. These individuals will be charged with the duty of watching for fires and extinguishing them when found. They will be expected to use the fire-fighting equipment provided for that purpose. Much of their work will be on the roof, in the attic or top floor, and, in the case of explosive bombs, on the first floor. Their duties are hard and dangerous as they will have scanty protection from incendiary bombs and flying particles and gases formed by burning materials.

Their equipment will consist of fire extinguishers, sand buckets, sand, shovels for handling sand and burning materials, water both in buckets and with hose, or air pump.

(2)—Police Service. A second group will be designated as a police force and will be in charge of, either one of the Borough Fire Police or some other person appointed to act as Chief.

The duty of this group will be that of circulating about and keeping general order and maintaining morale and watching for damage to property or theft of articles which might be lying handy. One of their duties will be that of caring for the safety of those not engaged in actually fighting fires. In fact their duties are the same as those of a regular police officer at a fire in a borough or city.

(3)—First Aid.

The First Aid will be conducted by members of the medical staff of the University and their appointees. It is suggested that supplies and some equipment should be kept in each building in care of the janitor in order that it may be handy in case of an emergency.

The College endeavors to keep at least one truck available at all times which can quickly be equipped with a cot, blankets and a stretcher and pressed into use for transporting injured people. This will be available by calling the Service Building where someone will be on duty in case of an emergency.

"Twin" Treatment for "Twin" Injuries

The "twins" do their part in civilian defense and obligingly serve as principles in a demonstration of first aid, one of the series of special training courses in which more than 400 Bucknellians are enrolled this semester.

That's Louis Haug on the left applying an emergency traction arm splint to Jean Salisbury, while Dick Haug and Jane Salisbury duplicate the procedure in the foreground.

There was a frantic rush to see who could sign in first with the Registrar's Office; and scribbled notes by the scores slid into the letter slot in Old Main saying, "Folks, I need ten dollars—and quick!"

For the fellows who liked their rooms wanted to be certain of keeping them and there are always the choice locations which the seniors must vacate. In due time the ordeal was over and we settled back into the daily routine.

And now what do we learn? News has come from the office that the authorities are very sorry but they have decided that our dormitory will be used for outsiders who plan to take summer work at Bucknell. And what about our deposits? Well, they can be put down on what is left over from the other two buildings. Or wouldn't it be a good idea to leave the money with the Treasurer's Office as deposit on the same rooms for the fall term?

No doubt our disappointment will make little impression on the dormitory office. But can't the people in charge picture us students moving everything we own, light fixtures, books, curtains, blinks, clothing, pictures—all that makes a dormitory room habitable, into some place the other boys do not want, just so the few outside scholars can have the same address?

Oddly enough, we rather like our building.

Indignantly,
West College.

Air Raid...

(4)—Maintenance Service.

In case of an emergency a squad of service men will be available to do such work as may be necessary. For instance, such work as closing openings, removing debris, roping off dangerous areas, repairing broken water lines, broken or damaged wiring, etc.

These men will be available through calling the Service Building if they are not already at the place of the actual raid.

RAID WARNINGS

The Air Raid and Black-out warning signal for the Lewisburg and Bucknell Defense Districts will be sounded from the College Power Plant and probably repeated by the Furniture Factory whistle. As soon as the warning is sounded, all switches for the University will be drawn at the Power Plant, except one emergency switch at Hunt Hall, which will be drawn at that building by someone appointed to that duty.

This means that within five minutes from the time that the warning whistle begins to sound, all lights throughout the University will be out and total darkness will prevail.

It is advised that all First Aid Centers and the Infirmary provide substitute lighting for their work spaces and that the students provide themselves with either flash lights or candles for use in their rooms where it is necessary that lights be used. However, all such lighting must be kept below the window level.

RUSSIAN COURSE OPENS NEW FIELDS

The new Russian course, started this semester, has been coming along very well. Dr. Vincent A. McCrossen stated today. The class of twenty students has begun to read several Russian stories and has had simple oral lessons.

The class meets weekly on Friday evenings from 7 to 10 in the literature building, and is an effort to promote cultural relations with Russia, and to prepare students for practical work, such as translating, during the war period.

The presentation and course of study is following closely that of other languages and will be accelerated in the same manner. It will extend from Russian 101 to 104. A similar course in Italian will be introduced in the fall.

Ralph Koser of Lewisburg are building; Bill Ross '43 will manage sound effects. The play will depend upon lights and properties instead of an elaborate stage setting. Prof. Allen G. Halline and Mrs. Charles Kalp will serve in an advisory capacity.

The performance is given by permission of the George French Company of New York.

An information center to which students and citizens may turn for information about the war has been established on the campus of the University of Kentucky.

Trustees Vote To Increase School Tuition To $400

President Marts Announces
Rising Cost of Living
Causes Increase

SEPT. EXTRA HOUR
FEE IS $12

To meet the increasing cost of operation of the university without lowering the standards of instruction and service to students, the Bucknell Trustees have voted an increase in tuition to $400 a year for the normal degree requirement, effective September, 1942. The new schedule of rates is announced in the current edition of the college catalogue which is now ready for distribution.

President Armand C. Marts, in explaining the reason for the increase, pointed out that the present rising cost of living and of essential materials, together with decreased returns on investments, have affected adversely the budgets of all colleges, and the trustees of these institutions are faced with the problem of meeting the ever-increasing cost of operation.

"In this situation," said Dr. Marts, "many colleges have been forced reluctantly to ask the students to pay a large share of the cost of their education. In many eastern colleges, including Colgate, Hamilton, Lafayette, Lehigh, Rochester, and Swarthmore, the tuition is $400 a year; in eleven eastern colleges it is $450 a year; in four it is $500; in four others it is $600."

Dr. Marts further stated that if any student now in college finds that the increase in tuition imperils the continuance of his or her education at Bucknell, the Committee on Student Aid will endeavor to give special help in meeting the situation.

"In this connection," added Dr. Marts, "it is well to restate what every non-profit college and university has announced to frequently—it costs every college much more to educate a student than the sum which the student pays. The balance is provided by the voluntary gifts of public spirited men and women, living and dead, who have wished to encourage choice, young people in their educational ambitions."

Hours Will Vary

The number of hours included in the new straight tuition rate of $400 a year will vary according to the (Continued on page 4.)

The typical Bucknell man in the armed service longs for the University to remain the same, with its emphasis on integrity and Christianity, wishes that he had military drill in college, ranks mathematics as the most practical course in his academic program, places sports as the most valuable of extra-curricular activities, and recognizes the need for more emphasis on the study of the world today.

This composite picture is formed from opinions received in response to letters concerning the value of their college training which were sent to them recently by President Armand C. Marts.

Guislain To Lecture In World Lit.

Jean-Marie Guislain, French painter and poet, will visit Bucknell on April 28 to address the World Literature students and also to talk to both the art students and members of the French conversation class.

The lecture to the World Literature students is scheduled for the regular 11 o'clock lecture hour Tuesday morning, while that afternoon at 4:30 Mr. Guislain will speak to the art groups. The French scholar has been invited to dine on Tuesday evening at the home of Prof. Vincent A. McCrossen of the French Department. On Wednesday he will speak to the French conversation class, after which he will be entertained at a faculty luncheon before his departure.

For the past 30 years Mr. Guislain has engaged in continuous artistic and literary activity. Mr. Guislain has resided in America in San Francisco, Seattle, Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs, Denver, Cambridge, and New York City, while he lived for two and one-half years in Peru, and a shorter time in Morocco, Algeria, Italy, and Spain.

Le Mon Directs First Musicales

"Star Bright," the original musical comedy, which Cap and Dagger will present next Wednesday and Thursday, April 15 and 16, in the Lewisburg High School auditorium, will be the first musical comedy produced at Bucknell in the history of the university.

The production, completely original from the book to the smallest costume detail, is the culmination of a year of planning and work by members of Cap and Dagger. George Egan, writer of the book, and Gene Nicolait, composer of the music, began actual work on the play last summer. Designs for the five sets, executed by John Parachini, and costume designs by Ruth Zimmerman were completed in the first semester of this year. Intensive rehearsals for cast, orchestra, and choruses are under way since February.

Dr. Melvin LeMon directs the musical scene, in addition to the chorus, and orchestra arrangements which he has created for the show, he has written a ballet number for Evelyn Groszkowski to dance.

Has Colleague Setting

Setting for "Star Bright" is a mythical college campus, which becomes more festive than scholarly when a former vaudeville actress, Flo McChesney, played by Billie Poling, takes a position as housemother in one of the girls' dormitories. Jeanne Greening is featured in the ingenious role, and George Burns will play op-

THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1942

A. R. P.
To depart from the usual sentimental policy of most "last issue" editorials, this retiring editorial wishes to bring up the very pressing point of the impending practice blackout and air raid practice to be held this coming Saturday night.

The Tuesday night Bucknell test revealed some very important weak points in our defense set-up, but it also brought out the splendid way in which every one in the university could work together. This virtue of co-operation is of no mean significance when one remembers incidents of student faculty non-cooperation as was shown for example in the recent Easter vacation farce.

Our practice blackout had but minor defects, and most of these could be traced, naturally enough, to lack of experience. One fault was the presence, in the campus streets and paths, of far too many people. Some of them were officials, most of them were town and student sight-seers. In an actual raid these individuals would be the first casualties.

The second and most regrettable inefficiency was the lack of co-operation on the part of one or two fraternities who were indirectly responsible for their part in the B. U. blackout. It seems unfortunate that these groups could not see fit to profit by the experience that such a blackout could give them. It is true that in one instance, orders were misunderstood; but it is also true that in another no effort whatsoever was made to conform to the rule of light-out.

By this Saturday it is to be hoped that all the difficulties of the Monday experience will be obliterated. Perhaps by that time our own Service Building will perform with more efficiency; our workers will carry on with the calm which was surprisingly characteristic of Monday night; and we will have less people in evidence. We may soon have cause to remember the lessons taught us in these blackouts. Let us hope they may never be needed at home or at school, but we might keep this eventuality in mind on Saturday night when the clock strikes ten.

Coeds Men May Invite Dates To Greek Ball In Davis Gym

Davis Gymnasium will be the scene of the Interfraternity-Intercollegiate Ball, to be held Saturday, April 18, from 8 to 12 o'clock. Ivan Paax and his orchestra will play for the dance. The affair will be semi-formal. The decorations will be very simple, with the committee patterning its decorative scheme after that used at Bucknell's all-college formal.

There will be no admission fee. Either the men or the coeds may take the initiative in extending invitations to the affair. The committee stresses the fact that both are to be free to do this.

John Britton '42 is general chairman in charge of arrangements. Ed Glass '42 and Stewart Whitman '39 are assisting him.

AMERICAN UNITY LECTURE
Dennis Roper will address the university and townfolk upon his experiences in Malaya this Wednesday night at 7 o'clock in the Literature Auditorium.

"An Ounce of Prevention" at Bucknell

The well-known maxim is practiced by students at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., during the war-time period as they receive free immunizations against typhoid, diphtheria, and smallpox, in a program sponsored by the Student Board of Health.

Jane Thompson, Vanderbilt, adds her name to the list of several hundred Bucknell students who have already received tests, as Miss Gertrude Kostenbader, nurse at the college infirmary, administers the immunization treatment.

Awaiting their turns for the free injections are Jeanne Haynes, Elmira, N. Y.; Ruth Kistler, Philadelphia; and William R. Campbell, Bayside, N. Y.

With Commencement only six weeks away and an A. W. O. L. Easter holiday weekend tucked safely in the archives of Bucknell, it might be wise to take a look around and see what some of the other campus fads and lassies are doing for fun these days.

The "Kent Stater," daily newspaper publication of Kent University, sponsored a "Defeat Deficiency Week" recently. So many students were less than diligent in their grades that the newspaper staff decided to remedy it. A certain day was set as "Buckie Down Day" and on this day the campus began to look like a war zone. There were no dates and everyone devoted all spare time to his studies. Results, according to "reliable sources," were outstanding. Now you tell one, gang!

Student cooperation is the thing at Utah State University in order to prevent and eliminate cheating. During a test, if a student sees someone around him cheating, he is to inform the desk with his pencil or pen and all other students join in. This is sufficient to let the offender know that he's been sighted and will give him a chance to change his tactics. Taping persists if cheating persists.

The University of Akron is inaugurating an "Adopt a Soldier" drive. Campuses will sign for a former student and will be expected to mail him the University newspaper and to keep account of the soldier's address. Additional suggestions include: occasional letters, chain letters, mail gifts of food or other cheap but helpful gifts, birthday greetings.

Wanna "adopt" a soldier?

Pi Delta Epsilon Holds Critical Convale

Seeking to establish a new journalistic tradition on campus, Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism society held a critical forum last Thursday night in the Literature Lounge. The theme of the convale was "What Students and Faculty Look For in Their Newspaper."

Five past issues of "The Bucknellian" underwent comments by the assembled group. Press and printing deadlines were discussed and several broad conclusions were reached. These were: that a new system of "beats" be put in for aspiring fresh-class be more careful in their writing; that greater accuracy be observed and that editorial council with important news stories be encouraged.

The Journalism Institute, under the presidency of William O. Riney, is working with the staff of the paper to improve and make more valuable the student paper to the college community. These forums will be held every two months and any student or faculty member is welcome to attend.

Tri Delts Elects Bond President

The Delta Delta Delta sorority passed officially their officers for the coming year on Thursday afternoon. Nominations had been under consideration for the past two weeks before being voted upon by the group.

The girls elected to lead the sorority are: Roxane Bond, president; Phyl Goding, vice president; Nancy Jane Danenhower, treasurer; Jeanne

Hampton Quartet Sings In Chapel

This morning's chapel program at the Baptist Church featured the Hampton Quartet, a group of colored students from the Hampton Institute, who gave a program of spirituals and religious music.

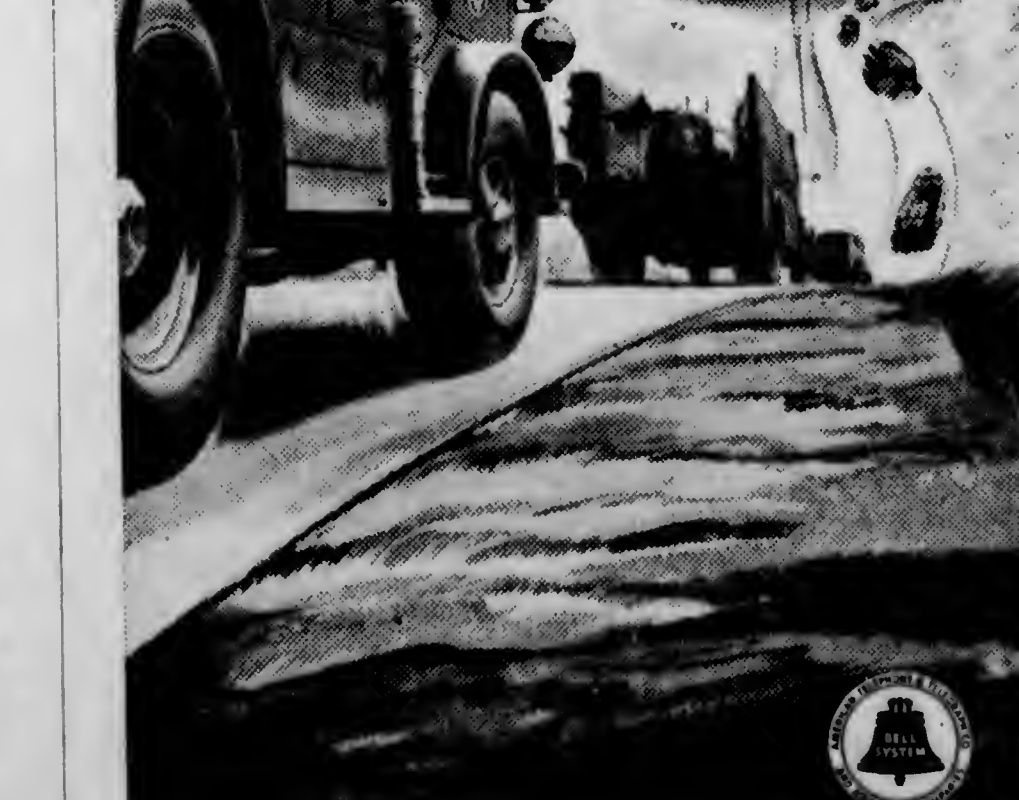

Next week, Dr. Daniel Poling, clergyman, editor, and nationally-known speaker, will address the weekly chapel audience for the third annual time.

Minister of the Baptist Temple in Philadelphia, Dr. Poling is head of the Northern Baptist Convention. Many degrees were awarded Dr. Poling by schools in the East, including Albright, Delaware College, Hope College, Syracuse University, Vermont, Temple and Phillips College.

As editor-in-chief of the Christian Herald and the Christian Endeavor World, Dr. Poling recently went to England in an Army Bomber, and returned with a good knowledge of conditions abroad.

Dr. Poling's daughter, Teresa, is a junior at Bucknell.

News Of Men In The Service

In service first on the training ship, U. S. S. Prairie State, in New York City, we hear from Stan Thomas '38, now located at the Torpedo School in Newport, R. I. In a recent letter to his Denie brothers, Stan tells of his life in the Naval Reserve.

March 24, 1942.

Your letters just caught up with me, and I know anything I tell you will be of interest to you. Since Founder's Day is just around the corner and some of the boys I knew will be back, I want to put my "hello" in and best wishes to everyone.

You fellows certainly are fortunate in seeing a Denie dream coming true. I had hoped that I would be there to see it, but Uncle Sam has different ideas, and I for one, am glad to do so that there may be many days to spend at Bucknell without threat of danger.

I suppose you want to know what I've been doing. After two and a half years of teaching school in Haddonfield, Pa., I enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve last summer. After four months at Midshipman's School in Newport, I was commissioned as Ensign and sent to Torpedo School here in Newport. At present, I am in training on Motor Torpedo Boats, better known as the Mosquito Fleet. You all probably know about Packard Arthur's escape in them from Britain. They really are what they are cracked up to be. For the past two weeks, I have been learning to shoot pistols, rifles, and A. A. guns. Have also been studying radio blinkers, semaphore code, and torpedoes firing. I still have to learn all about Packard Marine engines and finally how to run them. So you see I am really getting quite an education in the Navy. It is really a great life at sea. We all know it, but are determined to win, and we shall, I assure you.

My address for the next couple of weeks will be:
Motor Torpedo Boat Training Center
Newport (Melville) R. I.

Until later, good luck to all of you, and again congratulations on the really swell new house.

Fraternally,
Stan Thomas '38.

I-M GOLF AND TENNIS TOURNAMENTS TO START

Entries for the tennis, which have been coming in all week to Evans, will be accepted by him at the golf clubhouse up to Saturday.

The I-M tennis tournament, according to Joe Reem, will start just as soon as the school courts are ready to be played upon. All entries are in, and the capable phys. ed. instructor is now drawing up respective brackets.

CINDERMEN PREP FOR F&M MEET APRIL 18

Prospects Dark In Field Events; Shaffer Set To Lead Sprinters

John Plant, veteran coach of Bucknell's varsity track squad is "singing the blues" these days. With the opening of the season against Franklin & Marshall scheduled for a week from this Saturday at Lancaster, the outlook is far from bright for the B. U. cindermen.

The particular weakness of this year's track squad lies in the field events, and Coach Plant urges all men who have any talent whatsoever along these lines to come out to the stadium and demonstrate their wares. The running events present a slightly more hopeful view.

Shaffer Leads Sprinters
Leading the sprinters will be the veteran Bob Shaffer, who is to captain this year's squad. Ted Roselle and Bob Snyder. In the long distance events, Coach Plant has two capable men in Carl Moore and Jim Ham. Some of the other men, who have been showing up well in their studies, are Dan Brimmer, Bob Peterson, Paul Damon, Jack White, and Hal Brown.

In the field events, where the material is very scarce, the track men have been called upon to make the most of what they have. A few townspeople may donate small tracts of land. During the last war the railroads leased or lent land on their right-of-way to "home farmers."

Days, which are to be held on April 21 and 25. Last year's entry, headed by Ray Armor, did extremely well in this meet. Favorites for positions on this relay squad seem to be Bob Snyder and Bob Snyder, both of whom were on last year's quartet, and Ted Roselle, an outstanding Fresh sprinter last season.

Tomorrow afternoon, Coach Plant is going to hold his trial run for his relay team to enter in the Penn Relays.

Linksman Set To Meet Rutgers On Wednesday

Ramage, Britton, Fritz And Vanderbilt Give Golfers Strong Squad

Bucknell's veteran golf team will open its 1942 season on Wednesday, April 15, when the Linksman of Rutgers University will be met on the B. U. course.

When these two teams met last year at New Brunswick, the Bison golfers whitewashed their rivals by a count of 9-0. The outlook for this year's squad is very bright at the present time.

Returning to this year's team from last year's final outfit are Bill Ramage, who will be the B. U. No. 1 man, Nick Jarocki, No. 2, and Herman Fritz, swinging in the No. 3 position, and "Bud" Vanderbilt will be teeing off as the Bison No. 4 Linksman.

Last from last year's squad are Bill Johnson and Will Bloete, both of whom played outstanding golf the entire season. Stepping in to take the positions of these two boys are Al Alexander and "Chick" Johnson. The two new men are coming along nicely and should fit in well as the No. 5 and 6 men.

Bucknell's golf squad, for the past few years, has been one of the most successful athletic teams in the entire school. In their last three seasons the B. U. Linksman have lost but three matches. Last year's only defeat came at the hands of Cornell by a count of 5-4. It is also to be remembered that the Bucknell golf team plays the best teams in the East in year and year out. Coach Hal Evans is certainly doing a fine job with Bucknell's golfers.

With April 17 set as the unveiling date for the 1942 edition of Bucknell's varsity baseball crew, Coach Johnny Sitarisky is putting the lids through a few veterans from past campaigns. The Bison diamond outfit will play their curtain-raiser against Juniata at Huntington on April 17, and will then travel to Pittsburgh to take on the Stony City's Panthers the following afternoon.

It's difficult to make any predictions, but Coach Sitarisky has quite a few veterans from past campaigns. The Bison diamond outfit will play their curtain-raiser against Juniata at Huntington on April 17, and will then travel to Pittsburgh to take on the Stony City's Panthers the following afternoon.

Both outfits went through their league schedules without a blot on their records and encountered little trouble in the semi-finals, the Sigs trouncing the Lambda Chi crew in two straight and the "Hilltoppers" accomplishing a similar victory over the Sawtooths.

Sparked by the "sure-fire" spiking of giant Merle Clark, who was receiving his set-ups from George Jenkins and Harry Reynolds who was used in a utility role in '41, if Uncle Sam doesn't get him, Phil Stamm will probably carry the mound burden once again.

The infield seems to be rounding out quite well with Burke guarding the initial sack, Ronk assuming his old role as tender of the pivot slot, Keegan filling out the double-play combination at short, and Jarocki, undoubtedly, is the bright spot in Sitarisky's plans, as the Rochester star proved himself last year with his starting play at short and third and his timely .454 batting mark, hitting in the clean-up slot. Burke and Jarocki played the last half of last season and the latter came through with some clever slugging.

The outfield will probably be made up of new faces. Stan Schilder is the only veteran gambler, but his dimming left eye being hard pressed by some fine fresh material in Matty Friedman, another southpaw, Fred Dresler, a husky long-ball slugger, and Les Linscott, a fresh gridiron problem with Forrest Chilton the only veteran of last year's battles.

Rut, Sitarisky has a fine receiver and a powerful batter in Sy Kasanowski, a Junior College transfer, who has been coming in all week to Evans, will be accepted by him at the golf clubhouse up to Saturday.

The I-M tennis tournament, according to Joe Reem, will start just as soon as the school courts are ready to be played upon. All entries are in, and the capable phys. ed. instructor is now drawing up respective brackets.

CINDERMEN PREP FOR F&M MEET APRIL 18

Prospects Dark In Field Events; Shaffer Set To Lead Sprinters

John Plant, veteran coach of Bucknell's varsity track squad is "singing the blues" these days. With the opening of the season against Franklin & Marshall scheduled for a week from this Saturday at Lancaster, the outlook is far from bright for the B. U. cindermen.

The particular weakness of this year's track squad lies in the field events, and Coach Plant urges all men who have any talent whatsoever along these lines to come out to the stadium and demonstrate their wares. The running events present a slightly more hopeful view.

Shaffer Leads Sprinters
Leading the sprinters will be the veteran Bob Shaffer, who is to captain this year's squad. Ted Roselle and Bob Snyder. In the long distance events, Coach Plant has two capable men in Carl Moore and Jim Ham. Some of the other men, who have been showing up well in their studies, are Dan Brimmer, Bob Peterson, Paul Damon, Jack White, and Hal Brown.

In the field events, where the material is very scarce, the track men have been called upon to make the most of what they have. A few townspeople may donate small tracts of land. During the last war the railroads leased or lent land on their right-of-way to "home farmers."

Linksman Set To Meet Rutgers On Wednesday

Ramage, Britton, Fritz And Vanderbilt Give Golfers Strong Squad

Bucknell's veteran golf team will open its 1942 season on Wednesday, April 15, when the Linksman of Rutgers University will be met on the B. U. course.

When these two teams met last year at New Brunswick, the Bison golfers whitewashed their rivals by a count of 9-0. The outlook for this year's squad is very bright at the present time.

Returning to this year's team from last year's final outfit are Bill Ramage, who will be the B. U. No. 1 man, Nick Jarocki, No. 2, and Herman Fritz, swinging in the No. 3 position, and "Bud" Vanderbilt will be teeing off as the Bison No. 4 Linksman.

Last from last year's squad are Bill Johnson and Will Bloete, both of whom played outstanding golf the entire season. Stepping in to take the positions of these two boys are Al Alexander and "Chick" Johnson. The two new men are coming along nicely and should fit in well as the No. 5 and 6 men.

Bucknell's golf squad, for the past few years, has been one of the most successful athletic teams in the entire school. In their last three seasons the B. U. Linksman have lost but three matches. Last year's only defeat came at the hands of Cornell by a count of 5-4. It is also to be remembered that the Bucknell golf team plays the best teams in the East in year and year out. Coach Hal Evans is certainly doing a fine job with Bucknell's golfers.

G. Sholl '10 will serve as toastmaster. The play concerns a Brooklyn family of considerable means which loses all its money in Wall Street speculation. The ensuing results, with the numerous problems and consequences, involve a cast composed of: Brothers Bowen, Hopkins, Clump Shields, Don Sholl, Cal Sholl, Jones, Ingraham, and Bear.

course for which the student is registered. In the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science in Commerce and Finance, and the Bachelor of Science in Education curricula, the requirement for each degree is 32 hours for the first two college years and 20 hours for the junior and senior years. In the Bachelor of Science curriculum the requirement averages 31 hours a year. In the engineering curricula the requirement for each degree averages 35 hours a year for 4 years.

Accordingly, the A. B., the C. and E., or the education student may carry 16 hours each semester for his first two years and 15 hours each semester for his last two years at a straight tuition rate of $400 a year. The B. S. student may carry 31 hours a year for four years at $400, and the engineering student 35 hours at the same cost.

The fee for additional hours beyond the normal degree requirement has been increased from eleven to twelve dollars. Laboratory fees will be extra for men and non-resident women. So that women students and their parents may know exactly how much it will cost them from September to June to attend Bucknell, the Board of Trustees has set for students a flat rate of either $900 or $950, the price varying with the chosen dormitory room. This rate includes tuition, room, board, and laundry, and laboratory and graduation fees.

The Student Budget fee is not included in the rates given above. Although it is collected by the university on the request of the Student Budget Committee, the fee is essentially a student rather than a university fee.

An attempt was made by the trustees to set an all-inclusive rate for men as well as for women students, but the variation in the number of hours necessary for an A. B. and Engineering degree was found to be too great to make such a plan feasible.

visitation have been sent to each of the schools to be represented, each letter accompanied with a map of the best routes leading to Lewisburg, as well as the most convenient way to reach the campus upon arriving in town. It is expected that approximately 100 students and faculty members will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending the convocation.

Plans were discussed in a recent meeting of the local group, at which time an election of the officers to serve for the next two terms was held. Chosen as president was J. W. Diefenderfer; as secretary-treasurer, J. E. Brault; and as editor of the chapter publication, "On the Level", M. L. Sheridan was chosen.

Former students of the University of Texas met in nearly 100 cities throughout the nation March 2 for their traditional banquets.

Week Ends and Week Ends
Good-bye Easter and Welcome Demosthenian House Warmers

The College Inn anticipates the coming weekend with more confidence than the Easter one of yesterday. We have discovered that religious holidays and new Easter outfits, pay scant attention to administrative concerns. The least they can do now to square themselves with the student body and incidentally a lot of the faculty is to excuse all cuts and abolish all examinations for the balance of the year. But alas and alack your author weighs nothing at all in scholastic affairs but at least you can't say our heart isn't right in the matter.

In all probability you will have to enter as usual that semi-annual guessing contest. Once again with poker face profundity, you will answer the questions in solemn simplicity—right or wrong, yes, year, or nay, the truth or a lie, addition or subtraction, either, or perhaps and finally, maybe so, or possibly not. Whatever the answer here's hoping you guess right. Any of these answers contain all the ambiguous wisdom of the prophet at Delphi and that seems to be the Summum Bonum of a lot of modern education. Besides all that the same questions can last a long time like a bad reputation.

This coming weekend promises us a different picture. The Delta Sigma Alumni will not need to be greeted "in absentia" most of them will be here in the flesh. They are

No Longer '300 Acres Set Apart'

When a new staff takes charge of any newspaper, it immediately becomes necessary for the editorial department of that staff to define the policy which is to be adopted and carried out in their editorials. With this purpose in mind, we propose to define the editorial policy which "The Bucknellian" will adopt and maintain throughout the coming year.

The editorial policy of this year's "Bucknellian" will differ from past years in two main points.
First, we are taking over this paper at a time when the United States is engaged in an all-out war, a struggle for its very existence. This thought should be uppermost in our minds throughout the forthcoming year. In our editorials we shall constantly and ever-readily urge the Bucknell student body and members of the faculty to contribute everything to the war effort which their special talents and positions render them able to. We shall constantly advise, plead, and even beg you to buy defense stamps and bonds, to take as many defense courses as you are able to, to take courses in military drilling and training, to cooperate wholeheartedly with the University's physical fitness program, to do all within your power to continue to go willingly and proudly, if you should be drafted for service in the country's armed forces. These and other matters relevant to the war effort will form the main focal point of our editorial policy for the coming year.

It must be the duty of every person in any way connected with this university, at least for the duration of the war, to do everything to dispel and erase from our thoughts the idea that Bucknell is still a peaceful "300 acres set apart." That may have been a fine slogan for a few years ago, but today we must all clearly realize that we here possess the capabilities and the gifted faculties to develop ourselves into a vital and integral part of our nation's far-reaching war effort.

The second point where our editorial policy of this year is going to differ from past policies is in the matter of criticism. We want the student body and faculty of the University to criticize "The Bucknellian" frequently and harshly if we deserve it. We don't want persons on the campus walking about continuously griping and muttering to themselves about this paper. We want you to come right out and say what you have to regarding any improvements which you think can be made for the paper. We shall be more than glad to publish any letters or reviews pertaining to "The Bucknellian" or to any other organizations or activities on the campus.

For the past number of years the following words have appeared in the masthead of this paper: "Anonymous contributions will not be published. Names will not be published if concealment is requested. Letters to the editor should not exceed 350 words in length." These lines will hereafter be omitted from our masthead, for we feel that it is unbecomingly to the writing of these critical and important letters to us. Names will still not be published if concealment is requested, but the person writing the letter will not be limited by any set number of words, and anonymous letters will be printed if we hold them.

B. U. Frat Pins Are Worn By 51 Coeds; Sigs Rank First

by Betty Miles

As a result of a recent survey, it would appear that approximately 15 percent of the Bucknell coeds have in their possession that much coveted college fraternity pin. This survey, taken with the pins actually being worn on campus, whether the co-ed is now in the employ of Uncle Sam, has graduated from college, or is matriculating at another school.

The Sig's top the list of the fraternity men who have definite interests in the Sig, with a total of 18 Sigma Chi pins being worn by girls on campus. Of these, the Alpha Chi's claim six, the K. D.'s three, the Phi Phi's three, the Tri Delta's two, and the Phi Mu's one. The Tri Delta's and the Phi Mu's each have seven pins being worn by as many co-eds, and also each have one sweetheart pin out on campus.

Six S. A. E. pins and five Delta Sigma pins are in evidence. There are three Kappa Sig pins, and one Kappa Sigma sweetheart pin being worn, and three Lambda Chi pins. One Sammy pin is out on campus, together with a sweetheart pin. One A. X. M. pin is being worn, and one Sig Ep. Pins from other colleges, including Dartmouth, Ohio Wesleyan, C. C. N. Y., Duke, Albright, Penn State, Lehigh, and the University of Virginia are also in the possession of co-eds on campus.

Mr. Louis C. Delier, who teaches Geography and Geography at Bucknell, will offer a course in map making and the reading and interpretation of maps for the benefit of students who will go into the Army. The course is called Geography 103, Cartography, and the description is as follows:

"Introduction to the principles of cartography and reconnaissance, and field mapping. Practice in the collection, presentation, and in interpretation of map data. Two laboratory periods per week. Two hours credit."

The course is not listed in the Bucknell catalogue.

psychology, science, journalism, and "getting a job" on her mind.

Today's coed, according to Dr. Gittler, wears "a definite Monday-Friday attire which stamps her as 'moderately'." He adds that you can set a girl off as a coed if she's wearing dirty white saddle shoes, socks, sloppy sweaters with sleeves pushed up to the elbows and a single strand of pearls.

Any corrections?

Bucknell coeds no longer worry when their date's car stalls on a lonely road. Soon they will receive training in motor mechanics as part of the college's defense program.

to be of real importance and interest to the student body.

Good editorialists in a college newspaper can perform an invaluable service for student readers by presenting them with an informative interpretation of important campus and world happenings and functions, clearly, honestly, and impartially. During the next year it will be the aim and ambition of "The Bucknellian" editorialists to accomplish this.

Dr. Rauschnig To Lecture On Aims Of National Socialism

Former Pres. of Danzig Senate Speaks Monday In High School

KNOWS INTERNAL STATUS OF REICH

Dr. Hermann Rauschnig, former President of the Danzig Senate and author of such books as "Revolution of Nihilism," "Voice of Destruction," and "The Conservation Revolution" will be the guest speaker of the Bucknell Lecture Course on Monday evening, April 27, at the Lewisburg High School. He will speak on the "Secret Aims of National Socialism."

Dr. Rauschnig has been in England since March 1940 and only arrived in this country last October. He brings with him a new slant on the present war situation and he knows much about the internal affairs of Germany and the immediate conditions of the British Isles. He believes that there can be no doubt of the survival of the democratic way of life. The situation today is very similar to that of the Kaiser during the last world war. Dr. Rauschnig is of the opinion that the German war machine wins the battles, but it loses the wars.

Dr. Rauschnig is "one of rapid ascent. He was born in West Prussia in the year 1887. After fighting with distinction in the first world war, he married Anna Schwartz. After demobilization he completed two books on music. In 1922 he became the librarian of the German Association in Poznan, East Prussia. He later returned to Warsaw with his family where he specialized in animal breeding. From these farm ventures Rauschnig was appointed the head of the grange by his neighbors which led four years later to his election to the presidency of Danzig.

The admission price for this lecture will be 55 cents. Students will be admitted with their budget cards.

Pi Delta Epsilon, national journal and work of the U. S. Naval Construction Regiment, outlined the operations of the U. S. Navy, the place of the Navy's Civil Engineering Corps in that operation, and the importance of its work in constructing facilities for the maintenance of a seven-ocean Navy as well as facilities for expeditionary forces.

The technical session opened Monday morning with the Sec'y-Treas. of the Bucknell Chapter, J. W. Diefenderfer, presiding. Dean R. H. Rivenburg presented an address of welcome to the group, being followed with responses from Chas. A. Howland, President of the Philadelphia Section of the Am. Soc. C. E., and Mr. Durkee, who represented the Lehigh Valley Section. The technical papers were presented after a short address given by Prof. Howard K. Preston of the University of Delaware, who is chairman of the Committee on Student Chapters of the Philadelphia Section, Am. Soc. C. E.

A meeting of the executive committee composed of the faculty advisers, presidents, and secretaries of the student chapters represented was held following the afternoon session, at which time it was tentatively decided that the Ninth Annual Convention should be held somewhere in the locality of Philadelphia and that it occur in the fall.

WILLIAM A. SHIMER, Dean of the Faculty, will be the speaker at the annual Phi Beta Kappa banquet to be held at the Lewisburg Inn on Thursday, April 30. Dr. Howe will speak on the subject "Books and Publishers."

On the morning of April 30, Dr. Howe will speak to several classes. At nine o'clock he will speak to Dr. Halline's class in Contemporary American Literature on "Experiences with the Contemporary Authors and Books." At ten o'clock he will speak to Miss Easley's class in Public Relations on "The Effect of the Printed Word on the World Today," and "Contributions of Publishing in the Field of Public Relations."

Dr. Howe was graduated from Butler College in 1893. He received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Harvard. In 1911, after teaching English for ten years in Indiana University, where his pupils included Wendell L. Willkie and Paul V. McNutt, he was elected an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is a senator of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, and one of the editors of "The American Scholar." Since 1921, Dr. Howe has been editor and director of Charles Scribner's Sons where his work has been in the field of his main interest, that of English literature and its teaching.

Delegates Attend A. S. C. E. Meeting

Bucknell Convention Attracts Notables; Commander Perry Speaks

With more than 80 students and faculty members attending, the Eighth Annual Student Chapter Convention of the Philadelphia and Lehigh Valley Sections of the American Society of Civil Engineers convened successfully Monday on the Bucknell campus.

It was the first such convention to be held at Bucknell and brought many notables to the "Hill" for the day. Principal speaker was Commander J. R. Perry, (CEC), U. S. Navy, who, in his talk entitled, "The Organization and Work of the U. S. Naval Construction Regiment," outlined the operations of the U. S. Navy, the place of the Navy's Civil Engineering Corps in that operation, and the importance of its work in constructing facilities for the maintenance of a seven-ocean Navy as well as facilities for expeditionary forces.

The technical session opened Monday morning with the Sec'y-Treas. of the Bucknell Chapter, J. W. Diefenderfer, presiding. Dean R. H. Rivenburg presented an address of welcome to the group, being followed with responses from Chas. A. Howland, President of the Philadelphia Section of the Am. Soc. C. E., and Mr. Durkee, who represented the Lehigh Valley Section. The technical papers were presented after a short address given by Prof. Howard K. Preston of the University of Delaware, who is chairman of the Committee on Student Chapters of the Philadelphia Section, Am. Soc. C. E.

A meeting of the executive committee composed of the faculty advisers, presidents, and secretaries of the student chapters represented was held following the afternoon session, at which time it was tentatively decided that the Ninth Annual Convention should be held somewhere in the locality of Philadelphia and that it occur in the fall.

Tri-Delts LAUNCH STOCKING DRIVE

The Tri Delta pledges are now sponsoring a campaign to reclaim old stockings. The purpose is to provide an education for a student.

At a college in Athens, Alabama, students run a stocking mania. They collect old stockings. The money from one thousand pairs puts a person through that college. Consequently, the goal of the Tri Delta pledges is one thousand pairs. At present they have collected approximately two hundred pairs, and it is hoped that the quota will be filled by the end of the semester.

This pledge group also intends to ask their chapters at the University of Pennsylvania, Pitt University, and Ohio State to conduct similar campaigns.

Radio Drama, "Bucknell Goes To War" To Be Broadcast From New York Sunday

Program Is First Attempt To Portray Effects of War On American Colleges

Dr. Howe To Speak At P.B.K. Banquet

Publishing Company Editor Will Address Several Classes April 30

Dr. Will D. Howe, editor and director of Charles Scribner's Sons in New York, will be the speaker at the annual Phi Beta Kappa banquet to be held at the Lewisburg Inn on Thursday, April 30. Dr. Howe will speak on the subject "Books and Publishers."

On the morning of April 30, Dr. Howe will speak to several classes. At nine o'clock he will speak to Dr. Halline's class in Contemporary American Literature on "Experiences with the Contemporary Authors and Books." At ten o'clock he will speak to Miss Easley's class in Public Relations on "The Effect of the Printed Word on the World Today," and "Contributions of Publishing in the Field of Public Relations."

Dr. Howe was graduated from Butler College in 1893. He received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Harvard. In 1911, after teaching English for ten years in Indiana University, where his pupils included Wendell L. Willkie and Paul V. McNutt, he was elected an honorary member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is a senator of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, and one of the editors of "The American Scholar." Sociology Students Take Capital Trip

35 Will Visit Washington Offices This Weekend; Parker Plans Trip

Prof. Frederick B. Parker has announced a tentative schedule of the sociology field trip to Washington for the weekend of the 24th of April. The group will leave early Friday morning and will return Sunday evening. They will travel by bus, and will stay at the American University. Approximately 35 students will make the trip. Prof. Parker will accompany the group.

On Friday they will visit Congress and have lunch at the Library of Congress Cafeteria. Later in the afternoon they will see the Student Aid Division of the NYA and the Office of Education. There will be an evening meeting at Howard University. Saturday's activities include a tour of Mt. Vernon and Arlington and a visit to several administration offices. These offices include the Federal Securities Agency, the Department of Labor, the War Labor Board, the Consumer Division of the Office of Price Administration, the National Labor Relations Board, and the U. S. Tariff Commission. Congressman Voorhis and Harry Pierson will also speak to the group during the day.

They will attend services at the Washington Cathedral on Sunday morning. Later they will see the Lincoln Memorial and will make a tour of other points of interest. Prof. Parker has also planned a trip to Camp Mead and to a Conscientious Objectors Camp.

Jean Guislain Lectures To World Lit. Students

M. Jean-Marie Guislain, painter and critic, of Paris, will lecture at 11 a. m. on Tuesday, April 28, in Literature Hall on "Honore de Balzac." At 4:30 that afternoon he will talk on "Contemporary Art" in room 122 of the Engineering building. At 11 a. m. on April 29, he will discuss French poetry in French in room 207 of the Vaughn Literature Building. The Home for Girls, Trenton, N. J.; and the Alderson Institute for Women, Alderson, West Virginia.

After graduation from Bucknell, Dr. Harris studied at the University of Chicago. She taught Latin in several preparatory schools and also studied abroad. She has also served as superintendent of the following: the Engineering building. At 11 a. m. on April 29, he will discuss French poetry in French in room 207 of the Vaughn Literature Building. The Home for Girls, Trenton, N. J.; and the Alderson Institute for Women, Alderson, West Virginia.

MILITARY AVIATION

A member of the Aviation Cadet Board at Harrisburg will be sent to Bucknell to interview any men interested in military aviation. Students interested should arrange for an interview at Page's office.

The program this Sunday afternoon will be a novel one in that it will mark the first time since the advent of the war that a college will be sending a group of this sort to a radio broadcasting station to tell of the activities of their college in the war effort. Among the features of the program will be a dramatization of some Bucknell men registering for the draft under: Dean Page's guidance, a scene showing some Bucknell men in the service receiving their copy of "The Bucknellian", a skit depicting students working on defense courses and girls engaged in Nurse's Aid courses, and numerous other skits relevant to wartime campus activities. The students and faculty members will go to New York on Saturday for a final rehearsal, and on Sunday will broadcast from WOII's New York studios.

Fetter To Address All-College Service

The Rev. Newton C. Fetter, a Bucknell graduate with the class of 1940 and now Baptist student pastor at Harvard University, will speak before the only all-college church service of the current semester in the Lewisburg Baptist Church, this Sunday at 10:45 a. m.

Rev. Fetter, who is also assistant secretary of the Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention, will speak on the topic, "Winning Our Way Toward a New World."

The service will be sponsored by the Student Church Council of the Bucknell Christian Association. The offering taken at the service will be used in the Judean College Scholarship fund which is sponsored by Bucknell.

On Sunday evening, Rev. Fetter will speak at the weekly service in the Student Church in Hunt Hall Living Room at 6:45 o'clock. His topic will be "Betting on the Best."

L'Agenda Will Be Given Out May 14

According to Bud Eisaman, Editor-in-Chief of L'Agenda, the yearbook will be released on Thursday, May 14, and will be dedicated in Chapel that morning.

Students may call for their copies on that afternoon at the L'Agenda office in the basement of East Wing. The L'Agenda banquet has not been definitely planned as yet. Last year the banquet was held in the form of a buffet supper, the evening before the yearbook was released. Keys were presented, citations read, and speeches were made by the old and new editors.

'Out Of The Frying Pan' To Be Presented May 9

"Out of the Frying Pan," written by Francis Swann, will be Cap and Dagger's final presentation of the year. The play is to be directed by Spencer Roberts '42, and is expected to be one of the funniest productions put on by this group in a number of years. May 9 is the date set for its appearance.

The plot is unique and filled with hilarious situations. Three young inspired actors, and three theater-student actresses, because of lack of funds, have banded together on a co-operative basis, and live in one apartment. While staging rehearsals of a contemporary Broadway play in the apartment, their ally intent is to lure a New York producer, who lives in the apartment below them, into their midst to act as a critic of their interpretation. Their plan materializes.

CLASS ELECTIONS SET FOR TUESDAY

The nominations for all class officers must be in the hands of Prof. James Gathings by Saturday noon, April 25, and so far, very few have been received.

Among the new rules announced by the Elections Board of the Student-Faculty Congress is that the officers will serve until the end of the first semester of the school year 1942-43, instead of until the end of the second semester as in previous years.

Elections will take place in Roberts Hall and Larson Hall on Tuesday, April 28. Identification must be by budget card or a certificate from the Recorder's office.

Saturday, Bucknell is scheduled to compete in a Mile College Relay. Running in eighth position, the local runners should fair rather well considering the strong competition. The opponents will consist of some of those in Friday's relay with several other well-rated teams.

As a result of the trials which were held last week Ted Roselle will be running the first leg of the relay. The second and third positions will be held by two capable freshmen, Bob Whitebeck and Dan Brimmer, respectively. Bob Shaffer, who was awarded a position because of his past performance, will be legging the anchor lap. Hal Brown will accompany the four men to Philadelphia as the alternate.

Coalition Gathers Seven Offices; Co-ops Win Three In Senior Class
REINHARDSEN LOSES PRES. BY TWO VOTES

In one of the most lively elections of recent years the Independent-Coalition Party garnered seven class offices while the Cooperative Reform Party returned from the polls this past Tuesday afternoon with four newly-elected officers. One office ended in a tie vote.

The Co-op-Reform party showed its strongest power in the Senior Class where they swept through to gain three of the four positions. The presidency of the class went to the Coalition's George Haines, who won out over Dan Reinhardsen by the scant margin of but two votes. Mr. Silberman is the newly-elected vice president, Mary Orso, secretary, and Jeanne Haynes, treasurer. The defeated candidates were Steve Sokol, Jane Thompson, and Ruth Chamberlin.

Independents Sweep Juniors
In the Junior Class the Independent-Coalition group made a clean sweep of all four offices. Bill Reidt was elected president over Jesse Syme. Sye Richards won the vice presidency over Clair Thomas. Estelle Howley won the treasurer's position from Bill Huff. The secretaryship went to Ruth Smith, who defeated Bob Siegel for this position.

The Sophomore class was the scene of the closest battles of the entire election. In the race for the presidency, Wayne Blessing, the Cooperative Reform candidate, defeated Bob Shields by a margin of one vote. Tom Williams and Louise Stead tied for the position of vice president, and a decision concerning them will be rendered by the Elections Committee.

Nancy Wooling was elected secretary over Mary Lou Piper, and Jack Smith won the treasurer's position over Hank Forward.

Stating that conflicts cannot be overcome by political agreements, as history has shown, Dr. Rauschnig is an advocate of the plan for a united nations of the world. The most difficult problem in reaching this end, in the opinion of Dr. Rauschnig, is the strong conflict between the highly industrialized mode of life, with the agrarian colonial type. Even the contrast in Europe itself makes it impossible to produce one unified economic system.

Shedding light upon the internal situation in Germany, Dr. Rauschnig stated that the greater majority of the population in Germany do not idolize Hitler, as many believe, but quite to the contrary, the majority in Germany today oppose Hitler but is completely terrorized by the Nazi regime that its feeling is not expressed through any action.

See Allied Victory
While he does not feel himself in the position to determine the length of the war, Dr. Rauschnig is certain that the growing strength of the Allies, who are gaining force daily, will spell defeat for Adolf Hitler and his regime.

STUDENTS CAST ASIDE CARES; HOUSEPARTIES ARE SUPREME ON CAMPUS THIS WEEKEND

Climaxing the social year, the fraternalities will give their annual Houseparties this coming weekend. The general plans for the weekend are a formal dance, an informal dance, and parties with several variations.

Kappa Sigma will bring to the campus from Harrisburg Frank Taylor and his orchestra with his "tailor-made rhythm". They will play for a formal Friday night and informal on Saturday evening. Saturday also holds in store a buffet supper at the house following an afternoon picnic.

After dining at the Hotel Lewisburg Saturday night, the Lambda Chi will return to the house to dance to the strains of Ivan Faux. This formal will follow a picnic at Cowan. Formal parties are planned for that afternoon.

The "hilltoppers" will give a semi-formal dance Friday and formal dinner-dance Saturday night. The Phi Psi will bring Don Temple and his orchestra from Harrisburg.

Friday night will find the K. D. R.'s and their dates in the Orange and Blue Room of the Hotel Lewisburg where they will dine. After dinner they will return to their house to dance to the music of Nummy Donlin and his Pennsylvanians. The dinner-dance will be supplemented by a picnic and semi-formal Saturday.

Sig Eps will dance to the melodies of Kent Redgrave with their dances being formal on Friday night and informal on Saturday.

Roberts Directs C. And D. Play Navy Relief Game

Spencer Roberts, director of Cap and Dagger's latest production, "Out of the Frying Pan," has announced the cast for the play, which is to be presented on Saturday, May 9th.

The cast is as follows: George Wells Gemberling; Norman, Spencer Roberts; Muriel, Ruth Lynn; Mrs. Gracet, Mary J. Ditts; Tony, George Marge; Dorothy Short; Dottie, Joanne Hicks; Mr. Coburn, Mel Sommer; Mr. Kenny, Robert Posner; Mack, Jerry Klockstein; and Joe, Jim Tallon.

Under the direction of Carol Goodwin, Production Manager, the various committees are as follows: Scenery, Clara Yanke; Props, Valerie Kordall; Costumes, Helen, Cobough; Stage crew, Andrew Babcock; Make-up, LaVerne Fries; Sound, Bill Ross; Lighting, Stan Marshall; and Publicity, Marie Farnth.

"Out of the Frying Pan" is the play which was such a hit last winter in New York. Its author is Francis Swann, brother of Sam Swann, who played "Saint Joan" on this campus last year.

Spencer Roberts, director of "Out of the Frying Pan" was in the play in the role of the Reverend Dr. Rauschnig, and is organizing it with the intention of emphasizing the farcical situations.

The Athletic Association has adopted this plan in keeping with the nationwide intercollegiate program to raise money for the Navy Relief Fund. Every institution throughout the country has set aside one diamond contest on its schedule to raise proceeds for the cause.

The game should prove particularly interesting, as the Pitt team is to average the 8-6 facing they took when they played host to the Bisons early in the season.

Rauschnig Confident of Allied Victory

Dr. Herman Rauschnig, who rose from farmer to statesman to presidency of the Danzig Senate, was at one time a member on the council of Adolf Hitler, and who as guest speaker on the Bucknell Lecture Course spoke Monday evening on the "Secret of National Socialism," believes that the international crisis today is a battle between two moralities, with the morale of the Allied powers destined to dominate.

Shedding light upon the internal situation in Germany, Dr. Rauschnig stated that the greater majority of the population in Germany do not idolize Hitler, as many believe, but quite to the contrary, the majority in Germany today oppose Hitler but is completely terrorized by the Nazi regime that its feeling is not expressed through any action.

Phi Beta Kappa Initiates 19; Dr. Will Howe To Address Group At Banquet Tonight

Bucknell Orchestra Presents Concert
Stickney Directs Annual Spring Performance Tonight at 8:00

This evening at eight o'clock in the Lewisburg Baptist Church, the Bucknell University Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Charles F. Stickney, will present its annual spring concert in which the all-student group will give one of the most advanced performances in the four-year history of the orchestra.

Ever since the orchestra was founded at the request of the administration, the policy of the organization is to offer student musicians an opportunity to take part in ensemble playing. The present orchestra consists of about 40 members, and represents a group of instrumentalists of more or less advanced technical development.

Last Presentation of Year
This evening's concert is the last major musical presentation of the year on the campus. Because of the accelerated program at the University, it was suggested that the concert originally scheduled for early March be postponed, and the spring concert is being given at a time to balance the program of college activities.

Vivaldi's Concerto in F for Three Violins is to be the featured composition of the evening, when Carolyn Foast '43, Nina Osswick '43, and Fred Ketteracker '43 will be heard as soloists. They will be accompanied by Prof. William M. J. de la Plante.

The highlight of the program was a dramatization of a Student-Faculty Congress meeting. Dean Page's explanation of the C. A. A. and U. S. Naval Reserve opportunities at Bucknell, a skit portraying the role of the Bucknellian as a connecting link between the campus and army camps, and a scene depicting the conversation of LeAnne Boyle and her escort, George Egan, at a typical Bucknell dance.

Emphasis was placed upon the cutting of the ribbon, which marks the beginning of the year's work. The students are engaged in defense activities here at school.

"The Story of a College Campus" was narrated by L. Francis Lybarger, Jr., director of admissions and alumni secretary. Other participants were Dr. William A. Shimer, dean of the Faculty and Secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa; John Plant, director of physical education for men; Dr. Robert T. Oliver of the speech department; and Dr. Vincent McCrossen of the language department.

The student actors were: Ruth Breen, LeAnne Boyle, George Egan, Joanne Greening, Robert Shaffer, William Ross, and James Whyte. Music for the program was contributed by transcription of the Bucknell Men's Glee Club.

Glee Club Sends Record To Waring

The Bucknell Glee Club has submitted a recording in the Fred Waring contest now being conducted in one hundred sixty American colleges. The colleges were divided into four regions, each region being given three pieces to sing. The glee club has submitted "Siesta Away," "Ava Maria," and a school song.

The winning glee club will receive a trip to New York at the end of May. The results of the contest will be known in about two weeks.

The record was made in the Radio Workshop of Bucknell Hall. The Workshop staff transmitted the music from there to station WKOK in Sunbury, where it was recorded. It was later played on the air. Recording calls for a different technique than the usual concert singing. For the best results the glee club must croon rather than sing.

A number of unfortunate incidents prevented Prof. Melvin LeMon from submitting the record sooner. They attempted to make the recording on two different nights, each time a wedding party passed the building and the noise spoiled the recording. The third night the transformer was broken, and a few days later Prof. LeMon came down with the measles. However, Monday evening they succeeded in making an excellent recording.

Engineering Fraternity Initiates 2 Sophomores
Delta Epsilon Sigma, local honorary engineering fraternity, in a meeting held last Monday night in the Engineering Building, initiated two outstanding sophomore engineers and elected officers for the coming year.

Daniel Ormanowski, a student at the Bucknell Junior College, and Arthur Adamson were the two students initiated. The high quality of their work being the chief factor in their induction into the fraternity.

After Fred Schure '42 read a paper on the Rebirthing Process, the new officers for next year were elected. They are: president, Stanley Marshall; secretary, Arno King; and treasurer, Harold Schelle.

SUMMER SCHOOL CATALOGUE
Summer school catalogues are available at the Summer School office, 114 East Wing. Get your copy and leave orders for copies for your friends in other colleges.

21 TO ENROLL IN CIVILIAN FLYING
Twenty-one people have been lined up for Civilian Pilot training according to Prof. W. D. Gorman. The government has made no official announcement as yet, but Dr. Gorman believes that the courses will be greatly expanded.

On April 16, seven students took the examination and soon they will receive their Private Pilot license.

The Piper Aircraft Corporation of Lock Haven has given a wing panel to show the prospective fliers, the wing construction of Piper Cubs.

Sociology Students Visit Capitol Landmarks

Approximately thirty-five Bucknell students, under the direction of the Sociology Department, visited Washington, D. C., last weekend.

The first item of their itinerary was a tour of the capital, although Congress was not in session. Following this, a group attended a conference with Mr. Morris, Assistant Director of the Wartime Commission on Education. Mr. Morris stressed the importance of doctors, dentists, engineers, and veterinarians remaining in school, and informed them that students of these professions may be exempt from the draft if they sign contracts with the government, and serve in these capacities when their education is completed.

That evening the group ate supper in the Howard University cafeteria. The speaker at this time was Harry Pierson, from the Division of Cultural Relations, who is a Bucknell alumnus, and a member of Delta Sigma. The president of Howard University also spoke, his topic being the part of the negro in defense.

That night the sociology students stayed in the dorms of the American University. The following day they toured places of interest, including Mount Vernon, the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and the site of a slave market in Georgetown.

Sunday they attended services at the Washington Cathedral and heard a two-way broadcast of the cathedral at Westminster Abbey, on youth in the present situation.

MacGowan Speaks In Chapel Today

This morning in the weekly chapel, Dr. Robert MacGowan, free lance writer, poet, and lecturer, delivered an address entitled, "A Work of Art."

Dr. MacGowan, a well known poet of today, is an authority on Stephen Foster and has contributed much to the Foster Museum in Pittsburgh.

Dr. MacGowan was recently appointed a professor of Philosophy and the Dean at Florida Southern College. He has spoken to the chapel audience in past years.

During the chapel program, Virginia McCabe, President of the Pan-Hellenic Council, awarded the Pan-Hellenic scholarship cup.

Student-Faculty Congress officers will be installed at the chapel on May 7. Club awards will be made, members for Torch and Scroll will be tapped, defense course insignias will be awarded, and the nurses aides will be capped.

NOTION PICTURES
The Motion Picture Committee has arranged another showing of pictures for next Tuesday evening at 7:15 and 9. Director of Admissions Lybarger will present this year's Campus Movie and there will be two other films: "Americans All," a South American travelogue, and "Building the Cathedral," the story of the architectural development of the cathedral at Washington.

HOUSEPARTY 1942

In past years Houseparty 1942 has always been the favorite event on the social calendar for both males and females on the Bucknell campus. This year, despite the fact that our country is engaged in a brutal all-out war, indications point to a House-party weekend which is going to be just as enjoyable and just as enthusiastically entered into as it has always been.

The outsider reading something like this may shake his head wonderingly and perhaps somewhat unbelievably ask himself how or why college students can afford to cast aside their books and let their hair down for a whole weekend in such frivolous and tense days as these in which we are now living. He may also want to know why college students should spend so much money in hiring orchestras and purchasing "favors" when that money could be utilized in so many more advantageous ways.

Perhaps we can answer these well-meaning, but misunderstanding critics who consider as a trivial all-out war irresponsible because while our country is at war we have chosen to set aside a weekend to relax and enjoy ourselves.

We are quite sure that these persons, when criticizing us, are not aware of the fact that Bucknell students this year because of the extra work they are doing under the accelerated war program, and that, as a result of this, most of the students, aside from a few duty off between semesters, have not had a vacation from their studies since last Christmas. We also doubt whether they realize that more than half of the students now enrolled here are desiring themselves their summer vacations this year so that they may get as much of their curriculum completed before they are called into the service. Again we doubt whether these outsiders know that the students themselves have voted to cut down their extracurricular activities by 50 percent so that they can devote more time to their schoolwork and preparatory courses such as physical education, nursing, military drill, first aid, etc. And, finally, in regard to Houseparty itself, we wonder how many of these "school" critics are aware that practically every fraternity on campus has considerably cut down on its expenditures for this weekend as compared with the amount of money spent in past years. All the frolics and extras have been done away with.

Perhaps now some of our head-shaking outsiders will understand why Bucknell males and females are looking forward to tomorrow night, and Saturday and Sunday, and hoping to make Houseparty 1942 as enjoyable and as pleasant as was Houseparty '41, '40, '39, and so on down the line. We hope it is!

U. S. Army Air Officials Here Monday, May 4

According to an official communication received by Dean Ralph E. Page, the Headquarters of the Army Air Forces of the United States War Department will send representatives of this branch of service to Bucknell on Monday, May 4, at 1 p. m., to acquaint students who will be inducted in the near future with the requirements and general procedure for qualifying as an aviation cadet.

Monday's meeting will be devoted solely to answering questions of students interested in the Army Air Corps. If 15 or 20 students are interested the Headquarters will send an examining board to the campus to give mental and physical examinations some time afterwards.

The present program includes a briefout for immediate service and enlistment of college men on a deferred basis so that they may complete a full college course.

Dean Page explained that under the present program seniors may continue their senior academic year, and juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will be permitted to complete their full college career.

PLEDGES RUSH ACTIVITIES AT SORORITY PARTIES

Originally Is Main Keynote Of Entertainment By A.K.O., K.D. and Tri-Delt

The pledges of Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, and Delta Delta Delta have been busy for the past few weeks in presenting rushing parties for their activities. The Alpha Chi and Tri-Delt parties were held last Thursday and the K.D.'s presented their yesterday afternoon.

The Alpha Chi's setting was a carnival, complete with jugglers, barkers, fat lady, headless lady, et al. Betty Daugherty was in charge of the entertainment, Ruth Burnett, refreshments, and Alice Wurzbach, decorations.

The Tri-Delts held a tropical party on "Delta Island." Peg Goldsmith headed the entertainment committee, Lois Dupuy had charge of decorations, and Ann Mitchell handled the refreshments. At the party, the pledges presented Norene Bond '43, their pledge mother, with an engraved cigarette case and gave the Tri-Delt suite an ash stand.

The K.D.'s took their activities through K. D. heaven, which was temporarily located in the Hunt Hall room. Connie Campbell had the refreshments, and Nancy Ireland, Puff Lindemann, and Audrey Bishop had charge of the refreshments, entertainment, and decorations.

Tracksters Place In Penn Relays

Humble Susquehanna Squad
100-26; To Run Against Dickinson Saturday

The Bucknell relay team, running in the Middle Atlantic Mile Relay Championship of the Penn Relays last Friday, placed fourth behind Gettysburg, Rutgers, and Haverford. The team composed of Joele, Whitehead, Brimmer, and Shaffer, covered the distance in 3:24. This time is the fastest that a Bison relay team has ever turned in at the Penn Relays. The Bucknell record for the event is 3:29.

Saturday, the Bisons covered the mile relay in 3:26, finishing fifth. Gettysburg, again, captured first place and in doing so ran the fastest time for the mile relay in the Middle Atlantic Class. Brimmer made the best time for Bucknell by running a 40-second quarter.

The Bison cindermen ran roughshod over the Susquehanna track team last Wednesday. In swamping the Selma squad, 100 to 35, Coach Plant's boys chalked up their second victory in as many meets. Bill Schure was a double winner for Bucknell in the hurdles.

Clean Sweep of Sprints
The Bison sprinters did very well making a clean sweep in both the 440 and the 220 and taking first in the 100-yard dash. In the distance races, Bucknell showed up well by taking first and second in both the 880 and the two-mile and by running second and third in the mile. In both hurdle events, the local tracksters took first and second.

Coach Plant's tracksters travel to Carlisle Saturday, May 2, to engage Dickinson. Last year Dickinson's aggregation handled the Bisons a 7-4 setback.

The celebration of Mothers' Day last Sunday brought many parents to the campus, despite the fact that Bucknell had no formal program for them, as they have had in previous years.

Lambda Chi's Clair and Bill Thomas, Bert Waters, Herbert Jordan, and Myron Potter entertained their parents. Bill Thomas spent Friday in Philadelphia where he enlisted in Naval Reserves, V-7.

Sunday morning the Tri Delta celebrated Chapter Founders' Day with a breakfast at Red Rock. After the breakfast, a very short ceremony was held in the suite. Kay Jones '41, returned to the campus for the weekend. Norene Band was visited by her mother; Mildred Darling, and Al Magagnoli were visited by their parents over Mothers' Day weekend. Joe Dent '20, from Maplewood, N. J., spent the weekend visiting his daughter Connie. Dick McGowan visited his home in Rochester, N. Y. Men recently pledged to Kappa Chapter are Chester Domaszewski '45, Robert Jellison '45, Ernest Quatro '45, and Harold Schiele '43.

Craig Waldner '41, Ensign, U. S. N. R., visited the Sigma Chi house during the week. Craig just received his commission in the Naval Reserve, on the basis of the four months training course at Annapolis, Md. He is enjoying a short furlough before leaving for Torpedo Boat School, Corporal Walt Habbitt '40, also spent a few days at the house. He is stationed at Base Field, Fort Wayne, Indiana. Jim Ham, Frank Zachara, and Al Magagnoli were visited by their parents over Mothers' Day weekend. Joe Dent '20, from Maplewood, N. J., spent the weekend visiting his daughter Connie. Dick McGowan visited his home in Rochester, N. Y. Men recently pledged to Kappa Chapter are Chester Domaszewski '45, Robert Jellison '45, Ernest Quatro '45, and Harold Schiele '43.

Phi Mu's Ruth Howells, Frances Clark, Jose Rhodens, Paul Puschel, and Sylvia Cline spent last weekend at their homes while Henry Rhineworth, Ruth White, and Betty Ralston entertained their mothers here. Wilburda Murphy, with her parents, visited relatives at Lock Haven.

Pennsylvania Zeta of S. A. E. recently played host to Commander Charles B. Hittner '21, S. A. E. alumnus, and five other officers of the U. S. Navy. Henry Mansel, Steve Sokol, and Marty Neff recently attended the Province Convention held at the S. A. E. house at the University of Pennsylvania. Harland Miller, Sigma Nu, from Colgate, was a guest of the chapter house for the weekend.

Kappa Delta gave a cozy for its seniors Sunday evening in the suite. Their pledge group held a banquet last Tuesday, the eight pledges having the most merits treating the eight with the most. Frank Olson spent the weekend at the home of his "little sister," Kay Kuster, in Blossburg.

Sigma Alpha Mu entertained Dr. Gregory at dinner Sunday. President Marts and Prof. Parker were guests of the house last Thursday evening for dinner. Many freshmen, who are now a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, came down from Canada to spend Houseparty weekend at the chapter. Joel Shorin, who is recuperating from an appendectomy, was visited by his parents last weekend. Sigma Alpha Mu will hold its last open house of the school year this Saturday evening.

Kappa Sigma played host to the parents of Arthur Adamson and Roger Whitford on Mothers' Day weekend. Fred Ashby and Jack Speer visited their homes.

"Bud" Turnure, Phi Psi, spent the weekend at his home in White Plains, N. Y., where he enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard.

Betty Grim has been chosen as the outstanding senior Phi Phi from Beta Province, which includes Dickinson College, Ohio University, Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, and the University of West Virginia. Last Thursday, eight Phi Phi pledges entertained their "big sisters" at a dinner at the Inn. The society went on a picnic at Red Rock last Sunday. The picnic was planned by the freshmen and junior classes, who had to treat the sophomores and seniors as the outcome of a magazine sales contest. Magazines are sold annually by the Phi PIs as a means of raising money for the Settlement House.

Bill Ramage and Horn Fritz, Elys, were away last weekend on a golf trip. Horn returned in time to spend Sunday here with his parents.

Guests of Alpha Chi Mu for last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Ellis, Sr., from Rochester, N. Y. Donald Kerston visited his parents in Kingston, Pa. David Wolfe spent the weekend in Shamokin with his parents. John Kuschel also went home to see his parents in West Pittston, Pa.

Kappa Delta also held its annual pledge banquet last Wednesday evening. Mr. Paul Hightower was the principal speaker; several other faculty members also attended. K. D. R. recently pledged Kenneth Kressler '48, James Held, Bud Vertman, Bink Huff, and Al English spent the weekend at their respective homes.

The Alpha Chi Juniors gave the seniors a picnic at Red Rock Friday afternoon. There was a cozy in the suite Saturday night. Penny Wood spent the weekend in Philadelphia. June Ireland, Betsy Doughty, and Joan Smith spent the weekend at their homes in Atlantic City, N. J. Alberta Rumpus, Lucie Bold, and Carol Gebhardt entertained their mothers. Allegra Willis entertained her brother and Betty Short was visited by her sister over the weekend. Bea Duhls spent the weekend at her home in Mount Royal, N. J. Elsa Butterworth '41, Ruth Leppard '41, and Peggy Davis '40, Alpha Chi alumnae visited this past weekend.

Registration for the second semester at the University of Missouri showed 4,666 students, 13 percent under the first semester.

Greeks Are Kept Busy With Initiation And Symposia

Senior Coeds Plan Ahead; Some Continue Studies, Others Work

With the approach of graduation comes the question to seniors "Where do we go from here?" The men need spend little time pondering over this question for Uncle Sam has answered it for the most of them, but many of the women are answering it for themselves.

Norma Schotland has a job in the engineering division of the Curtis-Wright Corporation. Mary Ellen Oesterle will go to work at Letchworth Village, state mental hygiene foundation at Thiels, N. Y., as a laboratory technician. Peggy Faust has been accepted to teach in Muney, Pa.

Frances Clark begins work after graduation as secretary for Dupont in Wilmington, Delaware.

Betty Grim will enter Yale school of Nursing in the fall.

Mildred Mellor is going to Toby Colburn to study merchandising.

Maurine Hobbs plans to study retailing at Pitt University taking a post-grad course.

Ann Randle won a national contest for college editorship of Mademoiselle, which means she will assist in editing the college girl issue.

Martha Miller will begin work in June at Armstrong Cork Company, Beaver Falls, Pa., in the accounting division.

Mary Anne Heacock has a job at Rohm and Haas Co., in Philadelphia.

John Pearce is going to work as a chemist at Hoover Electrochemical Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Coni Rorer and Marcia Hart will continue as roommates in Washington, D. C., where they have jobs in the War Department.

Some of these and many others have been placed in jobs by Bucknell's placement bureau.

Dean Shimer To Address Bucknell J. C. Graduates

Dr. William A. Shimer, dean of the faculty at Bucknell University and National Secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, faces a strenuous speaking schedule.

He will speak at the annual commencement exercises of the Bucknell Junior College at Wilkes-Barre on Thursday, May 21, at 8 p. m.

Last night Dr. Shimer spoke to a dinner-meeting of the Methodist men of Sunbury on the subject, "Church Fellowship."

After an entire year of pledging, sorority pledges have at last come to initiation. Sororities are busy making plans for the occasion when those pledges who have made their marks will become active members.

Two sororities, Delta Delta and Alpha Chi Omega, have already admitted new members.

Tri-Delta held initiation in its suite for Mildred Darlington, Lois Dupuy, Margaret Gill, Floche Goldsmith, Mary Alice Hutchinson, Ann Mitchell, Ann Rubin, and Binnie Snavely last Saturday afternoon. After initiation, a party was given for the chapter by Eloise Garber Blair '41, who was here for the weekend. Tri-Delta's symposium will be at the Hotel Lewisburg, Saturday, May 23.

Initiation for Alpha Chi's pledges was held last Tuesday evening. Sally Bayles, Ruth Burnett, Betsy Doughty, Sally Gould, Jean Smith, Betty Wipple, and Jean Williams became active. Alpha Chi's symposium will be this Saturday, May 16, at the Hotel Lewisburg.

Early Sunday morning, May 17, Kappa Delta will initiate thirteen pledges into Phi Tau chapter. Jane Bell, Audrey Bishop, Roberta Rowers, Connie Campbell, Jean Gillette, Nancy Ireland, Irene Lindemann, Eve Muller, Jean Prowattin, Grace Richardson, Josephine Ridgeway, Doris Jean Siering, and Jean Watts, will be initiated. K. D.'s symposium will be on May 22 at the Lewisburg Inn.

Phi Mu sorority will initiate thirteen pledges, Nancy Byck, Sylvia Cline, Annie Williams, Barbara Fickes, Jane Gallien, Elise Miller, Ruth Nulton, Muriel Otto, Helen Rhineworth, Barbara Russell, Louise Stead, Marjorie Turner, and Gene Vollmer. Their ceremonies will be on the afternoon of May 22.

Phi Phi will have preliminary initiation for eligible pledges this evening. Initiation for Mary Follmer, Phoebe Follmer, Charlotte Grass, (Continued on page 3)

For the last time this year we publish a letter from one of our Bucknellians in the service. This time it is the Marines that we hear from in the person of Bud Bender, ex-'42, Sigma Chi. In a letter dated April 15, 1942, Bud writes:

I wish to correct my address with my friends on campus, and with the Service Council office. My correct address is: Private Walter G. Bender, D. L. 1st Recruit Battalion, Marine Barracks, Parris Island, South Carolina.

The show was packed with amusing situations and was exceptionally well acted. Spencer Roberts, who did a fine job in directing the play, also turned in a very fine performance in the part of Norman, leader of the six stage-struck youths about whom the story revolves.

Stealing most of the laughs was Miss Joanne Hicks, whose naivety and just plain dumbness in the part of Dottie, "sugar-daddy of the group," was particularly pleasing to the audience.

Play Was Toned Down Though a few of the more conservative members of the audience were slightly shocked at some of the lines of the play, and the situation presented by three young, naive, and three young females living in the same apartment for purposes of economy, we wonder what their reactions might have been had not this production been "red-penciled" and rather thoroughly toned down from what the Broadway version had to offer.

When it appeared on the legitimate stage in New York, no words were minced and no opportunities to get a slightly "off-color" gag into the script were missed. For obvious reasons, however, these same gags and remarks couldn't be used in the production this past Saturday night, and sadly enough it really hurt the production, for one seemed to get the impression that the players were continuously holding themselves back for fear of letting slip something that would be censured from the original script.

Working under this definite handicap, Roberts and his entire cast, nevertheless, managed to provide numerous laughs and chuckles for the audience, and the general opinion of the assemblage as they left the auditorium was one of complimentary praise for a well-acted and amusing show.

Whole Cast is Good The entire cast right down the line was outstanding. Wells Gemberling presented what was probably the best part of the play, that of George, a well-meaning, but not too intelligent member of the acting group, carried out his role very nicely, and earned himself a good portion of the laughs.

Campus Honorary Holds Rites For 17 Juniors, 2 Sophs, 1 Freshman Torch and Scroll, leading honorary society on campus, held an initiation this afternoon in Hunt Hall. Living Room for the twenty new members who were tapped at last week's Chapel program.

Seventeen juniors, two sophomores, and one freshman comprised the group of new initiates, who were chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service to Bucknell.

Those initiated were: Juniors: William Anderson, Janet Bold, Norene Bond, William Bowen, Ruth Chamberlin, Marilyn Eppley, Jeanne Greening, Ronnie Green, George Haines, Walter Held, Stanley Marshall, Mary Orso, Daniel Reinhardt, Morton Silberman, Stephen Sokol, James Whyte, and Paul Winter. Sophomores: Elette Hawley and Louise Terrett. Freshman: Donald Shields.

The initiation was conducted by Don Sholl '42, president of the organization.

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1942.

THE CLASS OF '42 GOES . . .

In just about one week from now the members of the class of '42 will receive their degrees from President Marts, will say good-by to their classmates and to their college, vowing to keep in touch with both, and will be off on their separate ways which lead to many of the most distant parts of this earth. Some will linger a while at Quantico, some at medical school, some in defense industries, some at Kelly Field or Pensacola; others will be immediately swallowed up by the great army camps. At any rate, one month from now the class of '42 will be out in this war-ridden, but exciting and interesting, world of ours making itself felt as best it can.

We wonder how many of the 252 students who are to receive their diplomas next Saturday will be leaving here with the same idealistic hopes and plans which they possessed when they entered Bucknell but four years ago. There is no need to wonder, for we know that the percentage will be very small. For the great majority of the men and women graduating next week, this war has meant a complete, or at least a fairly temporary, change in plans. The world which they are stepping out into presents a completely different and changed picture from the one which they knew when they entered college. They now find that before they can even hope to see their life plans materialize, there is yet another barrier for them to hurdle, one which will undoubtedly prove to the most difficult they have yet to encounter.

For at least one year, maybe two, maybe three, or even more, they must lay aside all else in their lives, and devote their entire energies to the annihilation of those who are responsible for this drastic change which has been brought into their lives. These men, and yes, women too, will be going into the various branches of Government service, each with a certain vengeance in their heart, a vengeance to make somebody pay dearly for the happiness and security which they feel they have been robbed of, and which they believe is rightfully theirs. Until they have succeeded on this mission of annihilation, they will know no peace and be assured of no future security.

All that we can offer them to take along on this mission upon which they are setting out is a sincere word of encouragement and a fervent prayer for their success in this venture.

"CRAM" FOR ALL YOUR WORTH

The inevitable final days of school are upon us again, and with this time of the year comes the distressing realization that term papers must be finished and final exams must be taken.

It has been a hectic year from beginning to end. It has been a year which has seen almost the entire college curriculum changed to cope with the problems created by our entrance into the war. The distractions from a program of rigorous and conscientious study have been numerous, even more so than in previous years.

Some students, with their army questionnaires already within their possession, have sort of loafed their way through this past semester with a kind of "don't give a damn" attitude. Perhaps they are somewhat justified in this outlook which they have adopted toward their so uncertain future. However, this is not being written to judge whether these individuals have taken a very foolhardy attitude or not. But, there is one thing we would like to pass on to every student in the school.

Tomorrow morning you will begin taking your final examinations for this semester's work. The examination period will extend over a period of about one week. Most of your professors will tell you not to "cram," that "cramming" is valueless from a strictly educational viewpoint. We say, "Cram." "Cram" for all your worth. Burn the midnight oil until all hours of the night if you think it'll help you to improve your grades in any way at all. Make every one of these last moments count, and close the school year knowing that you've done your best against somewhat unusual odds.

THE ARMY AND NAVY WANT YOU

Both the Army and Navy are staging an intensive campaign at this very moment to enlist as many college men as possible in their respective reserve corps. Both branches of the service need college men, and need them badly. As Lieutenant Commander T. A. Collins, noted flyer and senior member of the Naval Cadet Selection Board, has said: "There's a premium for

Education Develops Men For Service

Stimson Advises Students

Henry I. Stimson, Secretary of War, makes the following statement concerning the war and the university student:

"I want to make it entirely clear that higher education in certain general lines and also in certain specific fields when seriously undertaken and successfully pursued develops qualities which will be a definite advantage to any man in the Army and will be carefully considered as an important factor in determining his qualifications for admission to an officers' Candidate School after he has taken the required basic training in the Army. Such education will not take the place of other required qualities of leadership but the capacities which should be produced by such education are elements of leadership."

"There are certain definite capacities which make a man more valuable as a leader and which can be substantially increased by proper education in the college. They are:

1. A capacity for clear and accurate expression.

2. A capacity for accurate mathematical computation on a college mathematical level.

TRI-DELTS CELEBRATE FOUNDERS' DAY

Tau chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority celebrated its thirty-eighth Chapter Anniversary last Sunday. As is their tradition, they had breakfast at Red Rock.

After breakfast, they returned to the suite for a short ceremony. The history of the sorority was read by the pledge president, Mildred Darlington, and the sorority activities of the year were read by the librarian, Virginia Mitchell.

After the ceremonies, the Tri-Delt president, Norene Bond, distributed corsages of pansies to its members, the pansy being the sorority flower.

Sophomores May Enlist In V-1 Naval Reserve

Notice has just been received from the Bureau of Navigation of the Navy Department that until the end of this school year, sophomore students now enrolled in the University may enlist in class V-1, United States Navy. They may then remain in college for another academic year. At the end of this time these students, if otherwise qualified, are eligible for transfer to Class V-5 or V-7. This opportunity for sophomores to enlist in class V-1 and remain in college for another year will be closed so far as Bucknell students are concerned on May 23.

college men now. They have never had such an opportunity before. We want college men because we need the "extra something" that college men have to offer.

This week the Army Air Corps is running a large advertisement in "The Bucknellian". For the past few weeks the Naval Air Corps has been doing the same thing. It's quite evident that both these groups are making a strong appeal to college students to sign up with them.

We sincerely believe that both services are offering great opportunities which should be given careful consideration by every student who can meet the physical requirements. Firstly, unless there is some disastrous turn in the war, the college man joining one of these reserves is assured of a deferment until he completes his course. Secondly, the chances for advancement and the salaries paid by these two air corps are far superior to those offered by any other branch of the service. And thirdly, in regard to the matter of prestige, which is a very important item in the plans of all college men, well the men with the gold wings on their lapels are hard to beat in this respect.

It's really something worth looking into, and Dean Page will be glad to talk it over with any interested persons.

CAPITAL & CAMPUS

By Jay Richter, ACP—Washington Correspondent

HIGH PRICES CHECKED — College students—because their "income" is relatively "fixed"—should benefit more than the average person from the Office of Price Administration's over-all ceiling order on prices.

The inflationary spiral has sent retail prices up 19 percent the last year. Were the spiral to continue, students would find it tougher and tougher to compete for goods and services in a market glutted with eager buyers.

The ceiling on retail goods goes into effect May 18, while that on services becomes effective July 1. Retailers then must charge no more than their highest March price. Here is what will happen to some important items in the student budget:

Room and Board—If you live in a war-rental area, room and board will be controlled. Some two-thirds of the Nation's population is included in these areas.

Restaurant meals—No price control. Clothing—Both men's and women's controlled. Movies and entertainment—No ceiling.

Cigarettes, cosmetics, toothpaste, aspirin—Just a few of the thousands of the "processed commodities" on the controlled list.

Laundry, dry-cleaning, shoe-repairing, etc.—Controlled. Board and barber shop services—Non control. The government does not recognize beauty as a "commodity", and only services involving commodities are controlled.

You might remember, when the ceilings go into effect, that the order does not wipe out price differences between stores. If a merchant under-sold his competitors last March, he may still do so. On about 100 important cost-of-living items, retailers must post signs informing purchasers of the maximum legal price. Also, merchants must give you a sales slip if you request one.

THIS COLLEGIATE WORLD — The average college freshman spends most of his time sleeping, according to a survey at Ohio State University. Seven hours and 49 minutes are devoted to sleep by the average freshman, the statistical study reveals. The average student spends three hours in the class room, the same length of time studying, and eats for one hour and 41 minutes.

Amusement claims two hours and 37 minutes of the time budget, while the average time spent in outside employment is only one hour and 39 minutes. The remainder of the 24-hour day is utilized in treks to and from meals and classes and in non-classifiable activities.

Remember the legendary painting of a bunch of grapes that looked so natural the birds pecked at it? Well, listen to this one! On exhibit at James Milliken University, Decatur, Ill., were several paintings, including one called "The Nude Back."

Art department heads insist they found two mosquitoes perched on the "back" feverishly boring away.

A BIT OF VERSE

AND ON, ANON

Mad dashes down the hall
When'er the phone bell rings;
In college, they are
The tidings that it brings.

Perhaps it is a date,
Or a girl, or a fellow;
But no matter what it is,
It's sure to be a dangle.

But here and there we find
One who at all concerned
It's the sorting of the mail
To which his thoughts are turned.

He knows the time exactly,
To the fraction of a minute,
He hears down to the box
To get the letter in time.

The smile upon his face
Oft times turns into a frown;
Things are not all well
Back in the old home town.

But mostly all the time
It's the other way around—
His pulse skips many beats
And his heart begins to pound.

And after it is read
He seems to gain more patience,
And once again looks forward
To weekends and vacations.

RADIO WORKSHOP RE-ELECTS ROOS

William Roos was re-elected director of the Bucknell Radio Workshop last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Workshop held in the basement of Bucknell Hall.

This is the second year that Bill will head the Workshop. Mary Hamlin was elected secretary, and Clara Jean Walton, treasurer. Donna Perry was chosen continuity director; Bob Schramm, dramatic director; Betty Miles, publicity director; and Stanley Marshall, technical director.

The Workshop program for the coming year will feature, along with the regular Sunday afternoon programs broadcast over WKOK, Sunbury, fifteen minute daily programs at various intervals, totalling two hours daily, with news of the campus predominant, interspersed with the latest swing recordings. These programs will be sent to the sem residents via the Bucknell power plant.

One Sunday morning the girls were allowed to witness a Caesarian operation.

SPANISH PLAY WINS AWARD OF MERIT

Prof. F. A. Sprague, professor of Spanish at Bucknell, has been notified that the Spanish play, presented at the University of Pennsylvania on April 25th, as a part of the Cultural Olympics held there each year, has been granted an "Award of Merit," which is the highest award given.

The students taking part in the production were: Manuel L. Barrett, Florence Simmons, Mary Jane Glickner, and Leon H. Maneval. The Bucknell play was one of the three given in Spanish. Plays were also presented in French, German, and Italian.

I.F.C. Discusses Rushing Rules

Violators of Rushing Laws Will Forfeit One Dance As Penalty

Several changes were made in the 1942-43 rushing rules by the Interfraternity Council when it met last Thursday evening in the Lambda Chi Alpha House. President Robert Walker '43, was in charge.

Paul Winter, editor of the Interfraternity Handbook, reported his plans for the publication. Because of the increase in the costs of publication and the scarcity of materials, the book will be published in a manner that it can be used for at least two years.

The Council decided that there will be no regular rushing week during the 1942 summer school session. It also stated that there will be no formal rushing, pledging, or pinning of freshmen during the summer session.

A drastic change was made by the Council when the following clause was inserted into the by-laws of the organization: "Any fraternity violating any of the rushing rules will be forbidden to hold any dances during the first semester of the regular school year."

The Fraternity Rushing Rules for 1942-43 are as follows:

Fraternity Rushing Rules

1. It is the opinion of the Interfraternity Council that rushing should be conducted in a spirit of friendly rivalry. Consequently, the members of each fraternity should assistfully refrain from speaking disparagingly of any other fraternity.

2. The rushing period shall begin at 7:00 a. m., Wednesday, October 7, and shall close at 10:00 p. m., Tuesday, October 13th.

3. From midnight, Saturday, October 10th, until 7:00 a. m., Monday, October 12th, shall be a period of silence during which time no freshmen may have any contact whatsoever with fraternities or fraternities men.

4. With the exception of Friday and Saturday, rushing shall end each day at 10:00 p. m.

5. Signing up the freshmen:

a. In order to obtain a meal date with a freshman, the fraternity man must:

1. Appear before the door of that freshman on October 7th.

2. Enter the room in the order decided by theaffle at the door.

3. The eldest man present is responsible for the running of theaffle.

4. Numbers equaling the number of men present at 6:45 a. m. will be written on individual slips of paper and placed in a hat.

5. Numbers drawn indicate the order of entrance (the individual conducting theaffle must take the remaining numbers).

6. At 7:00 a. m. the man holding No. 1 enters the room.

(IMPORTANT)

1. Other preferences are signed in the manner used in previous years.

2. A man can participate in only oneaffle.

3. With the exception of Friday and Saturday, there shall be no rushing outside of a three-mile radius of Lewisburg.

7. Each freshman shall list his meal dates on the "Fraternity Date Schedule" which will be passed out before the beginning of rushing week. No

B. U. Trustees Solve Housing Problem For Next Week End; To Board In Pullman Cars

The problem of accommodating the large hordes of persons which flock to Lewisburg every year. Bucknell has a special weekend of some sort seems to have found somewhat of a solution as a result of the resourcefulness on the part of a number of the University's trustees.

With the annual commencement weekend looming ahead of them again this year, a group of the trustees from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh areas decided to take matters into their own hands and solve the problem for themselves. The Trustees have decided to spend the night of Friday, May 21, on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad in its yards near North Third Street.

Well, they don't exactly live on the tracks. Living quarters are not so scarce that they will be forced to pitch their beds on the ties. Quite the contrary, they will sleep surrounded by all the comforts of home.

Coming in on one luxurious pullman car from the Philadelphia area and on another from the Pittsburgh area, the Trustees, who will be here to attend a meeting at the President's House on Saturday morning and the Commencement exercises on Saturday afternoon, will be surrounded by all the comforts available. They will use their two private cars as an auxiliary house, sleeping, eating, and spending their leisure time in the plush surroundings of the "palaces on wheels."

Last year at this same time, the Trustees and their friends did the same thing which they are doing this year. Finding that it worked so well, they decided to do it again.

Dr. Hanbro is the son of C. J. Hanbro, president of the Norwegian Parliament. He was graduated with an LL. D. from the University of Oslo, and received his Ph. D. from the University of Geneva in Switzerland. He has studied extensively in the field of international relations, and served in the plebiscite committee for the Saar district in 1935.

Plans are under way for a summer conference to be held at Kanawake, and plans are also being formulated for the orientation of the new freshmen and the transfer students.

freshman shall make more than two meal dates with any one fraternity.

8. On Wednesday, October 14th, each freshman who desires to become a pledge member of a fraternity shall prepare a list of the fraternities to which he desires to pledge on a blank to be secured in Roberts Hall from 8:00 until 11:00 a. m.

On this list he shall indicate the fraternities IN THE ORDER OF HIS PREFERENCE. This list shall be turned in to Dean Page's Office not later than 11:00 a. m., Wednesday, October 14.

Bids will be distributed in Bucknell Hall at 5:00 p. m., Wednesday. After receiving his bid, the pledge shall go directly to the fraternity to which he has been invited to pledge, for a pledge dinner.

NOTE: The dinner engagement for Saturday evening, October 10th, does not obligate the freshman to dinner at the house. After the dinner he is privileged to attend a smoker or party given by any other fraternity.

He may attend a Saturday evening smoker or party at any house which he chooses, if he has been invited to do so. A space for Saturday night dates will be provided for on the "Fraternity Date Schedule."

By Their Fruits

Contractors, accustomed to building programs on wide area, are invariably amazed at the inherent honesty of Lewisburg citizens. Building materials of all kinds are continually left unguarded and nothing is ever disturbed. They tell us in other places that even with the protection of watchmen scarcely anything is ever safe. The Lewisburg Churches are to be commended for the fine integrity of their various members.

In towns where the foreign born are prominent, the art of the thief is the normal way of life. Numerous saloons, poolrooms, and other educational facilities for the perpetration of the relief rolls, and the worst schools in the state at the highest per capita costs—all of these are products of another kind of religion. You might describe it as a canned religion, served with a dead language sauce. Its effect upon the believers is somewhat like embalming fluid on a corpse. It is described as having a name or reputation that it lives; and yet knows not that it is dead. Yet verily, not everyone that saith, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom, only he who does the will of the Father. For religion without good fruit is a delusion and a snare. To silence its critics does not justify it, but bringing forth good fruit, we shall recognize it as pure and undefiled religion.

3 FACULTY MEMBERS TO LEAVE BUCKNELL

Anthony, Legault, Matson Take New Positions at Close Of Semester

At the close of this semester three members of the faculty are to leave Bucknell. The three departing men are Mr. Richard L. Anthony, professor of Mechanical Engineering, Mr. R. Ralph Legault, associate professor of chemistry, and Mr. Frederick A. Matson, instructor in chemistry.

Mr. Anthony, who has been a professor in the engineering department at Bucknell for the past five years, is going to Rutgers University where he is to become head of the Mechanical Engineering Department.

Dr. Legault, an outstanding member of Bucknell's chemistry department for the past seven years, is leaving to enter into the field of chemical research with the United States Department of Agriculture. He will be stationed at the Western Regional Laboratory at Albany, California.

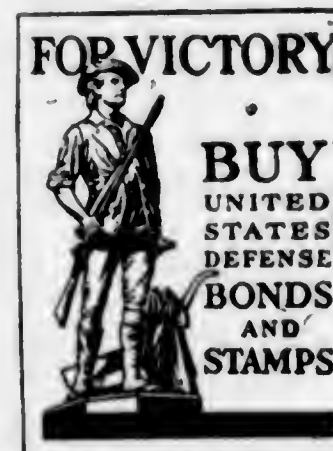

Dr. Matson, who has served as an instructor in the chemistry department for the past year, is leaving at the end of this semester to go to the University of Texas, where he is to receive a position as teacher of chemistry.

Prof. Harriman's first book, "Psychology for Nurses," to be used in nurses' training schools will be on the market in approximately six weeks. The text combines the practical viewpoint of the supervisor of nurses of the Bellevue Hospital in New York with the scientific aspect represented by Prof. Harriman. It is now in the hands of the MacMillan Publishing Company.

Prof. Harriman's latest book, "Child Psychology," is now being used at Princeton and at the University of Maryland. The manuscript of a third book, "Educational Psychology," has been accepted by the Prentice-Hall Publishing house, and will also be released in the near future.

Activities Saturday Morning
Many events are scheduled for Saturday morning, including two showings of the new sound motion pictures of Bucknell scenes, and activities. At 8:00, the Bison Club will hold a breakfast at the Hotel Lewisburg, and at 9:30 there will be a meeting of the Board of Trustees at the President's House. At 10:00, the Athletic Council will hold a meeting in Main College, and at the same time, the Bucknell movies will be shown in Bucknell Hall. There will be another showing of the films there at 11:00.

Among the activities for the alumni to be held Saturday are: The business meeting of the General Alumni Association to be held in Larison Lounge at 10:30, the General Alumni and Alumnae Reunion Luncheon to be held at noon in the Women's Dining Hall, and the Assembly of the General Alumni Association in the Women's Dining Hall at 1:30.

Diamondmen Stop State Nine 3-2 In Ten Inning Thriller

Varsity Leaders In Spring Sports

The din of the roaring throng has practically subsided now as the Bison sport schedule for the 1941-42 school year is going through its last stages. But five more events are left to be played including this afternoon's basketball and tennis contests, and another sporting year will be a thing of the past.

Surveying the situation, the Bucknell teams didn't do badly for themselves, compiling a .529 average to date by winning 41 contests, dropping 24 and deadlocking. In the Spring sports, the Bisons fared a bit better taking 22 out of 36 events for a cool .238 average.

But, let's look at each varsity sport individually and bring back the events from far-away September right up to the present. FOOTBALL. With co-captains Mel Knupp and Fred Gore at the helm, the Thundering Herd rang up 6 wins against 3 defeats for a fairly successful season. The three losses came at the hands of the powerful Penn State, Temple and Gettysburg aggregations, while the Bisons rang the victory bell against such eleven as Boston U., Western Maryland, George Washington, Lebanon Valley, Muhlenberg and Albright. The Humphreys-Hendrickson team in grand fashion trouncing the Albright crew 42-0, really putting a damper on the Reading club's bid to the newly-created Memphis Bowl. Now, we look forward to next year when the Bisons will tackle one of their toughest schedules in many years. Although not have to bid a cheerful adieu to our graduating seniors and those who left for the service. So, it's so-long to Mel Knupp, Freddy Kern, Walt Wenrick, Frank DeAngelis, Paul Burke, "Buck" Bennett, Ed Glass, Freddy Fahringer, Charlie Nagel, Harry Reynolds, and Freddy Gore and a hearty welcome to our freshmen stalwarts, who've been depending on to help the Bisons stay in the winning column.

SOCCER. Merle Edwards' soccermen experienced a rather lean year with 3 victories, 4 defeats and 1 tie, but nevertheless, the butlers are looking forward to a big year next season. With Bill Hein, Ralph Little, Danny Heinhardson, Frank Strickland, "Chick" Eldridge and a number of intramural aces, Coach Edwards should have a fairly strong team for next year's wars.

BASKETBALL. Paced by the sensational George Haines, who scrapped the Bucknell scoring record, broke the Eastern-Pennsylvania League tallying total, and gained a spot on the Pennsylvania All-Star first team, the Bisons ran up a mediocre record of 9 and 9. With 324 points to his credit, which was more than a third of the total points piled up by the courtmen, Haines proved himself one of Bucknell's most outstanding athletes in many years. The fair-haired court ace led the Muesmen to an astounding 68-39 win over Muhlenberg's undefeated team with 32 tallies. He also ran wild against Lebanon Valley racking up 37 points in the Bison's 77-44 conquest over the Dutchmen. Mal Mueser is looking forward to working with his newcomers from the highly touted team from the state capital. He also ran wild against Lebanon Valley racking up 37 points in the Bison's 77-44 conquest over the Dutchmen. Mal Mueser is looking forward to working with his newcomers from the highly touted team from the state capital.

BOXING. Joe Reno's midgetmen started off a bit slow but finished up in a blaze of wins to come through with a 4-2-1 record. The Bison Mitt Mentor is mourning the loss of Frank Garro, Cy Treacartin and Frank DeAngelis. The diminutive Bison boxing outfit in the 145-lb. class drew each. The midgetmen took some fairly decisive bouts downing Lev Havin 5-3, 2-2, Indiana State Teachers 6-2, Michigan State 6-1 and West Virginia 5-3. Despite the loss of these batters, Reno will still have Jack Pink, Ira Sheffer, Jesse Syme, Bill Hein, Walt Stot, Dave Gold and Elmo Pascual to work with next year.

BASEBALL. To date, Johnny Sitarisky's varsity nine has .600 average with 6 and 4 in the win and lost column. After dropping the opened to Juniata, the diamondmen came up with four decisions against Pitt, Dickinson and Susquehanna. Their next victory came at Temple's expense 8-5 after Dickinson, Pitt and Ellipticalton took the Sitarisky men into camp. Bobby Keegan took up where he left off last season and is still waving a powerful bat in the clean-up slot. The Bison shortstop took one turn on the mound, too, only to drop the game, but not before he had fanned 10 enemy sluggers. Sitarisky was losing the services of Captain Will Rink and first baseman Paul Burke, but if the government doesn't cry for any of his other diamondmen, he should have a fine crew next year.

TENNIS. The most successful of all varsity outfits for this season, was undoubtedly the Bison netmen. Led by George "Mac" MacCall, who holds the Middle Atlantic Singles crown, and Captain Bill Carson, the racket-wielders dropped but one match in 10 and that was to Muhlenberg's vaunted team. MacCall breezed through the season without a loss, while Fred Griffen played in the No. 2 slot dropped but one match. With MacCall and Carson gone, prospects don't look too bright, but we can depend on Griffen, Burns, Culbertson and Finkelstein to give the B. U. Bisons a fairly even record.

Cindermen Place Sixth In Field Of Eighteen With Total Of 11 Points

CADWALLADER TIES IN POLE VAULT

Although John Plant's cindermen didn't bring back the championship laurels from the Middle Atlantic track meet, Bill Schnure, the rangy sophomore hurdler did carry back a new meet record in the 120-yard high hurdle. The Bison hurdler turned on his heat in the finals to break the tape first and shatter the old 15.4 record with a brilliant 15.2 mark.

The Bisons placed sixth in a field of 18 qualifying teams, marking up 11 points, eight of which were won by Schnure. The record breaker placed second in two trial heats in the 220 yard high hurdles and came up with three more Bucknell points when he finished third in a 247 final heat. The other three points came as a result of Gus Cadwallader's pole vaulting. The Bison vaulter cleared the bar at 12 feet to gain a tie for second place.

Putting their net skills into play against Lebanon Valley's racket-nets last Saturday on the Lewisburg courts, the Bison netmen made a clean sweep in setting the "Dutchmen" back 9-0. The Bucknell court players lost but one set throughout the afternoon, when Fred Griffen encountered a bit of trouble from Alton Smith. But, Fred took matters in his own hands and went ahead to clinch his match.

Culbertson Wins 6-0, 6-0. Red-headed Joe Culbertson marked up the most decisive win of the afternoon trouncing Ed Jiras in the No. 4 slot 6-0, 6-0. The Bucknell ace committed but five errors throughout the sets. George MacCall barely had time to unfold his repertoire of shots in easily subduing Tony Wallace 6-0, 6-2, while Bill Carson overpowered his opponent in the final set, 6-0, 6-2. The three losses came at the hands of the powerful Penn State, Temple and Gettysburg aggregations, while the Bisons rang the victory bell against such eleven as Boston U., Western Maryland, George Washington, Lebanon Valley, Muhlenberg and Albright. The Humphreys-Hendrickson team in grand fashion trouncing the Albright crew 42-0, really putting a damper on the Reading club's bid to the newly-created Memphis Bowl. MacCall and Culbertson literally blasted Jiras and Wallace love and love in the first doubles match, and Finkelstein paired with Burns to sweep through to a 6-2, 6-2 win over Hammett and Patchke. Carson and Griffen met little opposition in their 6-1, 6-4 win over Fisher and Smith.

Netmen Win 1-5. The match against Juniata this afternoon climaxed the Bison's nine game card, giving the netmen a .889 average. Their only loss was against the request-wielders of Muhlenberg by a 6-3 score, but it might have been an entirely different tale if Captain Bill Carson hadn't injured his back, thus causing the Bisons to forfeit two matches. In chalking up nine matches in the win column, the Bucknell crew set back such highly-touted net squads as Colgate 6-3, Lehigh 5-4, and Penn State 6-4. They also held 9-0 against over Susquehanna and Lebanon Valley, and 8-1 wins over Gettysburg and Juniata.

Sitarisky Faces Temple In Finale. Eked Out 9-8 Win Over Owl Nine In Philly Last Week. The diamondmen will finish their schedule next week when they face Lebanon Valley next Wednesday, May 20 and Temple's nine the following afternoon. The Bisons whipped the Lebanon outfit 9-4 last year and will probably repeat. The Temple game, though, should be a thriller, as the Owls will be out to make up for the 9-8 loss the Sitariskymen hung on them in Philadelphia last week. In downing the Owls, the Bucknell sluggers laced out 12 blows, which included circuit swats by Keegan and Drexler and a triple by Rink. There is a chance that Temple will throw their ace hurler, Andy Tomack, against the Bisons. He pitched but one inning in the last game and struck out the three batters to face him.

In downing the Owls, the Bucknell sluggers laced out 12 blows, which included circuit swats by Keegan and Drexler and a triple by Rink. There is a chance that Temple will throw their ace hurler, Andy Tomack, against the Bisons. He pitched but one inning in the last game and struck out the three batters to face him.

Drexler Wallops Triple And Tallies Winning Run In Tenth

Linksman Trounce W. Maryland 8-1

Take Second Place Laurels In Middle Atlantic Golf Tournament

By "Bud" Vanderbilt. Last Friday, the golf team journeyed to Westminster, Maryland where they met and defeated the Western Maryland golf team, 8-1. Captain Bill Ramage, Hermie Fritz, "Chick" Johnston, Charley Brogan, and Al Alexander, all came through with wins for Bucknell. "Weasel" Britton playing at the No. 2 position was highly Bucknell's man who failed to garner any points. Playing the captain of the Western Maryland outfit, Britton was subdued on the 21st hole, after a stirring comeback on the 19th hole which carried the match into extra holes.

The day before the Western Maryland match, the team played at Bethlehem, where they met the Lehigh squad in a six man dual match. The "Engineers," as the Lehigh boys are called, subdued the Bucknell aggregation, 9 1/2 to 2 1/2. Bill Ramage and Britton garnered a point each by winning their individual matches. Bucknell's additional half point came as the result of a tie match between Al Alexander, No. 6 man, and his opponent. Ramage was medalist for Bucknell with a low card of 76. The downpour in which the match was played, plus the soggy course, as a result of an all-night rain, added to the woes of the B. U. squad, and undoubtedly was one of the reasons why our boys made such a poor showing.

The boys hit Westminster next, where they met and defeated the Western Maryland team, on Friday. Saturday, Bucknell entered a four man dual with a 1-7 run deficit. State leaned on Brader for three singles and a score to deadlock the game at 2-2.

Drexler Triples In 10th. Then in the first extra inning, Drexler delivered his dramatic blow and scored to give the Bisons' the tally which spelled victory. The Nittany crew almost tied the ball game up in the tenth, when Martella went to third on Sider's double. But, Brader pulled out of the "hole" by forcing Sider's out, and then he hit Keegan and fanning Tuleja to end the ball game.

Brader Sets Back Nittany Lions With Seven Blows For Bisons Sixth Win

PHI GAMS GET TWO SPOTS; S.A.E.'s ONE

KEEGAN GETS TWO EXTRA BASE HITS

A resounding triple off the bat of Fred Drexler and a wild throw to first on "Ace" Quillen's grounder, by Brown, the Penn State third baseman, gave the Bisons a 3-2 win over the Nittany Lions in a ten inning thriller on the State College diamond. Behind the seven hit twirling of southerner Bill Brader, Johnny Sitarisky's varsity nine avenged their 5-5 defeat of the 1941 season, by bouncing back and upsetting State's apparent favorite to win the title.

Brader's triple was the key play in the short-field attack. The Sammie's hold down the right side of the infield with Jerry Meltzer at third base and Morty Silberman at short. Brader was subdued on the 21st hole, after a stirring comeback on the 19th hole which carried the match into extra holes.

Silberman, Meltzer And Good Chosen Second Year In A Row

PHI GAMS GET TWO SPOTS; S.A.E.'s ONE

After a season of constant play on the intramural diamond, ten stars from the various teams were chosen as the outstanding players deserving of places on the Intramural All-Star team. The first team includes three members of the championship Sigma Chi, and a similar number of Sigma Chi, who ran second in the softball championship. The other four spots are filled by two Phi Gamma, a Kappa Sig and an SAE.

Getting the nod for the first base spot was Ed Glass of the Sigma Chi team who joined his teammates Al Magagna and George Haines on the out-standing crew. Magagna was selected for the left field position while Haines received the vote for his play in the short-field attack. The Sammie's hold down the right side of the infield with Jerry Meltzer at third base and Morty Silberman at short. Hilda Gives Low-down On Major League Baseball; Also Explains Billy Conn's Woes by Hilda Lubliner. Well, well, whadayja know, me, again.

The invasion from the West begins this week, and the going should be good. At present, tho, the National League standings show Dem Buns lead all the rest, which, from a biased way of looking at it, it is as it should be, but numbers two and three are really sompin'.

True to Frankie Frisch's belligerent mutterings, his Pirates are coolly balled in the second slot. Frank (Myl-bur-hurts) Frisch named the limb-climber-outer last month that Pittsburg would battle it out with New York, Boston, and what have you. True, the collapsible Chicagoans never did hit, but this has gone far enough and what happened to the pitching? Unprintable things, no doubt. And J. J. Dykes & Cigar mean that even the wind in Chicago has desecrated them and is blowing the other way (away from the plate) and will the manager kindly bar the windows of his hotel suite? Thanks.

And now, to leap to the land of furlongs and furlongs, we see that the gods have finally smiled on Alah. This 1941 champ was supposed to be in a row and then make desperate and successful grabs in the ninth. The Harmony boys have only two points of interest. The cindermen have been doing fairly well this year toppling F and M, and Susquehanna in their only dual meets, and placing fourth and sixth in the Penn Relays and Middle Atlantic, respectively. John Plant's lads have been doing quite well in the sprints with Ted Roselle, Bob Shaeffer, Hal Brown, Don Branner and Bob Whitelock. Bill Schnure came through with flying colors in the Middle Atlantic clipping the 15.4 high hurdles record by 2 seconds.

Well, there's the roundup of the sporting year, and now I think it fitting to give a cheer to our varsity managers whose honors are few and whose labors are many. So let's give a round of applause for Charley Messeroff, football, Bob Van Ness, soccer, Al Hoopes, boxing, Harry Tamm, basketball, Mel Sommer and Irv Sagotsky, baseball, Al Demu, tennis, and John Pismo, track.

Bison Lettermen Solve 'What's In A Name' Problem With Humorous 'Monickers'

"It often been said, 'What's in a name?' It's really a perplexing question which should be put up to the great minds of the world such as Einstein and his associates. But, the varsity athletes of the Bucknell campus have shown their lack of faith in these so called "brainstroms" and have solved the question completely by casting aside the "What's In A Name" problem and adopting a complete new set of adjectives, nouns, verbs, pronouns and such to address their fellowmen.

Pan-Hell Revises Rushing Rules

Council Defers Rushing; Period Extends From Nov. 30 to Dec. 6

The sorority rushing rules for 1942 which were compiled by the Pan-Hellenic Council earlier in the year are as follows:

Traditional Rules for the Rushing Period, which, will extend from November 30 to December 6.

1. No fraternity emblems are to be worn during Freshman Week, September 23 to September 27.

2. No distinguishing group fraternity features other than sorority pins are to be worn until the end of rushing on December 6 at 12 noon.

Also, the girls are asked to refrain from wearing, as individuals, any jewelry bearing Greek lettering, or any jewelry which shall be declared undesirable by Pan-Hellenic.

3. Parties and teas are to be given to the suite.

4. No male dates for new girls may be arranged by upperclass girls and no double-dating of upperclass girls with new girls is permissible.

5. There shall be a total sorority quota of 55 girls including all actives and affiliates, and within that group there will be a total pledge quota of 25 girls.

(a) Affiliates are any girls who have pledged any group and are still eligible to become actives.

Rushing Period.

November 30 (8 a. m.) to December 6 (12 noon) there will be silence except during hours of teas and parties.

2. Upperclass women may get their dates for teas and parties, but the rushers are expected to walk back to their dorms themselves.

3. Rotating teas—new girls will be divided into six groups. Each group will go to one suite a week.

The Pan-Hellenic Tea will be held on November 30; the Invitation Tea, December 1; a party, December 2; and the preferential party, December 4.

4. Bids go in Saturday, December 5. Silence will be observed from after the party on December 4, until Sunday noon, December 6.

Free Association Rules.

A. The period from September 28 until November 30 will be free association.

1. Upperclassmen and freshmen may associate with each other but may not confer on sorority matters.

a. Upperclassmen may associate with new girls off campus provided at least two different sororities are represented, or one sorority and S. C. C.

2. No male dates for new girls may be arranged by upperclassmen.

2. Triple dating is permissible provided two different sororities or one sorority and S. C. C. are represented.

3. Alumni may return to campus up until the time of formal rushing on November 30.

4. Freshmen must wear signs the first and last weeks of free association period.

1. Counselors may not sign bids to teas or parties, and may not take girls to or from parties.

2. Counselors may arrange dates, for, and may double date with, only freshmen in their own group.

Transfers.

2. Transfers must conform to freshman rules.

L'Agenda...

Phyllis Fuller, Ruth Braden, Jean Dyer, Gerrie Pepperman, and Dottie Shaw.

A new feature of the fraternity and sorority section is more copy of an informal nature and a page of snapshots after each three organizations featuring the doings of each. Informal copy is also a feature of the honorary fraternity section.

An innovation in the athletic section is the layout of cuts of the top men in each sport. There are over 12 cut-outs in the football section, the men posing in typical stances, and fewer in the other parts, according to the importance of the sport.

Pictorial Calendar a New Idea.

An entirely new idea in this year's L'Agenda is the introduction of a pictorial calendar of important events of the year. Starting with the Spring Festival, the class elections and the first graduation exercises that were held last spring and were not covered in last year's yearbook, the calendar, in pictures and descriptions, covers many of the happenings that the student body will long remember.

Freshman Week, Rushing Week, Frosh-Soph Scrap, the big dances, and vacations are all given parts, as well as many other campus highlights.

The Hall of Fame, the section that features the pictures of the outstanding seniors as chosen by an election held this Spring, has, preceding the photographs, a page of caricatures of the seniors drawn by H. L. Stevens, the cartoonist, who visited the campus in February. The nine boys and five girls chosen for this section are: Ruth Braden, Jane Colter, George Egan, Bud Eisman, Ed Glass, Betty Grim, Melvin Knapp, Midge Mellor, Jean Rockwell, Phillip Roy, Fred Schure, Gil Unruh, Bud Vanderbill, and Walt Wentick.

The yearbook ends with the advertising section, a student directory with a personal pictorial index, and an organization index.

Robert C. Yates of the Louisiana State University mathematics faculty is the author of a new volume, "The Trisection Problem."

a. The president of Pan-Hellenic will give status to any transfer whose affiliations prior to her residence at Bucknell has complicated her position on campus during the rushing period. No plans have been made as yet concerning Pan-Hellenic rules during the summer session.

Teaching Of Foreign Language Needed In U. S.

"It is a paradox more puzzling than any other so far that as long as the United States was really isolated, with a minimum of international trade, no cables, no telephones, no radio, no steamships, no airplanes, every well-educated man was trained in the foreign languages. Now, with 20,000,000 daily radio listeners, with 10,000,000 more in daily contact with foreign languages, with all the modes of contact, just mentioned, schoolmen insist that foreign languages are not important. They are taught grudgingly, therefore poorly, and then it is declared that the results do not justify them. In a day of 'motivation' the educators provide none and say it is the fault of someone else. The old fact, stripped of all wishful thinking, is that the 'common man' has more direct contact with foreign languages today than ever before in history. If education does not see that, it is a blind spot," Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, echoes the call for greater emphasis on foreign languages in the schools of America.

EARTHQUAKES MAY IMPERIL JAPAN

Pocatello, Idaho—(ACP)—Two professors at the southern branch of University of Idaho have advanced the theory that extensive bombing of Japan might cause displacements that would set off devastating earthquakes. They are C. A. Lee and A. L. Lill, bridge of geology and mechanical engineering department.

"Bombings themselves won't cause earthquakes, but there is the possibility, how actual or remote I don't know, that vibrations set up by continuous bombings might result in changing earth pressure which normally wouldn't occur for years," Lee explained.
